1. The absence of religious liberty. While the principle of toleration for non-Moslems to change their faith is admitted, it is strenuously denied to Mussulmans. Apostasy from Islam, according to the current view, merits the penalty of death, and it is not unlikely that a Moslem of good rank, who publicly and firmly confessed his faith in Christ, would meet such a fate; not however, by regular trial and condemnation but more probably by mob violence or secret assassination.

The Koran, xvii: 35, directs as follows: "Neither slay any one whom God has forbidden you to slay, unless for a just cause."

One of the "just" causes mentioned by Sale is apostasy. That such is the recognized principle of Moslems there can be no doubt. In 1844 the western powers compelled Turkey to cease the execution of apostates; but in the official correspondence, the Grand Vizier declared: "The laws of the Koran are inexorable as regards any Mussulman who is convicted of having renounced his faith. No consideration can produce a commutation of the capital punishment to which the law condemns him without mercy," and further, that "the law did not admit of any change." So much pressure was however brought to bear that Turkey was compelled to yield considerably, at least on paper. But no such pressure has ever been brought to bear on Persia.

Many years ago, when urging upon my first Persian teacher the truth and claims of Christianity, he took his penknife and holding it open in one hand brought the other immediately above the point of the blade and replied: "You would thus force me to thrust myself upon the sword." So at that early period I received a distinct impression of how difficult it would be to lead Moslems to Christ. Doubtless this fear prevents candid investigation of the claims of Christianity, and in cases where intellectual conviction exists it may prevent acknowledgement of the truth. Only yesterday a Persian, of wealth and family, remarked: "If there were only religious liberty, half of Teheran would come at once into this way."

2. Another difficulty is the superabounding falsity, which renders it difficult to credit the most solemn protestation of personal faith in Christ. Herodotus tells us that "the Persians taught their children to ride, to shoot the bow, and to speak the truth." They are fair riders, and can handle the gun which has taken the place of the bow, but speaking the truth seems a lost art among them. Curzon in his book on Persia thus notes this characteristic of the people. "I am convinced that the true son of Iran would sooner lie than tell the truth, and that he feels twinges of desperate remorse when upon occasions he has thoughtlessly strayed into veracity." Nor is this trait to be wondered at when one considers the fact that almost the very first book put into the hand of the school-boy, the Gulistan, has a story enforcing the sentiment of this couplet:

Dorooq-i maslahat ameez

Beh az rastee-i fetneh angeez

"A politic lie is better than the truth that excites strife." So it is a mere matter of individual judgment when it is better to lie than to tell the truth.

Inquirers call, professing an earnest desire to learn about Christianity. They come time after time, listen apparently with interest, but there always arises the suspicion of some other motive than a simple search after truth; either the hope of employment, or of gaining pecuniary assistance by appealing to the mercy of the Christians. A Moslem from Turkey called repeatedly, listened attentively and seemed to make remarkable progress. One day he explained his financial straits; that his son had gone to Constantinople to collect a large sum of money due him, and had not yet returned, that he had a little note falling due and would I kindly loan him a small sum, about $100, for a few days. Failing to receive the requested accommodation, his interest in Christianity suddenly and completely vanished, and though we met several times on the street afterwards, he never called again.

8. Another difficulty arises, namely, how a convert can obtain an honest living. It is the custom here when one of another faith accepts Islam to help him substantially. They provide him with a wife and give him some position with an income. Moslem friends sometimes express the feeling that we ought to do as much for converts to our religion. Finding that we entertain no such views, the practical question of their support confronts them. It is of course easy to refer them to Matthew vi:33, and urge them to "seek first the kingdom," &c., but when they turn and say: "You are our spiritual father, what do you advise me to do?—the work in which I am engaged is not honest, I must give it up, but what shall I do for daily bread?"—it is not easy to give a satisfactory answer.

[Or take, for example, this case of a Doctor of Mohammedan Law, who obtains a support from fees for legal transactions, and the instruction of his disciples. At first he was very firm in his Moslem views, later he claimed that really there was not much difference between Christianity and Islam as spiritually understood. One day when the truth was urged upon him with earnestness and prayer, he was much impressed, which impression was deepened by a dream he had not long after. (It is curious how frequently a dream figures in their proposed change of faith here.) Quite recently he called and declared his acceptance of Christ as his personal and only Saviour, and claimed that he had experienced the comfort of heart therefrom; and further that having accepted Christ, he besought His help in prayer, and that he had received the desired help. He stated that he had begun to read the Bible and desired instruction. There appears to be a real change in the man. Formerly he was afraid or ashamed to be seen entering the mission grounds by any of his acquaintances, now he ventures to attend the public service at the mission chapel, and doffs his ample turban. What will be the result, if his new faith becomes generally known, it is impossible to say; and how he is to obtain an honest living it is difficult to see.

But there are some considerations of a more cheering character. The Word of God is freely circulated, and there appears to be awakened a spirit of more serious inquiry than that of ten or twelve years ago, when they came freely to argue in support of Islam. Moreover there are indications that the reactionary movement, two years ago which overthrew the Imperial Tobacco Corporation, overshot the mark. While it served indeed to show the religious leaders their own power, it appears to have thoroughly alienated the monarch from them, and thus rendered him less disposed to support them in any persecution of converts to Christianity.

THE MOUNTAIN STATION FIELD.

REV. W. A. SHEDD, OROOMIAH.

The field of the West Persia Mission in Turkey is little, if at all, inferior to its field in Persia either in territory or population. It contains a larger number of nominal Christians and a larger number of Jews. The heart of Kurdistan is in that field, and we are called upon to have a great share in what is done for the great Kurdish people. Taken together what a marvellous field it is! What field anywhere can compare with it for marvellous variety and wonderful possibility! We are laying foundations and can see but little, but the great Master Builder is going to rear a temple here. What a temple it will be, when all the varied stones have been quarried and polished and built into Christ, the corner-stone! Three great racial families of the globe, Aryan, Semitic and Turanian, are here represented. The contrasts in natural scenery are no more striking than those of races. The snowy crags of Jelu, the burning plains of Mesopotamia, the rocky canyons of Ravandooz, the deep gorges of the Zab, the fertile plains of Oroomiah are no more dissimilar than are the Armenian, the suave Jacobite, the crafty Persian, the stolid Turk, the wild Arab, the savage Kurd, the patient Jew and the oppressed Nestorian. There is the orthodox Islam of the Sunni, the heretical Islam of the Shiah, the reformed Islam of the Babi and the heathenish Islam of the Ali-illahi. The Yezidee perpetuates the old heathenism of Mesopotamia. The Christians too own allegiance to various spiritual heads, to Mar Shimon in Kochanes, to the Jacobite Patriarch in Mardin, to the Armenian Catholics, in Etchmiadzin Russia, to the Pope in Rome, and few, alas! except in name, to our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. The present shows the strata of a long and varied past; Jews brought by Sargon to the rivers of the Medes, Arabs who followed the armies of Omar, Christians whose fathers were disciples of Addai and Mari when John and Polycarp lived in Ephesus, Turks who came from the far east with Genghis Khan and Tamerlane, Kurds and Armenians whose advent preceded the advent of history. Another day of Pentecost in our mission will be like that day when the Holy Spirit descended in the midst of the tribes and tongues assembled in Jerusalem.

May the Lord grant us that breadth of vision and that magnificence of faith which alone can appreciate at its high value such a task as ours.

A NEEDY PROVINCE IN PERSIA.

J. G. WISHARD M.D., TEHERAN.

Lying off to the north of Teheran and beyond the snow-capped mountains of Shimron and the great Mt. Demavend, is the large and fertile region of Mazenderan. It is a land of flowers, fertile fields and mighty forests, and consequently its natural beauty has ever been the favorite theme of the Persian poet. It is one of the few districts in the empire where vegetation will grow at all without irrigation, and nature seeming to appreciate the abundant rainfall has tried to compensate for the great arid plains of the interior by producing here, in a double portion, a semi-tropical growth of vegetation.

It has been at different times the seat of government in years gone by when the shadow of Russia did not cover the peaceful Caspian. A hundred years or more ago, during the reign of the famous Shah Abbas, highways were built throughout the region, winter palaces were constructed for the royal family and at the city of Barfurush the King constructed for himself an artificial island of some twenty or thirty acres on which he built his palace in a well laid out park. At that time the Caspian Sea, which bounds it on the north, was largely in the hands of the Persians, the commerce nearly all being carried on by them. But Russian greed for Asiatic territory has long since changed all this and now although a large part of the Caspian Coast is Persian soil, not a Persian flag is allowed upon the sea.

The present population, outside of the cities, is largely composed of rice and cotton planters who depend upon the peasantry to do all their work in the fields. It is simply impossible to give any sort of an accurate description of the condition of this great laboring class, more than half of whom are women. It is not an unusual thing for a planter to marry from six to a dozen wives in the spring to plant his rice for him and in the autumn, when the harvest is gathered, to divorce them all. Most of them without any means of support are turned out into the forest to beg, steal and take up their abode wherever they can find shelter and food enough to sustain life.

And strange as it may seem with the coming of early spring, they find their way back to the man who so unfairly used them the previous year, and are willing to enter again as a member of his family. So these poor creatures, more like beasts than human, live on from year to year, in the winter knowing nothing but hunger, cold and sin, and in the summer the hardest and most menial kind of toil receiving in return the curses and blows of a cruel master.

But these despised creatures have not been the only sufferers, for God's laws are more just than that. The immoral life into which these people have been forced has left its blight upon a whole nation, and never has the writer seen a more degenerate people, for the master as well as the servant has had to pay the penalty. We were only in the district during the month of May, but as our tour was a medical as well as an evangelistic one, it was sufficient time to give us considerable insight into the lives and homes of the people, and that too in a way that can be obtained in no other way, for in the whole state with its teeming population there is not a single physician worthy the name. All surgery and dentistry is done by the barber at his leisure while waiting for customers. Daily our temporary dispensary was crowded with patients; now a company of learned doctors of the law with their great white turbans, who have come to escort us to the home of their sick superior, a prince or perhaps a local governor, as well as the lowly peasant, all of whom have Christ's claim upon them plainly, forcibly and kindly presented to them by Mr. Esselstyn.

In the Shiah branch of the great Moslem world there are three high priests that occupy a position somewhat similar to the metropolitans of the early Christian church. The home of one of these is at Barfurush, Mazenderan and during our visit there we were invited to visit him. Late one afternoon after the heat of the day we gladly accepted the invitation, and our reception and entertainment was most cordial. He is now an old man of eighty years or more, totally blind by reason of a double cataract, but whose every appearance is patriarchal.

During our call he referred repeatedly to the charity and consecration that marked the apostles of the early church and asked if these qualities still marked the leaders of the church in Europe and America.

The whole tone of his conversation was surprising because of its great liberality.

Referring to his blindness he said he knew an operation might cure him but he had placed himself fully in God's hands and if He desired him to see He could bring it about without an operation, but if He did not desire him to recover his sight he would gladly bear the affliction a few years more that his Heavenly vision might be all the brighter. What a blessing such consecration would bring were it for the cause of Christ and not Mohammed!

His son who will probably be his successor was very glad, however, to avail himself of western medicine, and the next day the writer was sent for, taken into his harem and called upon to prescribe not only for himself but several members of his family.—If time permitted I should write of the district of Demivend with its population of Moslems and Jews, where the government is friendly to us and where the Governor offered us during our stay every courtesy, insisting that we spend summer there. Also of Larijän, with its hundred hamlets and villages where the word has never yet been preached even as a witness; of the great highway between the capital and the sea upon which the colporteur could work reaching travelers from every region in this part of the empire, or upon the feasibility of establishing, during the summer months, a medical branch of our mission at Ab-i-gairm, a noted hot spring at the base of Mt. Demavend that is visited annually by hundreds of invalids from far and near, and where medical work is sadly needed.

I cannot close, however, without a word upon the open door and willing ear for the gospel message that we found all through this large province of Mazenderan, where even the nominal Christian is unknown.

Coming as it does from a people strictly Mohammedan and under the very shadow of the land of Tamerlane, it is certainly extremely encouraging if not surprising.

May we not see in this liberal sentiment towards Christianity, which is spreading throughout the empire, the dawn of an era of greater religious freedom and consequently the answer to many prayers?

RELIGIOUS CONDITIONS IN THE HAMADAN FIELD.

REV. JAMES W. HAWKES, HAMADAN.

This is a time of great unrest in Persia. The wheel of extortion and oppression is grinding so small that there is no longer power to stand it. Ever increasing knowledge of the security and stability and comparative comfort and freedom of civilized nations makes the load of the Persian still more unbearable. For all that ages of use has made him accustomed to this load and makes resistance more difficult, yet it has almost come to the point where it is no longer possible to stand the present state of affairs. There is a disposition to throw off the yoke and strike for freedom. It seems to be only a question of time and of a leader able to carry a large body of mal-contented along with him when a strike will be made.

RELIGIOUS FANATICISM.

In the mean time religious fanaticism is absorbing the attention of the rabble in Hamadan, and to a greater or less extent elsewhere. It is said that during the last fast month the people bought up the Koran so that it was almost impossible to find one. They are more than formerly attentive to their prayers and public services, closing their shops and places of business on Friday much more generally than heretofore.

The Mullah Abdullah, who created so much disturbance eighteen months ago, who returned to Hamadan just before the last fast month from his enforced absence in Teheran, where he was taken as a pledge for the quiet and security of this city, has again taken the lead in enforcing the laws of Islam. He is especially zealous in trying to make converts from the poor oppressed Jews. But he has done one thing in which we all wish him Godspeed. He has forbidden the use of tea-houses as opium dens, and it appears that every person detected in the act of smoking opium is heavily fined. This measure will not stop the use of opium even if strictly carried out, but it will doubtless largely restrict it, and keep many from contracting this terrible and destructive habit. It seems as though the whole Persian race would be struck to the earth if some such measure were not enforced, the use of opium has become so rapidly universal. The Persian constitution is so run down by many sins and vices that this last and most dreadful evil makes easy conquests and quickly destroys its victims.

THE JEWS.

Among the Jews here there is now a remarkable spirit of inquiry. It seemed to begin with a prominent Jewish doctor who has been very friendly with Dr. Holmes from the day of his arrival and has worked with him professionally. Dr. Holmes utilized some of the opportunities which these occasions presented to ask him several pertinent questions about the coming of the Messiah which led him to think about and investigate them until he seems to be very near to the acceptance of Christ as his Saviour. His thoughtfulness has been contagious, especially among his relatives and professional friends, and for several weeks quite a number of them have met the missionaries and Jewish Christians to discuss the claims of the Messiah. These discussions have been carried on largely in a spirit of fairness quite unusual in my experience, and they have always resulted in the acceptance of the Christian interpretation of the Old Testament passages under discussion. This spirit of inquiry is becoming general and the hand of God is evidently in the movement.

It is too soon to look for results or to prophesy whereunto this will grow, but it is already evident that those who have been convinced now a long time of the truth of Christianity and have understood their duty, but have not had the courage to come out and make an open profession are taking advantage of this movement to openly acknowledge Christ and relieve their consciences. This is especially true of several present and former pupils of the boys' school.

REACTION AGAINST ISLAMIC TYRANNY.

Again it is evident that the enforced acceptance of Islam by some against their better judgment which was accomplished by the Mullah Abdullah movement is now reacting against a more general acceptance thereof and is driving them to Christ.

Had this movement of the Jews towards Christ taken place last year at this time we would have felt that it was an entirely selfish matter, being only a desire to come out from the ban of the red patch which still adorns the clothes of every Jew. But there has been ample time for these things to produce a true impression and genuine heart conviction.

Another thought must not be lost sight of in this connection. This is the answer to hundreds of prayers which have ascended to God for this people and also the result of much seed-sowing. Now for many years these matters have been daily discussed in our schools both from the Old Testament and from the New Testament standpoint, and in assemblies, large and small, these truths have been proclaimed. As a result the field seems to be whitening for the harvest and we must have faith to thrust in the sickle and reap with rejoicing.

OTHER JEWISH COMMUNITIES.

Hamadan has several cities on either side of it where there are Jewish communities, larger or smaller, which in one sense are accessible and in another are not. If they were left to their own pleasure they would be willing to have us send them teachers who are able to teach them and their children. But they are not free, but under the thumb of the Moslems who delight to keep them there and have no intention of letting them go. Last year we made two separate efforts to occupy such fields where we had particular invitations from the Jews to come to teach them. Both places were inviting and we hoped to make a beginning, but were balked by the authorities. One of these places was Seneh, where our missionaries made two visits last year, the last time taking a teacher and the necessary apparatus for a school, but returned without accomplishing their object. The other place was Kermanshah where one of our families spent the winter and did some evangelistic work among Jews and Moslems but utterly failed to start a school though they made an appeal to the Persian Prime Minister through our United States Minister.

But we have a school for Armenian children in the village near the city and last winter one of our school boys succeeded in opening a school at his own village some two days' journey away. We hope in the future to make yet greater efforts to meet the wants of the outlying districts both by touring and establishing schools. Schools and medical work are the keys which open the doors for the truth and we try to improve every opportunity to use them or any agencies which lead us to expect success.

We bespeak your most earnest prayers for us missionaries and all converts and those who are investigating the truth as well as those who care for none of these things. And may God add his blessing to every prayer and every effort!

Letters.

SIAM.

REVISITING NAKAWN.

Dr. Dunlap and Mr. Eakin took a trip to Nakawn Si-tumarat, and the latter sent in their reports as follows: We spent eight days at Nakawn. The trip going and returning was pleasant and enjoyable, but was marked by an incident of special interest. We held a religious service on board twice a day, and some of the passengers seemed to be interested. On the way down we were invited several times to preach in the private cabins of native passengers, and others besides the inmates of the room would gather at the windows to listen. One man, who is a government official in the province of Putaleung—between Nakawn and Singora—urged us very much to visit that province, and promised his assistance in our work.

At first we were somewhat disappointed in Nakawn. The people who had expressed hope in Christ at our former visit came to meet us as soon as it was known that we arrived, and seemed overjoyed at our return; but on inquiry we learned that several of them had fallen into sin, and three had yielded to strong temptation and had entered the Buddhist priesthood. One of these was an old man who had been very ill and when at the point of death his relatives persuaded him to vow that if he should recover he would devote himself to the temple. The other two were young men who had been induced by their parents to take this step. These had received but little instruction, but we were saddened by their defection from the faith.

Our first care was to send word to the native Christians living at a distance, asking them to come to Nakawn on Friday or Saturday in order to be present at the communion service on the following Sabbath. Only one of these came. The others lived about thirty miles away, and the notice was so short that they could not arrange to take the journey. They sent us word that they wished very much to come, and asked us to visit them.

The usual work of preaching and healing was begun at once in our house. Many came to hear the Gospel; many others for medicine, and most of these remained for religious instruction. The attendance was usually large and they listened with close attention. We held a regular preaching service every morning and afternoon, and a meeting for inquirers at night. At this last meeting we always invited the people to take part by leading in prayer or relating their experi-ance of what Christ had done for them. The people seemed to enjoy these meetings, and to appreciate them as helpful privileges.

The general condition of the people in Nakawn is not much improved since last year. The cattle plague has ended; but it is estimated that eighty per cent. of the cattle in the province have died, and the farmers must put in their crops almost entirely by the slow and tollsome process of hand labor. Crimes of violence seem to be on the increase.

FIRST COMMUNION IN COAST PROVINCES.

The communion service on Sabbath afternoon was a very solemn and interesting occasion. It was the first time that the sacrament has been administered in any of these coast provinces. Our house was well filled with a deeply attentive audience, who were evidently much impressed by the service. Five new converts received baptism; two men and their wives and one woman whose husband is a candidate for baptism, but was continued on probation. It is encouraging to see them come by families. After the baptism, the Lord's Supper was administered, and thirteen persons including ourselves partook of the emblems. The last few days of our stay were cheered by tokens of increased and widespread interest. Persons came from long distances to hear the Word, and bought portions of the Scriptures to carry home with them. One whole family, consisting of father, mother and grown-up son, came and asked to have their names enrolled as candidates for baptism. The father is a farmer who lives in town and hires men to work his fields. He is a man of much more than ordinary education, and has been studying our books ever since our first visit there two years ago. If he becomes a Christian his influence will tell for Christ in that community.

Twenty-three names are now enrolled in the inquirers' class, but there are many others who are deeply interested in the Christian religion, but are not ready to confess their faith.

AFRICA.

A PLUCKY MISSIONARY WIFE.

C. J. Laffin, M. D., Batanga:—Our trip to Efulen, which my last letter told you we expected to take, was in every respect a success. Considerable rain for two weeks before starting warned me that the main road would be bad. Careful observations while making my previous trips convinced me that there must be high ground a few miles south of and parallel with the main road. This, our trip proved to be true —a discovery of no small importance to the future of our work in the interior, as we are now sure of having a good road at all seasons. The few swamps and streams gave us no trouble worth mentioning. Mrs. Laffin walked the whole distance, except crossing the deeper streams; having rubber boots on, she waded through the water. The road being shady and cool she beguiled the time picking flowers by the roadside, listening to the birds, or admiring the magnificent scenery, often comparing the trip to a summer picnic at home. We averaged four hours actual walking ($2\frac{1}{2}$ miles per hour) a day, resting every hour and all day on the Sabbath. Though rain fell during part of four different days while we were on the road, we were no more inconvenienced by it than if in New York.

At the end of the journey Mrs. Laffin was certainly as well as when we started, and has since enjoyed excellent health.

I have no hesitation in recommending that ladies be sent out for this interior work at once. Of course they ought to be accompanied on the road by an experienced traveler, and care should be taken to make the journey with reference to the season.

I had to come up at this time as a member of a committee of the mission to see about the site for the second station, so we took our Mabeya teacher that we might not lose time. Mrs. Laffin had a native girl for company. We visited and held meetings in a number of Mabeya villages, which extend one-third of the distance between Batanga and Efulen.

IMPROVEMENTS AT EFULEN.

We found Brothers Good and Kerr in excellent health. They have made many improvements on the road extending a day's journey toward Batanga, some of them important. Considerable improvements have also been made by them on this station. Mr. Kerr has built a school house and boys' sleeping house. They will last about eighteen months. A large part of the roof of the dwelling house has been renewed, and the walls have been made nearly weather-proof. Bush has been cleared. Nearly all the material for the new dwelling house has been prepared. Mr. Kerr thinks it will be finished in two months at most. On my last trip up here I started the workmen cutting boards with the pit saw. They are now turning out excellent boards cheaper than we can land them on the coast. We have not yet started the brick-making, as there will be no one to carry it on. Dr. Good has done some important work with experimental gardening.

HOME MISSIONS.

On the opposite page we give to the readers of the CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD a group picture of our Synodical Missionaries. The artist has done fairly well considering the fact that half the number were not present when the other half sat for the picture, and that the company were never together.

Beginning at the left, as we face the picture, on the front row are Rev. H. S. Little, D. D., of Texas, Rev. H. P. Carson, D. D., South Dakota, Rev. F. H. Gwynne, D. D., Oregon, Rev. F. M. Wood, North Dakota, Rev. S. E. Wishard, D. D., Utah, Rev. H. Keigwin, Florida.

In the middle row are Rev. Sheldon Jackson, D. D., Alaska, Rev. James A. Menaul, New Mexico, Rev. T. C. Kirkwood, D. D., Colorado, Rev. C. A. Duncan, D. D., Tennessee, Rev. A. K. Baird, D. D., Montana, Rev. David Howell, Michigan, Rev. W. R. King, Indian Territory and Oklahoma, Rev. T. M. Gunn, D. D., Washington, and Rev. C. S. Dewing, New England.

In the back row are Rev. S. B. Fleming, D. D., Kansas, Rev. E. D. Walker, Missouri, Rev. W. D. Thomas, Ph. D., Wisconsin, Rev. R. N. Adams, D. D., Minnesota, Rev. T. S. Bailey, D. D., Iowa, Rev. J. S. McDonald, California, Rev. F. D. Seward, California, and Rev. D. McDonald, Kentucky.

Twenty conversions resulted from a few day's meeting held by the Synodical Missionary in a neglected community in Leslie County, Kentucky.

As the result of a ten day's meeting at Canadian, Texas, there were sixty-two accessions to our church.

A correspondent in Galesburg, North Dakota, says: "At last accounts the Mormons had gathered up nearly a dozen persons in this vicinity. An old man, after being baptized into the church was baptized for his dead wife."

Similar accounts of Mormon activity in other states show that somehow the passage of the bill for the admission of Utah does not discourage Mormon missionaries.

Financial statement of the Board of Home Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A., September 1, 1894:

RECEIPTS APRIL 1, 1893, TO SEPTEMBER 1, 1893.

Churches.....	$ 57,425 17
Woman's Exec. Com.....	60,260 95
Legacies.....	30,014 24
Miscellaneous.....	12,297 28
	<hr/>
	$159,997 59

RECEIPTS, APRIL 1, 1894, TO SEPTEMBER 1, 1894.

Churches.....	$ 53,148 82
Woman's Exec. Com.....	82,519 86
Legacies.....	90,011 11
Miscellaneous.....	16,470 22
	<hr/>
	$242,150 01

Loss in Churches this year..	$ 4,276 35
Gain in Woman's Ex. Com..	22,258 91
" " Legacies.....	59,996 87
" " Miscellaneous.....	4,172 99
	<hr/>

Total gain to date.....$ 82,152 42

O. D. EATON, Treasurer,
58 Fifth Avenue, New York.

One practical effect of Denominational Comity is to yoke together very heterogeneous elements. One missionary in Iowa writes:

"Our field is made up of every denomination prominent in the United States. The vast majority know nothing about their denomination save a few radical differences that distinguish them from others." The people of course could not easily forget the distinguishing characteristics of their respective denominations which they love so well. The minister who can harmonize such a congregation in work and worship must combine the serpent, the dove, and the major general in his make-up.

One of our Home Missionary teachers found that the people among whom she was sent to labor were afraid that "well dressed and high larnt folks" would teach their children heresy. She succeeded in allaying their fears, —but when she took out her kindergarten materials and began to teach the children, the parents said: "Now they're beginnin' to larn the children them Presbyterian doctrines." But they were soon convinced that there was no heresy in "them Presbyterian doctrines," and are now eagerly learning from their children as well as from the teachers.

An encouraging fact is the growing disposition in many places to help the Board out of its straits. The financial depression has called out the liberality of many churches and individuals. Dr. C. G. Stirling's church in Omaha, which has hitherto done most nobly, decided, a few weeks ago, to make a desperate effort to advance more rapidly toward self-support. After earnest prayer it was proposed that they advance $100. This would require self denial, but it was done. Then some one proposed that they carry their self denial to sacrifice, and make it $200. When the condition of the Board's treasury was stated by their pastor in a stirring appeal the congregation was canvassed again and self-support was reached. This was a noble effort on the part of that struggling church.

The drought prevailing over many of the agricultural states will cause want and suffering. Our Home Mission churches are feeling the effects sorely. A faithful missionary in Nebraska writes:

"I am thoroughly discouraged. Came to this field in debt. Board cut our appropriation. Officers promised to make up the amount. Crops have failed,—burned up with the drought. Now they say they do not see how the arrearages in salary can be made up."

Another writing from Minnesota says: "Crops are light and prices lighter. The prospect is gloomy."

From Iowa comes a similar report: "The corn crop, upon which our people most depend, is a failure for the first time in the history of Iowa."

Another devoted missionary in Nebraska writes: "The corn crop, which is the main product here, has failed entirely. The pastures are also dried up. Nobody remembers such a year as this is."

A young missionary in the first year of his ministry writing from South Dakota says: "The people were never so bad off financially as they have been this summer and as they will be this winter. Some have nothing in the world to live on this winter but faith and climate. Yet I think that all my salary will be paid somehow."

It is conceded that ours is the most important nation under the sun in the work of the world's conversion. And yet at the present time when we have gained such vantage ground when the greatest opportunities are before us for the most splendid achievements we are estopped from progress. We cannot budge an inch. We have reached a crisis like that which moved David to make his splendid bequest of twenty-three million dollars,—the publishing of which stirred up the fathers of Israel and the princes and the officers of the army, who subscribed thirty-five millions more. Then the people subscribed all the balance that was needed in ornamental and building stones and other materials and labor. They were very happy over the magnificent result. "Then the people rejoiced, for that they offered willingly, because that with perfect heart they offered willingly to the Lord. And David, the king, also rejoiced with great joy."

The Great King, greater than David, has made during the past year His unprecedented gift,—thirteen thousand souls more than our Church ever received in one year before. If the Presbyteries, like the Fathers of Israel of old, and the pastors and elders, like the princes and army officers, will take up the business with zeal and discretion, and see that the people catch the enthusiasm, why may not we have cause to rejoice in like manner at our National Thanksgiving this fall over a full treasury?

ROAD LEADING FROM MISSION SCHOOL TO INDIAN RIVER NEAR SITKA, ALASKA.

The grandeur of Alaska Mountains is often described and illustrated. This bit of scenery shows that there is beauty also as well as grandeur.

Religion appeals to the heart through the intellect. Religion and education are so related that in an important sense the one conditions the other. Every form of religion associates with itself a method of education which is calculated to promote its distinctive features. Superstitious forms employ the ideal, and have little use for the real and the tangible. Emotional religion may seem warm, affectionate, and spiritual, but it insists upon methods of education that are superficial, plausible and of little worth. Those religions which are intellectual and lay hold on fundamentals in everything they touch may be considered cold, formal and unsympathetic, but they insist upon thoroughness in the training of youth, they discriminate between gold and other shining things, and their very existence depends upon mature results. They deal with the real. They are the practical and helpful friends of all progress. They are scientific. They deal with facts as they understand them. They are progressive, they abandon effete and worthless forms. They must train, they must educate, they therefore become the leaders of thought. They establish colleges, and seminaries of learning. They are the friends of intelligence and morals. All the interests of society are fostered by them, and moreover they are the ablest defenders of the faith and the safest expounders of the gospel truth. Their work is therefore most permanent and enduring. They may not make the best show of early spring flowers and fruits, but they are abundant in the golden harvest of summer and the ripe autumnal fruits. Our thorough-going Calvinism has nothing to be ashamed of in the educational, social and religious systems which it has fostered.

The mission schools and academies which are now maintained by our Board are conducted upon this principle. The highest qualifications on the part of the teacher, the most approved methods in the school room and the best appliances are insisted upon in every case. We do not believe that better work is done in any school in the land than we are doing among the exceptional populations of our country. The results sustain this belief. The progress which the scholars make in these schools, the high stand which some of them take when they come East for higher education, the quality of work which they do when they return to the mission field as teachers or preachers, as many of them do, and the character of the churches which are the outgrowth of such work, abundantly sustain our claim.

We would, if we could, remove from the minds of all our friends the last vestige of the false and damaging impression which some of them have had that mission teachers are generally pious women of good repute in prayermeeting and missionary societies, who are not qualified for positions at home or have failed in attempts at teaching in the public schools, and whose only recommendation for mission work is their religious zeal. The qualifications required by our Board as to scholarly attainments, professional training, health and success (if applicant has had experience) are as high as the best schools of even grades in our Eastern cities require. In addition to these qualifications, church membership and standing as well as special aptitude for Bible work are strictly required. Those who have the management of this work realize that money contributed for the purpose is a sacred trust and every dollar must be made to do the best possible quality of work and the greatest amount of it. The rigid requirements as to reports, and the skillful supervision and inspection of the work furnish the best guarantee that the trust is faithfully and conscientiously discharged and that the standard required by the genius of our Church will be maintained.

CHURCH HISTORY IN NORTH DAKOTA.

REV. F. M. WOOD.

We have a history of more than two decades lying back of us, with work on our hands at the present time, for which no adequate facilities can be obtained.

What has been done in the past by our Church under God is mainly due to the occupation of this vast region by a sufficient number of Presbyterians to create a demand for the Presbyterian Church. Secondly, by the Church's having measurably, at least, responded to the calls made upon her to occupy and furnish the facilities for carrying on the work to be done.

As the pioneer, the first to come, occupy and cultivate, she has won her way, maintained her place and kept her forces well to the front.

Had opportunities been more fully embraced and a sufficient number of men and amount of means been forthcoming at the right time much greater results would have accrued.

As it is a steady gain has been assured through the twenty odd years of our occupancy.

Tracing the work, as it has progressed, only one laborer entered the field for the first year and a half.

Within seven years there were four brethren, three organizations and three church buildings.

Shortly after two others came who, with their predecessors, were preeminently the pioneers of our work, viz: Brothers Sloan, Stevens, Scott, Iddings, Baldwin in North Dakota and Brothers Elmer and Superintendent Lyon of Minnesota.

Within the next year they organized seven churches, making ten thus far, and to the ministerial force had been added three names making seven in all.

By the end of the tenth year twenty churches had taken their places on the roll and twenty ministers in all had wrought for longer or shorter periods on the foundations.

From this time on organization after organization followed, from six to thirteen a year. one year, 1884, the banner year for organization, twenty-one churches appeared first on the roll.

Ministers in corresponding numbers came to fill them, so that up to 1885, when the Synod was formed, fifty ministers and a few students had entered the field. Seventy churches had been organized, of which sixty-three survived, with a total membership of 1698.

Twenty church buildings and five parsonages had also been built.

From this time on, viz., from the organization of the Synod till now—a period of eight years—fifty additional churches have been added to the roll, thirteen of which have been merged into other organizations or been dissolved, having at the present time one hundred churches.

Within the same time seventy ministers and over one hundred students have served from four months to several years each on the field, leaving as a present active force, thirty-five ministers and six students. The number of church buildings have increased from twenty in 1885 to fifty-eight, and the parsonages from five to twenty-six.

The aggregate value of church and college property approximates $175,000 and our total membership is 8050. This is the story in brief of the progress made.

It has been by self-denying and indefatigable work on the part of ministers; by liberal support on the part of members.

About two-thirds of the cost of all expense involved, has been paid by the people.

Whilst coming with little or no means; whilst procuring homes and facilities for living; while having numberless expenditures incident to the settling up of a new country; while receiving small returns for labor engaged in; while suffering repeatedly, loss of crops—that a people, could, all through the years, pay two-thirds of the cost of ministerial support, and add a hundred and twenty thousand dollars on church improvements, and by no means neglect their benevolences, is, we think, creditable, to their Presbyterianism and their liberality. To us, who know the amount of self-denial and sacrifices involved in it, it is marvelous.

But doing as much as they have, what would we have done without the help of others!

The Boards have had their place and usefulness in all this work.

To no single agency has the result attained, been so much due as to the Board of Home Missions.

Indeed, without it, ministers could not have remained on the field. Our work would largely have gone into other hands.

Presbyterianism as such, and the cause of Christ through Presbyterianism, depends largely on this agency of the Church's care.

Second only to it, has been the aid received through the Board of Church Erection.

Houseless churches do not thrive. It is only when the fostering care of the Church at large affords stimulation and help through this instrumentality that the local church has assured existence and thrift.

Our state is one of the three states which have asked more largely than others within the past year—thirteen buildings having been aided. The aggregate amount received from this Board through all these years of our dependence is said to be $56,000.

It would be ungrateful if the Presbyterian Church did not recognize the gratuitous help of railroads, town site and other corporations.

They have treated our course with signal generosity, affording for the most part gratuitous transportation to superintendents, half fares to other ministers, and half rates (till the enactment of the inter-state commerce law) for lumber and other supplies, whilst rates for churches and parsonages have been given at merely nominal cost. All this has been helpful.

Through these means, these and the efforts put forth by Presbyteries, superintendents, ministers and people, we have attained the present results.

Turning to the year just closing, it has been, in many respects, a trying year.

Losses by death; loss by fire; loss of property, loss by removal of ministers, loss of an open college, and thereby, perhaps, loss of prestige, loss of ability to support! Two deaths in the ministry in a single year is an unusual record for North Dakota.

Rev. J. A. Brown, long a faithful minister and teacher departed early in spring.

Richard Wylie, a licentiate, more recently coming among us, died February first.

A sadder list, on account of the void it makes in our ministerial force, is the leaving of thirteen of our ministers for lack of support. The churches cannot meet their obligations, and the Board cannot increase its appropriations so as to cover the deficiency. It shows the effect of these hard times, which make both ministers and churches restive, and make it next to impossible to continue otherwise pleasant relations.

To such an extent has it exposed our fields, that special care will have to be taken by Presbyteries and ministers adjacent to the vacancies to prevent loss and possible disaster.

Rays of relief come in the accession to our numbers of Rev. W. C. Hunter, from the Congregational body. Rev. Thos. Hickling, of South Dakota. Rev. F. J. Chamberlain, and Rev. N. H. Wood, from the last class of McCormick, Rev. David Campbell, and D. A. Hamilton from Eastern Canada, and Rev. J. H. G. Blue from the Reformed Episcopal Church. Still there are more than thirty vacant churches.

The churches added to the roll this year are only two, viz.: Tower, organized July 2, with 10 members, and Oliver, organized September 10 with 18 members.

The number of outstations worked from the organized churches are about forty.

The ladies have added five to the number of their organizations, making about thirty in all.

The Christian Endeavorers have run up their organizations also to about thirty. And there is one organization at Drayton, of the brotherhood of Andrew and Philip,

In material things the churches have made repairs and improvements to the value of $10,808.

Two new buildings have gone up and will soon be finished, one at Tower, the other at Edgeley.

New Hope has projected a building and raised the subscription. One new parsonage has been occupied at Grafton.

Never have salaries been so in arrears. But the churches are doing all they can to meet their obligations. Other church indebtedness is also very considerable.

Some of our churches have had special meetings. More or less of religious interest has been awakened. One profound and extended revival ensued, viz., at Grand Forks, where hundreds were received into the various churches, sixty-five I think at one time united with one church. In other instances from three to twelve were received. Nearly all the churches which have ministers report accessions throughout the year. Altogether, it has been a good year for the spiritual interests of the people. And the outlook in this respect is hopeful.

In the past few years there have been developments of coal mining and stock raising. These industries ere long will assume large proportions.

Then when the native coal can be mined in sufficient quantities and cheapness, certain kinds of manufacturing enterprises will spring up. Milling already has assumed a large place in our industries.

The business of North Dakota being largely agricultural, or merchandizing dependent on it, the very life has been taken out of people this year.

Never has there been a time when so many failures of business houses, banks and other institutions have taken place as this year. Business has been depressed to a degree unparalleled.

Farm work has been a sinking investment. Only by mortgaging what remains unmortgaged have people been able to stay and live. And the population would have been greatly more depleted had people been able to get away. Next fall will be the trying and testing time. If farther failure of crops ensue, pretty much all the farming community will be bankrupt.

Any way, when claims are enforced, many men will go under.

Only a superabundant crop and good prices will enable them to hold on. Many would go now had they the facilities.

This state of things may give place in time to the incoming of a more thrifty and able population.

There is in this land, unless God wholly gives it up to drought and disaster, enough of promise to make every one of us apostolic in our zeal and courage.

We have laid the foundations. Our Church is not second to any of the English-speaking Churches. Its success is assured if we can only command men of proper qualifications and consecration, and means to keep them on the field.

Till they come in sufficient numbers, and the ways and means are found to send them here and keep them here, the constantly recurrent cry will be most fittingly made. The harvest is great, but the laborers are few. Send therefore laborers into the harvest.

Concert of Prayer For Church Work at Home.

JANUARY,	The New West
FEBRUARY,	The Indians.
MARCH,	The Older States.
APRIL,	The Cities.
MAY,	The Mormons.
JUNE,	Our Missionaries.
JULY,	Results of the Year.
AUGUST,	Romanists and Foreigners.
SEPTEMBER,	The Outlook.
OCTOBER,	The Treasury.
NOVEMBER,	The Mexicans.
DECEMBER,	The South.

THE TREASURY.

Our Lord's discourses often grew out of the occasions on which they were spoken or the circumstances about him at the time. He was on his way from Judea to Galilee when he met the woman at the well at Sychar. She gave him water to drink, and he told her of the living water. She was half way between Jew and heathen, and he led her to the light. Gerizim, the holy mountain of the Samaritans, was in sight, and Jerusalem, the holy city of the Jew, behind them, and he taught her the nature and character of true worship.

He was on a mountain where the renunculus abounded when he said: "Consider the lilies of the field." And he was in the Treasury of the Lord's house when he gave his wonderful discourse on the threefold subject: "Light of the World," "Witnessing for Him," and "Fellowship with Him and the Father." The relation between the Treasury of the Lord's house and the spread of the light through the testimony of those who have fellowship with him, appears throughout the history of the Church. That relation is, moreover, apparent from the nature of the work. The delivery of that particular discourse in the Treasury, in the very presence of the consecrated offerings of God's people, is certainly significant.

From the time when the Levite's portion was first set apart for the support of him who served as the minister of worship down to the present time regular and systematic giving for the maintenance of worship has been required of the people of God.

The Lord had use for the tithes even when the Church had no great schemes for the evangelization of the world to support. The gifts were required and rendered, not in view of expenses to be incurred but as a recognized and enforced principle of acceptable worship. It taxed the wisdom of Solomon to devise means of using the silver and gold which had accumulated from tithes and offerings.

Even in the earlier centuries of the Christian era so firmly was this principle of worship embedded in the life of the Church that costly temples of worship were erected for want of a better use of the superabundance of money at the command of the Church. Through the ages of the Church's growing corruption this much of the ancient spirit and law of worship was retained, and the lack of a better and more productive use of the gifts and consecrated services led to the erection of shrines and cathedrals of untold costliness adorning the cities of the old world. These monuments of the Church's worship of the Lord through offerings are still the pride and glory of the cities of Europe.

It is reserved for this enlightened and favored age, when the world is open to the missionary, when even into this favored Zion people from the other nations of the earth are flowing by the million, when in every service of God and man a wiser and more productive use of money is possible, when ushering in of the millenium, so long promised and earnestly prayed for, seems to be possible unto the Church, when the wealth in the hands of the professed followers of Jesus is many fold greater than ever before,—to withhold more than is meet, to fall so far below the divinely prescribed standard of worshipful giving that there are not even tabernacles for the people of God to worship in. Nay, the very House of God is without a Treasury, and has become debtor to gentiles.

The Board has been compelled to report a debt five years in succession. Is it not time to wipe out the debt and begin again the onward movement for which the neglected places have been long praying and waiting?

Our treasurer presents an interesting statement for the month of August, on another page. It is cheering to read that the receipts for that month were more than $32,000, an increase of $11,000 over the corresponding month last year. The receipts for the first five months of the current fiscal year to September 1st, were $242,150,—a gain of $82,000 over the corresponding period last year. This is good news for the Church and her missionaries. But when we come to analyze the statement we find little for living men to be proud of. The gains were in the ladies' societies, the miscellaneous gifts and the legacies of the dead. The churches have given less by $4,276 than during the same period last year. Nearly three-fourths of the gain was in legacies alone. The total receipts from legacies greatly exceed the entire gain for the five months. But we cannot count on such proportionally large receipts from this source for the remainder of the year, for legacies are more uncertain and variable than any other source of the Board's income.

On the other hand it must be borne in mind that the large churches have been closed and pastors and people have been away on vacation the greater part of this period. The receipts from churches for these five months are not a criterion for the remaining months of the year. The deep interest in missions which was so manifest in the General Assembly and which pervades the Church at the present time will surely bring increasing gifts into the treasury.

The Board is confronted by unusual conditions. Hundreds of churches in the regions of our country which have been scourged by drought or by forest fires, instead of contributing as heretofore, will be compelled to ask help.

The Board will suffer loss of income also from the impoverished condition of churches in the mining and manufacturing regions where for more than a year business has been depressed or wholly suspended. Missionaries will not be able to report so many contributions "to be deducted from remittances" which, though small, are in the aggregate very considerable.

All these things have been anticipated by the Board and appropriations have been made with extreme caution. Absolutely no new work has been undertaken, and the work in hand has been managed with the most careful economy. The number of missionaries at present under commission is less than 1,500. We need not speak of the great demands that are pressing upon the Board. Everywhere we see the outlook for glorious possibilities, but we are compelled to shut our eyes and turn our backs upon the scene. On every hand the harvest is neglected because the laborers are few.

Letters.

MICHIGAN.

REV. P. V. JENNESS, Flushing.:—I was asked to go to the village of Otter Lake, this State, and hold some special meetings. As our session here consented and procured supplies for the pulpit I accepted the invitation. I found a village of 500 people almost entirely given over to pleasure and sinfulness. Thirty-six meetings in all were held in fourteen days, including Gospel Meetings, Bible Readings, Children's Meetings, etc. I held a communion service there, the first in the Presbyterian church in nearly two years, and received ten persons into membership. The Lord was with us all through. Some twenty-six professed faith in Christ.

Following that I assisted Evangelist Sayles in a series of Union Meetings in the city of Flint, conducting the singing, preaching in the overflow meetings, etc. About 300 signed cards in those meetings. On my return home the session and trustees began to plan for making additions to the church building this summer, and now we are about ready to commence work. The addition will include a large Sabbath-school room and a kitchen. The Sabbath-school room will be connected with the auditorium of the church by sliding partitions. The money is three quarters raised and the balance in sight. We shall not ask for any help from the Board of Church Erection.

REV. A. STEWART, Tustin.:—One old lady who lost her husband and her youngest son, a lad about sixteen on whom her hopes were built, about twelve months ago, has not been reconciled to their death and had formed hard thoughts of God for dealing thus with her. Early last fall I visited her and no passage of God's Word seemed to touch her. At these meetings she came into the light and is now rejoicing in her Saviour's love. The clouds have lifted and her heart is now filled with love. Her bright testimony has done a great deal of good.

REV. W. P. GIBSON, East.—Our revival meetings, of which I gave you some account in my last report, were supplemented by the coming of two evangelists, Messrs. Smart and McLochlan, who labored with us from the 1st to the 22d of April with great acceptance and success. Three hundred and sixty-eight inquirer's cards were gathered, of which a fair proportion fell to us. Many whose hearts have been prepared for the good seed committed themselves to a new life. At our first quarterly Communion, May 6, forty-five stood up and publicly confessed their Saviour, of whom twenty-one were baptized. On the third Sabbath of June eleven others entered into covenant with the Church, of whom eight were baptized. In all sixty-eight have been received since the date of my commission, October 1, of whom sixty were by profession, and thirty, just one half the number, by baptism. Twenty-three of the sixty-eight were heads of families, and the remainder were young people and children connected with the Sunday-school.

This great spiritual refreshing has naturally given a decided impulse to all departments of our work. The average attendance upon all the meetings for the last quarter, including the revival effort, shows a large increase. This has been for the morning service 128 to 187, for the evening 288, for the Sunday-school 180, for the prayer meeting 54½, while the Y. P. S. C. E. has become a full and busy hive. With this large increase and interest and numbers we are looking forward hopefully to self-support in the near future. And may God speed the day!

NEW YORK.

REV. ALVIN COOPER, Jefferson.—I found this church in a state of chronic decline. During the preceding 28 years its membership had decreased one half, falling from 119 to 60. That decline has so far been arrested that, although we have passed through a season of great mortality and lost heavily by death, while antagonism and prejudice have been raised against us by the public discussions of these years, we now enroll 68.

The Society has been on the hands of the Board of Home Missions time out of mind, drawing $200 to $250 a year and paying back in benevolent contributions during the last twenty years, an average of about $47 while the high water mark had been for one year $96. The congregation had been trained to think it was too weak to bear any part in the general work of the Church at large, and that its great concern was to maintain its own existence, so its thoughts and its energies were concentrated on itself. I set myself to change the current and turn the thoughts of people to the broad fields of Christian work spread out before us that I might develop in them a spirit of benevolence more akin to that of Christ and so lay a foundation for self-support in the end. I was subjected to criticism, for the people could not understand my motives. It seemed to them that my sympathies were not with them and that my interest was all in things far away, but I have persisted and have compelled them to think of others than themselves or stay away from the church. The result has been, the first year our contributions for benevolence rose to $149, the second year they doubled that, for the last 12 months they have amounted to $417 and the last five years have averaged $309.

NORTH CAROLINA.

MISS HELEN GOSS, Concord.—Our meetings the first of the year, although carried on in a very quiet manner had a good effect upon the girls. The daily influence has also been good, and now there are but three girls out of the forty-seven who are not church-members.

If, at the beginning of the year, I had been told that in a few months such a change for the better would be made in these girls as has been made, I could scarcely have believed it, but now I fully realize it.

We find great enjoyment in our library and in our reading room. It seems to me that without a library no house could seem like home. Here, we get little time for reading and think we do well if we read the magazines that come. But verily, the busy life is the happy one, and the more happiness we give the more we receive for ourselves.

KANSAS.

REV. F. E. THOMPSON, Mankato.—The principal outside fact has been the activity of the United Brethren and the Campbellites in Mankato; the United Brethren having maintained a protracted meeting for nearly eleven weeks and the Campbellites for about six or seven weeks. The United Brethren expect to dedicate their church to-night, and the Campbellites have announced that they will organize a church to-night. In addition to these facts the Methodist Episcopal people organized a class in our church at Otego, and the defunct Baptist church at Burr Oak, in whose house we worshipped, had a resurrection. To sum this up we have been met during the year with four church organizations not in operation when I began my work on this field, and all of them in close proximity and active, and three of them aggressive. Burr Oak was organized in April with 15 members, 13 of whom came by letter from the Providence Church.

COLORADO.

REV. GEORGE T. CRISSMAN, Athens.:—Financial pressure is becoming more and more severe on many households in consequence of the failure to secure work, as was anticipated when the spring and summer fairly opened. The first thought among such is often that they cannot attend church service because they cannot make the contributions they desire to make, or in some cases the lack of suitable clothing has stood in the way. But these difficulties have been bravely met and overcome, and the congregations have kept up remarkably.

At our last Communion fourteen additions were made to the roll of membership, five on profession of faith and nine on certificate.

The Sabbath-school which started with an attendance of fifty, one year ago, reached its highest number so far of 145. The Christian Endeavor Society continues to be an encouraging feature of the work. Just now we are moving in the direction of securing a plain and inexpensive chapel, hoping if possible to get out of the public hall and away from the unchurchly surroundings connected with it.

INDIAN TERRITORY.

MISS DORA E. GILBERT, Helina.:—I have friends in the north who think I am wasting my life working with such a people. I wonder when the time will come that each one will know and realize that the same Father made us all and the souls of these children are as precious in his sight as any ones. Though their hair is straight and their faces shadowed it is the work of his hand and they have a soul the same as we. I know there will be nothing in heaven that will make me happier than to see them receive a crown with the rest of us. There we shall be one and worship the same Father. Oh, that the world would awake to the needs of the fast dying souls and accept every opportunity to help us to bring them to Christ! How we need the prayers and help of every Christian Only God knows our every trial and discouragement and in him alone is our hope.

MR. ALEX. S. HOTCHKIN, Helina.:—Our school closed last Friday, the 25th. I wish some of our eastern friends could have been here to witness what would probably have been, to them, an unusual sight. Late in the afternoon of the 24th wagon after wagon load of the children's parents and friends drove up in the near vicinity of the mission and "struck camp." As the shades of night drew on, the bright flames of their camp fires illuminated the scene, making the tall white covered wagons, which stood like ghostly sentinels, cast dark shadows into the glimmering half light of the back ground. One unaccustomed to the sight might easily fancy himself near a veritable Indian village, while we would need have given but little play to our imaginations to think ourselves visited by a band of our western nomadic neighbors. But had we harbored such imaginations in the darkness, the light of the next moon would have dispelled them, for there never was a more orderly body of people than those who wended their way into the Chapel at the beginning of the exercises which should close our year's work. Our pupils acquitted themselves well, we think, and others were heard to say, "They are so much better than they were last year."

OREGON.

REV. F. H. GWYNNE, Salem.:—Our Presbyterian Sunday-school Missionary arranged to take me with him in his conveyance to Sinalaw. We started at six A. M., and after toiling hard over rough roads, through thick forests, and crossing two mountains, being obliged to walk up because our pony was too weak to take us, and walk down the mountain because we were afraid to ride, we sought lodging at a wayside farm where were hospitably entertained by an Irish family, who, we were glad to learn, were members of a Presbyterian church. We reached this little backwoods cottage at ten o'clock P. M., grateful for the rest afforded us.

On Saturday morning we were welcomed by the pastor of this field, Rev. I. G. Knotta, who has a territory all to himself of forty-three miles in length. Our first duty was to dedicate a little church on Lake Creek, which has cost about $800, erected between the mountains where two creeks met. On Sunday morning our hearts were gladdened in finding the little house filled with worshippers—many had come fourteen and sixteen miles from between the hills, down the Indian trails to be present at the dedication. I preached in the morning and dedicated the church free of debt to the worship of God, after which a Basket Lunch was spread under the trees, where we had everything in common. A fine repast it was. A communion service was held in the afternoon, when the pastor baptized three persons and received five into fellowship with the church. It was a blessed day. The faithful pastor had to row up against wind and tide for twenty-two miles and walk fourteen miles to get to the dedication service. To work this field effectively the pastor ought to be furnished with a "Naptha Launch," which would cost only $200. As I have already intimated to the secretaries, I would guarantee $50 even if I had to pay it myself, if we could find some kind friends who would give $150. Cannot the members of the Board prevail on some kind friend to invest so much with the Lord in so worthy an enterprise? My heart ached to find that the pastor was called to attend a funeral at Florence, and after rowing against wind and tide for a whole day until our hands were blistered, we found ourselves 2½ hours too late, and the body was put into the grave without a Christian burial. If the pastor had such a convenience as I have mentioned, he could have given consolation to that bereaved family. May I beg your interest in this much needed work?

I am now in Florence and shall spend a few days preaching to the people and encouraging the pastor in this lonely, distant and trying field.

SOUTH DAKOTA.

REV. PIERRE LA POINTE, Red Hills Church, Lower Brule Agency:—My wife died the first of the quarter and went to be with Jesus, but I have felt like I was alone and weak with my orphan children, but the oldest is able to keep house for me and I am thankful.

I have done what I could preaching to this people under a great many difficulties. They are very much disturbed over the government trying to move them where they don't want to go, and a good many members are scattered off now, and the meetings are not so large as they were, but we hope God will bring them together again somewhere. There are some who are very faithful. And the women work very hard in their society which meets every Wednesday. They work sewing all day to earn some money for the church. So I am glad, and remember how my wife worked to start the society.

REV. A. F. JOHNSON, Pine Ridge:—Have to report sixteen baptisms, five of them were children of baptized parents and eleven were adults on profession of faith.

Regarding the Agency Station of which the Sunday-school formed an important part we would speak with deep regret over the burning of the Government Boarding School near the beginning of the quarter, February 6, and the consequent scattering of the children to the camp life, with its wildness, trying temptations, and open, unrestrained wickedness. This, however, has not quite crushed the school, as we have a good attendance of Agency children. We also have a regular Sunday evening service in the Agency, partly English and partly in Dakota. We have a weekly prayer meeting, but it is poorly attended. There are prospects of having a good opening for a new station in Loafer Camp, a few miles west of the Agency, and at Wolf Creek a few miles east.

The people are much excited over Buffalo Bill and many are anxious to go away to his show as actors and consequently have little use for religion. Now that the spring weather is coming we hope to try to concentrate our efforts and time on that Station. A few of the faithful attendants continue steadfast.

Mr. Benjamin Zimmerman, the native helper, had occasion to visit his home at Santee Agency and told me the White Clay people wanted the key of the church. I felt afraid to let them have it. At the close of the morning service on the first Sabbath of Mr. Zimmerman's absence, they came to me very anxiously seeking the key to have service themselves in the afternoon as I had to return to the Agency Station some twenty miles for my own regular evening service. I felt it was unwise to refuse and so after careful instructions to avoid fire etc., I gave it to them. When I arrived the following Sabbath morning, I was not a little surprised to find a lot of girls and women sitting in the sun on the door step and snow banks around the church, but there were no men. On entering I found a goodly number of young Indians getting ready to have a meeting of their Y. M. C. A. They had decided it was not proper for women to be present at such a meeting and accordingly had turned them all outside to wait until the men were ready to have a general meeting of all. I could not help being deeply impressed with their zeal to maintain regular services in Mr. Zimmerman's absence and am firmly convinced of their desire to do better. May their zeal continue.

UTAH.

Miss FANNIE TAYLOR, Pleasant Grove.—One of the great events of the year here among the townspeople is the "Old Folks' Party." The people donate supplies for a dinner and all over 65 years are expected to be entertained, and in the afternoon a program of music recitations and speeches is given. We were invited this year for the first time to give violin music, and Mr. Blohm to make some remarks. Some of the remarks from the good "saints" were quite interesting. It was supposed to be non-sectarian, but no Mormon can make a speech without exalting his religion. One said that he had four or five women and they were all mothers and he boasted he had more grandchildren than any other man in town. Another said: "The Mormons are the best people there are and people of the East are getting over their prejudice now and acknowledge it."

WASHINGTON.

J. W. DORRANCE, Sashomish.—One day I rode 30 miles on horseback through mud and rain, preached twice to one hundred hungry souls. Two other days I walked twelve miles through mud and rain, carrying an umbrella over me all the way, and preached twice and organized one Sunday School.

Time will not permit me to narrate all the thousand things connected with my work; suffice it to say "the harvest is great and the laborers are few." "The fields are white already to harvest, and he that reapeth receiveth wages."

HOME MISSION APPOINTMENTS.

J. Montgomery, Lonsdale, 1st, R. I.
W. S. Brown, Sand Lake, N. Y.
J. G. Lovell, Batchellerville, "
D. N. Grummon, Binghamton, Ross Memorial, "
F. E. Walton, Afton, "
R. G. McCarthy, Presbyterian Missionary, "
H. P. Bake, Spencertown and Austerlitz, "
H. McGilvray, Dresden, "
A. F. Papp, Nyack, German, "
F. T. Steele, Centreville, "
E. J. Bulgin, Sodas Centre and Joy, "
J. Bain, Ashland, "
F. W. West, Whitelaw and Onelda Lake, "
W. I. Coburn, Constantia, "
R. Abbott, Bay Road French Mountain and Turney's, "
J. F. Folsom, Pound Ridge, "
T. B. Williams, Martinsburg and Glendale, "
D. Scovel, Kirkland, "
H. S. Welty, Lost Creek, Pa.
C. L. Jefferson, Wilmington, Gilbert, Del.
H. M. Boyd, Reems Creek and stations, N. C.
E. A. Bartlett, Harrison, 1st, Tenn.
T. C. Kerr, Falmouth and New Concord, Ky.
G. M. Miller, West Bethesda, Ohio.
J. N. Boyd, Chicago, 10th, Ill.
J. R. Skinner, Newton and station, "
V. C. Byers, Green Valley, "
W. D. Cole, Poppel and Fraser, 1st, Mich.
J. E. Fisher, Kalamazoo, North, "
L. V. Grable, Pickford and station, "

F. L. Forbes, Presbyterian Missionary, Mich.
T. K. Fisher, Hager, Hartland and Trim Belle, W.
A. H. Carver, Duluth, Lakeside, Minn.
W. H. Sloan, Cottonwood and Swan Lake, "
D. P. Grosscup, Beaver Creek, "
J. R. Pinney, St. James, "
J. D. Gibbs, Jasper and station, "
J. Dudycha, Montgomery (Bohemian and English) and station, "
C. A. Foss, Minneapolis, Camden Place, "
J. Dobias, Tabor, Bohemian, "
S. G. Dunning, Greenleaf and Spring Grove, N. E.
P. S. Davies, Mandan, "
J. Copeland, Dickinson, 1st, "
J. F. Montman, Gilby and Johnstown, "
T. Hickling, Towner, 1st and stations, "
F. J. Chamberlain, Minot and Logan, "
J. M. McCahan, Crystal and Canton, "
A. R. McIntosh, Forest River and stations, "
O. W. Hansen, Gary and Canby, 8. P.
C. W. Irvin, Minneola and stations, "
E. L. Jones, Melette, Rondell and South Gair, "
J. W. Morgan, Whitewood and stations, "
J. Macnab, Nashville and stations, "
J. Fluiter, Mountain Head, "
I. Renville, Long Hollow, "
C. E. Sharp, Olive Pease Valley and station, Iowa.
J. S. Roddy, Dexter and Earlham, "
H. M. Robertson, D. D., Clifton Heights, "
W. M. Grafton, Des Moines, Highland Park, "
E. G. Beyer, Hazelton and stations, "
E. H. Sayre, West Point and station, "
J. A. Bardill, Buffalo Grove and Salem, German, Neb.
J. W. Hill, Lexington, "
W. T. Findley, Winnebago Indian, "
J. F. Watkins, Osceola, Vista and station, Mo.
W. P. Nelson, Kansas City, 3rd, "
J. S. Caruthers, Kansas City, Hill Memorial, "
J. T. Curtis, Golden City, 1st, and Lockwood, "
L. L. Overman, St. Louis, Page Boulevard, "
J. F. Mueller, St. Louis, 2d, German, "
J. L. Amlog, Springdale, Rose Valley, Genda Springs and Arkansas City, Kan., "
F. E. Damets, Troy, "
D. C. Smith, Baileyville, " W. C. Wallace, Ellinwood and Roxbury, "
A. C. Keeler, Norton and Calvert, "
J. W. Talbot, Culver, "
A. C. Frick, Hope, Dillon, Union and Carleton, O. T.
H. P. Wilson, Pond Creek and vicinity, "
A. J. McGilvray, Ponca City, 1st, I. T.
B. A. Caldwell, Vinita, Tex.
G. Pierson, Henrietta, Ark.
C. Schurz, Pima and Papago Indians (Helper), "
E. Jackson, Pima and Papago Indians (Helper), "
J. P. Salazar, Morenci, N. M.
M. Mathieson, Socorro and sta's, Mexican, Cal.
J. R. Cooper, Brush, "
J. McFarland, Denver, Hyde Park, "
W. Keiry, Bowen, Locket and stations, "
A. M. Darley, Arkansas Valley, Mexican, "
M. D. J. Sanchez, La Luz and 8 stations, Utah.
J. H. Mateer, Richfield and Monroe, Idaho.
E. B. Tels, Noda Springs and station, "
S. B. McClelland, Idaho Falls, 1st, "
C. H. Grube, Phillipsburgh and Granite, Mont.
C. H. Newton, Hamilton and Grantsdale, "
W. Hays, Dillon, "
D. Willson, Hamilton and Spring Hill, "
J. M. Douglass, Miles City, Wash.
J. C. Willert, Tacoma, Calvary, "
J. T. Glover, Stella and stations, "
L. W. Hibbett, Waterville, "
T. J. Hedges, Walsburg, 1st, Oreg.
M. Robertson, Summerville, 1st, "
G. A. McKinlay, Clackamas, "
D. O. Gormley, Portland, 3d, "
D. H. McCullagh, Mehama, 1st, and Mill City, "
J. H. Beattie, Lebanon, Cal.
J. Stone, Crescent City, "
J. R. Sinclair, Burbank, "
D. E. Ambrose, El Cajon, "
H. A. Newell, Los Angeles, Bethany, "
F. Johnston, Eslinore, "
A. A. Dismore, South Pasadena, Calvary and Alhambra, " A. C. Junkin, D. D., Westminster, "
D. Hughes, Los Angeles, Welsh, "
W. R. Henderson, D. D., Santa Monica, "
C. J. A. Porter, Arbuckle, "
H. N. Bevier, San Francisco, Memorial, "
R. Ballagh, Plano and Lindsay, "
W. B. McElwee, Madera, 1st, "

COLLEGES AND ACADEMIES.

ALBANY COLLEGE.

PRESIDENT E. N. CONDIT.

Albany College, situated at Albany, Oregon, was founded in 1866, under the auspices of the Presbytery of Oregon, by a gift of seven acres of land in the midst of a prosperous young city. The citizens of Albany, assisted by a number of individuals scattered throughout Oregon, contributed $8,000 toward the erection and completion of a building suitable for educational purposes. Like all institutions in the far West this college has struggled with adversity. Lack of means has led to frequent changes in administration.

The intention of its founders was to establish a college that should meet the local demand. While college work was to constitute a prominent feature, the work of the High School, or Academy, of necessity constituted the major part of the real work. Out of a yearly enrollment of about one hundred students, the senior class, in the college department was never larger than fifteen. In this respect the Albany College shared a common experience with all the institutions of the Northwest. Two-thirds of all the work done in western institutions is academic work, one-third being college work proper. The amount of Latin and Greek required for graduation now is about the same as was demanded in Princeton College twenty years ago; and this proportion exists in all the other departments of instruction.

In the spring of 1892 the college building was remodeled and enlarged and its capacity more than doubled. The money for this improvement was nearly all contributed by the friends of the institution in the state. The Board of Aid for Colleges and Academies has contributed for several years towards current expenses, and heartily endorses the work that is done. For several years all students graduating have been earnest Christians, and seven-tenths of the students in college classes are active workers in the Master's Cause. The average enrollment for the last five years has been two hundred students. The work is steadily growing.

The college catalogue, issued last June, fairly sets forth the scope of work done and shows that eight instructors were employed during the year. A glance at the balance sheet of the institution, now on file with the Secretary of the Board of Aid for Colleges and Academies, shows that the faculty has received but small remuneration for the work accomplished. If the friends of education could inspect the work as it goes on from day to day they would have a higher appreciation of the work which this institution is accomplishing, and would more readily contribute to its maintenance. Assistance in endowment and in physical apparatus is needed.

CHEAP.

The cheapness with which a college does its work is amazing to one who studies the subject for the first time. A writer, who speaks with authority on such topics, lately gave in The Outlook the following figures showing the annual expense to the college for each student over and above receipts from students:

Columbia,	$1,400
Wisconsin,	400
Harvard,	805
Ann Arbor,	800
Minnesota,	266
Weesleyan,	259
Princeton,	250
Cornell,	242
Yale,	231
Brown,	210
Amherst,	175
Nebraska,	160
Williams,	146
Hamilton,	135
Beloit,	105
Evanston,	105
Wabash,	100

Lake Forest,	$92
Lafayette,	60
Wooster,	50

Compare with these the following figures showing the annual expense to each college aided by the College Board for each student over and above receipts from students:

$135 13	$31 80
87 23	27 77
58 00	18 68
48 33	17 19
47 75	9 01
44 94	7 73
44 60	3 78
44 41	3 48
33 75
83 11

Average, $32 36

As these colleges have little or no endowment the average, $32 36, is about the cost to the Presbyterian Church, through its gifts to the College Board and its institutions, of each student's annual training in all that makes young men and women Christians, good citizens and loyal church members. This pays. It is cheap in cost, but precious in results. Is it easy to find means of doing equal good with the same amount?

Edward Everett said: "Education is a better safeguard of liberty than a standing army." It is also cheaper. They tested a new torpedo gun at Sandy Hook lately; the cost of each shot fired would have enabled any college, aided by our Board, to run a year with two hundred students; and the students graduated there are the very best safeguards of national liberty.

FREEDMEN.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT AND APPEALS.

The amount received from all sources up to August 1, 1894, is in round numbers $22,000. The amount expended during the same time is $40,000. We have borrowed $50,000. Heretofore the highest salary any teacher received has been $40 per month. All these salaries have been reduced to $35. There has been a general cut down. There are eighteen boarding schools. Some of these need repairs and improvements. The Board has decided that no improvements shall be made for the present and no repairs only such as are absolutely necessary and all applicants for new schools and new places of preaching are declined for lack of funds. The condition of the finances is such that no new work can be taken up. The question is how to support what we have.

Below is a comparative statement of receipts:

	1893. Apr. 1 to Aug. 1.	1894. Apr. 1 to Aug. 1.
RECEIPTS FROM:
Churches,	$8,345 97	$9,741 14
Sabbath-schools,	416 51	580 41
Women's Ex. Com.,...	6,787 02	4,277 75
Miscellaneous,	740 98	3,796 18
Legacies,	68,322 80	4,270 20
Total,	$84,618 18	$22,665 68
INCREASE FROM:
Churches,	$1,895 17
Sabbath schools,	163 90
Miscellaneous,	3,055 30
	$4,614 37
DECREASE:
Women's Ex. Com.,...		$2,509 27
Legacies,		64,052 60
Total Decrease,	$61,947 50	$66,561 87

You notice there is an increase over last year from churches, Sabbath-schools and individuals. This is encouraging, and even though there is a decrease in the Women's Executive Committee and in legacies, and even though we have $50,000 borrowed, yet we have such confidence in the liberality of God's people, in our churches, Sabbath-schools, Women's and Young Peoples' Societies that we feel sure they will come up to the help of the Lord. A congregation once said to a pastor, with regard to a debt hanging over the church, "give us the opportunity and we will wipe it out." The opportunity was given and the debt was paid. Will you not, pastors, stated supplies, Sabbath-school superintendents and presidents, give your congregation, Sabbath-school and Young Peoples' Society an opportunity to contribute to Freedmen.

The following appeals are being sent out. If they have not been brought before your congregation, Sabbath-school and Young Peoples' meeting before the first Sabbath in December, please on that Sabbath call the attention of your pastor, stated supply, superintendent or president of your Young Peoples' Society to them in THE CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD. Here are the appeals:

I. SABBATH-SCHOOLS.

TO THE SABBATH-SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENT:

Last year only about 300 of the 7,000 Sabbath-schools contributed to the Freedmen. There are thirty Presbyteries from whose Sabbath schools not one dollar was received. Will you not put your school on the side of the 300 and give Freedmen a contribution this year?

The General Assembly has set apart the first Sabbath of December for a contribution from the Churches for Freedmen. Could you not give your offering the same day?—or what would be better, some of our schools set apart a month for each Board. Could you not give the Freedmen the offerings of your school for the month of December? Some Sabbath-schools are not in session during the month of December. If your school belongs to this class, could you not give Freedmen a contribution before you close for the winter?

Please give your school an opportunity some time during the year to make an offering to this worthy cause.

II. YOUNG PEOPLES' SOCIETIES.

TO THE PRESIDENT OF THE YOUNG PEOPLES' SOCIETY:

In round numbers there are 6,000 Young Peoples' Societies in the Presbyterian Church, with a membership of 300,000. Last year 198 Societies gave to Freedmen $2,133.

Your Society, no doubt, contributes to Home and Foreign Missions. Will you not put Freedmen on your list for a contribution?

We will not dictate to you how or when this contribution shall be made. We will leave this with you and your Society, simply asking you to remember the Freedmen in your offerings.

III. CHURCHES.

TO THE PASTOR OR STATED SUPPLY AND SESSION:

Dear Brethren:—We request you first to put one of the within appeals into the hands of your Sabbath-school Superintendent, and the other into the hands of the President of your Young Peoples' Society, with your approval.

2d. The first Sabbath of December is the day recommended by the General Assembly for a contribution to Freedmen. Unless your church has some other day, will you not give the Freedmen a collection on the above Sabbath?

3d. We herewith send you a sample of our circular and our envelopes for taking contributions. We will furnish them free to any church, Sabbath-school or Young Peoples' Society, if you will let us know by postal the number desired.

Now, dear brethren, we do beg of you in the name of Him who said: "It is more blessed to give than to receive," that you will give your congregation, Sabbath-school and Young People's Society an opportunity to contribute to Freedmen the first Sabbath of December, or if the first is not suitable, some other Sabbath.

Please give the opportunity, however small the collection may be; for remember

"Little drops of water,
Little grains of sand,
Make the mighty ocean
And the beauteous land."

EDWARD P. COWAN, Cor. Sec'y.

JOHN J. BEACON, Treas.,
516 Market St., Pittsburgh, Pa.

PUBLICATION AND SABBATH-SCHOOL WORK.

DEMANDS FOR ENLARGEMENT.

As the peculiar sphere occupied by this Sabbath-school and Missionary work becomes better and more generally understood the claims upon it become more and more frequent and urgent. Encouraged, as all who know the facts must feel by the results accomplished, there is still a striking disproportion between the opportunities opening before us and our ability to seize them. There are now requisitions from 24 presbyteries which cannot be granted unless the churches supply us with more money. There are about the same number of applications from well qualified men to engage in the work, which for the same reason have to be "laid on the table." To keep pace with the demands of the day a great enlargement of the work should at once be planned and steadily carried out. For two years the General Assembly has appealed to the churches to contribute towards it a yearly income of $200,000. Where can this amount of money be put to greater spiritual advantage?

EXAMPLES OF BENEFICENCE.

The children of the Church have done nobly by their offerings for the Sabbath-schools; but this work calls for more than they can supply. A little study of its relation to the onward evangelical missionary movement of the age will open the hearts of God's people to the claims of the children of our country. It is doing so now, and there are many gratifying testimonies to this fact which should be placed on record to the honor and glory of God, who works through his children for the advancement of the best interests of man. Here is a communication which speaks for itself, and which we venture to print without asking permission:

MANAYUNK, August 8, 1894.

Mr. C. T. McMULLIN, Treasurer.

Dear Sir:—Inclosed you will please find my check for THREE HUNDRED DOLLARS to aid the Sabbath-school work among the colored people in the Southern States. Very respectfully

SAML. W. BROWN.

There is a wide field among the colored people and God is raising up able men eager to take possession of it and toil for the salvation of this interesting class of our fellow citizens. A letter like the one above raises the spirits of all our workers, making them feel that they have the sympathies of the Church around them.

A lady in Princeton, bearing a name highly honored in our Church, gives $200 per annum. A gentleman residing in New Jersey supports one of our synodical missionaries, paying his entire salary. The First Presbyterian Church of Racine, Wis., through its Young Peoples' Society, pays the entire salary of another missionary.

These are noble examples of Christian beneficence and we might mention others.

SPECIAL CHARACTER OF THIS WORK.

The relation between this work and that of Home Missions is better understood than it was a few years ago, and it is not surprising that there is a growing feeling of cordiality towards the former on the part of all directly interested in the latter. In fact, it supplies a much needed link in the chain of secondary causes for the upbuilding of Christ's Kingdom. The Home missionary is confined by his pastoral duties to a limited field. The Sabbath-school missionary travels far and wide over a large district. His duty is to seek out openings for Sabbath-schools and to plant and nurture them. Experience proves that this work demands a special class of trained and skilful men, and that the services of such men, rightly directed, are a source of strength and means of growth to the Church such as cannot be found elsewhere.

WHAT SHALL BE DONE?

We have in each Synod and Presbytery a Committee on Sabbath-school Work. Will not these brethren, led by their respective chairmen, study this question in detail, and see that at the proper season it is duly brought before the earnest attention of these august bodies? Will not each pastor and church session when arranging for the annual collection for this Board take some pains to inform the church and congregation as to the main features of our work. It will not be our fault if every Young People's Society in the Presbyterian Church does not appoint its own Committee on Sabbath-school Mission Work. Of course the claims of the other benevolent Boards of our Church and the local claims which press upon all churches will be duly considered. We would not divert a single cent from these channels. But experience fully proves that the giving capacity of the Church covers all these several pleas, and that the proper presentation of each will ensure a certain measure of response which will not injure the cause of any of the others.

In this spirit we would earnestly present the cause of the children of our country, which is also the cause of our country itself. We plead for a better undertaking of our work, and that it shall be supported not only now chiefly by the pennies of children through our Sabbath-schools, but by the cheerful and liberal contributions of churches and individuals.

The measure in which this Board can meet the requisitions coming in from our presbyteries is the manner in which the churches respond to our requisition and appeal. Debt is not to be thought of for an instant. Every dollar contributed goes direct to the mark, and there are no arrearages.

WORK IN MISSOURI.

Taking up the claims of individual fields one by one, we call attention this month to our work in Missouri. The population of this state at the last census was 2,679,184, the school age population, 987,713, and the normal annual increase of school population about 20,000. We have 5 Sabbath-school missionaries at work, and last year these brethren, reinforced by a number of student workers, organized 121 schools, and reorganized 40, with an aggregate membership of 755 teachers and 8,427 scholars. Exactly what the other denominations are doing we cannot say, but it is doubtful if the efforts of all combined are more than keeping pace with the normal growth of youthful population. Not to dwell, however, upon the statistical features of the work, let us read the statements which come to us from the field itself.

Mr. S. A. Meredith, one of our missionaries, writing for supplies for a new school, says:

This school is greatly needed, and I have been working for it for several years. There is a population in the town of between two and three thousand people. There are eleven churches, but no preaching regularly in any of them. There are only five Sabbath-schools with an average attendance of twenty five to each school. There are hundreds of young men, boys and girls parading and loafing on the streets all day Sabbath. And there has been no way seemingly to get them in, as there has been so much strife amongst the churches. But I have finally succeeded in getting the coal company interested, and they agree to furnish room, seats and fuel, if I will furnish supplies for six months, and thus make an effort to gather in those wanderers in a large mission.

It will be a feeder for the Presbyterian Church, as the officers and those most interested are principally Presbyterians. We expect to have a school of over 200 scholars, but only start out with 100.

There are several important experiments going to be made in this school, and I am anxious to see the outcome. More anon.

Mr. J. W. Rawson, writing from Cameron, Mo., says:

It is with feelings of thankfulness to God for His providential care and the privilege of serving Him in this work for the lost ones of His fold that I again write you to tell how the Lord prospers our mission in this field.

Eight new Sabbath-schools have been organized here since I last wrote (in March). In these schools were gathered about three hundred persons; one of them, however, only continued for a short time owing to the failure of the superintendent to serve, and my own inability to reach that point again since that time. Other schools have been re organized, visited and aided. Some of these new schools are forty miles from my headquarters, and three of them, even, eighty miles away.

They have not been organized without, in some cases, a good deal of hard work and many a long drive under the blazing sun of these summer days, but when I think of our dear Master as he sat by the well, near the little city of Sychar, while on that journey afoot with his disciples through Samaria, and though weary, thirsty and hungry, labored with that one woman and through her reached many more of her people, I feel that I am greatly blessed in having a good horse to help me in this work, and knowing that the Lord said he would be with us "even unto the end of the world," I "press toward the mark."

On the 13th of May I organized two Sabbath-schools at points in Harrison and Mercer counties, about eighty miles north from my home. One of the communities was largely Catholic and one of the school board of trustees a Catholic, but I got the use of the school-house. I found that there had been a Sabbath-school at this place some six years ago, but that it had been broken up by trouble that occurred in an evening meeting. There being no one in the community to serve as superintendent, I secured two workers from the Presbyterian church at Akron to go there every Sunday afternoon, one to superintend and the other to lead in the singing. The other school organized that day was at a place called "Toad Valley," where although there had been a Sabbath-school carried on from time to time for some years, yet an old lady said, as I was visiting the families, "Mister, we hain't had no Sunday school here for fifteen years to do any good." I met the people at the school house at three o'clock Sunday afternoon, and the first thing I noticed, as I drove up to the building, was a number of young men engaged in pitching "quoits." I addressed them with, "How do you do, gentlemen, this is a nice day." As we began singing, they gathered in with the others and were very orderly and attentive throughout the services. There were about seventy-five persons present. Before organizing I asked all in the room who were attending Sabbath-school at any place to raise the hand, and to my surprise only two or three responded although I asked them the second time, thinking that perhaps they did not all understand me. After taking a vote in favor of organizing, we managed with considerable effort to get quite a good set of workers.

On July 1st, I visited these schools and found both doing good work, but in the one just mentioned I found that an old man who was opposed to using anything in the Sunday school but the Testament, had induced them to vote the lesson helps out. However, finding that the superintendent and most of his teachers wanted the "helps," I took their order for fifty quarterlies at one-half price and sent the order to Dr. Worden.

July 15, I organized a mission Sabbath-school at Bethany, the county seat of Harrison Co., Mo., and also one out in the country about three miles from that town.

During the months of April, May, June and July of this year our missionaries have organized 35 schools with 186 teachers and 1,532 scholars.

CLOTHING FOR DISTRIBUTION.

The approach of winter brings to the Sabbath-school and Missionary Department many urgent appeals for clothing, and we hope that our friends in all parts of the country will continue to help us to respond to these appeals. Last year the value of the clothing distributed through our missionaries exceeded $7,000, and it is impossible to convey an adequate idea of the good done by these timely gifts. We would suggest the advisability of making these donations as early in the winter as possible.

What doth it profit, my brethren, though a man say he hath faith, and have not works? can faith save him? If a brother or sister be naked, and destitute of daily food, and one of you say unto them, Depart in peace, be ye warmed and filled; notwithstanding ye give them not those things which are needful to the body: what doth it profit? Even so faith, if it hath not works, is dead, being alone.—James ii:14, 15, 16, 17.

EDUCATION.

The Board of Education owes a very large debt to the labors of Dr. John Breckenridge, who was Corresponding Secretary of the Board from 1831 to 1836. We esteem it, therefore, to be both a duty and a privilege to present to our readers the beautiful picture of Dr. Breckenridge which we have had prepared expressly for this number of our magazine.

Dr. Breckenridge was born at Cabell's Dale, near Lexington, Ky., July 4, 1797. He graduated with honor at the College of New Jersey, and became a tutor in that institution, serving in that capacity in 1820-21. He was Chaplain of Congress during the session of 1822-28; pastor afterwards at Lexington, Ky., and associate pastor in the Second Church of Baltimore. He was a director of the Theological Seminary at Princeton from 1832 to 1836 and Professor of Pastoral Theology from 1836 to 1838. He was Secretary and General Agent of the Board of Foreign Missions from 1838 to 1840. He was stated supply of a church in New Orleans, La., which gave him a call to be their pastor, and was President-elect of Oglethorpe University, Ga., at the time of his comparatively early death, which occurred on the fourth day of August, 1841, when he was just 44 years and 1 month of age. He may be said to have worn himself out in the service of the Church. The passion of his soul was the conversion of the world. One of the last sentences that he uttered was this: "I am a poor sinner who has worked hard, and have had constantly before my mind one great object, the conversion of the world."

Dr. Breckenridge is described as having been graceful in the pulpit, with distinct voice, easy utterance and vivacity and eloquence of style, so that he was to the last loved and admired as a preacher. It is said that he was rarely profound, never very logical, but clear in statement and earnest and impressive in manner. His Irish traits, some of which often betrayed themselves in the pulpit, made him most popular among his own countrymen, who were numerous in Baltimore, while his genial spirit and gentlemanly bearing out of the pulpit, as well as his eloquence in it, made him generally acceptable and admired. It is admitted that he occupied the foremost rank among the pulpit orators of the nation in his day. Dr. Gillette tells us that all classes alike were captivated by his earnest, thrilling eloquence. He was courteous in manner, of delightful hospitality, kindly in feeling and bold in utterance, and zealous in the defense of what he regarded as just and true. On a memorable occasion when he employed an expression that was hissed as objectionable he paused a moment, and then drawing himself to his full height, while a smile of conscious strength played about his mouth, he exclaimed, with unbounded firmness, "I am not to be put down by hisses or by threats. I was cradled where the Indian war-whoop yet mingled with the infant's lullaby, and trained by a mother whose earliest lessons taught me next to the fear of God, not to be afraid of man." The effect of this utterance, delivered in an appropriate manner, was electric. There was no further interruption, and he closed his address amid thunders of applause.

Dr. Breckenridge bore his full share in the controversies concerning the transfer of the University of Transylvania to influences that were hostile to Christianity. Presbyterians had labored and prayed in order to establish helpful and holy influences in connection with that institution of learning, but the legislature, by the act of 1818, displaced the Board of Trustees, and caused the election of 13 new ones, not one of whom was a professor of religion, the act being a gross violation of the charter of the institution, and a usurpation of its legal and moral rights. Dr. Holley had been made President, and used his influence for the removal of Presbyterians from the faculty, and from the control of the institution. Dr. Breckenridge established the paper known as the Western Luminary largely to antagonize the plans and policy of Dr. Holley, and he was thus instrumental in no small measure, in bringing about the establishment, for the Presbyterian Church, of a college at Danville.

His election as the Corresponding Secretary of the Board of Education marks one of the most important epochs in the history of its work. It had been up to this date, in a very feeble condition, being greatly hampered by the circumstances of the time. All efforts to secure unity of operation, and a general co-working of the presbyteries, the stronger assisting the weaker, had failed. Some of the churches were contributing their funds to societies connected with the Congregationalists; others were taking care of their candidates through their presbyteries as best they might. The new Secretary set himself to the remedying of these evils, and, with the support of the churches in Philadelphia, who pledged the sum of $10,000, besides office expenses, he was successful to an eminent degree. The number of candidates of the Board grew largely during his administration, and he encouraged the presbyteries to recommend their candidates to the care of the central Board in Philadelphia by the pledge that no well recommended candidate would be refused. He impressed upon the churches that, when men offered themselves in answer to the prayers of God's people, it was sinful in the Church to refuse to care for them. His great ultimate object, as already mentioned, was the conversion of the world to Jesus Christ. His missionary zeal was at the foundation of his labors to secure well educated candidates to publish the gospel in our own, and in all other lands. The Board dates its present prosperity from this distinguished administration, and must ever be grateful for the labors of so devoted a servant of the Church.

THEOLOGICAL SCHOOL FOR GERMANS, BLOOMFIELD, N. J.

We presented to our readers in the June number of THE CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD, a picture of the German Presbyterian Theological School of the Northwest at Dubuque. It is a great pleasure to be able to give this month, as a companion picture, a representation of the theological school for Germans at Bloomfield, N. J. The history of this institution is closely associated with the Rev. Dr. Poor, who for so many years, was the Corresponding Secretary of the Board of Education. His heart was greatly enlisted in the work done for the Germans, and the school for theological education has no warmer friend than he. It has been a difficult matter to persuade the Church in this country that it was necessary to have a separate school for the education of ministers for this particular work, but the time has gone by when it is any longer an experiment, and the principles announced at the beginning have been demonstrated to be the true principles on which to carry forward this most important work. Large numbers of Germans are in this land. They are here by the hundred thousand, and they are using their own language. This particularly the case with the women, who are more shut off from relationship with English speaking people than are their husbands, and brothers and sons, and as it is the women who are training children and exerting a most powerful influence over the life and thought of the coming generation, it is all-important that they should be reached. Many men, also, who are perfectly able to use the English language in business, are far from able to hear intelligently a sermon in our language. Men and women both, therefore, during the transition period, require ministers born among themselves, and educated pastors of their kind, and able to speak to their countrymen in the German language. The work indeed, is of such a special and peculiar character, that our ordinary theological seminaries are quite insufficient for the task. An institution to produce German ministers must be one in which the instruction shall be in both languages, English and German, and where the special problems to be dealt with shall be considered and faithfully and intelligently studied. Experience has shown that the training of German ministers in our English seminaries has been to educate the students away from the German people. Experience, moreover, has shown that the object which was thought to be obtained by our German theological schools has been reached, and the practical working is now so evidently a success that we can point to nearly 200 of our own German churches presided over by ministers taught in their own schools where the problem of leading German-speaking people with their families into a true American life has been happily solved. Those of us who have watched this movement have observed with sincere pleasure how prompt the German churches are to respond to the instruction given them on the subject of systematic beneficence, how thrifty they are, and what interest they are taking in the work of providing similar privileges for their countrymen. The theological school at Bloomfield, and the theological school at Dubuque both report an increasing constituency of churches that contribute regularly and faithfully towards the education of a ministry suitable for German-speaking people in America. In 1892-93 $1,781 was contributed by the German Presbyterian churches for the seminary at Bloomfield. They have also started the endowment of a German professorship. They support a German Presbyterian paper which is educating them into our habits of thinking and acting. It is a religious paper maintained by their co-operation and association.

The policy adopted in the past has been a woefully bad one. It is really astonishing how American Christians have allowed the Germans, tens and tens of thousands of them, to be the prey of scheming politicians, carefully taught by them in their art and ways; allowed to become an instrument of evil, an element of peril to the community. Of course, it is not true of all Germans by any means that they are willing to be made the tools of designing politicians, but when they escape their toils, they are generally so much left to themselves that they form their own associations, speak their own language, have their own clubs and bring to this country foreign ideas which they carefully perpetuate. Even their religion is apt to be of a character quite unsuited to our soil. The ritualism, the bigotry and the sacramentarianism of extreme Lutheranism are to be found exerting their baleful influence among tens of thousands of our German-speaking people, and we have contented ourselves by saying that they are already provided with the gospel of Christ. The Germans are a well-educated, thinking and influential people. They have their own newspapers, but a very large part of what is read in those papers is irreligious, socialistic, materialistic, hostile to true American Protestant Christianity, and to national life, as we have received it from our fathers. We cannot afford to wait for a whole generation to pass away while we are hoping, and alas! likely to hope in vain, that the children will grow up with ideas more truly Christian and more truly American.

A prize has recently been offered to the alumni of the Seminary at Bloomfield for the best theoretical and practical discussion of the subjects presented to them by the faculty. The object of the prize is to bring into a clearer perception by our German pastors and elders and German people, important principles connected with the transition of the Germans into American life. Among the different subjects proposed are such as these: "Faults in the local congregations of the German churches in the fatherland, and their remedy in this land;" "True and false modes of the reception of members into the Church;" "The relation of the German pastor and his church to the German social clubs and societies;" "True and false elements in German socialism;" "The German Press in America, its good and bad elements;" "What can be done to regain those in America, who, in Germany had lost confidence in the Christian Church and the Christian ministry?" Such topics as these will give our readers an idea of some of the problems which an institution like our German Theological Seminary at Bloomfield is trying to solve, in the light of free, evangelical, Christian America.

The Germans have been characteristically a people devoted to foreign missions, and with their intelligence and zeal we cannot but hope that they will prove a most efficient help in the future extensive missionary operations which, in the providence of God, are plainly to be the characteristic of the American Church.

COLLEGE AND SEMINARY NOTES.

At the semi-annual meeting of the trustees of the American University at Washington recently, it was decided to proceed in the erection of two buildings as soon as sufficient pledges for funds to complete them shall have been received. Large amounts have already been subscribed. The two buildings are to be a hall of history and a hall of administration.

Prof. William H. Goodyear is to give a course of forty lectures on history as illustrated by its monuments of architecture, sculpture and painting, to extend over two years. This arrangement is made by the trustees of the Teacher's College, New York.

The chair of pedagogy in the University of the City of New York is to be filled by George Francis James, State Secretary of the University Extension Society. He studied pedagogy and literature in Halle and Paris, and taught it in the University of Nashville for two years. He will enter his work in New York City this month.

Howard University at Washington, D. C. has closed one of the most prosperous years in its existence. Its attendance has reached an aggregate of 617, the largest number the University has ever had.

HARVARD.—A change of a purely social character is mentioned in one of the newspapers as having occurred at Harvard College. Punch was a relic of old times and strong-headed days for Commencement Times. It was freely used, so that for two or three days there was revel on the commons for the college boys, with booths, and shows, and fiddling. It was President Quincy that broke up the commencement-revels of the town, and now President Eliot destroys the commencement punch.

LOUISVILLE PRESBYTERIAN THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY.—This institution, belonging to the Southern Church, has issued its first annual announcement. The catalogue contains the names of thirty-one students.

The information has been given to the public that Mr. A. J. Alexander, of Woodburn, Ky., has given to the Seminary, as a portion of its endowment, property in Chicago valued at $100,000. It is a business house, and last year rented for more than $8,000.

MCCORMICK THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY.—The death of Prof. Bissell last April has been a very serious loss to the Seminary. Dr. Bissell was a graduate of Amherst College, and of Union Theological Seminary. He was a man of varied experience, having been a pastor at San Francisco, a pastor at Honolulu, a missionary from the American Board to Austria, a supply of a church in Winchester, a student at Boston, and at Leipsic, Germany, professor of Hebrew at Hartford Theological Seminary, and finally at McCormick Seminary, Chicago. He was the author of a Hebrew grammar, of "The Historic Origin of the Bible," the Apocrypha volume in Lange's Commentary, "Biblical Antiquities," and the "Pentateuch, its Origin and Structure." He was distinguished among the conservative Biblical scholars of America.

MR. MOODY'S BIBLE INSTITUTE. A careful canvass has been made to discover the whereabouts and occupation of former students of the Institute. It has been found that 69 have become foreign missionaries in 16 different countries. 41 are acting as evangelists, 22 as city missionaries, 11 as Sunday-school missionaries, 18 are pastors of Presbyterian churches, 21 pastors of Congregational churches, and 18 pastors of Baptist churches.

MACALESTER COLLEGE, Minn., reports 94 students, of whom 68 are professors of religion, and 47 are candidates for the ministry.

Thoughts on The Sabbath-school Lessons.

I.

October 7.—Jesus at Nazareth.—Luke iv: 16–30.

There was in the life of the people of Israel a year of grace, which might very naturally become a type of the Messianic Era. This was the year of jubilee, which returned every fifty years. By means of this admirable institution, God had provided for a periodical social restoration in Israel. The Israelite who had sold himself into slavery regained his liberty, families which had alienated their patrimony recovered possession, a wide amnesty was granted to persons imprisoned for debt—so many types of the work of Him who was to restore spiritual liberty to mankind to free them from their guilt and to restore to them their divine inheritance. Jesus, therefore, could not have received from His Father a text more appropriate to His present position—the inauguration of His Messianic ministry amid the scenes of His previous life.

Two courses were open to the inhabitants of Nazareth: either to surrender themselves to the divine instinct which, while they listened to this call, was drawing them to Jesus, as the anointed of whom Isaiah spoke, or to give place to an intellectual suggestion, allow it to suppress the emotion of the heart and cause faith to evaporate in criticism. They took the latter course: Is not this Joseph's son? Jesus sees at a glance the bearing of this remark, which went round among His hearers: when the impression He has produced ends in a question of curiosity all is lost—and He tells them so.

Godel's Commentary on St. Luke's Gospel.

The Master speaks, in accents low;
Refuse Him not, nor say Him "No."
How much He bore for thee!—for thee,
The cross, the shame, the agony!
Thy love, dear Lord, constrains me,
I'll not refuse, I'll follow Thee.

II.

October 14.—The Draught of Fishes.—Luke v: 1–11.

Christ here appears as the ideal man, the second Adam of the eighth Psalm. "Thou madest him to have dominion over the work of thy hands. Thou hast put all things under His feet—the fowl of the air, and the fish of the sea, and whatsoever walketh through the paths of the seas." (verses 6, 8.)

Trench.

Peter here is an example to us. To hear when the Lord speaks, to labor when He commands, to believe when He promises, to follow whither He calls. The fishermen were blessed while laboring in their own calling.

Our Lord recognized earthly relations, both of kindred and occupation, in choosing His apostles. Two pairs of brothers, all four of them fishermen, were the first called and the chief apostles.

The special address to Simon—"From henceforth thou shalt catch men"—suggests that he would be a leader in this work, and this was proven on the day of Pentecost.

The miracle after the resurrection, in which Peter was equally prominent, when the shepherd's duty was added to that of the fisherman, forms a parallel and contrast to this one.

The earlier miracle is symbolical of the gathering of men into the outer kingdom of God on earth, from which they may be lost—the latter one of the gathering of the elect souls into the kingdom of glory—none of whom will be lost.

Trench (after Augustine).

III.

October 21.—A Sabbath at Capernaum.—Mark i: 21–34.

His words must have sounded strangely new and attractive, for, apart from their vividness and force, they spoke of matters of the most vital interest which the Rabbis left wholly untouched. He had founded the kingdom of God, and sought to build it up, by realizing the conditions in the souls of men.

The fervid words of Jesus, stirring the depths of the heart, created profound excitement in Capernaum. "New teaching," said one to the other, "and with authority." But if they were astonished at His teaching, they were still more so at His power revealed in connection with it.

One possessed by a spirit of an unclean demon was in the synagogue. Rising in the midst of the congregation, he cried: "What have we to do with Thee, Jesus, the Nazarene? Thou comest to destroy us! I know Thee who Thou art, the Holy One of God!" Among the crowd Jesus alone remained calm. He would not have acknowledgement of His Messiahship from such a source. "Hold thy peace, and come out of him." Nothing could have happened better fitted to impress the audience favorably towards Jesus. "This new teaching," said they amongst themselves, "is with authority. It carries its warrant with it."

His day's work of mercy had only begun. It was not to be thought that He who had sent joy and healing into the heart of a stranger, would withhold His aid when a friend required it. It matters not that it was fever. He was forthwith in the chamber. He took her by the hand, doubtless with a look and words, which made her His forever, and gently raising her she found the fever gone and health and strength returned, so that she could prepare their mid-day meal for her household and their wondrous guest.

Geikie's Life and Words of Christ.

IV.

October 28.—A Paralytic Healed.—Mark ii: 1-12.

This is one of the most striking instances on record of our Lord's consummate wisdom in the use of what appears to be a strange and paradoxical method of reasoning or instruction. As instead of pronouncing the man healed he unexpectedly pronounced him pardoned, so instead of meeting their objections by a formal affirmation of His own prerogative, He does so by a subtle but convincing argument, disclosing at the same time why he had so spoken. They denied His power to forgive sins; and could not be convinced of it by any sensible demonstration. But they might equally dispute His power to heal unless attested by a visible effect. If then His commanding the paralytic to arise and walk should be followed by his doing so, what pretext would there be for doubting His assertion that the same man's sins were pardoned? Which (in old English whether) is easier?

Familiar as we are with this astounding scene, it is not easy to imagine the solicitous suspense with which both the enemies and friends of Jesus must have awaited the result.

They were all amazed, but the wonder was not irreligious, for it prompted them to glorify God, i. e., to praise Him as the God of glory, whose presence had been manifested in a way, of which they had experienced no previous example. Alexander.

Young People's Christian Endeavor.

THE YOUNG CHRISTIAN WORKING GIRL.

MISS GRACE H. DODGE.

Life is full of duty to the three and a half millions of girl and woman wage-earners now employed, or seeking employment, at various industries in our country. From the little one of five years old, who sits for hours threading needles or sewing on buttons, to the old woman who for over sixty years has been employed at one factory, all have duties, all feel life's pressure, and hundreds of thousands grow wrinkled and bent in the mere struggle for daily existence. But what heroic lives! What grand lessons in patience, self-sacrifice, love, these working sisters of ours teach us! We do not wonder that Christ came to the world as a working man, nor that among his chosen friends were so many manual workers. No wonder that St. Paul found his women helpers among the tent makers and business women of those Eastern cities. We read that the common people heard Him, our Jesus, gladly; and ever since the workers have recognized and loved him and his glorious message of love, even if at times they have felt themselves unwelcomed in his church!

All are not alike; there are the silly, careless, improvident, vain girls; but the larger percentage are sterling and true, and with co-operative friendships develop earnest, beautiful lives,

But we must leave the general and come to the distinct topic: Christian work among wage-earning girls. What is Christian work? Is it not the Christ life of love, meaning self-sacrifice, giving up personal inclination for the good of others, trying to bring cheer, gladness, comfort to neighbors in the good Samaritan's meaning of the word? Columns would not suffice to tell the story of the many personally known whose one thought has been, or is, What can I do for others?

How would Sunday schools in poor neighborhoods be carried on if it were not for the wage-earners who prove in many places, and during the summer months, the most devoted teachers. The General Secretary of the Order of King's Daughters states that there are no more loyal wearers of the silver cross, nor more active members than those who work in factory and shop. The same can be said about the Christian Endeavor societies and Epworth Leagues. The records of missionary societies show large sums from individuals; it is true now, as in the time of our Lord, that the small sums mean more to Him, for they come from the busy worker, who out of weekly wage must go without necessities to give to the Master she so loves. He knows what the self-sacrifice means, and by and by will come to these tired workers the message, "Well done, daughter, enter thou into the joy of thy Lord."

The most beautiful of Christian work is the quiet daily living for Him, the little things done as unto Him, the giving up that other members of the family may have, the loving outlook to see where service can be rendered. In all these channels many wage-earners set grand examples, and all so humbly done that even the doers do not know or recognize any doing; it is natural, it is life. They do not talk about their "charities," the money they give, the hours spent for others, but daily, hourly, they live, they give out with no thought of thanks and applause.

What other giving can be compared to that of the many poor who give of themselves, of their comfort, of their life? Then the spirit! There is no desire for thanks, no thought of patronage, no question, "Is it appreciated?" Simply, "It is duty; we can do nothing else!"

To illustrate: A sweet-faced cigar-worker comes into a club room; a friend exclaims, "You look tired, and should go away." "Well, perhaps, I am tired, for I have not slept well this past year, for Mrs. W—— is still with us."

"Who is she, and why does she interfere?" "Oh, she is a friendless woman who had nowhere to go to, and we took her in. Of course, she had to have a bed and so for a year and a half I have slept on a narrow sofa or on the floor." The worker had home duties, church responsibilities, was a helper to many factory hands and yet it was nothing to give up bed and sleep for an old friendless woman.

A carpet worker referred one time to her little girl: "You are not married, have no sisters, how can you have a child?" was asked.

"Oh, this is a girl who was deserted by her mother when a baby in our house, so I had to take her and care for her, and I always will!"

This A—— M—— has had an eventful Christian life.

A companion was dying of consumption. she left her comfortable boarding place and went to room in an inner tenement with this girl, and nursed her at night, while working for her during the day and supporting both for months. The girl died; A—— M—— buried her, then went into a drunkard's home. lived there until she had strengthened and uplifted the wife and mother, educated and saved the children, and even in part, reformed the man. The little acts between of service for companions and friends are too numerous to record, such as going without vacations, so as to feed the hungry, associating with those she disliked, yet who needed her, etc., etc.

A tall, showily dressed girl, the evening after a Washington's Birthday spoke up. "Oh, I had such fun yesterday." "What did you do?" "Why, you know for our society I visit the poor, and I remembered that as I had a holiday, it would be a good time to take care of Mrs. S——; she is a sick woman whose home is so dirty and forlorn. I went there early in the morning, took off my best skirt and set to work. I washed, anned, blacked the stove, made Mrs. S ——— comfortable, and then I thought how nice curtains would look. I went home, took an old white skirt, soon made it up into curtains, went back with them and set the table. Why, girls, you would not have known the place, and then I told the mother and daughter that they would receive no more help from the society, if the room was not always as clean." This girl, night after night, from seven to eleven used to visit the sick and minister to them, and this after a hard day at a carpet loom.

"Why did you leave that nice place?" was asked a hump-backed, delicate girl. "Oh, there was not room for two, and I thought I could get work easier than Mary." She walked the streets and suffered many privations before work came. Suffered for another!

In a southern city, a working girl of twenty-three was president of a club of a hundred companions, and did splendid service in bringing many privileges to them, thus elevating and helping. She led the music in church on Sundays, went often to read and comfort the hospital sick, was treasurer of a State society, was the comfort and help of the home, and interested in all good things. Her work meant from eight to ten hours in a factory where her influence raised the tone of the place.

There are hundreds of working girls to-day in New York who think nothing of washing babies, looking after old, sick and suffering ones, and this before or after eight to ten hours of factory service.

Direct conversion work is also often accomplished by the working girls. Many souls are by them won to Christ, as well as thoughts uplifted and helped by those who stand at loom or counter. There is among them the sense of justice before generosity, the point of honest, true living, the hatred of pretence, and the sadness of being so often misunderstood.

How alike we sisters are, and how much we should lovingly receive and learn from one another! More and more we are grasping the thought that we need each other and that Christ's followers should be indeed one family. "Love is the greatest thing in the world," and by love, we mean St. Paul's definition of the word in I. Corinthians: xiii, especially as emphasized in verses 4-7. Love is the symbol of the Christian, and surely none can be privileged to know and work with the wage-earners of our country without feeling the impress of the many Christians, who not only in name, but in deed and in truth, live up to the great message brought to them by the Carpenter of Nazareth. May we also learn this sweet doctrine of self-sacrificing love, and by our just living and giving, hasten the time of the Kingdom!

THE CLEVELAND CONVENTION.

H. BULLARD, D. D.

[In our September number Rev. Mr. Robinson gave a very full and lucid account of the great Young Peoples' Christian Endeavor Convention. But it was too large a thing and had too many interesting aspects to be exhaustively described in one article. Rev. Dr. Bullard, of St. Joseph, Mo., who was present in the Convention, wrote a description of it, which seems to us unusually graphic. Like good photographs some portions of it make more vivid our impressions of what in substance we had learned before. Some of these, with the writer's permission, we give to our readers, omitting portions containing statements which our readers have had before.—ED.]

The Missouri Delegation to the Christian Endeavor Convention was greatly cut down by the strike. Many who had given in their names withdrew at the last for fear they would not be able to reach Cleveland, or be able to return if they did get there safely. Still we were about 300, and as we steamed into the harbor of Cleveland, on the "City of the Straits," about dusk Wednesday P. M., we announced our coming by singing "Throw Out the Life Line." All through the week the crowded street cars, depots and hotels resounded to the Christian Endeavor songs from young voices. The city itself was in gala dress. On July 4 the magnificent soldiers' monument had been dedicated in the central square, and the city had been profusely decorated with the national colors. These had not been taken down, there had been no rain and they were as beautiful as at first; and now to them had been added the Christian Endeavor colors, gold and white. In the windows we were ever met by some new device in which the colors and the monogram were displayed. Alternate shoes, in store windows, were stuffed with white and yellow tissue paper, and each merchant, in his own particular wares, wrought out the design in more or less exact adhesion to the colors.

A restaurant window emphasized a welcome to hungry Endeavorers by setting out a large C in lemons inclosing an E of eggs. The floor of the window was covered with yellow cheese cloth rumbled up, and peeping from the folds the word WELCOME was spelled with eggs. The streets seemed full of people, mostly young, and a large minority, of young men, wearing the colors of various States in ribbons on their breasts. * * * *

Men stopped on the streets to watch the loaded street cars full of "singing pilgrims." Saturday P.M. the visiting delegates largely devoted to seeing the sights. Large wagons full of happy young people "out on a lark," were to be seen in all parts of the city waving the C. E. flags, greeting each other as they met with "holy song" and laughter. No doubt, in my mind they were having "a royal good time," and no saloon man, standing in his door, thought for a moment that any of his wares were needed to add to or intensify their pleasure. Someone said, "the saloons and theatres would get less out of this crowd than out of any other convention that ever met in the city." In an address before one of the Sabbath-schools, Sunday afternoon, a gray-haired minister called the attention of the 500 boys and girls before him to the evident fact that it was not true that we had to do wrong to have a good time. He assured them he and their superintendent, who had just introduced him, had had no end of fun when young men together in Constantinople, and they didn't have to go anywhere or do anything of which they were ashamed to speak anywhere or to anybody.

A general passenger agent going with a special train full of Christian Endeavor delegates flocking from car to car to visit or joke with one another said in answer to some remark about the way they were carrying on, "Oh! do just whatever you please, make yourselves entirely at home." Next day as the end of the journey was reached he said, "Well, I never handled a crowd that was as little trouble."

This impression was made everywhere, that a multitude of young people can, as Christians, have a splendid time and not be conscious of restraints. * * * *

Every speaker was speedily conscious that he was addressing hearers most ready to be pleased or roused to enthusiasm.

Doubtless this state of quick responsiveness was largely due to the effect of the great crowd.

Few could resist the growing uplift, the thrill, the shivers, the flushes, which played up and down the spinal marrow and culminated in a state of excitement which steadily grew as the throngs crowded in and rapidly filled up the immense spaces. One evening, in the tent, I was on the platform where I could look over the thousands of faces. Something besides the words of the speaker or the singing, was taking hold of me as I looked and looked upon that sea of faces, until, when the Chautauqua salute (waving handkerchiefs) was given, I could scarcely resist the impulse to spring to my feet and cheer.

It was something to be part of that mass of humanity with the mind on fire because of the crowds and just sit and watch and think. I have never taken much stock in conventions but I am now sure there is a powerful force upon the mind and heart due to the size of the throngs.

Another mighty influence for good was the entire absence of business to be transacted.

It was evident just as soon as we were seated in the tent, the first morning, that a good deal of interest was felt in regard to the choice of the place of meeting for '96. I am confident, if the subject had been left to the crowd to be discussed and voted on, great feeling would have been aroused and much harm done.

As it was, this, (and all other questions) was settled by the Trustees and the announcement was made in such a manner as to intensify the good feeling. * * * *

Few of the speakers could make themselves heard on the outskirts; yet the big meetings were a power, and a great power for good. No young soul could go away from Cleveland feeling that he was toiling alone.

WHAT WILL COME OF IT?

I think the mightiest effect will be as the result of the unanimous agreement between the Trustees and the Secretaries of the Missionary Boards of the different denominations.

The plan, in brief, is to have the local unions arrange for missionary mass meetings to be addressed by missionaries or distinguished speakers in their towns. The bare expenses and entertainment to be provided by the local union.

This will save the Boards the present large outlay to send speakers through the churches and will secure to these speakers large audiences instead of the small ones of an individual church.

This movement is the most promising of any plan hitherto devised for awakening missionary interest, and diffusing missionary knowledge in communities now ignorant on this subject.

SAILORS REACHED AND HELPED.

In a meeting of the New York Societies in one of the churches, the delegates from Brooklyn Navy Yard roused a great deal of enthusiasm. Two "Jolly Tars" in Uncle Sam's uniform and a young man who did the talking.

The Christian Endeavor began in that Yard a year ago with seven sailors and now about 350 are enrolled. As they have been detailed from the receiving ship to the Men-of-War they have organized on shipboard.

I think it was the "Chicago" that has a society of 35; one of the other new vessels over 40. When "the White Squadron" was in Irish waters a Christian Endeavor Society, at its regular meeting, was electrified by an American Man-of-War's man rising to lead in prayer and offer testimony. A sailor, on leave ashore, was an unheard of thing in a prayer meeting. The wonder grew when he told them he belonged to a Christian Endeavor Society on board ship, and that many of the American naval vessels had such societies.

PICNIC IN AFRICA.—How would you girls like that kind of a picnic which Mrs. Laffin enjoyed so much, as her husband tells us in one of our Foreign Mission Letters? And you boys, would not you enjoy being the escort of such a "plucky" woman?

Well, there are girls in your school and in your Y. P. C. E. Society, that are pretty sure to grow up into just such women. They have already consecrated to Christ all their beauty and strength, all their love of flowers and birds and "magnificent scenery," all their robust health and "pluckiness," all their power to be helps meet for strong, brave, consecrated men, whether as their wives or as their associates in medical, educational or other missionary labor, for which there are now so many and so great opportunities. In all such work women, whether as wives or maidens, ought to have the companionship and protection of men. American boys and girls have excellent opportunities of being educated together for such fellowship of Christian Endeavor.

NO MORE THAN OUR DUTY.

Our Lord doubtless knew that his disciples would be liable to spiritual pride. Real proficiency in discipleship, fidelity and usefulness in his service, real improvement in character might puff them up with vain conceit like that of the Pharisee who thanked God that he was "not like other men." To guard them against this, he gave them a parable (Luke xvii, 7-10), in which he tells of a servant coming from the field to the house and there rendering such personal service to his master at supper as was customary and suitable.

The fact that the servant has simply been faithful in his field-work does not entitle him to the extraordinary honor of sitting down to his supper before his master, and of having his master wait upon him, thus reversing their usual and proper relative positions. It will not even be held that the servant's fidelity during the day exempts him from the obligation to render the usual personal services to his master at evening; nor that when the servant has rendered such services, he has laid his master under obligations of gratitude to him. The rightly disposed servant, in such a case, is satisfied with his master's approbation. Just so is it with us in our relation to our Lord. We cannot, by any services which we can render, bring him into debt to us. No amount of fidelity and diligence heretofore shown can exempt us from continual attendance upon him in dutiful, obedient service. Such dutiful continuance will not justify pride. It is no more than our duty.

We must not let the parable give us the impression of a hard and exacting master, who never feels that his servants have done enough—who grudges them needful rest, worries them with perpetual demands for additional services and never cheers and encourages them with acknowledgements of their fidelity, and expressions of his approbation. This would be contrary to the general tenor of the New Testament representations of our Lord, altogether contrary to the meek and condescending, the gentle and compassionate disposition, which he habitually manifested. Luke has recorded another parable (Luke xii: 87) in which he uses the same imagery as in this, and seems to make the opposite representation. He there says that when the Lord shall come and find those faithful servants dutifully watching, "He shall gird himself, and make them sit down to meat, and will come forth and serve them."

The two are easily harmonized, when we simply consider, that in one parable, he treats of what he would have a right to demand, and in the other of what he would be disposed to do. We readily appreciate this distinction; and we very well know that a magnanimous employer is ready to bestow gratuitous favors upon servants who are scrupulously faithful, for fidelity's own sake, and who would never dream of thinking themselves entitled to extra pay for it. On the other hand, we know that when fidelity vaunts itself, and lays claim to reward, its beauty is spoiled, because its simplicity and sincerity are lost. It has ceased to be fidelity, and has degenerated into calculation.

Are we quite free from the danger of fancying ourselves entitled to favor from our divine Master, on account of our efforts to serve him, instead of humbly and gratefully accepting what he gives, as of his free grace? We are not likely to assert any such claims in words, perhaps not even in our own minds to shape them into distinct verbal expression. But without this our minds may be under the influence of such impressions, no less injurious on account of their vagueness.

Are we not sometimes discontented, and peevish, because our exertions in the cause of our Lord are not honored with evident and visible success? Are we not sometimes impatient because our motives do not seem to us to be appreciated; impatient, not merely with the fellow-creatures who do us injustice, but with him whose providence permits us to be subjected to it?

When we have been honestly exerting ourselves a good while for a good cause, do we not sometimes get tired of it, and feel dissatisfied that we are required to keep on in the same fatiguing work—that we must yet gird ourselves for other and perhaps humbler services, instead of sitting down to refresh ourselves and to enjoy the honor and praise of what we have done?

It may help us to escape from such temptation, to ask ourselves:

1. Has the Lord any need of our services? "Can a man be profitable to God?" Suppose we had never come into being, or should cease to be, could not he get on very well without us?

2. How came we to have any, ever so little, power or disposition to serve him? Are not we debtors to him, not he to us, for both these? When a loving little child brings to his father, or hangs on the Christmas tree for him, some tiny gift purchased with money that his father had before given him, the father doubtless receives it with peculiar pleasure, and deems it most precious. But how would it spoil the charm of such a gift, if the child should show that he claims to be paid or rewarded for it? Have we anything to give to God which he did not first give us? If we do anything for him, did not he give us both the power and the disposition to do it? By such reflections as these may the Spirit of God keep us from spoiling all our Christian endeavor with pride and self-admiration.

A BOOK OF REMEMBRANCE.

Many of us have books the use and purpose of which is to keep in remembrance absent or departed loved ones. The mementos are such as these: their names, written perhaps with their own hands, sometimes subscribed to some written expression of good-will or some choice sentiment; their likenesses, that modern marvel photography, or some other inscription that will always recall them to remembrance.

All such books have a peculiar preciousness, a value that could not be measured or estimated in money.

Such depositories of affectionate mementos need not always have the ordinary form of books with leaves covered with writing or print. There may be objects on which others can read nothing, but which to our eyes are written all over with precious records. Poetically, and no less truly we may call these "books of remembrance."

Things which have impressed our minds so deeply that we need no visible reminders of them—facts, experiences, interviews, which we have "hidden in our hearts"—these constitute a record imperishable as our souls, and they may be more precious than our lives.

Only such a book of remembrance has God. He is spirit. No paper, no parchment, no tablets, no visible volume can signify to Him. He cannot forget and lose out of his thoughts anything that is precious to him, any person upon whom he has set his love. They are always before him, as if "graven upon his hands." He tells us, by his prophet, that "a book of remembrance was written before him, for them that feared the Lord, and that thought upon his name."

That same prophet, in the very same verse, (Mal. III, 16,) says, "Then they that feared the Lord spake often one to another, and the Lord harkened and heard."

Is it not a right Christian endeavor to help each other secure that our names are in that divine Book of Remembrance?

"If a man be overtaken in a fault, ye who are spiritual, restore such an one in the spirit of meekness."

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR IN FOREIGN MISSIONS.

WILLIAM DULLES, JR., TREASURER.

A statement has appeared in a number of the papers referring to the fact that 725 Christian Endeavor Societies are now supporting thirty foreign missionaries through the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions.

In some instances a question has been raised whether this was exactly correct, and a definite statement on the subject seems desirable.

I am thankful to say that there is no exaggeration at all in the statement. The Christian Endeavor Societies have taken hold of the foreign mission work with great zeal, and they are actually supporting thirty foreign missionaries through this Board. It is noticeable that in the year ending April 30, 1894, that branch of giving was the only branch that had an increase over the preceding year. Now they have set their mark even higher. All their gifts to be sent through the regular Church channels will thus help on the cause of giving in the Church with which they are connected.

The group system used by this Board has proved very efficient, enabling the societies to give as they may be able and yet be identified with some special worker, and receive through the Board here reports of their special work.

We only hope that each Church will feel the thrill which should come from the hearts of these young givers, and that, as they go on in years, they may more and more help the work in each Church with which they are connected, as well as the work in foreign lands.

Dr. A. T. Pierson, in a recent article in the Missionary Review, says in substance: God desires consecrated gifts, and never separates the offering from the offerer. The value of a gift in his sight depends not on the amount, but on the character and spirit of him who presents it. Again, giving recognizes stewardship. All is originally and inalienably God's. What we have we hold in trust, not to hoard or enjoy as we will, but to use as He will. Giving develops sacrifice, and sacrifice is the necessary element in all heroic discipleship.

Children's Church at Home And Abroad.

A CYCLE RACE WITH THE RAIN.

[From Indian Notes]

I was called to see a patient some sixty miles from Miraj. The journey was made by rail, bicycle, and horse. It was a beautiful morning, with the prospect of an equally beautiful day, when I started early for the station.

My "kit" consisted of the single white cotton suit which I wore, a lunch basket, my bicycle, medicine chest, and my boy, Mera, about fifteen years of age. He was dressed as usual in a linen coat and trousers, which as was apparent, he had worn in and about the kitchen, for several days. Fortunately, as it afterward proved for me, he had a clean suit tied up in a bundle with his food; this I presume he intended to reserve until we should reach our destination, when he would mysteriously slip from the soiled clothes into the clean white ones and thus be presentable when serving the Saheb's meal.

At the end of our railway journey I left Mera in charge of the lunch basket, instructing him to have ready my meal at three o'clock, while I, in the meantime would go the remainder of the journey, see the patient and return.

Fastening my medicine bag on to my wheel I mounted and started, with two men running in front as guides, but it was not long until the men began to regard the Saheb as a kind of steam engine or racing machine. One fellow having run about four miles, fagged out and dropped behind; the other by taking a cut through the fields managed to keep up for a couple of miles further.

At a certain toll-gate I was to find a horse tied which would take me over the hills to the village of the patient, a distance of about four miles.

I had little difficulty in finding the toll-gate and sat down to rest a while. My guide came up behind. In the course of a few minutes I was greeted with the remark from a man who had brought the horse to meet me,—“Saheb, if you had come yesterday we would have given you a fine State horse.” “Why can't I have a fine State horse to-day?” I replied. “The Savakar would not let us have him to-day,” was his answer.

Well, I did not at all like the looks of that poor bit of a bony, grey mare, with a rope for a bridle, a couple of blankets and a strap for a saddle, and a string with two angular rings at each end, which took the place of stirrups, the one considerably lower than the other, and evidently made for a man with a short leg. I had only so much time to make that four miles and back, over fields and stones, through streams and gullies, so with a guide leading the animal I mounted. I asked if she was a good riding horse? “Splendid,” he said, “Well, let's see!” So I whipped her into a trot. I am a poor horse-back rider even under very favorable circumstances, but when that bit of an old grey mare began to trot, I immediately began to look around for a good jumping off place. “I'll foot it,” I said, “I am not used to this kind of a horse,” so off I got, and, umbrella in hand, I started with the coolies leading the quiet animal behind, and wondering, I suppose, what a strange kind of a Saheb this must be, who prefers walking to riding such a fine specimen of horse.

We had only gone about a mile when I began to reconsider the matter of again trying the horse. The road was a very rough one and the sun began to get very hot. I mounted again and by not going faster than a slow walk, I finally managed to reach the patient's village, feeling rather sore, or as the English out here say, “seedy,” but I thought these the longest three miles I ever rode on a horse.

The patient's husband, a Brahmin, was a leading man in the village—Koorla—and with his friends treated me very kindly, offering me plantains, boiled milk, tea, &c. I had only time to examine and prescribe for the patient and, while I ate, to talk a little to the people. In the meantime another horse was getting ready for the return trip—a rather better looking one; so, with some twenty or thirty men accompanying me and the usual contingent of small boys, I was escorted through the village after the fashion of a conquering king, which one sometimes reads about in story books. I felt comparatively proud of my horse this time, and when I got beyond the town limits I thought I would again test my riding qualities. The first attempt at a trot was enough, for gallop he could not. I instinctively began to wish for that old grey mare, but it was too late now, to think of returning to change, so, keeping at it, I succeeded in reaching the toll-gate, sorer than ever and greatly belated. But catch that train I must, or spend the night on a bench in the station without cushion or coverings. In a jiffy my medicine bag was transferred again to my wheel and with a guide in front—though for what purpose, I had no time to ask—I began the descent of a beautiful winding road. The coolie soon fell behind and as I rounded one of the curves about a half mile down the hill, I saw him standing apparently out of breath, and thinking, I suppose, that it would be better in the end to quit the race in the beginning. But now another complication joined in the race. This time the rain, and that with a good start of me.

The road, a fairly good one in dry weather, lay along the foot of a mountain separated from it by a narrow strip of sloping plain. At distances of half a mile or so, were the dried up beds of small streams which carried off the water from the mountain and adjoining plain. As the rain began and finally poured its weighty torrents over the mountain and road, those vacant stream beds began to fill up and the mud on the roadway to deepen. Here and there along the roadside was a tree, but these offered no protection in that drenching rain storm. The nearest house was five miles from the place where the rain overtook me. Even had there been shelter, I had no time for that if I were to catch that afternoon train, so on I drove my faithful wheel, now pell-mell through a stream and then on again through the mud until, finally, I reached the village a mile from the station and through which I had to pass. My sun-hat protected my head from the rain only to let it fall on my back and knees. My white suit had taken a new color, to say nothing of an increase in weight which seemed to be tenfold. The streets of the village were by this time mostly under water. The rain pelted down over the houses, while the villagers sat in their door-ways or verandahs and chatted, enjoying the scene. Here and there a small boy clothed in naught but nature's dress and therefore without fear of rain, was bold enough to run out to see what strange object was flying through the flooded streets of a country village. In a few minutes I reached the side of the village nearest the station. I was now at the top of a hill at the foot of which was a running stream of considerable dimensions over which the two coolies had carried me in the morning. It was the thought of this stream that concerned me most, while I came rushing through lesser ones, until I got to it.

These Indian streams which drain the mountains, swell up in a rain storm very quickly, and I feared lest this one would become so large as to prevent my fording it. The roadway led through it, and this time I had no coolies to carry me over, but across I must get in some way, so I resolved to try a rush from the top of the hill. I was not sure of the depth of water but from the top of the hill I started, and with all my remaining strength I quickened my pace until my wheel struck the sandy bed of the river, where my speed slackened so suddenly as to nearly throw me head-long into the stream. The momentum, however, was sufficient to carry me safely to the other side, where I alighted.

I had yet the best part of a mile to cover before reaching the station; walking to the top of the opposite hill, I again mounted, only to give way to the increasing torrents and depth of mud from this on. I walked to the station, arriving there just fifteen minutes before the train. I had had the bath, but now for the drying process with no change of raiment and a single dry towel. "Mera! what have you in that bundle?" I asked of the boy, after having looked in vain through the lunch basket for something with which to cover my shivering body. A "maleen kapadi" (dirty clothes). I have it; "you take off these clean ones (a coat and trousers) give them to me and you take the soiled ones." Scarcely had I said this than he had obeyed. The station master kindly gave me the operating room and in less than ten minutes I was toggled out in the boy's clean coat and trousers, which as may easily be imagined were rather short at the ankles.

I dared not appear outside, fearing lest I would be taken for a butler or foreign tramp. So waiting until the train pulled into the station I made a dash through the rain for a compartment, which on entering, I was thankful to find unoccupied, and stretching out on the seat, I endeavored to increase my bodily warmth with a damp towel I had used to dry myself; this was the best I could do.

Meanwhile I despatched Mera to the train engine for some hot water with which to make some tea. The rain had put out Mera's fire, so there was no tea ready when I returned to the station, shivering and chattering with the cold dampness that surrounded me.

The water secured, I soon had a pot full of good strong tea, which, with the lunch, made a fairly good meal.

Next I set about to string up my apparel in different parts of the car; a coat over one window, trousers over another, socks over another and so on, hoping they would dry with the breeze before reaching Miraj, but it was not until several hours after the sun rose the next day that they approached dryness.

This done, I took five grains of Dover's powder and as much quinine, to ward off the effects of the chilling and then again getting as much of myself as possible beneath the towel, I lay down, paper in hand, and entertained myself until at eight o'clock the train reached Miraj.

Fortunately I had not the company of a fellow passenger to share what he might have justly regarded as a new style of drying laundry.

My tonga was waiting at the station and to transfer myself, disguised as much as possible, together with my belongings was the work of a moment. Only fifteen minutes more and I was at home, and in another fifteen minutes, within warm, dry clothes I sat down to a hot dinner.

Next morning I awoke none the worse for the race in the rain, but with a very suggestive experience which I shall not fail to make use of on similar occasions in the future.

W. J. WANLESS.

HOW A BABY ORGAN BECAME A MISSIONARY.

BY AUNT ALICE.

[From The Messenger for the Children of the Presbyterian Church of England.]

"Mother!" said a baby organ, as she stood by the side of her mother in a music-shop, surrounded by various instruments.

"Well, my child?"

"Where's foreign parts?"

"My dear, what makes you ask?"

"Because," said the baby organ, "a man came in when you were asleep and bought the concertina that always stood on me, saying he thought it looked like a good one to take to 'foreign parts.' Where is it, mother? I feel very lonely without the concertina now he has gone. I think I'd like to go with him."

"My dear," said her mother, "little children should be seen and not heard!"

But the baby organ was not to be silenced so easily, so she whispered to her aunt, Miss Piano, who, being tuned for a concert, was too busy to answer.

"I know," said a tin whistle in a squeaky voice; "you get to it in a balloon."

"Nonsense," said the big bass drum; "its under the earth."

"Under the earth, indeed!" began some one, but before any more was said a big voice called out—

"Silence! You are all wrong. The world upon which we live consists of land and water—three parts water, and the rest land. Foreign parts is across the three parts water," said the church-organ in a deep, awe-inspiring voice.

"As for this baby organ thinking of going foreign parts, she may dismiss it from her thoughts at once."

Perfect silence reigned after this speech: no one daring to say anything.

In a quiet Highland village nestled among the hills, in the month of August, there were many visitors. Among them were two ladies—sisters. When walking to the village to buy some "cookies" for tea, their attention was arrested by a notice pinned to a tree, which said:—

"On Sunday afternoon a Missionary Meeting will be held in the Schoolroom at half-past three when a young lady who hopes soon to go to China will give an address. All are invited."

"Well," said the eldest Miss Prime, "what can it be? I know all the visitors, for I saw their names in the paper yesterday. Let us go over them."

So she went over the list, and gave some reason why this or that could not be the lady. One read novels all day, another played tennis and another she had seen wading in the brook. The more she thought about it the more puzzled she felt.

"Well, my dear," said her sister, "we'll go and see."

So the next Sunday, in spite of the heat, they toiled up the steep hill to the schoolroom, arriving as the first hymn was being sung.

"Who is it?" asked Miss Prime, almost breathless.

"I cannot see," said her sister. "Can it be? Yes, it is—Miss Stuart! I never thought of her. Poor thing!" and Miss Prime heaved a sigh, why I don't know.

There never was such a missionary meeting in that village; Miss Stuart never had such an attentive and responsive audience. These quiet folk had certainly heard of China, but they knew little more than that the men wore pig-tails, and that tea came from that country. Their faces were a study. One moment they were all smiles at some funny story, the next tears were running down some of the old women's faces as they heard the story of a little girl whom the fortune teller declared to be unlucky, and so she was cast into the street with her mouth filled with cinders. How glad they were to hear that she was rescued by a kind-hearted Christian Chinaman. When Miss Prime heard that outside many cities they have a place where they throw away baby girls, she wanted to start at once and get one of the cast-ways. Miss Stuart knew how to interest her audience, and every one was sorry when the meeting was over.

Miss Prime, forgetting about her sigh of "Poor dear!" said to Miss Stuart, "My dear, when you see any baby girls thrown away, pick them up, and I'll support them."

Miss Stuart took her address, and promised to do so, but she thought to herself the dear old lady might support one-third of the population of China if she supported every one thrown away.

"What may I show you to day, sir?"

"Have you a portable organ suitable for a missionary?"

"Yes, sir, here's the very thing," said the music-seller, as he produced the baby organ.

After a thorough examination, the gentleman decided that he would buy it.

"To-morrow at twelve o'clock I will call for it," said the gentleman.

"Oh, mother!" asked the baby organ after the gentleman had gone, "what's a missionary?"

"My child, you will soon find out."

The baby organ said to itself, "Oh dear, I did so wish to go to foreign parts!"

"Before you go out into the world, my child, I should like to give you a little advice," said her mother. "First, don't forget the lessons I've taught you: never speak in a squeaky or too loud a voice, and be very obedient. I hope you will write and tell me how you are getting on."

All the other instruments gave a little bit of advice, till our little friend began to think it was an important thing this going out into the world.

The next day she was packed up and sent to Scotland, to the village where the missionary meeting had been held.

A few days afterwards the mother received this letter:—

"MY DEAR MOTHER:—When I was unpacked I found myself in a schoolroom, and heard people saying, 'Do you think it will do?' Then I was played upon, and remembered your advice, and was very obedient, and I'm sure this must be the reason why everybody was so pleased. Soon people came into the room, until it was quite full. Then I was mounted on the platform, near to the minister and the schoolmaster, and I felt very important. After the singing of a psalm and a prayer, an old lady called Miss Prime spoke. I cannot tell you all she said, but it seems that a year ago a Miss Stuart had been talking to the people here about China, and they decided on this same day every year to have a missionary meeting, and to pray especially for her. They had collected the money to pay for me, and were going to send me out to her. The minister gave a short address, telling us a great about China. He then prayed that I might be of great help to Miss Stuart when she is going about telling of Jesus. I can tell you, mother, when one is being prayed for one feels rather queer. I felt great responsibility resting on me. I wondered what this lady was like. Then some one got up and said they didn't want organs in church, but he supposed it was all right if Miss Stuart was to use it in the open air, and he hoped it would save her voice. The other speeches I cannot remember; you see I've not been used to listening. Excuse any more, as I'm very tired, and, with love to all,

"Believe me,

"Your dutiful

"BABY."

Once more our little friend was packed up, and this time with great care, and then put on board a ship going to China. She said she felt very tired, for six weeks she was kept in a dark place, and could see nothing, but at last the day came when she was once more opened.

"Why, it's a baby organ!" said the lady, opening it; "just what I was praying for. Who could have sent it?"

But she was never to know, as it was sent without any name.

Would you like to have a peep into another letter that the baby sent to her mother?

"MY DEAR MOTHER:—I have just returned from my first visit to the country, and I never had such an experience before. We went in a boat to a place about twenty miles away, just Miss Stuart and myself. When we got there a lot of children gathered round us screaming, and then ran off to the village saying 'one of the foreign devils had come.' A great many people came to look at us, some asked Miss Stuart if she was a man or a woman, and they wouldn't believe she was a woman, because she had neither earrings on nor trousers. Oh! what remarks they made. I felt quite angry. They said Miss Stuart's nose was very long, and her eyes were a faded color, she must be terribly old; some thought that with her blue eyes she could see under the earth, and they asked her if she could see gold underneath. Then they made remarks about her clothes and large feet.

"After all their talk was done Miss Stuart tried to tell them not to worship idols, but they said 'They did not want to hear her doctrine because last night a woman had been struck with lightning, and they believed it was her fault.' So Miss Stuart left the crowd and went on to a place where some Christians lived. How pleased they were to see her; she must sit down and eat something. In almost every house she had to take a little or they would have been offended. In one house they offered her large brown beetles which they considered a great delicacy. They looked so distressed when she refused them, saying she was afraid they would not suit her digestion!

"But I must tell you about my first performance which was in this village. Miss Stuart got some of the Christian women to come with her and she went into one of the houses where she had already been. When she began to play the people stood spellbound. Was I alive? was there a spirit inside me? They looked all over me, but couldn't make out where the sound came from. There was soon a large crowd which listened most attentively. I cannot tell you how very glad I am that I've come here to help Miss Stuart to get a big crowd. Nearly every place we go to Miss Stuart and I teach them some new tunes, and you should hear the children sing, 'Jesus Loves Me;' my voice is quite lost. Some have dreadful voices, but others sing very nicely. This is a very long letter! I will write again soon.

"YOUR LOVING BABY."

Who would like to go to China to see all these funny things? and above all to teach the Chinese that there is some one who loves them very much, and wants them to come and live with Him in Heaven. I hope a great many boys and girls want to come! But I hope above all that they love Jesus very much themselves, and remember to pray for the little Chinese children and the heathen children all over the world.

Did our little American readers know that the Christian people of England are as much engaged in mission work for the people of China and India and Africa as American Christians? Perhaps some of you have not thought much about this. This story of the Baby Organ, you see, is a story written and first printed for the boys and girls of England. But certainly it is just as good for children in the United States.

Gleanings

At Home and Abroad.

[Gathered and Condensed by REV. ALBERT B. ROMBERG.]

—The Bible heads the list of books sold in Italy.

—"Christian character is sustained relationship to Christ."

—The use of money, says Bishop Westcott, is as perilous as the gaining of it.

—"Receive to Give" is said to have been the motto of General Armstrong's life.

—"No backsliding on benevolence," is the resolve of a Methodist pastor in Illinois.

—A Tukudh Indian, ordained last year, is the first native clergyman ever ordained within the Arctic Circle.

—The Anglo-Saxon race will probably dominate the earth, and determine under God the destiny of mankind.—Rev. James I. Vance.

—The man who likes religion but despises theology would probably admire his right arm more if it had no bone in it.—North and West.

—The Christian Standard thinks the trouble with some religious people is that they are "long" on resolutions and "short" on work.

—New Zealand Christianity, said Karl Ritter, is the standing miracle of the age. Without a miracle such an establishment of Christianity is impossible.

—Mr. Lethaby's mission in Moab, one of the now numerous little undenominational free-lance missions, has been adopted by the C. M. S.—C. M. Gleaner.

—Bishop Fitzgerald believes the redemption of Africa is to be the sublime providential outcome of the marvellous history of the Negro race in America.

—Principal Miller, of the University of Madras, expresses the opinion that Christian education is the corner-stone of the great edifice of Christ's Kingdom in India.

—Said the late Bishop Hill: "Look upon the millions that are without Christ in the world, and you will find an altar. And may God help you to be a sacrifice!"

—"Nowhere in all the world," said General Sickels, "have men of wealth done so much for religion, education, philanthropy and patriotism as in the United States."

—It is said that Lobengula, when he knew that war was coming, advised all the white people in Metabeleland to leave, and offered them an escort beyond his boundaries, since he would no longer be able to protect them.

—Louis Kossuth called the Sermon on the Mount the people's constitution. He believed that if put into effect it would prove a remedy for all the ills of society.

—"God forgive me for these years of error, and the error into which I have led my people," was the confession of Sheuksh, the great Kitkatla chief, when converted.

—Bishop Thoburn in his effort to secure funds for his work in India makes a specialty of "Living Links," i. e., linking a church to a field by getting it to support a worker.

—What is commonly called sacrifice is the best, the happiest use of one's self and one's resources—the best investment of time, strength and means.—General Armstrong.

—The danger of this nation is that we are losing sight of the great heritage of the Puritans—faith in manhood, allegiance to conscience, and belief in God.—President Patton.

—The love of Christ is the great motive to missions; not our love to Christ, nor even Christ's love to us, but Christ's love in us, going out towards the lost.—A. H. Strong, D. D.

—"Come to my house, and let me be a mother to you," said Mrs. Varcroe to three ragged boys on the streets of Melbourne. That was the beginning of the Australian Child Mission.

—James Hannington said to a friend: "In all probability I shall be massacred; and what if my one poor little life be sacrificed to cut a way for my Master into the heart of Africa?"

—"What is needed," says Dr. Strong, "is not simply an increased giving, an enlarged estimate of the Lord's share, but a radically different conception of our relation to our possessions.

—Every woman in Rivatorl, the old Ainu capital, has accepted Christ as her Saviour. Among them women over seventy years of age are praying for the first time in their lives.

—The return of a girl instructed in one of our schools for Freedmen means the transformation of a home, the salvation of a family, and a blessing to the community where she goes.

—"The Growing-Old Circle," is a circle of King's Daughters reported in the Home Missionary. Each of its 17 members is over 62 years of age, and some are nearly 80. They ask the privilege of working for a Home Missionary family.

—A missionary writing from Phalapye, Kham's capital, wishes friends at home could see the people on Sunday morning. It is a grand sight to see so many wending their way to the church, carrying their bag of books in one hand and their stools in the other.

—It is said that a Karen boy, when asked to urge a Christian congregation to send the Gospel to his people, answered: "If they do not mind Jesus, how do you expect them to mind me?"

—The spirit of Christianity has already pervaded the whole atmosphere of Indian society, said Keshub Chunder Sen, and we breathe, think, feel and move in a Christian atmosphere.

—"It would be a good thing if some men would give millions of money to foreign missions, but a better thing if millions of people would give just what they are really able to give."

—The Innere Mission in the German Church seeks by means of especially qualified institutions and especially trained workers to alleviate suffering, and to right social wrongs in Germany.

—The measure of a nation's true success is the amount it has contributed to the thought, the moral energy, the intellectual happiness, the spiritual hope and consolation, of mankind.—James Russell Lowell.

—We should consider the missionaries as our brethren, representing us and doing our work for us, just as in the time of war the loyal citizen feels that every soldier at the front is his soldier.—Missionary Herald (English).

—Nogo, the treacherous Chinese servant of Miss Taylor, who twice tried to kill her during her journey in Thibet, appeared in Darjeeling and was brought to Miss Taylor, who is giving him Romans 12:20.—Indian Witness.

—In 1890 a Thibet Prayer Union was formed, that many who cannot personally form the inner cordon that is encircling Thibet may become a part of the rear rank of Christians who are praying for its opening and enlightenment.

—Says the biographer of Wendell Phillips: "As an intellectual stimulus and spiritual safeguard his new career, the cause of the oppressed, was worth all he paid for it. Men unconsciously aggrandize themselves when they imitate Christ.

—The Missionary Review quotes the language of a missionary thus: "I could walk from Canton to Shanghai, not walking more than 20 miles a day, and could sleep every night in a village or town that has a little Christian community."

—Dr. Joseph Edkins, in his Early Spread of Religious Ideas, maintains that in the ages before Abraham there was a revelation, of which the monotheism of China and Persia is a survival. Time, forgetfulness, neglect and corruption gradually degraded this older religion into the various systems against which Christianity is waging war.

—A Women's Missionary Society in South Dakota, recently organized, is winning the confidence and interest of the ladies by its elevating and spiritual character, and is uniting them on a higher plane than their former Aid Society.

—When first the Gospel came to India, it was met by wild cries of "It is not true." To day the cry is somewhat changed, and everywhere we hear "It is not new." The transition in thought is something to thank God for.—Rev. W. H. Houldsworth.

—This is one of the "Suggestions for Meetings of Auxiliaries," from the Women's Occidental Board: Banish from every meeting the magazine, newspaper or leaflet; but bring well-digested articles and tell them, from each or any of these periodicals.

—Shintoism has no moral code. "Morals were invented by the Chinese," says a Shinto apologist, "because they were an immoral people; but in Japan there was no necessity for any system of morals, as every Japanese acted rightly if he only consulted his own heart."

—The Christian population of Ceylon, says a missionary, is ten per cent of the whole—that is, the same percentage as was to be found, according to Dr. Schaff, in the Roman Empire in the fourth century. We consequently regard our ten per cent. Christianity as prophetic.

—The press is under the same moral obligation to be completely Christian, both in motive and in aim, that the pulpit is. It is the duty of one as of the other, to do all in its power to get the Ten Commandments and the Sermon on the Mount enacted into life.—The Advance.

—Despite the experience of a hundred years of modern missions, writes Rev. Arthur H. Smith of Shantung, the plain truth is that as yet the Christian Church at home has no adequate conception of what is meant by the evangelization of a heathen nation or tribe.

—If abstaining from meat fosters the belief that there is a god under a cowhide, it is the duty of missionaries to eat meat three times a day if thereby they may help to convince the dupes of Brahman superstition that beef is diet and not delty.—Fred Perry Power in The Forum.

—Common religious honesty demands missionary work. It is no religious luxury, no unneeded excrescence upon our religious system, no "hobby of a fevered brain;" but the bounden duty, nay, rather the blessed privilege, which no loving heart can forego, that believes in Jesus and knows what it is to have touched Him and to have felt His power to pardon and bless.—Rev. Edward Lomba.

—The main tendency of Miss Simcox's lectures and impartial study, Primitive Civilizations, is to remind one that we may have much yet to learn from these ancient civilizations which endured for thousands of years, and in the case of China still endure.—Literary World.

—The most severe and intricate labor ever undertaken by the mind of man is that of projecting a divine revelation into the mental and moral history of a race of beings who are filled with moral antipathies to its spirit, and doing this mainly by the art of oral speech.—Professor Phelps.

—The marvellous influence of the printed book or leaflet in Uganda, and the eager demand for gospels, catechisms and prayer books—about 5,000 having been sold monthly last year—throw a new light upon the high and holy functions of a literary and translating missionary.—African Report C. M. S.

—"Why didn't the God-men come before the drink-men?" was the pathetic question of an African chief to Mrs. Leavitt. "I would like to have my people embrace this new religion, but they haven't brains enough left to do it. The fire water men have burned out their brains, and they cannot think now."

—The Chinese Christian who asked Archbishop Moule how many clergymen there were in England was requested to guess. "It's a little country," said he: "perhaps fifteen hundred." When told that there were 23,000, he exclaimed: "Twenty-three thousand! then you can well spare one thousand for China."

—Speaking of the selfishness of literary cultivation, the Christian Advocate (Nashville) says: The mere scholar who piles up knowledge not for the good he may do with it, but simply for the personal satisfaction he may get out of it, is as selfish at core as the miser who has no aim in life except to increase his hoard of gold.

—The Universities' Mission impresses on Africans ministered to in spiritual things by African teachers that it is their duty to furnish their teachers with temporal things. In bringing up African teachers it discourages all Europeanisms and luxuries which the Africans they will minister to will be quite unable to supply them with.

—Dr. T. R. Colledge, surgeon to the East India Co., who in 1827, while at Macao in the Company's service, established a hospital for the treatment of Chinese, is regarded as the originator of foreign medical missions. He was the founder and first president of the Canton Medical Missionary Society.—J. Russell Watson in The Messenger.

—A man is not made a patriot by wrapping the Stars and Stripes around him, nor does a man become a Christian by putting the Bible and catechism in his brain. The heart must be touched, and the life transformed by the doctrines received, for "faith without works is dead, being alone."—T. S. Hamlin, D.D.

—The peasants of Russia, who constitute more than eighty per cent. of the population, and who pay more than ninety per cent. of the taxes, are steadily growing poorer, writes Mr. George Kennan. The evils from which they suffer are of recent origin, but have for many years been undermining the very foundations of their economic life.

—The people of India entertain a joyless idea of religion, which to many of them consists in living up home and work and becoming a religious mendicant. So ingrained is this idea, writes a missionary in Jhansi, that a native helper unconsciously adopted that mode of speech in alluding to our Lord, representing him as an oriental fakir.

—In India the village is the villager's world. His relation to the men of his own village so differs from his relation to all other men, that the influence of a consistent convert or Christian teacher is greater at home than elsewhere. Non-Christian relatives are anxious to get him away, knowing that if he remains someone will be sure to join him.—Indian Witness.

—If we could only create the happier and more wholesome home, the battle were as good as won. We are laying undue stress on the ballot. Back of the ballot must be a personality of the right sort. Make the homes of America what they should be, and all that we wish to see in a better civic and religious life will inevitably follow.—Principal Fairbairn.

—It is every man's duty, says the Cumberland Presbyterian, to carve for himself a place in the world's work and the world's heart which no other can fill. Every ounce of manhood in the universe is necessary. God wasted no material when he made man in his own image, and God demands that we make the most of ourselves, mentally, morally, physically.

—In 1836 Dr. David Nelson, author of The Cause and Cure of Infidelity, established at Quincy, Ill., a Mission Institute. In it were educated such men as Rev. George Thompson, late of West Africa, and Rev. E. P. Doane of Ponape, Micronesia. Dr. Nelson remained at the head of this Institute until his death in 1844, and gave to it his entire resources.—Moses Smith in Religious Herald.

—The Women's Missionary Board of the United Presbyterian Church, U. S. A., is a branch of the General Board; and so, when the report of its work was being laid before the Assembly, it was presented, as usual, by its own secretary, Mrs. W. J. Reid, a point that seems but courteous to the workers to whom our churches are so greatly indebted.—Quarterly Register.

—Missionary work is, in the opinion of Dr. Francis E. Clark, the most promising and hopeful feature of modern civilization. For the enlargement of commerce, for the spread of civilization, for the uplifting of humanity, for the redemption of the world, there is no such force as that exerted by the Anglo-Saxon missionaries of the cross, the ministers of the Lord Jesus Christ.

—Miss Riddell, a missionary in Kumamoto, Japan, says that when the Buddhist priest, Yatsubuchi Banryo was sent as a representative to the Parliament of Religions, Buddhist believers were asked to defray his expenses. He received subscriptions amounting to $80,000 that he might put in a worthy appearance, a sum representing the expense of 180 missionaries for a year.

—Thomas E. Besolon, the banished prince of the Veys in Western Africa, who has been in this country for fifteen years, has been called back to his throne, his uncle Danlu San having been driven from power. Educated at Lincoln University and Williams' College, he will carry back American civilization to his barbarous people, and found a university on the banks of the Niger.—Philadelphia Record.

—A discussion on "the Army versus the Navy," would be just as sensible as "Evangelistic versus Educational Work in Missions." There is no versus about it, continues David Downie, D.D., in The Independent. The work on hand demands every possible force we have. Let us stop discussion as to methods and get at the work, each in the way he can work the best. There is a Waterloo ahead of us, and it will take the Allied Forces to win it.

—Not only are the Japanese the best of the Mongols, but they are close rivals of the best of the Caucasians. The progress they have made within the last generation has never been paralleled by any nation in so short a period. In education, industries, liberal government, and indeed all the elements of civilization, Japan is to be ranked with America and the nations of Western Europe rather than with Asiatic countries.—New York Tribune.

—M. de Blowitz in Harper's expresses the opinion that the conquest of Tunis, though the finest that France has realized in sixty years, was a serious diplomatic blunder. It brought France and Italy into opposition, driving the latter into the arms of Austria and Germany, thus preparing for the Triple Alliance, which now imposes upon all Europe armaments and sacrifices under which her prosperity threatens to go down.—Review of Reviews.

—A churchman is a man who is called by God out of the world, not on the condition of accepting what is called "the Historic Episcopate," but on the conditions of faith and repentance. A man who responds to this call is a true churchman, whether he is an Episcopalian, Presbyterian, Methodist, Baptist, Quaker or Congregationalist. If people prefer Episcopacy, let them do so, but this gives them no right to unchurch other Christians.—Witness.

—Archaic and primitive as it is, Chinese civilization has a vitality which we shall find it the less difficult to respect when we realize its kinship with those of the most famous empires of the world's most ancient history; and from a study of contemporary China we shall also learn to regret something of social and economic wisdom that was lost to the Western world with the fall of Thebes and Babylon, and has not yet been wholly rediscovered.—Miss E. J. Simcox in her Primitive Civilization.

—The Chinese Recorder reproduces from another journal the incident of a gentleman in Shantung who obtained a New Testament, and was so fascinated that he read it three times. A missionary on his journeyings, finding the man conversant with Christian truths, inquired which truth in the Bible had impressed him most. He replied: "The statement that our bodies may become the temples of God." The heathen mind which had grasped this truth, and many others on the way to it, was not far from the kingdom.

—The Literary Digest translates from a Shanghai journal an article on the Chinese method of divorce. The husband invites his father and several other male relatives to listen to his complaints. The men gather in the house of the injured husband and begin by worshipping his ancestors. The husband then puts the case before the assembled relatives, who discuss the matter in a very thorough manner. If they find the wife guilty, the husband hands her a decree of divorce, which both parties sign by dipping their forefinger in the ink and impressing the document with a blot.

—The Am-baki-house at Mafaki, Sierra Leone contains many stones a little larger than one fist, into which the spirits of the departed old men of the village are believed to have passed. When an old man dies a stone is placed upon his chest and left there until the time for burial. During the interval the spirit is supposed to have passed from the body into the stone. It is then laid up in the Am-baki-house with similar stones. In time of trouble the people of the village pray to these stones for help, and believe their prayers are heard.—Annual Reports of the C. M. S.

—Two ladies, members of the Presbyterian Church in England, known to the world through their discovery in the Convent of St. Catharine at Mount Sinai, of an unknown Syriac version of the Epistles, have offered to the church a valuable site for a college at Cambridge, together with the sum of £20,000 towards the expense of the buildings. The proposal to remove the Theological College from London to Cambridge was discussed at the last meeting of the Synod, and the question was sent down to the presbyteries.—Quarterly Register.

—Other things being equal, that missionary who is most familiar with the Hindu's modes of thinking, and with his religious and philosophical ideas, will preach Christ more effectively than one who is ignorant of the view point from which the Hindu habitually looks at whatever pertains to sin and salvation. He must make allowance for the variations of the Hindu's moral and spiritual conscience from his own. He must get the gauge of the Hindu's thought and the correct focus of his vision, and then place the truth at that peculiar spot, or there is danger that it will appear dim and distorted and so lose much of its effective power.—Indian Witness.

—Did a Chinaman discover America? asks Mr. Frederick J. Masters in the Overland Monthly. He points out that the Indian dialects of the Pacific Coast show a marked affinity to the Chinese language, and that there is a close resemblance between ancient Chinese laws, religious manners and customs, and those belonging to the civilizations described by Prescott. He repeats the opinion of Mr. H. H. Bancroft, who because the personal resemblance of the Northwest Coast Indians to the Chinese is so strong believes there is Mongol blood in the veins of the aborigines of those regions, and is convinced that the inhabitants of the north-western shores of America have been in communication with Asia from time immemorial.

—The Evangelicals of Italy, says the New York Observer, live under a fierce public light. If a member of the church commits the slightest fault, some one is sure to address him, with a look of surprise, "How is this? You an Evangelical, and act like this?" A pastor relates that a young workman, very perverse, on being converted, remembered having stolen from his master. He confessed his fault, giving back the stolen object in Jesus' name. The master was affected to tears, and not only pardoned him, but said: "Your Saviour shall be mine, too." And he is now a zealous member of the congregation.

—The Syrian Christians, who call themselves Chaldees, have a tradition that the name comes from Kaldi, a bright star in the sky, to which they trace their original. The word aktar used for a star by the Persians, means good fortune, happiness. Says Dr. Joseph Edkins: "There is truth hidden in this idea of the good luck attendant on the appearance of a bright star in the general darkness of the firmament. It filled the ancient Chaldeans with hope as it does the modern Persians. It indicates an ancient faith in God, who in the storms and whirlwinds of time commands the light to shine in our hearts. He sends the day star to inspire the human breast with hope in himself as preserver and redeemer."

—If I am a member of Christ's body, I tingle with loving life which He supplies, and love every member of that humanity for which He shed His blood. To be organically bound to Christ is to be organically bound to all men over the whole earth. To feel for men across the sea and to send them the Gospel is the only recognition of their common relationship to us by virtue of their being natural members of Christ. Nothing human is foreign to us any more than it is to Him. We shall never understand the fullness of the Church's resources, nor the greatness of the Church's power, until we see in the Church the new incarnation of the Redeemer and the new embodiment of His love.—A. H. Strong, D. D.

—"Theoretical Confucianism contrasted with Christianity in a Parliament of Religions at Chicago is one thing; practical Confucianism illustrated in Korea is quite another," writes the Rev. Samuel A. Moffett, in the Missionary Review. After showing the practical working of the non-Christian system, he relates the following: Eight men whom he had baptized last January in Pyang Yang, had been instructed in the gospel for several months, and had endured abuse and insult with a truly Christ-like spirit. They showed that they had been imbued with the practical spirit of Christianity. Before they had been in the church a month they asked that the first use of the little money they had contributed should be for the care of a little orphan child, whom they found dying of starvation.

SUGGESTIVE HINTS FOR STUDY.

THE TREASURY.

An ordinary contribution-box has become an instrument by which the contributor, as he sits in his pew, can touch every continent, and do a work for Christ where his own footsteps can never tread.—James S. Dennis, D. D.

A humble woman in a country town said, as she cast her mite into the treasury: I am no longer simply a part of this village. By this act I am made conscious of my relation to the whole world.

And Jesus sat over against the treasury, and beheld how the people cast money into the treasury.

Does our Lord occupy that position to-day? On what principles does he estimate the comparative worth of our offerings?

1. The worship of God by offerings should be a deliberate act, prompted by principle rather than impulse, performed thoughtfully, "as he purposeth in his heart." One should prepare for this as for other acts of worship, "laying by him in store" during the week, and then make the offering prayerfully, that his prayers and his alms may come up for a memorial before God.

2. It should be systematic, reaching the treasury regularly, whether the worshipper can be in his place in church or not. The state of the treasury should not depend upon accident, or circumstance, or the weather, but upon our duty to God. Stonewall Jackson's contribution, CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD, March, 1894, page 255.

3. Proportionate. "Every man shall give as he is able, according to the blessing of the Lord thy God," Deut 16:17. "As God hath prospered him," 1 Cor. 16:2. Every man, not according to his mood or fancy, not according to other people's giving, or to other people's ability, but every man according to his own ability. "We cannot estimate the liberality of the Church by the figures and footings of the treasurers," writes Bishop Haygood. "A small amount may mean liberality, a large amount may indicate meanness. The figures and footings do not show what the givers had left. No measure of giving is worth considering that counts only what I given. A thousand dollars given may not mean any sacrifice to the giver; the widow, giving her two mites was liberal; she gave all she had." Too many content themselves with systematic giving. It should be proportionate as well. Read the paragraph from Rev. J. F. Cowan in CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD, September, 1894, p. 198. Does the Church to day give to the Lord's treasury proportionately? Says Dr. D. S. Gregory: "The gross outcome of American productive industry for the year of 1892 was $10,000,000,000. By a low estimate one-half that sum, or $5,000,000,000 came into the control of those connected directly or indirectly with the Protestant Christian Church, and acknowledging more or less fully Christian obligations. One-tenth of that a tithe, would be $500,000,000. Is the Church able to give what is needed to save a lost world through the preaching of the Gospel? Let every adherent of Protestant Christianity apply his Christian arithmetic to that question, and answer it for himself, as he expects to give account to God."

4. Offerings to the Lord's treasury should be liberal, that is, made on a liberal estimate of the prosperity God has granted us.

5. They should be loving, I Cor. 13:3, "Though I give * * * and have not love, it profiteth me nothing."

6. Cheerful. II Cor. 9:7, "God loveth a cheerful giver" Referring to the word hilaros, here translated "cheerful," President M. E. Gates says: "God loves a whole-souled, 'hilarious' giver, who is not ashamed of the cause for which he gives, who with a strong, buoyant, joyous confidence in the cause, those who are working, and God who directs the work, gives freely, heartily, and with a swing."

7. It should imply a giving of self. Paul thus explained the secret of remarkable liberality, "They first gave their own selves."

8. Liberality is an important grace of Christian character. Covetousness, the love of money, greed for its possession and a narrow withholding of it from use, is called by the great apostle, idolatry. This he classes with fornication and all uncleanness as a sin "not once to be named among you as becometh saints." On the other hand he says: "As ye abound in everything, in faith and utterance and knowledge, and in all diligence, and in your love for us, see that ye abound in this grace also." This grace is necessary to the symmetrical development of character. It resists self-love and enlarges the heart. Its absence is a spiritual deformity. It has been truly said that men have to get near to God before they are willing to give Him what is His. Increased liberality marks every increase of spiritual life.

WORTH READING.

BISHOP SYMTHIES AND THE UNIVERSITIES MISSION, with portrait, by Rev. A. R. Buckland Sunday at Home, July, 1894.

SOMETHING ABOUT SIAM, by Mary Titcomb Frank Leslie's Monthly, July, 1894.

AMONG THE TARAHUMARIS, by Carl Lumboltz Scribner's Magazine, July, 1894.

THOSE ECCENTRIC KOREANS, by Charles Fdc. Nirdlinger. The Illustrated American, August 18, 1894.

BLACK FLAGS AND MISSIONARIES, by Charles Fdc. Nirdlinger. The Illustrated American, August 25, 1894.

A LAND OF INCREDIBLE BARBARITY, by the Earl of Meath. The Nineteenth Century, July, 1894.

THE STUNDISTS IN RUSSIA. The Missions of the World, July, 1894.

A SUMMER TOUR IN ALASKA, by Lucy M. Washburn. The Cosmopolitan, August, 1894.

TIME AS A FACTOR IN CHRISTIAN MISSIONS by Rev. Authur H. Smith. The Missionary Review, August and September, 1894.

EARLY SUMMER IN JAPAN, by Alfred Parsons Harper's Magazine, September, 1894.

THE NEW WORLD OF CENTRAL AFRICA A review of the volume by Mrs Guinness. Rev. J. M. Wright, D. D. Methodist Review of Missions, September, 1894.

THE HOKKAIDO, by Rev. Julius Soper. The Gospel in All Lands, September, 1894.

Ministerial Necrology.

 We earnestly request the families of deceased ministers and the stated clerks of their presbyteries to forward to us promptly the facts given in these notices and as nearly as possible in the form exemplified below. These notices are highly valued by writers of Presbyterian history, compilers of statistics and the intelligent readers of both.

RICHENSEN, JOHN.—Born April 5, 1853, at Tarp Schleswig, Holstein; studied at the Academy of the German Theological Seminary, Newark, N. J.; graduated from the German Theological Seminary, Newark, N. J., 1875; ordained, 1875; ministry 1875 to 1878 at Morristown and Meyersville, N. J.; 1878 to 1894 pastor of Corinthian Avenue Church, Philadelphia, Pa. Died June 15, 1894.

Married, Newark, N. J., August 10, 1875. Bertha Krug, who, with two sons and two daughters, survives him.

RECEIPTS.

Synods in SMALL CAPITALS; Presbyteries in italic; Churches in Roman.

It is of great importance to the treasurers of all the boards that when money is sent to them, the name of the church from which it comes, and of the presbytery to which the church belongs, should be distinctly written, and that the person sending should sign his or her name distinctly, with proper title, e. g., pastor, Treasurer, Miss or Mrs., as the case may be. Careful attention to this will save much trouble and perhaps prevent serious mistakes.

RECEIPTS FOR THE BOARD OF CHURCH ERECTION, JULY, 1894.

ATLANTIC.—Atlantic—Mount Pleasant, 2; Olivet, 2. 4
BALTIMORE.—Baltimore—Baltimore Westminster,
from "M. C. D." 5; Emmittsburgh, 15 83; Fallston 2; ranklinville, 5. New Castle—Newark, 8; New Castle, 181; Rehoboth (Md.) 1; Wilmington, Rodney Street, 13 51;
lon, 5. Washington City—Washington Western, 26.
174 14

CALIFORNIA.—Benicia—Two Rocks, 9. Sacramento—ixon, 2. 11

COLORADO.—Boulder—New Castle, 3. Denver—Highland ark, 6. Gunnison—Aspen, 9; Grand Junction, 5. Pueblo —Alamosa, (including sab-sch, 3 96), 10 85; Colorado prings 1st, 5 18; Pueblo 1st, 1 20. 40 23

ILLINOIS.—Alton—Edwardsville, 6 50; Jerseyville, 13.
Bloomington—Gillman, 16 75; Minonk, 5 48; Normal, 3 95;
hilo, 9. Cairo—Fairfield, 2 50; Galum, 3 26; Saline Mines,
; Sumner, 2; Tamaroa, 8 05; Union, 1. Chicago—Chicago st, 35 50; — Belden Avenue, 6 75; — Calvary, 2; Hyde Park, 0 63; New Hope, 10 34; River Forest, 277. Freeport—Freeport 3d German, 3; Galena 1st, 20 50. Mattoon—Ashmore, ; Morrisonville, 2 30; Oakland, 2 40. Ottawa—Au Sable rove, 6 83; Troy Grove, 6; Waltham, 7. Peoria—Elmira, 5 18; Peoria 2d, 16 06; Prospect, 12 36; Washington, 4; Yates ity, 3. Rock River—Alexis, 10; Buffalo Prairie, 1 50; dington, 9; Geneseo, 6; Morrison 81 67; Norwood, 15.
chrysler—Augusta, 5; Camp Creek, 5; Chili, 2 23; Mon-nouth, 6 53; Warsaw, 1 92. 409 94

INDIANA.—Crawfordsville—Darlington, 3; Rockville, 5; Vavaland, 5 36. Fort Wayne—Huntington, 3. Indianapolis—Indianapolis 12th, 4 25; Southport, 5 13. Logansport—La Porte, 23 76; Union, 2 35. New Albany—Coryon, 4 85. Vincennes—Evansville Walnut Street, 24 62;
Vincennes sab-sch, 1 35; Worthington, 5 40. 87 04

INDIAN TERRITORY.—Cimarron—Purcell, 5. 5 00

IOWA.—Des Moines—Dallas Centre, 6; Derby, 1 50;
Des Moines Centre, 27 60; Humeston, 3 15; Ridgedale, 40. Dubuque—Jesup, 3 65. Fort Dodge—Pomeroy,
30; Roife 2d, 6 10. Iowa—Keokuk Westminster, 7; Cosuth 1st, 1 50; Lebanon, 4; Martinsburg, 21; Media-polls, 7 38; Wapello, 5 46. Iowa City—Davenport 2d, 11; owa City, 10 06; Marengo, 3 80; Tipton, 10 75. Sioux ity—Alta, 8 70. Waterloo—Greene, 5; Janesville, 3; arrison, 5 50. 161 73

KANSAS.—Emporia—Council Grove, 12; Eldorado, 7;
El Paso, 1 50; Newton, 10. Neosho—Carlyle, 32 cts;
Princeton, 4; Richmond, 3. Osborn—Wakeeny, 10. Sol-mon—Cheever, 3; Clyde, 6 40; Glasco, 2 50; Lincoln, 4; kolomon, 6 25; Wilson, 2. Topeka—Kansas City Western Highlands, 12 10. 84 07

KENTUCKY.—Ebenezer—Newport collection of 1893-94, Louisville—Hopkinsville 1st, 1 20; Louisville Central,
9 75; — Warren Memorial, 26 40. 52 35

MICHIGAN.—Detroit—Detroit 1st, 86 81. Kalamasoo-Plainfield, 4. Lake Superior—St. Ignace, 4. Monroedonroe, 7 35. 102 16

MINNESOTA.—Duluth—Duluth Haslewood Park, 3 25; landstone, 2. Winona—Utica, 3 43. 9 68

MISSOURI.—Kansas City—Montrose, 12 cts. Ozark-Ebenezer, 4; Joplin, 6 62; Neosho, 7. Paimyra—Glasrow, 4. Platte—Barnard, 2; New York Settlement, 1;
t. Joseph 3d Street, 3 30; Union, 2; Union Star, 2. St.
Louis—Ferguson, 3 23; Rolla, 6. 40 16

MONTANA.—Great Falls—Great Falls, 10. 10 00

NEBRASKA.—Hastings—Hansen, 3; Holdrege, 6; Stockiam, 1 50; Verona, 3. Nebraska City—Seward, 7 58.

Omaha—Cereco, 3; Omaha Westminster, 11 88. 34 96

NEW JERSEY.—Monmouth—Plumstead, 2 62. Morris-and Orange—Chatham, 53 85; Madison, 5 59; Morris-own South Street, 73 25; South Orange 1st, 5; Summit
Central, 10. Newark—Newark 2d, 26 82; — South Park, 9 77. New Brunswick—Alexandria, 7; Amwell United st, 5 50; Dayton, 3 73; New Brunswick 1st, 50 69; Trenton 1st, 71 28. Newton—Oxford 1st, 5 04; Phillipsburgh

Westminster, 7; Yellow Frame, 1 80. West Jersey-
Bridgeton 2d, 13 11; Cedarville 1st, 9 38; Glassboro, 1 55.
298 00

NEW MEXICO.—Rio Grande—Albuquerque 2d, 2. 3 00

NEW YORK.—Albany—Albany State Street, 33 93; Ballston Spa, 11 71; Jefferson, 9. Binghamton—Bainbridge, 10. Boston—Windham, 4 68. Brooklyn—Brooklyn Durces,
23; — Green Avenue Ladies' Willing Aid Society, 5 44.
Buffalo—Buffalo Westminster, 9 87; Silver Creek, 5 16.
Cayuga—Aurora, 18 37; Ithaca, 83 78. Chemung—Big Flata, 9 45; Havana, 13. Columbia—Durham 1st, 5 06;
Windham, 19. Genesee—Castile, 26 13; Warsaw, 10 30.
Geneva—Phelps, 19 53. Hudson—Chester sab-sch, 2;
West Town, 6. Lyons—Rose, 5 08. Nassau—Jamaica, 39 60; Whitestone, 3. North River—Lloyd, 5 43; Millerton, 3 66. Otsego—Oneonta, 30. Rochester—Fowlerville, 2; Livonia, 1 50; Mount Morris, 6 35; Parma Centre, 2; Rochester St. Peter's, 25; Victor, 3 84. St. Lawrence
—Heuvelton, 1. Syracuse—Mexico, 24. Troy—Cohoes,
29 04; Mechanicsville, 6 43; Troy 9th, 30; — Oakwood
Avenue, 9 80; — Woodside, 26 27. Utica—Boonville, 3 88; Hamilton College, 3 58; Waterville, 5 50. Westchester—Patterson, 4 50; South East Centre, 5 23; Yonkers Westminster, 9 54. 581 75

NORTH DAKOTA.—Fargo—Goose Lake, 2; Stirling, 1 29. 3 28

OHIO.—Athens—Beverly, 4. Bellefontaine—Belle Centre (including Y. P. S. C. E., 1), 5 25; Bellefontaine, 2 01; Forest, 2 94; North Washington, 73 cts.; Patterson, 77 cts.; Spring Hills, 5 27. Cincinnati—Cincinnati Clifton, 7 41; Hartwell, 5; Lebanon, 13. Cleveland—Cleveland
Calvary, 10; Guilford, 6 17; New Lyme, 3. Columbus-
Lower Liberty, 6 50; Westerville, 7. Dayton—Bethel,
2 84; Dayton 1st, 50 77; Greenville, 12; Oxford, 7 25.
Huron—Monroeville, 2 10. Lima—Blanchard, 15; Mc-
Comb, 8; Sidney, 16 96. Mahoning—Ellsworth, 9 45.
Marion—Milford Centre, 3; Pisgah, 3; Radnor and Thompson, 3 52. Maumee—Toledo 8th, 8. Portsmouth-
Ironton, 14; Mount Leigh, 3; Red Oak, 7. St. Clairsville
—Bellaire 2d, 9; Farmington, 3 69; Mount Pleasant, 6 18;
Pleasant Valley, 1; Rock Hill, 5 50; Short Creek, 5.
Steubenville—Pleasant Hill, 1 51; Scio, 6. Wooster-
Ashland, 8 70; Belleville, 1; Creston, 4 87; Savannah,
9 69; West Salem, 1; Wooster 1st (including sab-sch, 5 02), 46 32. Zanesville—Bladsburgh, 2 77; Martinsburg, 2 77; Mount Pleasant, 2 78. 473 63

PENNSYLVANIA.—Allegheny—Aspinwall 1st, 1 58; Concord, 3; Leetsdale, 43 05; Vanport, 2. Blairsville-Blairsville, 57; Conemaugh, 2; Congruity, 4; Greensburgh 1st, 65 71; — Westminster, 18 86; Liongion, 16 76; Parnassus, 13; Unity, 16. Butler—Buffalo, 4;
Mount Nebo, 3. Carlisle—Harrisburgh Olivet, 1 10;
Mercersburgh, 12 78; Monaghan, 19 40; Silver Spring,
5. Chester—Avondale, 11 20; Honey Brook, 7 50; Marple,
3; Nottingham, 1 57; Toughkenamon, 2 08. Clarion-Greenville, 7 23. Erie—Cool Spring, 5 97; Erie Chestnut Street, 8 51; — Park, 20; Franklin, 29 26; Fredonia, 5;
North East, 26; Oil City 1st, 30; Venango, 2. Huntingdon-
Bellefonte, 37; Houtzdale, 12 03; Lower Spruce Creek,
6 85; Milesburgh, 5 50; Moshannon and Snow Shoe, 2; Pine Grove, 2 37; Shireleysburgh, 3; Spruce Creek, 8 50. Kittanning—Concord, 6 90; Rayne, 1 50; Rural Valley, 4;
Slate Lick, 6 31; Tunnelton, 2 50; West Glade Run, 4 50; Worthington, 4. Lackawanna—Camptown, 3; Carbondale, 28; Harmony, 23; Hawley, 13 25; Herrick, 5; Kingston, 13 25. Lehigh—Middle Smithfield, 5; Port Carbon, 16 30. Northumberland—Hartleton, 2; Muncy, 12 50;
New Berlin, 5; Williamsport 2d sab-sch, 11 34. Parkers-burgh—Clarksburgh, 14 25. Philadelphia—Philadelphia
Bethlehem, 31; — Hebron Memorial, 8 51; — Princeton, 127;
— South, 10; — Tioga, 37; — Walnut Street, 110 61; —

West Hope, 10 74. Philadelphia North—Carversville, 1 40; Chestnut Hill Trinity, 20 83; Doylestown, 41 81; Frankford, 11 82; Germantown Market Square, 41 82; Macalaster Memorial, 23; Morrisville, 3 56; Newtown, 68 05; Norristown 1st, 29 88; Overbrook, 31 58. Pittsburgh—Cannonburgh 1st, 17 50; Pittsburgh East Liberty (including sab-sch, 23 65), 88 93; —Homewood Avenue, 4; —Shady Side, 28 50. Redstone—Dunbar, 15; Scottsdale (including sab-sch, 3 10), 7 33; Sutersville sab-sch, 5. Schenango—Clarksville, 7 35; Moravia, 1 55; Sharon, 10 80; Wampum, 5 45. Washington—Forks of Wheeling, 25; Three Springs, 2; Unity, 4 40; Upper Ten Mile, 20; West Liberty, 7; Wheeling 1st, 29 67. Wellsboro—Wellsboro, 4. Westminster—Lancaster Memorial, 3 45. 1,513 27
SOUTH DAKOTA.—Central Dakota—Huron, 16 13. Dakota—Buffalo Lake, 11 75. 27 88
TENNESSEE.—Holston—Mount Bethel, 6 52. Kingston—Welsh Union, 270. Union—Hopewell, 2; Knoxville 2d, 42 47; Madisonville, 1 11; New Market, 7; Shannondale, 6. 67 80
TEXAS.—No. Texas—Vernon, Austin Chapel, Ladies Aid Society, 23 40. 23 40
UTAH.—Boise—Boise City, 6 50. Utah—Hyrum Emmanuel, 2; Millville, 1. 9 50
WASHINGTON.—Puget Sound—Nooksack, 2; —City, 2; Snohomish, 5. 9
WISCONSIN.—Madison—Baraboo, 6 25; Cottage Grove, 4 73; Janesville, 20 78; Prairie du Sac, 9. Milwaukee—Milwaukee Immanuel, 30 07; Racine 1st, 21; Stone Bank, 2 58. Winnebago—Oxford, 1 60. 96 00
Contributions from Churches and Sabbath schools.....$4,320.97

OTHER CONTRIBUTIONS.

A Minister's Tithe, Athens Presbytery, 22 cts.;
A Minister's Tithe, Fargo Presbytery, 22 cts.;
A Minister's Tithe, Parkersburg Presbytery, 22 cts.;
Mrs. H. J. Baird Huey, Phila., Pa., 5; Coventry 2d, Congregational Church, 4 39;
East Bloomfield Congregational Church and Society, N. Y., 12 35; E. M. E., Albany, N. Y., 10; Mrs. Caleb S. Green, Trenton, N. J., 100; C. Penna, 4; Miss H. B. Swezey, Amityville, N. Y., 160; Rev. W. L. Tarbet and wife, 50 cts.; W. D. B., Butler, Pa., 10; Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Woods, Mexico City, Mexico, 3 50..... 151 30

$4,472 27

MISCELLANEOUS.

Interest on Investments, 903 13; Premiums of Insurance, 400 09; Plans and Specifications, 10;

RECEIPTS FOR COLLEGES AND ACADEMIES, JULY, 1894.

BALTIMORE.—New Castle—Rehoboth, 1; Zion, 5. 6 00
COLORADO.—Pueblo—Eastonville, 2 75; Pueblo 1st, 20 cts. 3 65
ILLINOIS.—Bloomington—Clinton, 10; Danville 1st, 26 31; —2d, 2 10. Cañon—Saline Mines 2. Chicago—Chicago 1st, 35 50. Peoria—Lewistown, 7 60. Schuyler—Monmouth, 4 90. 85 41
INDIANA.—Crawfordsville—Eugene, 2. Fort Wayne—Huntington, 2. Logansport—La Porte, 22 75. New Albany—New Albany 2d, 16 05. 42 80
IOWA.—Iowa City—Iowa City, 13 76; West Branch, 6 18. 19 94
KANSAS.—Highland—Atchison 1st, 13. Neosho—Carlyle, 14 cts. 13 24
KENTUCKY.—Ebenezer—Newport, 5. Louisville—Hopkinsville 1st, 90 cts. 5 90
MICHIGAN.—Detroit—Northville, 8 54. 8 54
MISSOURI.—St. Louis—Ferguson, 1 66; St. Charles, 1. 2 66
NEW JERSEY.—Elizabeth—Elizabeth 1st, 5 91; Perth Amboy, 5 40. Jersey City—Paterson Redeemer, 66 38. Monmouth—Freehold, 10 30. Morris and Orange—Madison, 4 19. Newark—Newark 2d, 11 91. New Brunswick—Dayton, 2 04. 106 13
NEW MEXICO.—Rio Grande—Albuquerque 2d, 1. 1 00
NEW YORK.—Albany—Albany State Street, 25 45; Gloversville Kingsboro Avenue, 9 92. Boston—Providence 1st, 3. Brooklyn—Brooklyn Greene Avenue Ladies' Willing Aid Society, 4 08; —Memorial, 91 29; —Throop Avenue, 85. Buffalo—Buffalo West Avenue, 8 56; —Westminster, 18 52. Cayuga—Aurora, 9 18; Genoa 1st, 10; Ithaca 1st, 36 55. Geneva—Seneca Castle, 2 06. Hudson—West Town, 2. Long Island—Matituck, 8 57. New York—New York 4th Avenue, 48. North River—Newburgh Calvary, 21 75. Rochester—Mount Morris, 6 34. Syracuse—Skaneateles, 7 31. Utica—Hamilton College, Sales of Book of Designs, No. 5, 50 cts.; Sales of Church Property, 300..... $1,611.

SPECIAL DONATIONS.

NEW JERSEY.—Elizabeth—Elizabeth 1st sab-sch, 76 30; —Westminster, 26 55.
NEW YORK.—Boston—Boston 1st, 25.
OHIO.—Cincinnati—Cincinnati Avondale, 111.
PENNSYLVANIA.—Philadelphia—Phila. West Arch Street, 10.
H. B. Stillman, Cohoes, N. Y. 160..... 415 2
$5,504 9

Church collections and other contributions,
April, July, 1894.....$ 2,157 6
Church collections and other contributions,
April, July, 1893..... 12,923 2

LOAN FUND.

Interest.....$1,234 N

MANSE FUND.

IOWA.—Iowa—Kossuth, 1 50.
MICHIGAN.—Saginaw—Bay City 1st, 5..... 24 2

MISCELLANEOUS.

Installments on Loans.....621 50
Interest on Investments.....4 12
Premiums of Insurance.....28 60 654 12
$654 12

If acknowledgment of any remittance is not found in these reports, or if they are inaccurate in any item, prompt advice should be sent to the Secretary of the Board giving the number of the receipt held, or in the absence of a receipt, the date, amount and form of remittance.
ADAM CAMPBELL, Treasurer,
53 Fifth Avenue, New York.

3 58; Wolcott Memorial, 7 61; Waterville, 3 32. Worcester—Mahopac Falls, 7. 47 1
OHIO.—Cleveland—Cleveland Calvary, 5. Dayton—Dayton Memorial, 16. Lima—Lima Market Street, 14 4
Wapokoneta, 5. 40 4
PENNSYLVANIA.—Erle—Kerr's Hill, 2 65; sab-sch, 5 cts. Huntingdon—Houtzdale, 1 52; West Kishacoquillas 1. Lehigh—Allentown, 16 39. Northumberland—Wilkesport 2d sab-sch, 4 78. Pittsburgh—Pittsburgh East Liberty, 16 38; —sab-sch, 23 65; —Shady Side, 14 25. Wellsboro—Wellsboro, 3. Westminster—Lancaster Memorial, 2 30. 26 1
TENNESSEE.—Union—Madisonville 63 cts.; South Knoxville, 1. 1 5
WISCONSIN.—Milwaukee—Racine 1st, 14. Winnebago—Oxford, 1 20. 15 2

Total received from Churches and Sabbath schools, July, 1894.....$64

PERSONAL.

W. D. B., Butler, Pa., 10; H. J. Baird Huey, Philadelphia, 5; Miss H. B. Swezey, Amityville, N. Y., 1 20; Rev. W. L. Tarbet and wife, Springfield Ill., 80 cts.; "Cash," 35; "C. Penna," 3; A minister's tithe, 17 cts.; A minister's tithe, 17 cts.; A minister's tithe, 17 cts..... 61

Total receipts for July, 1894.....$ 96 6
Previously reported..... 5,66
Total receipts from April 1st to August, 1894..... 6,543 2

C. M. CHARNLEY, Treasurer,
P. O. Box 294, Chicago, Ill.

RECEIPTS FOR EDUCATION, JULY, 1894.

ATLANTIC.—Atlantic—Mount Pleasant, 2; Olivet, 2 50.
 ALTIMORE.—Baltimore—Frederick City, 5 50. New tle—Pencader sab-sch, 5; Rehoboth, (Md.) 2. 18 50
 ALIFORNIA.—Los Angeles—Carpenteria, 7 Sacramento
 IXON, 2. Stockton—Sanger, 4. 13
 OLORADO.—Denver—Denver Central, 50 54. Pueblo— orado Springs 1st, 8 95; Pueblo 1st, 75 cts. 55 94
 LINOIS.—Bloomington—Cooksville, 4 56; Philo, 4.
 ro—Saline Mines, 2. Chicago—Chicago 1st, 28 67;
 ith, 43 87. Peoria—Elmwood, 8. Schuyler—Monuth, 4 09; Mount Sterling, 21 21. 111 40
 IDIANA.—Crawfordsville—Dayton, 5 50; Rockville norial, (per Rev. and Mrs. Shenard), 5. Fort Wayne
 Huntington, 2. 13 50
 IOWA.—Corning—Platte Centre, 1 14; Prairie Star, 40
 Iowa—Keokuk Westminster, 14 23. Iowa City— venport 1st, 37 73; Williamsburgh, 6. Waterloo, Clarke, 10. 59 50
 ANSAS.—Emporia—Newton, 5. Neosho—Carlyle, 20
 5 90
 ENTUCKY.—Ebenezer—Newport, 5; Sharpsburg, 2 50.
 atonville—Hopkinsville 1st, 75 cts. 8 25
 ICHIGAN.—Detroit—Detroit 1st, 144 99; Northville,
 1. Kalamazoo—Richland, 3 25. 155 35
 INNESOTA.—Mankato—Wells sab sch, 4. St. Paul— alester, 2 50. 6 50
 ISSOURI.—Platte—Barnard, 2; Union, 2. St. Louis—
 guson, 1 39. 5 39
 EBRASKA.—Niobrara—Elgin, 2 40; Oakdale, 3 60. 6 00
 EW JERSEY.—Monmouth—Moorestown, 22. Morris
 i Orange—Madison, 3 49. Newark—Newark 2d, 14 53;
 th Avenue, 16. New Brunswick—Dayton, 2 90; Ewing,
 0. 68 53
 EW MEXICO.—Rio Grande—Albuquerque 2d, 1. 1 00
 EW YORK.—Albany—Albany State Street, 21 21; Balls-Centre, 3 48. Boston—Providence 1st, 3; Quincy, 6.
 ooklyn—Brooklyn Greene Avenue (Ladies' Aid Soc.), 0;—Throop Avenue sab-sch Missionary Society, 26.
 galo—Buffalo North, 37 29;—Westminster, 7 15.
 yga—Aurora, 12 86. Chemung—Big Flats, 5 91.
 idson—West Town, 4. Long Island—Cutchogue, 6. chester—Geneseo 1st, 5; Rochester Brick, 25. St.
Lawrence—Carthage, 7 12. Syracuse—Mexico, 15. Utica
 Hamilton College, 3 58; Waterville, 3 20. Westchester onkers 1st sab-sch, 12 69. 196 84
 NORTH DAKOTA.—Fargo—Goose Lake, 1. Pembina—
 Thomas, 3 40. 4 40
 OHIO.—Bellefontaine—Bellefontaine, 1 25; Upper San-sky, 3 44. Cleveland—Cleveland Calvary, 15. Colum- bus—Westerville, 7. Dayton—Blue Ball, 4. Lima—Lelp-2; Wapakoneta, 5 25. Mahoning—Kinsman, 14; New-1on, 7. St. Clairsville—Pleasant Valley, 1. Steuben- ville—Feed Spring, 3. Zanesville—Madison, 9 40; Mus-kum, 7. 77 24

RECEIPTS FOR FREEDMEN, JULY, 1894.

ATLANTIC.—Knox—Riceboro', 3 76. 3 76
 BALTIMORE.—New Castle—Buckingham, 3; Rehoboth
 (d.), 1. 4 00
 CALIFORNIA.—Los Angeles—Hueneme, 10; Los Angeles
 yle Heights, 1. Sacramento—Dixon, 2. 13 00 IATAWA.—Cape Fear—Simpson Mission, 2. Southern rginia—Bethesda sab-sch, 2. Yadkin—Cameron sab-
 1, 2 20. 6 20
 OLORADO.—Pueblo—Colorado Springs 1st, 6 45; Pueblo
 1, 75 cts. 7 20
 LINOIS.—Cairo—Saline Mines, 5. Chicago—Chicago
 59 16;—41st Street, 55 70; Lake Forest, 251 88.
 eport—Belvidere 1st sab-sch, 15; Willow Creek, 25.
 oria—Altona, 3 78. Schuyler—Monmouth, 4 09. 418 09
 IDIANA.—Fort Wayne—Elkhart, 13; Huntington, 2. 15 00
 INDIAN TERRITORY.—Choctaw—McAlester, 1 37; Mount lead, 5. 6 37
 IOWA.—Cedar Rapids—Cedar Rapids 2d, 25. Des Moines
 ndianola, 15 11. Fort Dodge—Emmanuel German, 3.
 ga—Keokuk Westminster, 4 27. 47 48
 KANSAS.—Emporia—Newton 1st, 8. Neosho—Carlyle, cts. Topeka—Junction City, 11. 19 20
 KENTUCKY.—Louisville—Hopkinsville 1st, 75 cts. 75
 MICHIGAN.—Detroit—Detroit 1st, 100 32. Lansing— mer, 11 65. 111 97
 MINNESOTA.—Winona—Albert Lea, 17 17 00
 MISSOURI.—Kansas City—Greenwood, 2. Platte—Camden, 5, Y. P. S. C. E., 1. 6. St. Louis—Ferguson 1st, 9; St. Louis West, 23 88. 33 37

PENNSYLVANIA.—Butler—North Butler, 3. Carlisle—
 Harrisburgh Pine Street, 61 30. Chester—Fagg's Manor,
 29. Clarion—Clarion, 15 17; Du Bois, 20; Oil City 2d, 8.
 Erie—Kerr's Hill (sab-sch, 37 cts.), 2 02; North Clarendon, 3. Huntingdon—Bellefonte, 22; Houtzdale, 1 27;
 Mann's Choice, 1; Shellsburgh, 2. Kittanning—Kittannung 1st, 45; Rayne, 1. Lackawanna—Camptown, 3; Canton, 10; Elmhurst, 3 29. Northumberland—Williamsport 2d sab-sch, 18 27. Philadelphia North—Ann Carmichael, 1; Frankford, 16 54; Germantown 2d, 134 60. Pitts- burgh—Pittsburgh East Liberty (sab-sch, 22 65), 28 93;
 —Shady Side, 35 63. Redstone—Brownsville, 3. She- nango—Elwood, 4 30; Unity, 6. Washington—Claysville, 16; Upper Ten Mile, 20. Wellsboro—Kane, 3 27; Wellsboro, 3 50. Westminster—Chancellor, 9 85; Lancaster
 Memorial, 4 10. 553 24

TENNESSEE.—Union—Madisonville, 69 cts. 69

UTAH.—Utah—Hyrum Emmanuel, 5; Wellsville, 1. 6 00

WISCONSIN.—Milwaukee—Beaver Dam 1st, 6 25; Milwaukee Immanuel, 44 10; Racine 1st, 12. Winnebago—
 Oxford, 1. 63 25

Receipts from Churches in July..... $1,343 83
 Receipts from Sabbath-schools in July..... 83 96

REFUNDED.

Rev. W. P. F., 10..... 10 00

MISCELLANEOUS.

Mrs. Lucia Papper, Genoa, N. Y., 2; Mr. and Mrs. Francis Whiting, Jeffersonville, Pa., 5;
 W. M. Findley, M.D., Altoona, Pa., 5; "W.
 D. B." Butler, Pa., 10; Miss H. S. Sweeney,
 Amityville, N. Y., 1; C. Penna, 2; C. L.
 Tarbert and wife, 60 cts; A minister's tithe, 14 cts.; A minister's tithe, 14 cts.; A minister's tithe, 14 cts..... 26 62

INCOME ACCOUNT.

300; 300; 240..... 800 00

Total receipts in July..... $3,961 83
 Total receipts from April 16th..... 18,578 27

JACOB WILSON, Treasurer,

1334 Chestnut St., Phila.

NOTE.—In the August number of THE CHURCH AT HOME
 AND ABROAD, under "Receipts for Education in May," pp. 173, Presbytery of Zanesville, Rendville church was credited with $3 94 in error. The amount should have been credited to Unity church, same Presbytery.

Prospect, 15 10; Upper Buffalo, 30; Upper Ten Mile, 30.
Wellsboro—Wellsboro, 2 50. Westminster—Lancaster
Memorial, 2 40; Little Britain, 7. 354 88
TENNESSEE.—Union—Madisonville, 60 cts. 69
UTAH.—Utah—Evanston, 6. 6
WISCONSIN.—Milwaukee—Racine 1st, 12. Winnebago
—Oxford and Douglas stations, 1. 13

Total received from Churches, in July, 1894,....$ 1,677 23

Women's Executive Committee, 1,533 08;
Miss H. S. Swesey, Amityville, N. Y., 1; "C.
Penna," 8; Rev. W. L. Tarbet and wife,
Springfield, 1 30; "A minister's tithe,"
Athens, 14 cts.; "A minister's tithe," Fargo,
14 cts.; "A minister's tithe," Parkersburgh,
14 cts.; T. Nash, Chicago, Ill., 9; "W. D. B."

Butler, Pa., 15; H. J. Baird—Huey, Phila., Pa.,
10; Wm. M. Findley, M. D., Altoona, Pa., 30;
Mrs. Amelia Kerr Estate, 1,618 77; M. C. D.
Westminster Church, Baltimore, Md., 5;
"Lewis Kelly Scholarship," per Wm. H.
Mitchell, Chicago, Ill., 500; Mrs. Ann E. F.
Roe, Honesdale, Pa., 10; "M. M. M." Woodlawn, Pa., 5; "The children," per Miss Lavina
Smalls, Ravensels, S. C., 1. 177

Total receipts in July, 1894,.....$ 548 2
Previously reported.....15 96 7

Total receipts to date.....$21,04 3

JOHN J. BRACON, Treasurer,
516 Market Street, Pittsburgh, Pa.

RECEIPTS FOR FOREIGN MISSIONS, JULY, 1894.

ATLANTIC.—South Florida—Crystal River Y. P. S. C. E. 8 68.
BALTIMORE.—Baltimore—Baltimore Westminster, 5;
Frederick City, 6. New Castle—Federalburg, 1; Rehoboth, 8; Zion, 26. Washington City—Manassas, 2;
Washington City New York Avenue Youths' Missionary Society, for Mr. Andrews, 100. 148 00
CALIFORNIA.—Benicia—Napa Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 10.
Los Angeles—Pasadena 1st Y. P. S. C. E., 12 50; San Geronimo, 2; Santa Ana Y. P. S. C. E., 1 45; Oakland—
Emmanuel Portuguese, 3; North Temescal, 6 50, sab-sch, 3 50; Pleasanton, 8. San Jose—Santa Cruz, 24 25. Stockton—
Fowler Y. P. S. C. E., 6 20. 77 40
COLORADO.—Denver—Black Hawk sab-sch, 11; Valverde, 3 25, sab-sch, 75 cts. Pueblo—Lockett Y. P. S. C. E. for Japan, 3; Monument sab-sch, 5. Y. P. S. C. E., 3; Pueblo 1st, 4 95. 30 95
ILLINOIS.—Alton—Blair, 8 25; Chester Y. P. S. C. E., salary Mr. Irwin, 5; Jerseyville Y. P. S. C. E. 8; Salem Ladies' Missionary Society, 5. Bloomington—Piper City, 6 19; Rankin, 4 25; Rossville for debt, 2 55; Wenona Y. P. S. C. E., support Mr. Hyde, 5. Quincy—Centralla, 22, sab-sch, 3; Odell, 5 11; Saline Mines, 2. Wabash, 4. Chicago—Chicago 1st, 52 65; Chicago Bethany Y. P. S. C. E., 3 25. Freeport—Elizabeth, 2; Foreston Grove German, 71 65; Freeport 2d German, 10 50; Woodstock, 15. Mattoon—Robinson Y. P. S. C. E., 4 20. Peoria—Brunswick, 3; Yates City, 5 50. Rock River—Aledo, 5. Y. P. S. C. E., 25; Morrison sab-sch, 4 24. Y. P. S. C. E., 9 30. Schuyler—Augusta, support Mr. Hyde, 12 50; Chili Y. P. S. C. E., support Mr. Hyde, 5; Fountain Green, Y. P. S. C. E., support Mr. Hyde, 5; Hersman Y. P. S. C. E., support Mr. Hyde, 18 94; Maconab Y. P. S. C. E., support Mr. Hyde, 50; Monmouth, 27 54; Perry, 5. Springfield—Springfield 2d, 40 40; Williamsville Union, 2 50. 450 35
INDIANA.—Crawfordsville—Dayton sab-sch, 40 50. Y. P. S. C. E., 19 50; Rockville, 10. Fort Wayne—Huntington, 13, sab-sch, 9. New Albany—Seymour, 10 25; Smyrna, 5 15. 100 40
INDIAN TERRITORY.—Choctaw—Bethel, 1 50; Pine Ridge, 1; San Bole, 1 50. 4 00
IOWA.—Cedar Rapids—Springville, 4. Corning—Diagonal, 7 50; Yorktown, 16. Des Moines—Dallas Centre sab-sch, 4 67; Humeston Y. P. S. C. E., 6; Indianola sab-sch, 5; Leon, 7 25. Dubuque—Independence 1st, 82 65; Prairie, 13 75. Iowa—Fairfield Y. P. S. C. E., salary Mr. Boomer, 3 08; Keokuk Westminster, 28 92. Iowa City—Red Oak Grove, 3; Unity, 15 85. Sioux City—Plymouth, 7. Waterloo—East Friesland sab-sch, 7 24. 213 11
KANSAS.—Emporia—Wichita Oak Street Y. P. S. C. E., salary Pien Das, 10 20; Perkins, 2. Highland—Clifton, 25. Neosho—Carlyle, 1 33; Tithe fund, 5. Solomon—Bennington Y. P. S. C. E., 4; Glasco, 3 25. Topeka—Olathe Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 2 50; Perry sab-sch, 1 06. 54 34
KENTUCKY.—Louisville—Hopkinsville 1st, 4 95; Louisville Warren Memorial, 10. 14 95
MICHIGAN.—Detroit—Detroit Calvary, 60; —Westminster, 118 34. Lake Superior—Marquette Y. P. S. C. E., 27 35. Lansing—Lansing 1st, 32 15. Saginaw—Bay City 1st, 15 31; Saginaw 1st, 6 35. 259 51
MINNESOTA.—Duluth—Sandstone, 1 60. Mankato—Balaton, 2 88. Red River—Bethel, 4 30; Knox, 3 20. St. Paul—Macalester, 9 15; St. Paul Goodrich Avenue Y. P. S. C. E., salary Mr. Jessup, 10. Winona—Chester Y. P. S. C. E., salary Mr. Eckels, 3 10. 34 31
MISSOURI.—Platte—Mirabile sab-sch, 4 25. St. Louis—Ferguson, 7 76; Kirkwood sab-sch, 44; St. Louis Cote Brillante, 73 41. Y. P. S. C. E., 5 10. 124 52
MONTANA.—Helena—Boulder, 15. Great Falls—Great Falls, 20. 35 00
NEBRASKA.—Hastings—Hastings 1st sab-sch for Truth

Hall, 10; Lysinger, 3 25. Niobrara—Winnebago 1st 8. Omaha—Craig, 2 50; Omaha Knox, 1 50. 25 25
NEW JERSEY.—Elizabeth—Basking Ridge, 20; Elizabeth 1st, 230 27; Lammington, 25; Plainfield 1st Y. P. S. C. E., salary Mr. Woods, 14 50; Westfield sab-sch, 2. Jersey City—Arlington Y. P. S. C. E., for Mr. Fuh, work, 5. — salary Mr. Griswold, 20; Teasdale, 10. Monmouth—Beverly, 8 74; Y. P. S. C. E., 4; Fairbairn, 7 50; Manassas, 27; Moorestown Y. P. S. C. E., salary Mr. Jones, 15. Morris—East Orange, 23 00. 1st, 233 45; Madison, 23 05; Mendham 2d, 25; N. C. Freedom, 8; New Providence Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Over Central, 25, special, 50. Newark—Bloomfield 1st, support Mr. Shields, 400 00; for Papal lands, 28 25; Trinity, salary A. C. Good, 100; Newark 2d, 121 24. — Avenue sab-sch for Truth Hall, 15. — Woodside, 2, a sch, 10. New Brunswick—Ansell 2d sab-sch, 3; Day, 14 22; Milford Y. P. S. C. E., salary Mr. Jessup, 4. Paterson—Hackensacktown, 50. West Jersey—Bridgeport 2d, 23 22; Camden 1st, 50; Hammonton Y. P. S. C. E., 4 50. 174 25
NEW MEXICO.—Rio Grande—Albuquerque 2d, 2. — New York—Albany—Albany 2d Mrs. G. C. Treadwell, 50; — 6th sab-sch for Truth Hall, 16. — State St., 130 98; Esperance sab-sch, 2. Y. P. S. C. E., 2. Stamtown, 4; A minister's tithe, 23 cts. Binghamton—Bridge sab-sch, 11 40. Brooklyn—Brooklyn Chalmers Avenue, 533 16, Y. P. S. C. E., salary Mr. Shady, 5 10. Greene Avenue Ladies Aid Society, 10; Lafayette sab-sch Missionary Association, salary R. P. Wilder, 5. — Memorial, 222 23; — South 2d Street, 21 50; — Third Avenue, 44; West New Brighton Calvary sab-sch, Truth Hall, 25. Buffalo—Buffalo North, 27 77; Westminster, 25 22. Cuyahoga—Aurora, 25 75. Champaign—Constable, 15 62; Mineville, 6; Westville, 4. Chenango—Watkins, 43 51. Geneva—Seneca Falls Y. P. S. C. E., salary Mr. Eckels, 19 50. Hudson—West Town, 24. Laurel Island—Bridgehampton, 23 22; Setauken, 25 45; Southampton Y. P. S. C. E., salary Mr. Drummond, 5 22. Lyons—Wolcott 1st, 5 74. Nassau—Hempstead Christ Church Y. P. S. C. E., support Mr. Chalfant, 7 41. New York—New York Central Y. P. S. C. E., 19 50, for support Mr. Snyder, 19 50; — Harlem for Papal lands, 27 04. Y. P. S. C. E., 5; — Madison Square, 750; — Morrisania 1st, a sch, 8; — North Y. P. S. C. E., 5; — West Side City Juvenile Missionary Society, 5 45. Niagara—Lockport 1st, support Miss Murray, 75. North River—Lord Y. P. S. C. E., 6 25; Marlborough, 33 44. Otsego—Cherry Valley, 79 28; Gilbertsville, 31; New Berlin sab-sch, 1 23; Saratoga 7th Rochester—Pittsford, for Bible Readers, Nancy, 60; Rochester Brick, 190 92. St. Lawrence—Canton, 20. Gouverneur, 123 13; Heuvelton Y. P. S. C. E., 3; Watertown 1st Y. P. S. C. E., salary Mr. Chatterjee, 40; — Schenectady, 4; Bath Y. P. S. C. E., for Halman, 2 33; Catskill Y. P. S. C. E., salary Mr. Boomer, 12 50; Mr. and Mrs. J. White, 10. Syracuse—Saratoga, 33 23. Troy—Troy bridge, 21; Troy 1st, Y. P. S. C. E., 9 23. Utica—Hartton College, 16 10; Higginsville Children's Day, 6; — Falls, 10 10; New Hartford, 16 73; Waterville, 9 22. Westchester—New Rochelle 2d, 37 22; Peekskill 1st, 25 25; Rye, 150; South Salem, 11 25; Yonkers Daypring, 40 00. 400 00
NORTH DAKOTA.—Fargo—Goose Lake, 3; Lisbon, 1. A minister's Tithe, 22 cts. Pembina—Drayton, 25; — River 8 70; Larimore, 3; Park River, 5 41; St. Thomas C. E. Convention, 15 60. 71 1
OHIO.—Athens—Amesville, 5 20; Marietta Y. P. S. C. E., salary Mr. Griswold, 10; New England, 1. Bellefontaine, 8 25. Cincinnati—Cincinnati 1st Y. P. S. C. E., 7 71; Williamsburgh, 10 76. Cleveland—Ashbula, 13 29; Cleveland 1st Stud. Vol. Soc., support Mr. Jackson, 127 50; — Calvary, 48; — Case Avenue sab-sch, 10 00. 400 00

3 49; — Woodland Avenue Memorial Circle K. D. and S., support J. J. Walsh, 12; New Lyme, 5. Columbus—Columbus Broad Street, 10. Huron—Milan sab-sch, 5. Lima—Ada Y. P. S. C. E., salary E. A. Lowe, 17 50; Blanchard P. M. C. E., salary E. A. Lowe, 3 75; Celina, Y. P. S. C. E., salary E. A. Lowe, 5; Delphos Y. P. S. C. E., salary E. A. Lowe, 10; Findlay 1st Y. P. S. C. E., salary E. A. Lowe, 31 25; Leipsic, 3 Y. P. S. C. E., salary E. A. Lowe, 2 50; Lima 1st Y. P. S. C. E., salary E. A. Lowe, 25; McComb Y. P. S. C. E., salary E. A. Lowe, 6; New Stark P. S. C. E., salary E. A. Lowe, 2 50; Rockford Y. P. S. C. E., salary E. A. Lowe, 7 50; Van Buren Y. P. S. C. E., 50; Van Wert Y. P. S. C. E., salary E. A. Lowe, 16 75; Vapakoneta Y. P. S. C. E., salary E. A. Lowe, 7 50. Maoning—Poland, 27 60. Portsmouth—Ironton, 9 25. Steuenville—New Cumberland, 2 21; Steuenville 1st, 48 90; Inlontport, 1; Wellsville West End sab-sch, 15 86; Yellow Creek, 15. Woolster—Ashland Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Mt. Caton, 1. 630 52

OREGON.—Southern Oregon—Bandon, 2 10. 2 10
PENNSYLVANIA.—Allegheny—Bakerstown Y. P. S. C. E., sal. Mr. Eckels, 25. Blairsville—Greensburg, 25 50; Lew Alexandria, 5 81. Butler—Amity, 3; North Washington, Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Scrub Grass, 18 01. Carlisle—Harrisburgh Market Square, 108 10; Mechanicsham sab-sch, Lung Chow School, 42 69; Steelton Y. P. S. C. E., 5. Cheser—Bryn Mawr, 223 24; Dilworthtown, 5 60. Clarton—Beech Woods, L. F. M. S., 15; Callensburg, 5 23; Du Bois, 5. Erie—Cold Spring, Y. P. S. C. E., 6; Erie 1st, 643 28; Park, 50 14; Titusville, 312 19. Huntingdon—Belleville, salary Mr. Peoples, 300; Houtzdale, 8 36; Kerrmore, 6. Cittanning—Tunnelton, 3 50. Lackawanna—Carbonale, salary J. A. Fitch, 75; Honesdale, sab-sch, 17 10; Mount Pleasant, 3 2; Newton, 5; Meranton, Green Ridge Avenue, 145 25; Tunkhannock, 31 11; Wilkes Barre 1st, 35 73; — Westminster, 10. Northumberland—Muncy, 1. Parkersburgh—Parkersburgh 1st, Y. P. S. C. E., 4; A Minister's Tithe, 98 cts. Philadelphica—Philadelphia Evangel Y. P. S. C. E., work of Mr. Thwing, 20; — N. Tenth St., 10; — Olivet sab-sch, primary department, 4 23; — Walnut St., 3 50; — West Spruce St., salary Mr. Corbett, 150. Philadelphica North—Ablington, 52; Frankford, 40 18; Torresdale Macalester Memorial, 3 63. Pittsburgh—Pittsburgh 6th, Y. P. S. C. E., 15; — East Liberty 23 30, sab-sch, 113 27; — McCandless Avenue, Morningside Street, 15 20; — Shady Side, 85 50, Y. P. S. C. E., 8. Redstone—Brownsville, 15; McKeesport 1st, Stewart Plan, sab-sch, 28 96; New Geneva, 6; New Providence, 12; Tyrone, 3 40. Shenango—Sharpsville, 3 50. Washington—Claysville, 20; Fairview 6; Limestone, Y. P. S. C. E., 3; Upper Buffalo, 11 50. Wellboro—Wellboro, 16 50. Westminster—Lancaster Memorial, 5 10; Slate Ridge Y. P. S. C. E., 2 30. Stewartstown, sab-sch, 10; York Calvary, 46 28, 3,465 53. TENNESSEE—Holston—Reem's Creek, 2 50. Union—Madisonville, 4 57. 7 07
TEXAS.—Austin—Taylor Y. P. S. C. E., 5 50
UTAH.—Utah—Hyrum, 6; Millville, 2 80
WASHINGTON.—Puget Sound—Seattle 1st Y. P. S. C. E., 9 06

WISCONSIN.—Chippewa—Phillips, 20. Milwaukee—Janitowoc 1st, 9 75, Y. P. M. C. E., 4 10; Racine 1st, 80. Winnabago—Oxford, 6 60; Stevens Point Y. P. S. C. E., support Mr. Eckels, 6 23. 127 27

WOMEN'S BOARDS.

Women's Board of the Northwest, 5,760 00;
Women's Board of New York, 2,650 87;
Women's Board of North Pacific, 219 98;
Women's Board of Philadelphia, 2,409 43;
Women's Board of the Southwest, 501 46;
Women's Occidental Board, 98 89..... $12,658 63

RECEIPTS FOR HOME MISSIONS, JULY, 1894.

BALTIMORE.—Baltimore—Baltimore Westminster, M. D., 5; Paradise, sab-sch, 4. New Castle—Rehoboth (Md.), 3; Wilmington Hanover Street, 35 62. Washington City—Washington City Metropolitan, 25; — North, 7 10. 84 73
CALIFORNIA.—Benicia—Big Valley, 15; Bolinas, 1 25; Jovelo, 10; Keeseville sab-sch, 5 20; Pope Valley, 10; San Rafael, 21. Los Angeles—Colton, 50; Cucamonga, 5; Fillmore, 6; La Crescenta, 4; San Geronima, 4; Santa Ana, 10. Oakland—Emmanuel Portuguese, 5; North Temecal (sab-sch, 2 50). Sacramento—Tehama, 1 65. San José—Milpitas, 15 60; Santa Cruz, 25 05. Stockton—Nemetsa, 5. 194 85
COLORADO.—Boulder—Boulder 1st sab-sch, 10 50; Fort Steele, 6 42; Holyoke, 30; New Castle, 4; Saratoga, 3 45. Denver—Black Hawk and sab-sch, 5; Valverde, 4 66. Pueblo—Hastings, 5; Monument, 7 67; Pueblo 1st, 4 51; Rocky Ford, 10. 98 21
ILLINOIS.—Alton—Salem L. M. S., 5. Bloomington—

LEGACIES.

Estate of William Flanegin, dec'd, 500; Estate of a deceased friend, 1,073 63; Estate of Mary K. Hilrien, dec'd, 10; Estate of James McIlwaine, dec'd, 2,744; Estate of J. S. P. Wheeler, dec'd, 250; Estate of Lucia H. King, dec'd, 1,000; Estate of Sarah H. Green, 47,500; Estate of Martha A. Pierson, dec'd, 3,077 72; Estate of Mrs. Jane R. White, late of Brooklyn, Mich., 2000..... $50,154 34

MISCELLANEOUS.

Reoch, West and Corkey, 11; Mrs. S. R. Kelly, Allegheny, Pa., 2; A believer in Missions, Pittsburgh, Pa., for salary G. A. Godduhn, 200; C. H. Chapin, Crete, Neb., 5; Missionary Association of Wooster University, salary Henry Forman, 150; A. A. Miller, N. Y., for itinerary work in Slam, 6 25; P. E. H., 25; A friend, Maryland, 250; Wide Awake Mission Band for school in India, 11 55; Mr. and Mrs. Francis Whiting, Jeffersonville, Pa., 10; T. and M. Chicago, 16; South Walpole, Mass., 1; Y. W. C. A. of Northfield Seminary for work of Dr. Chamberlain, 20; J. S. E. Erskine, Thompson Ridge, N. Y., 15; Thank offering from two friends for India, 10; Jas. Rattray, Reading Centre, N. Y., 5; A. R. E., 45; R. E. Porter, Ellsworth, O., for the debt, 10; A friend, 3; Julia P. Wickes, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., 50; W. D. B., Butler, Pa., 20; A friend of Missions, 5; A friend, 2; A friend, 2,000; For Korea, 1,000; E. M. Wright, Kansas City, 1; * Rev. Thomas William Bowen, Nampa, Idaho, 25; Julia P. Wickes, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., salary missionary in Africa, 300, China, 300; Missionary Association of Wooster University, salary Henry Forman, 55 45; Master Morton Harrison, 55 cts.; Master Raymond Harrison, 32 cts.; Adrian Lyon for Boys' School at Kanazawa, 25; Rev. J. S. P. Pomeroy, Fairview, W. Va., 1 02; James W. Smith, Doniphan, Neb., 18; M. L. R., Brooklyn, for Ganga Ram, 12; for Miss Given's work, 7; Miss M. R. Hoyt, 3; G. W. M., 15; A. L. Ingerson, Paola, Fla., 10; Ellie T. Morris, Oneonta, support Chinese preacher, 40; Miss Isabella and Mr. D. H. Wallace, Pittsburgh, Pa., 500; Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Woodward, Covington, Pa., 2 cts. a week plan, 3; Daniel McAdoo, 5 60; Miss H. S. Swezey, Amityville, N. Y., 6 60; "C. Penna," 22; Rev. W. L. Tarbet and wife, 2 20; Mrs. Lucy L. Keys, Keys, I. T., 8; J. M. McKillican, for work in Peking, 20; For Chinese Girls' School, 3; Mrs. A. M. Hull "Part of tenth," 5..... 5,280 14

Total received during July, 1894..... $ 5,280 14
Total received from May 1st to July 31st, 1894 88,539 63
Total received from May 1st to July 31st, 1893 146,537 62
Total received from May 1st to July 31st, 1893 87,736 31

Increase..... $58,803 31

WILLIAM DULLES, JR., Treasurer,
53 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

*For Mitchell Memorial Laos Fund.

Waynesville Y. P. S. C. E., 1. Castro—Ava, 2; Saline Mines, 2. Chicago—Brookline Park, 8 06; Chicago 1st, 56 56; — Bethany Y. P. S. C. E., 2; — Campbell Park Y. P. S. C. E., 15; Hyde Park, 98 72. Freeport—Elizabeth, 2; Foreston Grove German, 71 65; Freeport 2d German, 5; Woodstock, 10. Mattson—Anderson, 1 20; Walnut Prairie, 1 10. Ottawa—Grand Ridge sab-sch, 7 05. Rock River—Alexis, sab-sch, (Washington's Birthday offerings 2 94), 19 94; Morrison Y. P. S. C. E., 9 30. Schuyler—Augusta, sab-sch, 10; Mounmouth (sab-sch, 3 17), 28 91; Perry, 5. Springfield—Springfield 2d, 50 40; Rev. W. L. Tarbet and wife, 2 40. 415 30
INDIANA.—Logansport—La Porte 1st sab-sch, 40. Vincennes—Evansville 1st Avenue sab-sch, 15 58. 56 88
INDIAN TERRITORY.—Choctaw—Apelli, 3; Bethel, 1 50; Lenox, 7; Pine Ridge, 1 50; San Bois, 2 25; Spring Hill, 2; Rev. H. A. Tucker, 20. 87 25
IOWA.—Corning—Malvern C. E., 8; Morning Star sab-

sch, 5. Council Bluffs—Council Bluffs 1st, 18 50. Des Moines—Dallas Centre sab-sch, 4 67; Indianola (sab-sch, 5) (C. E., 5), 10; Panora Y. P. S. C. E., 5. Dubuque—Lime Spring, 4; Rowley, 3 30. Fort Dodge—Fonda, 2; Lohrville, 15; Plover C. E., 5. Iowa—Keokuk Westminster, 27 16. Waterloo—East Friesland, 27 81; Union German, 7; Waterloo C. E., 10. 163 44

KANSAS.—Emporia—Argonia, 3; Conway Springs sab-sch, 4 53; Morris, 3; Wilsie, 7. Highland—Clifton, 25; Horton special for debt, 23. Larned—Burton (Jos. Pugh, 5), 12; Larned sab-sch, 15 04; Spearville sab-sch, 4 50. Neosho—Carlyle (tithe fund, 5), 6 25; Kincaid sab-sch, 2 06; Lone Elm (sab-sch, 1 43), 5 81; Milliken Memorial (sab-sch, 1 50), 11 75. Solomon—Bennington 1st C. E., 2 30; Concordia, 12 13; Rev. R. Arthur, tithe, 5. Topeka—Edgerton, 4; Olathe Jr. C. E., 2 50; Topeka Westminster, 1 97. 149 53

KENTUCKY.—Louisville—Guston, 5; Hodgensville, 3 50; Hopkinsville 1st, 4 65; Louisville Warren Memorial, 10; Penn's Run, 8 50; Plum Creek, 3. 34 66

MICHIGAN.—Detroit—Brighton, 5; Canton, 2 25; Detroit Bethany sab-sch, 6 50; — Calvary, 57 23; Plymouth, 3 71; Ypsilanti, 9 23. Flint—Port Austin (sab-sch, 88 cts.), 5 44. Lake Superior—Ishpeming sab-sch, 5; Newberry sab-sch, 1. Petoskey—Clam Lake Bethany, 11 28. 106 88

MINNESOTA.—Mankato—Wells, 7. Minneapolis—Minneapolis Bethany, 11 08; — Ellim, 2 08; — Shiloh, 6; — Immanuel, 4. St. Cloud—Kingston Station, 51 cents; Spring Grove, 2 20; Rev. A. W. Wright, 5. St. Paul—St. Croix Falls sab-sch, 10; St. Paul House of Hope, 77 26. Winona—Canton, 2 50; Henriatown, 4 25; Rev. P. A. Schwarz, Jr., 2. 133 85

MISSOURI.—Kansas City—Sunny Side, 2 45. Ozark—Rev. F. M. Hickok, 2 50. Palmyra—Sallabury, 455. Platte—Akron, 3; Avalon, Mrs. Jonathan Smith, 6; Mirabile, sab-sch, 4 55; Parville, 5. St. Louis—Ferguson, 7 21; Kirkwood sab-sch, 9; St. Louis 1st German, 15 12; — Cote Brillante (C. E., 9 10), 11 15; Webster Grove (sab-sch, 5), (C. E., 5), 70 83. 141 05

MONTANA.—Butte—Butte 1st 10; Hamilton, 3 65; Missoula, 4 20. Helena—Helena 1st 24; Manhattan 1st, Holland, 88; — 2d Holland, 1 20. Great Falls—Great Falls, 9. 90 75

NEBRASKA.—Kearney—Fullerton sab-sch, 4 51; Kearney, German (sab-sch, 2), 15. Nebraska City—Plattsmouth German, 6; Tamora, 2; Returned by a Missionary, 16 67. Niobrara—Madison, 7 50; Millerboro sab-sch, 1 70; Winnebago Indian, 7. Omaha—Lost Creek, 1 80; Monroe, 4 16; Oscola, 5 50. 71 84

NEW JERSEY.—Elizabeth—Cranford, 10 58; Lamington, 24; Perth Amboy, 13 75; Westfield sab-sch, 23. Jersey City—Jersey City 2d Jr., C. E., 4 50. Monmouth—Freehold, 37 04; Plumstead, 6 55. Morris and Orange—Madison, 245 64; Morristown South Street sab-sch, 57 50; Orange Central, 200; St. Cloud sab-sch, 17 40. Newark—Montclair 1st, 150 64; Newark 2d, 120 06; — Fewsmith Memorial, 19 41; — Woodside (sab-sch 10), 40. New Brunswick—Dayton, 13 24. Newton—Hackettstown, 50. West Jersey—Bridgeport 2d sab-sch, 23 32; Fairfield, C. E., 10; Hammonton, C. E., 4 50. 1,193 63

NEW MEXICO.—Arizona—Sacaton, Pima, 15. Rio Grande—Albuquerque 2d, 10; Laguna, Rev. M. Bercovitz, 1 80. Santa Fe—Catskill 90 cts.; Maxwell station, 2 20; Raton 1st C. E., 5; Smithmill station, 2 25. 37 25

NEW YORK.—Albany—Albany State Street, 127 26; — West End, 25; Mariaville, 4. Binghamton—Cortland, 63 65; Windoe C. E., 5; Rev. Sabin McKinney, 100. Brooklyn—Brooklyn Arlington Avenue sab-sch Missionary League, 10; — Classon Avenue C. E., 6 10; — Lafayette Avenue M. C., 13 37. Buffalo—Buffalo Westminster, 65 80. Cayuga—Aurora, 35 75. Chemung—Burdett, 5 57. Genesee—Leroy 1st 55 54. Geneva—Geneva North, 1,313 83. Hudson—Hamptonburgh, 32; Nyack, 30; Palsades sab-sch, 26 45; West Town, 21. Long Island—Bridgehampton, 27 30; Mattituck, 13 34; Port Jefferson, 9 32. Lyons—Rose C. E., 2 50; Wolcott 1st, 6 17. Nassau—Glen Cove 1st, 12; Ocean Side sab-sch, 9 76. New York—New York Canal Street, 24 45; — Central C. E., 19 50; — Madison Square add'l, 250. Niagara—Lockport 1st, 44 67. North River—Cold Spring, 4; Corwall on Hudson, 7 70; Rondout, 30 43. Ortogo—Cooperstown, 94 50; Gilbertville C. E., 5; Milford, 4; Shavertown, 2; Unadilla C. E., 5 66. Rochester—Rochester North, 131 03; — Westminster, 61. St. Lawrence—De Kalb Junction, 5. Steuben—Bath C. E., 13. Syracuse—Cazenovia 1st, 41 50; Nkanateles, 31 31. Utica—Hamilton College, 16 10; New Hartford, 16 73; Utica Memorial, 66; Waterville, 32 97; Williamstown sab-sch, 9. Westchester—Mount Vernon 1st C. E., 10; White Plains (C. E., 8 17), 93 07; Yonkers Westminster C. E., 5. 3,047 38 minister's tithe, "87 cts. Pembina—Park River, 12; Richard Weir, 5.

NORTH DAKOTA.—Bismarck—Sterling, 3. Fargo—A

OHIO.—Athens—"A minister's tithe," 57 cts. Bellefontaine—Bellefontaine 1st, 7 53. Cincinnati—Cincinnati C. E., 7 70. Cleveland—Ashtabula 1st, 18 21; — Cleveland, 48; New Lyme, 5. Columbus—Columbus Broad 10; Dayton—Gettysburg (special for debt, 118); — Lima—Leipsig, 3. Maumee—Tontogany, 11 91. Plymouth—Ironton, 9 25; Portsmouth 1st, 148; Ravenna, 7 40. St. Clairsville—Wheeling Valley, 3 64. Steubenville—Madison, 11; Monroeville, 4; Urichville sab-sch, Unionport, 1; Yellow Creek (C. E., 10), 24 50. Wooster—Doylestown, 2 75; Mount Eaton, 2. 3

OREGON.—East Oregon—Cleveland, 15. Portland—Portland St. John's (C. E., 2 85), 6 00. Willamette—Brownsville, 5. 3

PENNSYLVANIA.—Allegheny—Vanport, 2. Blair—Conemaugh, 3. Butler—Buffalo, 10; North Waverly, C. E., 5; Plain Grove, 10; Portersville, 13; Scrub, 36 94. Carlisle—Duncannon, 20; Harrisburg—Market Square, 145 20; Steelton C. E., 5. Chester—Erie, 163 18; East Whiteland, 11. Clarion—Academy, 4. Du Bois, 35; Pennfield, 5; Rockland, 2. Erie—Bele, 10; North Clearford, 4; Sugar Grove, 3. Haddon—Fruit Hill (Berwindale Chapel, 4), 12; Haddon, 7 85; Mann's Choice, 4 25; Milesburg C. E., 1. Scranton, 11; West Kishacoquillas, 10. Kittanning—Ray, 1. Lackawanna—Canton, 40; Newton, 5; Rushville, 3; Sayre, 3 09; Stevensville, 7; Susquehanna, 25 25; West Barre Grant Street (sab-sch, 41 45), 53 01. Lebanon, South Easton, 9. Northumberland—Muncy, 6 17. Erie—Philadelphia—A minister's tithe, 87 cts. Philadelphia—Philadelphia Bethlehem, 31; — Grace sab-sch, 10. Philadelphia North—Frankford, 88 38; Norristown—Center, 6. Pittsburgh—Edgewood, 36; Pittsburgh East (sab-sch, 75 52), 139 78; — Shady Side (C. E., 1). Redstone—New Geneva, 6; Tyrone, 3 20. Shenandoah—Leesburg, 12 50; Pulaski sab-sch, 4 57. Washington—Cameron, 5; Cross Creek, 50. Wellboro—Farming, 1 25; Wellboro, 15 50. Westminster—Lancaster, 13 50. 1,179

SOUTH DAKOTA.—Central Dakota—Madison, 7. Dakota—Ascension, 3. Southern Dakota—Ebenezer, 8. 3

TENNESSEE.—Holston—Dillsboro, 3 40; Elk Park, 25. Reem's Creek, 2 50. Union—Baker's Creek, 3; Caledonia, 3; Cloyd's Creek, 2 14; Madisonville, 4 16; New Prospect, 5 15; New Salem, 8; St. Paul, 2 25; Shiloh, 1; St. Knoxville, 2 75; Spring Place, 5. 3

TEXAS.—Austin—Taylor C. E., 5. Trinity—Dallas sab-sch, C. D. Coll., 14. 3

UTAH.—Utah—Hyrum Emmanuel, 6 50; Milville, 2. 3

WASHINGTON.—Olympia—Stella, 5. Tenino—Chick, 28; Wilkeson, 3 05. Puget Sound—Bethany, Cedar Grove, 2; Deming, 3; Ellensburg (sab-sch, C. E., 2 00), 24 40; Everett, 7 25; Nockach, 2; — Cly, Wenatchee, 3 25; Rev. Thomas McGuire, 5. Spokane—Davenport, 3 25; Waterville, 1. Walla Walla—Mosier, 4 35; Falcone—Bethany, 3; Waitsburg, 2 75. 3

WISCONSIN.—Chippewa—Bosom, 1st, 6 16; Hudson, 15 50. La Crosse—Greenwood (sab-sch, 2), 7. Neillsville—Children's Day, 5 50. Madison—Beloit—German sab-sch, 2 80. Milwaukee—Cedar Grove, 20; Mankowoc, 15. E., 9; Milwaukee Holland (sab-sch, 1 55), 25 71; — Manual, 129 51; Racine 1st, 129 07; Waukegan, 2. Winnebago—Green Bay, 4; Merrill C. E., 10; Oxford, 2. Douglas Station, 6. 65

Women's Executive Committee of Home Missions..... $2,670

Less amount refunded Los Angeles Presbytery, Anaheim church..... 33 77

$2,636 23

LEGACIES.

Wm. Flanegin, late of Ostrander, Ohio, 500; Legacy of an unknown lady, through Philip N Moore of St. Louis, 1,072 62; Sallie Thompson, dec'd, late of Hagerstown, Md., add'l, 10 30; Catharine B. Hartwell, late of Otsego Co., N. Y., 1,000; Mrs. Sarah Helen Green, late of N. Y., in part, 47,500; Miss M. C. Hebecker, late of Carlisle, Pa., 1,000; Martha A. Pierson, late of Philadelphia, Pa., 3,077 72; Mrs. Jane E. White, dec'd, late a member of the 1st Presbyterian Church of Brooklyn, Mich., 3,000..... 56,738

MISCELLANEOUS.

Mission Brigade, New Brunswick N. J.,
Jal. 5; Francis Whiting, Jeffersonville,
5; "T. and M." 16; Mrs. Sarah M. Hall, die Granville, N. Y. 25; Mrs. C. A. Ball, fu, N. Y. 2; Mrs. Julia B. Wickes, Poughkeepsie, N. Y. 50; "J. B. H." 30; I. B.
Idson, Newville, Pa. 20; Mrs. Anne R.
ott, Montgomery, N. Y. 46; "W. D. B."
ler, Pa. 30; A friend of Missions, 2; Rev.
rge P. Hays, D. D., 10; Rev. F. D. Seward, 20; "A friend," 3,000; Mary B. Cratty, laire, O. 10; "Cash," 10; "A friend," wartsville, N. J., 200; "For Missions," cts.; E. O. Emerson, Titusville, Pa., 100;
B. Gardner, Trustee, 50; Miss H. S.
ezey, Amityville, N. Y. 6; "C. Penna," Mrs. Lucy L. Keys, Keys, Ind. Ty., 5; son Walton and Co., 300; Mrs. M. A.
choll, Millerboro, Neb., "tithe" 2; Rev.
d Mrs. M. A. Williams, Medford, Ore. 10;
rs. H. U. Beaumont, Ludlowville, N. Y. 5;
rs. G. M. Macdonald, Preble, N. Y. 5; "P.
H." 25; Rev. D. J. Stewart, Zanesville, ex., 5; Interest on Permanent Fund, (special, 40), 1,997 50; Interest on John C. Green und, 40; Interest on Carson W. Adams und, 19 25; Interest on Baxter Bequest,
35; Interest on C. R. Otis' Missionary Fund,
7 50..... $ 6,455 75

tal received for Home Missions, July, 1894.. $58,387 96 tal received for Home Missions from April 1, 1894..... 209,876 28
ount received during same period last year 139,655 28
O. D. EATON, Treasurer,
Box L, Station D. 53 Fifth Avenue, New York.

RECEIPTS FOR NEW YORK SYNODICAL AID FUND,
JULY, 1894.

Albany—Albany State Street, 4 24. Binghampton—ortland, 78 08; Binghampton Ross Memorial, 7 50. ayuga—Aurora, 12 88. Columbia—Calro, 11 58. Gene-se—North Bergen, 5. Geneva—Penn Yan, 27 35. Hudson—Westtown, 2. Nassau—Oyster Bay, 25; A pastor or Jews, 6. New York—Bethany for Jews, 18. Niagara —Lockport 1st, 24 79. Rochester—Parma Centre, 2.
tochester St. Peter's, special, 25; Mount Morris, 6 34;
Asian, 3. Steuben—Hammondsport, 3; Angelica, 5 50.
Yoy—Glens Falls, 51 04. Utica—Walcott Memorial C.

RECEIPTS FOR MINISTERIAL RELIEF, JULY, 1894.

BALTIMORE.—Baltimore—Baltimore Westminster (M.
D.), 5. New Castle—Rehoboth (Md.), 7. 13 00
CALIFORNIA.—Sacramento—Dixon, 4. 4 00
CATAWBA.—Cape Fear—T. Darling Mission, 1. 1 00
COLORADO.—Pueblo—Colorado Springs 1st, 7 93; Pueblo st, 1 35. 9 28
ILLINOIS.—Cairo—Golconda, 4; Saline Minea, 4. Chi-ago—Chicago 1st, 59 16; Hyde Park, 44. Freeport-Winnebago, 7. Rock River—Millersburg, 4; Peniel, 4. ichwyler—Monmouth, 7 36. Springfield—Springfield 1st,
0 38. 193 90
INDIANA.—Crawfordsville—Rockville Memorial, 5; Romeney, 2 90. Fort Wayne—Huntington 1st, 4. Indianapo-is—Carpentersville, 1. 13 90
INDIAN TERRITORY.—Sequoyah—Nuyaka, 10. 10 00
IOWA.—Corning—Diagonal 1st, 2. Des Moines—Derby,
50; Humeston, 3 16. Fort Dodge—Emmanuel German,
Iowa—Birmingham, 3 40; Keokuk Westminster, 40 37; Libertyville, 2 35; Mount Pleasant 1st, 31 25. Sioux City
—Inwood, 5. 91 53
KANSAS.—Emporia—Cedar Point, 4; Florence, 6 45; Newton, 5. Neosho—Carlyle, 26 cts. Solomon—Concor-ia, 12 13. 27 91
KENTUCKY.—Ebenezer—Newport, 5. Louisville—Hop-insville 1st, 1 35; Louisville Warren Memorial, 173 25.
Transylvania—Richmond 2d, 6 03. 184 64
MICHIGAN.—Detroit—Detroit Calvary, 15. Lake
Superior—Negaunee, 18 60. 83 60
MINNESOTA.—St. Paul—St. Paul House of Hope, 25.
25 00
MISSOURI.—Platte—Barnard, 2; Union, 2; Union Star,
2. St. Louis—Ferguson, 2 49; St. Louis Westminster, 5.
13 49
NEBRASKA.—Hastings—Wilsonville, 2. Kearney—Wilson Memorial, 3. 5 00
NEW JERSEY.—Jersey City—Jersey City 1st, 53 93.

E. 5; Waterville, 8 79; Utica Memorial, 50; Sauquoit, 14 25. Westchester—Thompsonville 1st, 33 50; South
Salem, 7 33.
Total from churches..... 436 13

MISCELLANEOUS.

Amelia H. Birnie, Taneytown, Md., for Jews,
4; Mrs. Wm. E. Dodge, Sr., for Jews, 100;
Miss H. S. Swezey, Amityville, N. Y., 20 cts. 104 20
Total received for New York Synodical Aid
Fund, July, 1894..... 542 33
Total received for New York Synodical Aid
Fund from April 1st, 1894..... 2,923 00

O. D. EATON, Treasurer,

Box L, Station D. 53 Fifth Avenue, New York.

RECEIPTS FOR SUSTENTATION, JULY, 1894.

BALTIMORE.—New Castle—Rehoboth, Md., 1. 1 00
CALIFORNIA.—Los Angeles—Boyle Heights, 1. 1 00
COLORADO.—Pueblo—Pueblo 1st, 15 cts. 15
ILLINOIS.—Springfield—Rev. W. L. Tarbet and wife,
40 cts. 40
IOWA.—Fort Dodge—Fonda, 2. 2 00
MICHIGAN.—Detroit—Ypsilanti, 7 28. Grand Rapids—
Grand Rapids Westminster, 16 03. 23 30
MINNESOTA.—Duluth—Duluth Lakeside, 6. St. Paul—
St. Paul House of Hope, 45 76. 51 76
MISSOURI.—St. Louis—Ferguson, 1 39. 1 39
NEBRASKA.—Nebraska City—Blue Springs, 3 20; Rev.
D. W. Montgomery, 5. Niobrara—Madison, 2 50. 10 70
NEW JERSEY.—Monmouth—Plumstead, 2 77. Morris and Orange—Madison, 70 cts. 3 47
NEW MEXICO.—Rio Grande—Laguna, Rev. M. Berco-vitz, special for Jews, 5. 5 00
TENNESSEE.—Union—Madisonville, 14 cts.; South
Knoxville, 1. 1 14
WISCONSIN.—Madison—Verona sab-sch, 4. Winnebago —Oxford and Douglas Station, 26 cts. 4 20
Total from churches..... $103 51

MISCELLANEOUS.

Interest on Permanent Fund..... 23 25
Total for Sustentation, July, 1894..... $143 76
Total for Sustentation, from April, 1894..... 511 98
O. D. EATON, Treasurer,
Box L, Station D. 53 Fifth Avenue, New York.

Morris and Orange—Madison, 8 28; New Providence, 6.
Newark—Newark 2d, 51 92. New Brunswick—Amwell
1st, 8; Bound Brook, 22; Dayton, 3 06; Holland, 6 50;
Milford, 19. Newton—Bloomsbury 1st, 9 20. 186 89
NEW MEXICO.—Rio Grande—Albuquerque 2d, 4. 4 00
NEW YORK.—Albany—Albany State Street, 38 18;
Charlton, 20. Boston—Providence 1st, 5; Quincy 1st, 3.
Brooklyn—Brooklyn 2d, 165; — Memorial, 180 04; —
South 3d Street, 42 75. Buffalo—Buffalo North, 36 42;
— Westminster, 13 56; Portville, 46. Cayuga—Auburn Central, 11; Aurora, 13 86; Weedsport, 25 02. Chemung —Big Flats, 10 64. Genesee—Leroy 1st, 20 25. Geneva-Bellona 1st, 6; Seneca Falls 1st, 40 41. Hudson—Cochecten, 4; Greenbush, 9 10; West Town, 6. Lyons—Wolcott 1st, 5 97. Nassau—Huntington 2d, 19 84. North River-
Marlborough add'l, 35. Rochester—Mount Morris, 13 24.
St. Lawrence—Carthage, 9 75. Syracuse—Skaneateles,
24 18. Utica—Hamilton College, 4 58; Holland Patent,
24; Ilion 1st, 10; Rome 1st, 14 95; Waterville, 5 50. 851 74

NORTH DAKOTA.—Fargo—Erie, 1; Galesburg, 2. 3 00
OHIO.—Bellefontaine—Bellefontaine 1st, 2 26; Crestline, 3 20. Cincinnati—Wyoming, 111 71. Cleveland-Cleveland Calvary, 12. Columbus—Columbus Broad Street, 10; Westerville, 7. Dayton—Fletcher, 2; Gettys-burgh, 3 25. St. Clairsville—Bellair 2d, 6; Still Water,
3. Steubenville—East Springfield, 4 43; Yellow Creek,
10. Zanesville—Muskungum, 7. 181 84
OREGON.—Portland—Portland 1st, 187 39. 187 39
PENNSYLVANIA.—Allegheny—Allegheny 1st Bible school,
43 97. Blairsville—Parnassus, 30 33. Chester—Darby Borough, 39. Clarion—Edenburg, 14 37; Oil City 2d, 9.
Erie—Mill Village, 2. Huntingdon—Houtzdale, 2 28;
Shirleysburgh and sab-sch, 3. Lackawanna—Ashley, 14 87; Langcliffe, 16 48. Northumberland—Williamsport 2d sab-sch, 11 10; — Bethany, 2. Philadelphia—

Philadelphia Olivet, 30; — Trinity, 30; — West Hope, 8 75. Philadelphia North—Frankford, 16 54. Pittsburgh—Pittsburgh East Liberty (sab-sch, 45 32), 72 45; — Shady Side, 28 50. Redstone—Little Redstone, 5 50; Mount Pleasant Reunion, 7 52. Shenango—Westfield, 20 65. Washington—Upper Ten Mile, 26. Wellboro—Wellboro, 4 50. Westminster—Lancaster Memorial, 5 66.

SOUTH DAKOTA.—Southern Dakota—Canistota, 3. 3 00
TENNESSEE.—Union—Madisonville, 1 25. 1 25
TEXAS.—Austin—Austin 1st, 22 50. 22 50
UTAH.—Utah—Richmond, 1 65. 1 65
WISCONSIN.—Milwaukee—Racine 1st, 24. Winnebago—Oxford and Douglas Station, 1 80. 25 80

From the churches and Sabbath-schools..... $ 2,526 86

FROM INDIVIDUALS.

Rev. J. L. Hawkins, Fort Scott, Kans., 15;
Rev. J. C. Gourley, Ellwood City, Pa., 2 50;
Rev. A. O. Raber, Mount Carmel, Ind., 2;
Rev. W. A. Hooper, West Summit, N. J., 3;
Mr. and Mrs. Francis Whiting, Jeffersonville, Pa., 5; "T. and M.," 6; W. D. Brandon, Butler, Pa., 10; "For Christ's Suffering Ones," 64; Miss Nettie M. Dougherty, Summitville, Ind., 1; Anna B. Warner, Cold Spring, N. Y., 22; "One interested in the good cause," Plymouth, O., 1; Mrs. John Kidd, Bloomington, Ills., 3; Rev. R. C. Galbraith, Centralia, Ills., 15; Rev. G. M. Miller, Bryan, O., 3; Rev. Meade C. Williams, D.D., St. Louis, Mo., 15; Rev. Wm. Pelan, Spokane, Wash., 10; Miss H. S. Swezey, Amityville, N. Y., 1 60; "C. Penna.," 6; Rev. W. L. Tarbet and wife, Pisgah, Ills., 40 cts.; "J. T. W. and M. W.," 3; "A minister's tithe," 75 cts. $ 19 0

Interest from the Permanent Fund..... 54 2
Interest from the Latta Fund (Ohio)..... 0 5

For the Current Fund..... $11.15 9

PERMANENT FUND.
(Interest only used.)

Legacy from estate of Lucia H. King, Catskill, N. Y., 1,000; Balance from estate of Amelia Kerr, New York, 1,618 75..... 2 617 7

Total receipts in July, 1894..... $12.74 6

Total for the Current Fund since April, 1894.... $36.6 2
Total for the Current Fund for the same period last year..... 49.82 4

W. W. HENKSTON, Treasurer,
1334 Chestnut Street, Phila.

RECEIPTS FOR SABBATH-SCHOOL WORK, JULY, 1894.

ATLANTIC.—Atlantic—Mount Pleasant sab-sch, 4. Fairfield—Bethlehem 2d sab-sch, 3; Blue Branch sab-sch, 1 05; Good Hope sab-sch, 1 50; Harmony Chapel, 50 cts.; Howell Salem sab-sch, 1 59; Lancaster sab-sch, 2 50; Mount Carmel, 50 cts.; New Haven sab-sch, 5 73; Pleasant Grove sab-sch, 6 47; Sumter 2d, 6 cts. Knox—Newman sab-sch, 8 64. McClelland—Allen sab-sch, 3; Greenwood Mission, 2 75; Mattison sab-sch, 10; Salem sab-sch, 2; Sloan's sab-sch, 1 35; Walkers Chapel sab-sch, 3 07. South Florida—Auburndale sab-sch, 7 00; Crystal River sab-sch, 7 18; (church, 5 00), 12 18; Dunnellon sab-sch, 19; Kissimmee sab-sch, 10; Titusville sab-sch, 4 50. 110 39

BALTIMORE.—Baltimore—Baltimore 1st, 47 39; —2d sab-sch, 2 84; —12th sab-sch, 10 88; —Faith sab-sch, 28 55; Bel Air, 1 97; Bethel sab-sch, 33 85; Brunswick, 3; Canton sab-sch, 3; Churchville sab-sch, 20 47; Cumberland sab-sch, 17 31; Deer Creek Harmony, 16 72; Franklinville church and sab-sch, 15; Highland sab-sch, 11; Paradise sab-sch, 6. New Castle—Federalburg sab-sch, 6; Green Hill sab-sch, 20; Harrington sab-sch, 15; Head of Christiana sab-sch, 10; Lower Brandywine sab-sch, 13; Millford sab-sch, 72 23; Pencader sab-sch, 10; Perryville, 1 52; Pitt's Creek church, 59 16; Red Clay Creek sab-sch, 36; Rehoboth (Del.) sab-sch, 13 50; —(Md.) church and sab-sch, 6; West Nottingham sab-sch, 19 63; Wilmington 1st sab-sch, 7 89; —Central sab-sch, 100; —Olivet sab-sch, 15 78; —Rodney Street sab-sch, 24 69; Zion, 5. Washington City—Boyd's sab-sch, 11; Clifton sab-sch, 5; Falls Church sab-sch, 35; Hermon sab-sch, 6; Lewinsville sab-sch, 12; Neelsville sab-sch, 30; Vienna sab-sch, 18; Washington City Garden Memorial sab-sch, 17; —New York Avenue, 10 43; —North sab-sch, 17 33; —Western sab-sch, 57 18; —West Street, 102 09. 973 40

CALIFORNIA.—Benicia—Big Valley, 1 25; Eureka sab-sch, 17 33; Fulton sab-sch, 10 35; Lakeport sab-sch, 4 65; Shiloh, 3. Los Angeles—Azusa, 11; Colton sab-sch, 7 66; Coronado Graham Memorial sab-sch, 13 42; Hueneme, 10; Inglewood sab-sch, 11 23; Los Angeles 2d sab-sch, 15; —Boyle Heights (church, 5.) (sab-sch, 11 20), 16 20; —Grand View church and sab-sch, 1 50; Orange, 5 30; Pacific Beach sab-sch, 10; Pasadena 1st sab-sch, 61 63; Point Loma sab-sch, 2 60. Oakland—Alvarado sab-sch, 6; Centerville sab-sch, 5; North Temescal sab-sch, 5; Oakland Centennial sab-sch, 3 10; —Prospect Hill sab-sch, 1 25; Pleasanton sab-sch, 12. Sacramento—Dixon, 2; Ione sab-sch, 6; Marysville sab-sch, 9 60; Sacramento 14th Street (church, 2 75), (sab-sch, 7 50), 10 25. San José—Highlands church and sab-sch, 8; Santa Cruz C. E., 5; Wrights church and sab-sch, 6 60. Stockton—Clements, 5; Grayson, 5; Stockton sab-sch, 12 25. 804 19

CATAWBA.—Cape Fear—Bethany sab-sch, 5 55; Roland sab-sch, 2; Mhloh sab-sch, 3; T. Darling Mission, 2. Catawba—Biddleville sab-sch, 6 50; Charlotte, 5; Leeper's Chapel sab-sch, 3; Lloyd sab-sch, 1 50. Southern Virginia—Bethesda sab-sch, 1 75; Mount Zion sab-sch, 2 35; Refuge sab-sch, 6. Yadkin—Bowers Chapel sab-sch, 30 cts.; Cameron sab-sch, 3 20; Germantown sab-sch, 55 cts.; John Hall Chapel sab-sch, 6; Jonesboro sab-sch, 2 81; Mount Vernon sab-sch, 5 06. 55 27

COLORADO.—Boulder—Cheyenne sab-sch, 5; Fort Collins sab-sch, 17; Longmont Central sab-sch, 12; Tinmouth

sab-sch, 6. Denver—Black Hawk sab-sch, 5; Higher Park, 18 cts.; Valverde sab-sch, 5 54. Gunnison—Law City, 5; Salida sab-sch, 19 45. Pueblo—Alamosa church and sab-sch, 5; Antonito sab-sch, 4; Bowen sab-sch, 14; Canon City sab-sch, 41 56; Colorado Springs 1st, 2 25; —2d sab-sch, 3; Las Animas sab-sch, 5 22; Monte Vista sab-sch, 2 50; (church, 4 90), 7 40; Monument, 7 67; Pueblo 1st, 45 cts.; —Fountain church and sab-sch, 14; —Westminster sab-sch, 6 20; Silver Cliff sab-sch, 12. 17 5

ILLINOIS.—Alton—Carlyle sab-sch, 12 46; East St. Louis (church, 4 83), sab-sch, 20, 24 83; Yanketown sab-sch, 4 10. Bloomington—Bement sab-sch, 5 30; Colfax sab-sch, 9 36; Covell sab-sch, 3 53; Heyworth sab-sch, 3; Onarga sab-sch, 1 48; Paxton sab-sch, 14; Philo sab-sch, 6 10; Piper City sab-sch, 24 47; Rankin sab-sch, 17; Tolono, 19 50. Carro—Cobden sab-sch, 8 78; Du Quoc sab-sch, 4; Fairfield sab-sch, 5 89; Flora, 4; Murphboro sab-sch, 2; Nashville sab-sch, 7 33; Pisgah sab-sch, 7; Richland, 3 25; Saline Mines, 3; Sumner (church, 5 sab-sch, 4 76, 6 26; Wabash sab-sch, 8 70. Chicago—Braidwood sab-sch, 25 50; Chicago 1st (church, 2 51; sab-sch, 25, 48 67; —3d (church, 9 95), sab-sch, 3 49 48; —6th, 35 53; —11th sab-sch, 8 67; —Belden Avenue, 6 25; —Central Park sab-sch, 9 40; (church, 6, 15 6; —Immanuel sab-sch, 9 50; Evanston South sab-sch, 2; Herscher sab-sch, 23 cts.; Hyde Park, 56; Kankakee sab-sch, 10; Moreland sab-sch, 3; Waukegan sab-sch, 12 6. Freeport—Galena 1st, 18 50; Rockford Westminster sab-sch, 8 25; Rock Run sab-sch, 11 04. Mattison—Channahon sab-sch, 3; Kansas sab-sch, 10; Moweaqua sab-sch, 1 13; Oakland sab-sch, 5 16; (church, 3), 7 16; Pana, 12 30; Vandalia sab-sch, 14. Ottawa—Au Sable Grove, 12 12; Nedota sab-sch, 12 04. Peoria—Astoria sab-sch, 10; Tevan sab-sch, 9 23; Elmira church, 36 92, C. E., 5 31 33; Duwood church and sab-sch, 6 25; Farmington (church, sab-sch, 22 15, 12 35; French Grove sab-sch, 6 50; Levan sab-sch, 23 11; Oneida church and sab-sch, 17; Princeton, 15 85; Washington sab-sch, 8. Rock River—Alexia sab-sch, Coal Valley church and sab-sch, 1 60; Dixon sab-sch, 14 12; —ton sab-sch, 25; Geneseo sab-sch, 14 25; Keithsburg sab-sch, 7 79; Milan sab-sch, 19; Pleasant Ridge church and sab-sch, 3 25; Princeton sab-sch, 16 20; Rock Island Brayway sab-sch, 20; Sterling, 64 07; Viola sab-sch, 7. Springfield—Augusta sab-sch, 20; Elvaston sab-sch, 14; Forest Green, 3; Hersman sab-sch, 7; Monmouth, 2 65; North Sterling, 20 40; Pontiac sab-sch, 7; Walnut Grove sab-sch, 2 86. Springfield—Bates, 8; Irish Grove sab-sch, Jacksonville Westminster sab-sch, 15; Springfield 1st, 50 55; —2d sab-sch, 15 11; Sweet Water sab-sch, 1. 115 9

INDIANA.—Crawfordsville—Benton sab-sch, 2 65; Lexington, 3; Russellville sab-sch, 5 78; Waveland, 4 28. Fort Wayne—Elkhart sab-sch, 10; Fort Wayne 1st (sab-sch, 25 75), (church, 40 00), 6 5; Hopewell (sab-sch, 5 64), (church, 3 00), 5 63; Hometown, 3; Kendallville sab-sch, 6 20. Logansport—Bethlehem sab-sch, 10 22; Monticello sab-sch, 11 14; —Bend Trinity sab-sch, 5 50; Valparaiso sab-sch, 3; Wamac sab-sch, 3 30. Muncie—Centre Grove sab-sch, 4; Muncie sab-sch, 22 79; Nobleville sab-sch, 3 85; 17 90

ab-sch, 2 70; Union City sab-sch, 5 24. New Albany—Lyndon sab-sch, 1 57; Crothersville, 1; Hanover (church, 0 26), (sab-sch, 10), 20 26; New Albany 3d sab-sch, 14 62; Wen Creek sab-sch, 4; Pleasant Township sab-sch, 8 45; alem sab-sch, 2 70; Sharon Hill, 4 12; Vernon sab-sch, 3. Vincennes—Brazil sab-sch, 9; Evansville Walnut Street, 5; Mount Moriah sab-sch, 2 25; Petersburg sab-sch, 6; Princeton sab-sch, 9 40; Smyrna sab-sch, 5 06; Vincennes sab-sch, 19 65; Worthington sab-sch, 5 16. 329 18

INDIAN TERRITORY.—Cherokee Nation—Claremore Mound sab-sch, 4 61; Eureka sab-sch, 10 60; Park Hill church and sab-sch, 26 40; Pleasant Valley sab-sch, 13 65. Choctaw—Lehigh sab-sch, 2 85. Muscogee—Tulsa sab-sch, 23 65; Wewoka, 3. Oklahoma—Anadarko sab-sch, 10 37; Ardmore (church, 8 15), sab-sch, 8 57, 16 73; Edmond sab-sch, 10; Guthrie sab-sch, 7 76; Oklahoma City sab-sch, 13; Paul's Valley sab-sch, 1 50; Yates sab-sch, 1. 145 11

IOWA.—Cedar Rapids—Cedar Rapids 1st (church, 3), sab-sch, 14 76; — 3d sab-sch, 17 80; Centre Junction sab-sch, 16 59; Marion sab-sch, 23 53; Mount Vernon sab-sch, 30; Scotch Grove sab-sch, 10 59. Cornua—Creston, 11 50; Gravity, 1 60; Morning Star sab-sch, 8 20; Mount Ayr sab-sch, 9 40; Pilot Grove sab-sch, 9; Prairie Star sab-sch, 6 48; Red Oak sab-sch, 1 03; Villisca sab-sch, 20; West Centre sab-sch, 3 50. Council Bluffs—Atlantic sab-sch, 19 54; Lone Star sab-sch, 4 35; Shelby sab-sch, 5. Des Moines—Adel sab-sch, 5 68; Albia sab-sch, 15; Derby sab-sch, 3 50; Des Moines 6th sab-sch, 4 47; — Clifton Heights sab-sch, 7; — Westminster sab-sch, 11 36; Dexter sab-sch, 5; Grimes sab-sch, 8 50; Humeston sab-sch, 8; Indianola sab-sch, 12 15; Lineville sab-sch, 4 28; Medora, 2; Milo church and sab-sch, 7; Promise City sab-sch, 4 28; Unionville sab-sch, 4 50; Winter-set, 15 71. Dubuque—Dubuque 3d sab-sch, 7; Jessup church and sab-sch, 10; Lansing 1st sab-sch, 5; Mount Hope sab-sch, 5; Pine Creek sab-sch, 12 76; Pleasant Grove sab-sch, 7 28. Fort Dodge—Bethel sab-sch, 11; Boone sab-sch, 2 (church, 8), 10; Carroll sab-sch, 16 70; Churdan sab-sch, 8 11; Coon Rapids sab-sch, 4 10; Fonda, 6; Jefferson sab-sch, 7 75, (church, 3 54), 10 29; Lake Park sab-sch, 5; Spirit Lake sab-sch, 9 70, (church, 4 31), 14 01. Iowa—Bonaparte sab-sch, 3 09; Burlington 1st sab-sch, 35 40; Chequest, 2; Keokuk Westminster sab-sch, 26 63, (church, 2 62), 29 27; Lebanon sab-sch, 6; Martinsburg church and sab-sch, 40; Mediapolis sab-sch, 11 29; Montrose sab-sch, 3 40; Mount Pleasant 1st church and sab-sch, 18 57; Oakland sab-sch, 3 45; Ottumwa 1st sab-sch, 23 09; Sharon sab-sch, 5 22; Troy sab-sch, 3; West Point sab-sch, 17 65. Iowa City—Blue Grass, 10 88; Columbus Central, 21 50; Davenport 2d sab-sch, 13; Marengo sab-sch, 8 75; Montezuma sab-sch, 8 26, (church, 2 50), 10 75; Muscatine sab-sch, 30; West Branch sab-sch, 12 96. Sioux City—Denison sab-sch, 8; Inwood, 4 71; La Mars, 2; Sanborn sab-sch, 7 03; Vall church and sab-sch, 14 03. Waterloo—Clarkeville (sab-sch, 3 09), 11 09; Dows sab-sch, 6 68; La Porte City sab-sch, 5; Marshalltown sab-sch, 1; Waterloo church and sab-sch, 24. 337 46

KANSAS.—Emporia—Argonia sab-sch, 3 68; Brainerd sab-sch, 1; Burlington sab-sch, 2 50; Cedar Point sab-sch, 3 73; Conway Springs sab-sch, 4 63; Elmendorf sab-sch, 4 20; Emporia 1st, 23 20; New Salem sab-sch, 8 23, (church, 5), 6 28; Osage City, 26 77; Peabody sab-sch, 5; Sedan sab-sch, 3 04; Walnut Valley sab-sch, 1 77, (church, 2), 3 77; Wichita, Lincoln Street sab-sch, 6 10; — Oak Street sab-sch, 7 75; — Perkins, 5 48. Highland—Axtel, 7 83; Highland sab-sch, 7; Washington sab-sch, 16 20. Larned—Anthony sab-sch, 5 26; Hutchinson, 9 50; Kingman sab-sch, 50 cts., (church, 3 77), 4 27. Neosho—Baxter Springs 1st sab-sch, 3; Carlyle, 12 cts.; Chetopa sab-sch, 3 19; Humboldt sab-sch, 8; Independence sab-sch, 14 63; Louisburg sab-sch, 1 50; Paola sab-sch, 10; Parsons sab-sch, 1 60; Weir City sab-sch, 3. Solomon—Cawker City, 3 50; Concordia, 12 13; Ellsworth sab-sch, 11; Solomon sab-sch, 5; Wilson sab-sch, 5. Topeka—Baldwin sab-sch, 7; Clay Centre sab-sch, 15 63; Kansas City Western Highlands church and sab-sch, 11; Leavenworth 1st sab-sch, 66; Oakland sab-sch, 3 65. 338 77

KENTUCKY.—Ebenezer—Frankfort (church, 33 63), sab-sch, 40 54, 73 18. Louisville—Grand Rivers Ohio Avenue sab-sch, 2 81; Hopkinsville 1st sab-sch, 12 45; Kuttawa sab-sch, 8 59. Transylvania—Boyle sab-sch, 5 10; Ebenezer sab-sch, 37 cts.; Greensburg sab-sch, 8 22; Harrodsburg 1st sab-sch, 10; Lebanon 1st sab-sch, 10 20; Livingston sab-sch, 2. 123 93

MICHIGAN.—Detroit—Detroit 1st, 111 89; — 2d Avenue sab-sch, 13; — Bethany sab-sch, 6 50; — Calvary sab-sch, 54; — Immanuel sab-sch, 15 71; — Memorial sab-sch, 86 65; East Nankin sab-sch, 4; Holly sab-sch, 8; Howell sab-sch, 37 02; Sallie sab-sch, 7 40; Unadilla sab-sch, 3. Pontiac—Bridgehampton sab-sch, 7 45; Chandler sab-sch, 7; Ft. Gratiot sab-sch, 15; Morrice sab-sch, 2 23, Grand Rapids—Ferryburgh sab-sch, 1 70; Grand Rapids 1st sab-sch, 36 45; Hesperia sab-sch, 10 70; Spring Lake sab-sch, 9 51. Kalamazoo—Decatur sab-sch, 5 50. Lake Superior—Detour sab-sch, 6 50; Escanaba sab-sch, 20; Ford River sab-sch, 15; Ishpeming sab-sch, 24 54; Lakefield sab-sch, 2 71; Pickford sab-sch, 3 35; Stairway sab-sch, 8 50; Stambaugh Christ sab-sch, 2. Lansing—Brooklyn sab-sch, 3 41; Concord, 5; Eckford, 4 06; Lansing 1st, 12 40; Marshall sab-sch, 20; Oneida sab-sch, 7 06. Monroe—Clayton sab-sch, 7 88; Deerfield sab-sch, 4 73; Tecumseh sab-sch, 17. Petoskey—Boyne Falls sab-sch, 2; Elmira, 5 22; McBain sab-sch, 3 15; Omena sab-sch, 8; Petoskey sab-sch, 24 75. Saginaw—Alcona, 1 65; Au Sable and Oscoda sab-sch, 21 28; Bay City 1st sab-sch, 37 13; Calkinsville sab-sch, 10 35; Ithaca sab-sch, 21 11; Saginaw, 11 65; — East Side 1st, 9 80; — West Side Grace sab-sch, 5 51. 753 98

MINNESOTA.—Duluth—Duluth 1st sab-sch, 50; — 2d sab-sch, 5; — Hazlewood Park sab-sch, 1 31; Hincley sab-sch, 3 14; Lake Side sab-sch, 10 55; Pine City sab-sch, 3; Sandstone sab-sch, 3 02; Tower St. James sab-sch, 7 59. Mankato—Amboy sab-sch, 2; Luverne sab-sch, 3 65; Marshall church and sab-sch, 13 35; Morgan sab-sch, 5 80; Pipestone church and sab-sch, 6 25; Rushmore sab-sch, 5 20; Clayton C. E., 5; Summit Lake sab-sch, 3 70; Tracy sab-sch, 2 20. Minneapolis—Eden Prairie sab-sch, 3 63; Minneapolis Highland Park, 7 66; — Shiloh sab-sch, 15; — Westminster, 39 03. Red River—Angus sab-sch, 4; Bethel sab-sch, 8 20; Fergus Falls sab-sch, 15 22; Farley sab-sch, 3 50; Maine sab-sch, 7; Scotland sab-sch, 7 25; Tabor Bohemian sab-sch, 2 50. St. Cloud—Greenleaf sab-sch, 85 cts. St. Paul—Forest sab-sch, 1 44; Macalester sab-sch, 11 50; North St. Paul sab-sch, 6 25; Red Wing sab-sch, 10; Rush City sab-sch, 9 26, (church, 3 74), 13; St. Croix Falls sab-sch, 5; St. Paul Arlington Hills, 7 50; — Central (church, 9 25), sab-sch, 51 09, 60 24; — Dayton Avenue sab-sch, 54, (C. E., 10), 64; — Goodrich Avenue sab-sch, 18 23; — House of Hope, 60 04; — Knox, 3; — Park sab-sch, 9. Winona—Albert Lee sab-sch, 11; Henrytown sab-sch, 3 20; Lanesboro sab-sch, 1 60; Preston sab-sch, 3 12; Washington, 8 20; Winona 1st sab-sch, 21 14. 559 28

MISSOURI.—Kansas City—Brownington sab-sch, 3; Butler 7; Holden sab-sch, 18 88; Independence sab-sch, 15 50; Kansas City 2d sab-sch, 79 87 (church 32 46), 112 33; Knob Noster sab-sch, 10 55; Nevada sab-sch, 6; Salt Springs sab-sch, 26; Westfield, 6. Osark—Ash Grove, 5 10; Webb City sab-sch, 12 71. Palmyra—Glasgow sab-sch, 2 85; Hannibal sab-sch, 14 41; La Grange sab-sch, 4; Milan sab-sch, 10 40; Moberly sab-sch, 8 61; Sullivan sab-sch, 7 61; Unionville church and sab-sch, 13. Platte—Akron sab-sch, 3; Avalon 3; St. Joseph Westminster, 6 28; Union Star, 1; Weston sab-sch, 5. St. Louis—Ferguson, 15 23; Rock Hill, 18 85; St. Louis 1st German, 5; — 2d German, 2 30; — Covenant sab-sch, 19 60; — Faith Mission, 3; — Lee Avenue, 10; — Memorial Tabernacle sab-sch, 7 50; — West sab-sch, 43 24. White River—Allison Chapel, 6 25; Green Grove sab-sch, 1 20. 427 67

MONTANA.—Butte—Phillipsburg sab-sch, 23 60. Helena—Helena 1st, 23 01; Spring Hill sab-sch, 7 56. Great Falls—Great Falls, 10. 63 17

NEBRASKA.—Hastings—Aurora sab-sch, 3 21; Beaver City sab-sch, 5 74; Bloomington sab-sch, 3 50; Hastings 1st sab-sch, 6 15; Holdrege sab-sch, 12 47; Minden sab-sch, 6 53; Ong sab-sch, 3 24; Orleans sab-sch, 4; Wilcoxville sab-sch, 6. Kearney—Burr Oak sab-sch, 2; Clontibret sab-sch, 4; Lexington sab-sch, 11 23; (church, 4 72), 15 26; North Loup sab-sch, 7; St. Paul sab-sch, 6 63; Sumner sab-sch, 3 23; Wilson Memorial sab-sch, 5 06. Nebraska City—Beatrice 1st sab-sch, 41 31; Fairmont sab-sch, 1; Goshen sab-sch, 1 10; Gresham sab-sch, 6 71; Hebron sab-sch, 12; Plattsmouth German sab-sch, 3; Seward sab-sch, 7 53. Niobrara—Bethany sab-sch, 4; Hartington sab-sch, 20; Madison sab-sch, 15 85; Millerboro sab-sch, 4; Niobrara sab-sch, 6 70; Wayne sab-sch, 8 20; (church 6 78), 15 58. Omaha—Ceresco, 5; Lost Creek sab-sch, 3 27; Monroe sab-sch, 8 50; Omaha, Ambler Place sab-sch, 3 03; — Knox sab-sch, 1 73; — Lowe Avenue (church, 5 63, sab-sch, 25 06), 30 69; Valley sab-sch, 1 46; Webster, 4 55. 284 81

NEW JERSEY.—Elizabeth—Connecticut Farms sab-sch, 26 15; Cranford sab-sch, 27 61; Lamington, 11; Perth Amboy sab-sch, 60 53; Springfield sab-sch, 24 13. Jersey City—Englewood sab-sch, 46 25; Lyndhurst sab-sch, 15 05; Newfoundland, 12 75; Norwood sab-sch, 5 87; Paterson Madison Ave. sab-sch, 5 55; — Redeemer sab-sch, 71 51. Mom-mouth—Burlington sab-sch, 45 90; Calvary sab-sch, 11 75; Columbus sab-sch, 16 50; Cranbury 1st sab-sch, 15 09; Englishtown sab-sch, 7 22; Farmingdale sab-sch, 2 50; Holmanville sab-sch, 5 23; Jacksonville church and sab-sch, 8 38; Providence church and sab-sch, 9 50; Tackerton sab-sch, 3 09. Morris and Orange—Berkshire Valley sab-sch, 2; Dover sab-sch, 29 10; Flanders sab-sch, 14 05; German Valley sab-sch, 22; Hanover sab-sch, 22 54; Madison, 2 09; Orange 1st, 100; — Central, 100; — Hillsdale sab-sch, 30 22; Schooley's Mountain (church, 5), sab-sch, 5 03, 10 03. Newark—Bloomfield Westminster sab-sch, 34 28; Newark 2d, 9 46; 5th Avenue, 15 55; — Park sab-sch, 58 84; — South Park (church, 42 15), sab-sch, 61 58, 108 68. New Brunswick—Alexandria, 8; Amwell 1st (church, 4 44), sab-sch, 4 61, 9 05; Bound Brook (church, 19), sab-sch, 15 35; Dayton sab-sch, 12 (church, 1 02), 13 09; Ewing, 19 68; Frenchtown sab-sch, 20 57; Lawrence sab-sch, 37 75; Titusville sab-sch, 14 48; Trenton 1st sab-sch, 16 01; — 2d sab-sch, 30 81; — 5th sab-sch, 18 06; — Chapel 1st sab-sch, 33 30. Newton—Belvidere 2d sab-sch, 17; Branchville sab-sch, 13; Danville church and sab-sch, 10; Hackettstown sab-sch, 57; Mansfield 2d sab-sch, 6; Musconetcong Valley sab-sch, 7 42; Phillipsburgh 1st (church, 6 16), sab-sch, 9 44, 15 10; — Westminster (church, 5), sab-sch, 8 50, 13 50; Stillwater sab-sch, 2. West Jersey—Absecon sab-sch, 5; Atlantic City 1st sab-sch, 20; Brainerd, 6 50; Bridgeton 1st sab-sch, 25; Camden 2d sab-sch, 15 87; Cedarville 1st sab-sch, 14 17; Gloucester City sab-sch, 8 50; Hammonton sab-sch, 18 63; Millville sab-sch, 9 71; Williamstown sab-sch, 20 05.

1,542 48
NEW MEXICO. — Arizona — Flagstaff sab-sch, 5. Rio Grande—Albuquerque 2d, 3; Jemez sab-sch, 2. Santa Fé — Las Vegas 1st, 9 40; Mora sab-sch, 2. 21 40
NEW YORK. — Albany — Albany 4th sab-sch, 31 63; — State Street, 19 73; Batchesellerville sab-sch, 7; Bethlehem church and sab-sch, 5; Carlisle sab-sch, 10 75; Corinth sab-sch, 5; Esperance (church, 4 32), sab-sch, 11 40, 15 72; Northampton sab-sch, 6 40; Saratoga Springs 1st sab-sch, 9; — 2d sab-sch, 24 25; Schoenectady 1st (church 49 90), sab-sch, 77 60, 131 59; — East Avenue (church, 6), sab-sch, 12, 18; Stephentown sab-sch, 6; West Galway sab-sch, 8 23. Binghamton — Bainbridge sab-sch, 12; Binghamton 1st (church, 11 75), sab-sch, 80 19, 91 94; Deposit sab-sch, 6 13; Nichols, 5; Nineveh (church, 7 15), sab-sch, 6 92, 14 08; Preble sab-sch, 2 37; Waverly, 15; Windsor sab-sch, 15 56. Boston—Boston 1st, 45 85; Holyoke sab-sch, 10; Houlton sab-sch, 25; Londonderry sab-sch, 5 03; Manchester 2d sab-sch, 4 70; Somerville sab-sch, 5 26; Worcester sab-sch, 11. Brooklyn—Brooklyn Arlington Avenue sab-sch, 18 62; — Cumberland Street sab-sch, 20; — Duryea (church, 18), sab-sch, 30, 48; — Greene Avenue, 2 34; — Memorial 62 49; Stapleton 1st Edgewater, 20; West New Brighton Calvary sab-sch, 35. Buffalo — Akron sab-sch, 7 35; Alden sab-sch, 7; Allegany sab-sch, 2; Buffalo Bethlehem sab-sch, 9 78; — Lafayette Street sab-sch, 1 17; — North sab-sch, 1 71; — West Avenue, 3 20; — Westminster, 49 33; Fredonia sab-sch, 31 31; Glenwood sab-sch, 2 75; Tonawanda sab-sch, 12 84. Cayuga—Aurora, 9 18; Cayuga sab-sch, 2 55; Ithaca (church, 53 38), sab-sch, 46 14, 99 52; Meridian sab-sch, 6 70; Sennett sab-sch, 12. Champlain—Au Sable Forks and Black Brook sab-sch, 13 06; Beekmantown sab-sch, 7; Belmont sab-sch, 1 06; Constable sab-sch, 10 10; East Constable, 4; Fort Covington sab-sch, 16 62; Mineville sab-sch, 17; Rouses Point sab-sch, 5. Chemung—Dundee sab-sch, 11; Elmira North church and sab-sch, 18 06; Havana sab-sch, 11 30, (church, 2 70), 14; Monterey sab-sch, 1 70; Moreland, 3; Southport sab-sch, 5; Spencer sab-sch, 8 52. Columbia—Hunter sab-sch, 12 20; Jewett sab-sch, 5 85; Windham Centre sab-sch, 7 55. Genesee—Batavia sab-sch, 59 25; Bergen sab-sch, 8; Castile sab-sch, 21; Leroy (church, 9 84), sab-sch, 26 43, 36 37; North Bergen sab-sch, 19 80; Warsaw, 41 18. Geneva—Phelps sab-sch, 100, (church, 6 89), 106 89; Romulus, 12 68; Geneva sab-sch, 15 43; Trumansburgh sab-sch, 1 60; West Fayette sab-sch, 6 55. Hudson—Amity sab-sch, 14 74; Florida sab-sch, 17; Good Will sab-sch, 16 50; Greenbush sab-sch, 12; Liberty sab-sch, 21; Mount Hope sab-sch, 12; Nyack sab-sch, 24; — German sab-sch, 4; West Town, 2. Long Island—Amagansett sab-sch, 5; Mattituck sab-sch, 33 75 (church, 8 39), 37 14; Moriches, 7; Setauket, 2 37; Shelter Island sab-sch, 7; West Hampton, 23 73; Yaphank sab-sch, 12 03. Lyons—Junius sab-sch, 3; Ontario, 10 89; Wolcott 1st sab-sch, 10 25. Nassau—Babylon sab-sch, 15 49; Glen Cove sab-sch, 13 07; Glen Wood sab-sch, 3; Islip, 7; Springfield sab-sch, 49 87; Whitestone sab-sch, 25 32. New York—New York 5th Avenue, 60 08; — Allen Street sab-sch, 19 37; — Bethany sab-sch, 28 16; — Good Shepherd, 8 14; — Sea and Land sab-sch, 17 24; — Spring Street sab-sch, 37 84. Niagara—Knowlville sab-sch, 15; Lockport 1st sab-sch, 20, (church, 48), 68; Mapleton sab-sch, 5; Niagara Falls sab-sch, 25; Wright's Corners sab-sch, 7 60. North River—Hughsonville sab-sch, 9 20; Malden sab-sch, 9; Marlborough sab-sch, 19 47; Millerton sab-sch, 8 65; Milton sab-sch, 6 21; Newburgh Union sab-sch, 60; Wappinger's Creek (church, 7), sab-sch, 7, 14. Otsego—Hobart sab-sch, 18 50; Middlefield sab-sch, 10 58 (church, 2 62), 12 20; Milford sab-sch, 8 50; Richfield Springs sab-sch, 18 16; Unadilla sab-sch, 18 22. Rochester—Brighton church and

sab-sch, 88 25; Charlotte sab-sch, 9 60; Chili sab-sch, 7 57; Genesee 1st, 15 61; Groveland sab-sch, 9 54; Ogdes sab-sch, 10 37; Pittsford sab-sch, 29 65; Rochester 2d sab-sch, 3 76; — Emmanuel sab-sch, 3 41; Sparta 2d sab-sch, 5; Webster sab-sch, 7. St. Lawrence—Carthage sab-sch, 54 25; Morristown sab-sch, 12 59. Schenectady—Angela sab-sch, 7 61; Bath church and sab-sch, 33 61; Campbell sab-sch, 18; Cohocton sab-sch, 5; Hammondsport 5; Pakenoy sab-sch, 5. Syracuse—Baldwinsville church and sab-sch, 59; Canastota sab-sch, 54 21; Hannibal sab-sch, 2 35; Hastings sab-sch, 2; Jamestown sab-sch, 10 53; Marcellus sab-sch, 9 48 (church, 15 52), 25 30; Oswego Grace sab-sch, 51 05; Parish sab-sch, 2; Syracuse Westminster sab-sch, 20. Troy—Arroy sab-sch, 5 30; Caldwell sab-sch, 7; Cambridge sab-sch, 23 77; Melrose sab-sch, 11; Middle; Granville sab-sch, 7; Sandy Hill sab-sch, 32 2. Troy 2d sab-sch, 17 64; — 3d sab-sch, 5; — 9th (church, 12 51), sab-sch, 37 49, 50; — Memorial sab-sch, 29 12; — Oakwood Avenue sab-sch, 38 44; — Park sab-sch, 10 06; Warrensburg sab-sch, 20; Whitehall sab-sch, 25. Union—Alder Creek and Forestport sab-sch, 10; Boonville sab-sch, 3; Clinton sab-sch, 14 50; Glendale sab-sch, 3 79; Hamilton College, 3 58; Knoxboro sab-sch, 25; Little Falls sab-sch, 34 60; New Hartford sab-sch and church, 21 65; Oneida, 1; Rome sab-sch, 20 16; Saugquoit, 13 65; Utica Westminster sab-sch, 60; Vernon Centre sab-sch, 12 59; Verona sab-sch, 11 67; Waterville sab-sch, 3 20; Whitesboro, 19. Westchester—Croton Falls sab-sch, 18 17; Katonah sab-sch, 30, (church, 10), 30; Mahopac Falls sab-sch, 31; New Haven 1st sab-sch, 10; New Rochelle 2d sab-sch, 34 50; Patterson sab-sch, 25; Peekskill 1st (church, 40 05), sab-sch, 75, 115 08; Port Chester sab-sch, 14 27; South Salem (church, 10 25), sab-sch, 16 50, 25 75; Stamford 1st, 46 77; Yonkers 1st, 61 76. 3,729 74

NORTH DAKOTA. — Fargo—Wheatland sab-sch, 2. Fennel—Arville sab-sch, 4; Backoo sab-sch, 3 20; Park River sab-sch, 13 50. 23 50
OHIO. — Athens—Bristol sab-sch, 2 30; Guysville sab-sch, 3 10, (church, 1), 4 10; New Matamoras sab-sch, 10; Tupper's Plains sab-sch, 1 10. Bellefontaine—Belle Centre sab-sch, 12; Bellefontaine sab-sch, 26 23, (church, 75 cts., 37 08; Forest, 2 58; North Washington, 1 89; Patterman, 63 cts.; Spring Hills sab-sch, 22 50. Chillicothe—Mount Pleasant sab-sch, 10; Wilkesville sab-sch, 12. Cincinnati—Bantam sab-sch, 5; Batavia sab-sch, 16; Bethel sab-sch, 9 50; Cincinnati, 2d sab-sch, 10 53; — 7th, 17 24; — Avondale sab-sch, 59 31; — Clifton church and sab-sch, 29 65; — Mount Auburn sab-sch, 30 03, (church, 16), 40 48; — Poplar Street (church, 3 50), sab-sch, 22, 25 50; Clevela, 2; Hartwell, 3; Lebanon, 8; Ludlow Grove sab-sch, 3; Montgomery, 3 25; Pleasant Ridge (church, 20 60), sab-sch, 4, 34 60; Reading and Lockland sab-sch, 4 90; Springfield (church, 7 35), sab-sch, 18 18, 19 56; Venice sab-sch, 17; Westwood sab-sch, 62 cts. Cleveland—Cleveland 2d sab-sch, 62 18; — Bethany sab-sch, 10 25; — Bolton Ave sab-sch, 10 26; — Euclid Avenue sab-sch, 51 25; Guilford 12 19; Independence sab-sch, 5; Kingsville, sab-sch, 2 20; New Lyme sab-sch, 10; Orwell sab-sch, 15 42. Columbus—Central College 8 91; Columbus Broad Street, 42 77; London sab-sch, 16. Dayton—Bath, 3 10; Clifton sab-sch, 19; Dayton 4th sab-sch, 21 67; — Riverdale sab-sch, 9 14; Osborne sab-sch, 3; Oxford sab-sch, 4 60, (church, 4 70, 9 50; Seven Mile sab-sch, 2; Somerville sab-sch, 3 66; Xenia, 14. Huron—Chicago sab-sch, 8; Fremont sab-sch, 15 65; Monroeville sab-sch, 6 08; Norwalk, 9; Sandusky, 16; Tiffin sab-sch, 7 25. Lima—Blanchard sab-sch, 15; Columbus Grove sab-sch, 14; McComb sab-sch, 13; Miami Jefferson, 6; Rockford sab-sch, 2 40; Van Buren sab-sch, 11 75; Wakarusa sab-sch, 5. Makoning—Clarkson sab-sch, 7 79; Columbiana sab-sch, 18 20; Kinsman sab-sch, 22; Leetonia sab-sch, 6; Mansfield 2d sab-sch, 6 75; Niles sab-sch, 16; North Benton sab-sch, 13 60; Poland sab-sch, 15 57; Vienna sab-sch, 6 54; Warren sab-sch, 46 24. Marion—Brown sab-sch, 11 13; Delaware sab-sch, 20; Delhi sab-sch, 11 44; Marion sab-sch, 24 26; West Bets sab-sch, 4 75. Mawnee—Bryan, 5 23; Delta, sab-sch, 9 25; Hicksville sab-sch, 9 20; Perryburgh Walnut Street sab-sch, 3; Toledo 1st, 34 92. Portsmouth—Eckmanville sab-sch, 15 30; Georgetown sab-sch, 8 66; Hanging Rock sab-sch, 8; Jackson, 4 27; Russellville sab-sch, 5; Fancy Springs, sab-sch, 1 05; Wellston sab-sch, 9 22; West Union sab-sch, 3 91; Winchester sab-sch, 10. St. Clairsville—Bellair 1st sab-sch, 35 54; Caldwell sab-sch, 6; Concord, 12 24; Morristown sab-sch, 6; Powhatan sab-sch, 11; Westchester, 66 cts.; Wheeling Valley sab-sch, 3. Stratonsville—Beech Spring (church, 4), sab-sch, 12 16; Bethel sab-sch, 14 85; Brilliant sab-sch, 8 75; Carrollton sab-sch, 12; Deersville sab-sch, 8; East Liverpool 1st church and sab-sch, 101 10; — 2d sab-sch, 5 41; Leesville sab-sch, 2; Lima sab-sch, 7 50; Minerva, 3; Newcomerstown sab-sch, 3; Oak Ridge, 10; Pleasant Hill sab-sch, 12 12 (church, 1 55), 13 6; Richmond sab-sch, 15 73; Ridge, 12; Stubeville 2d sab-sch, 14; Two Ridges sab-sch, 8 19; Wayneburg, 3. West-

Apple Creek (church, 4 55), sab-sch, 31 08; 85 64; Belleville sab-sch, 7 33; (church, 1 20), 8 53; Blooming Grove sab-sch, 5; Canal Fulton sab-sch, 5; Fredericksburgh, 34; Homeville sab-sch, 5 80; Lexington, 8 50; Londonville sab-sch, 10 25; Millersburg sab-sch 4 42; Mt. Eaton sab-sch, 3 38; Nashville (church, 10), sab-sch 4; 14; Perrysville sab-sch, 8 75. Zanesville—Bladensburg (church, 1 77), sab-sch, 1 77, 3 54; Coshocton, 11 50; Duncan's Falls, 4 50; Fairmount sab-sch, 3; Granville sab-sch, 20; Jersey sab-sch, 12; Martinsburg (church, 3), sab-sch, 2 21, 5 21; Mt. Pleasant (church, 3 58), sab-sch, 3 66, 6 54; Mt. Vernon sab-sch, 50 52; New Concord sab-sch, 1; Roseville sab-sch, 6; Unity sab-sch, 10 20. 1860 08

OREGON.—Portland—Eagle Park, Germansab-sch, 1 99; Mount Tabor sab-sch, 9; Oregon City sab-sch, 3 18; Portland 1st (church, 55 35), sab-sch, 7 67, 68 02; — Cavalry, 4 10; Springfield sab-sch, 3. Southern Oregon—Bandon sab-sch, 2; Marshfield sab-sch, 4. Willamette—Dallas sab-sch, 4 50; Lebanon sab-sch, 8 90; Newberg sab-sch, 2; Yaquina Bay sab-sch, 8. 112 69

PENNSYLVANIA.—Allegheny—Allegheny McClure Ave. sab-sch, 17 35; Beaver, 14; Bull Creek church and sab-sch, 19 50; Cheswick sab-sch, 16 74; Concord sab-sch, 12 50; Emsworth sab-sch, 20 60; Evans City sab-sch, 8 45; Freedom, 5; Leetsdale, 49 85; New Salem sab-sch, 5; Pine Creek 1st, 2; — 2d sab-sch, 14; Plains sab-sch, 3 41; Vanport (church, 2), sab-sch, 8 30, 10 30. Blairsville—Braddock sab-sch, 84 29; Congruity, 7 50; Greensburg church and sab-sch, 73 51; — Westminster, 12; Harrison City sab-sch, 18; Irwin sab-sch, 21 25; Jeanette sab-sch, 28; Johnstown sab-sch, 23 15; New Alexandria, 66 33; Parnassus, 80 50; Penn sab-sch, 2. Butler—Grove City sab-sch, 80 64; New Salem sab-sch, 9; North Butler (church, 5), sab-sch, 10 15; North Liberty sab-sch, 19 53; Plain Grove sab-sch, 70 30; Unionville sab-sch, 6 14; West Sunbury, 6. Carlisle—Burnt Cabins sab-sch, 3; Carlisle Rd, 7 55; Dickinson sab-sch, 8 74; Duncannon, 9; Great Conewago sab-sch, 12 40; Green Hill sab-sch, 3; Harrisburg Calvary, 21; — Market Square sab-sch, 50; — Pine Street sab-sch, 66 16; Lebanon Christ sab-sch, 5; Lower Path Valley sab-sch, 10; Middle Spring sab-sch, 10; Millerstown sab-sch, 9 30; Shippensburg (church, 13), sab-sch, 24 04, 37 04; Upper Path Valley (church, 8), sab-sch, 28 73, 29 73. Chester—Bethany sab-sch, 5; Bryn Mawr sab-sch, 75; Clifton Heights sab-sch, 17 31; Darby Borough, 13; East Whiteland, 7; Fairview sab-sch, 5; Honey Brook sab-sch, 24 35, (church, 5), 29 36; Kennett Square, 3 35; Media sab-sch, 23 17; Wayne sab-sch, 31 08; West Grove sab-sch, 13 65. Clarion—Beech Woods sab-sch, 24 30, (church, 3 24), 30 04; Bethesda sab-sch, 4 48; Brockwayville sab-sch, 15 40; (church, 17 70), 26 10; Brockville church and sab-sch, 41 68; Clarion sab-sch, 65 16; Concord sab-sch, 10; Falls Creek sab-sch, 11 11; Greenville sab-sch, 20; Licking sab-sch, 13 40; Mayaville, 4 15; Reynoldsville sab-sch, 16 50. Erie—Atlantic sab-sch, 14 23; Belle Valley church and sab-sch, 4; Bradford church and sab-sch, 30; Cochran sab-sch, 10; Cory sab-sch, 13 30; Erie Park, 11 71; Fairfield sab-sch, 18 75; Fairview sab-sch, 14; Franklin sab-sch, 54 09; Fredonia, 6; Girard, 5 18; Greenville sab-sch, 39 71; Kerr's Hill sab-sch, 13 50; Mount Pleasant sab-sch, 11; New Lebanon, 10; North Clarendon sab-sch, 10; North East sab-sch, 35; Sandy Lake sab-sch, 5 55; Stoneboro sab-sch, 9 76; Titusville, 31 55; Warren sab-sch, 51 38; Waterford sab-sch, 20. Huntingdon—Alexandria sab-sch, 12 75; Altoona 1st sab-sch, 23 61; — 2d, 7 55; Bellefonte, 2 37; Coalport sab-sch, 4 40; East Kliah quillas sab-sch, 14 30; Everett church and sab-sch, 11 35; Hollidaysburg sab-sch, 51 37; Houtzdale, 76 cts.; Huntingdon sab-sch, 15 08, (church, 15), 30 05; Irvona sab-sch, 14; Kylestown sab-sch, 8; Logan's Valley (church, 5), sab-sch, 10 15; Lost Creek, 9 50; Mann's Choice, 1; Mount Union sab-sch, 28 12; Newton Hamilton sab-sch, 9; Phillipsburg sab-sch, 25 25; Pine Grove, 2; Shellsburg church and sab-sch, 3 38; Spring Mills sab-sch, 1 60; State College sab-sch, 24 48; Tyrone sab-sch, 30 75; West Kliahquillas, 21 80. Kittanning—Clinton sab-sch, 11; Ford City sab-sch, 8; Glade Run sab-sch, 16 55; Mechanicsburgh sab-sch, 4 57; Rayne, 1 75; Rockbridge sab-sch, 7; Slate Lick sab-sch, 16. Lackawanna—Camptown, 3; Canton, 26; Carbondale, 50 23; Dunmore (church, 36), sab-sch, 10 25; Elmhurst sab-sch, 7 75; Gettend Bend church and sab-sch, 30 95; Langcliffe, 30; Little Meadows sab-sch, 5; Monroe town sab-sch, 12; Montrose sab-sch, 75 86; Moosic, 68; Mountain Top sab-sch, 5; Plains sab-sch, 9; Rushville sab-sch, 5 45; Salem, 5 50; Scranton 2d, 7 33; — German, 21 91; Snowden Memorial sab-sch, 8 80; Sugar Notch sab-sch, 4. Lehigh—Centralia sab-sch, 13 85; Easton 1st sab-sch, 37 04; Mauch Chunk sab-sch, 15 80; Pen Argyl sab-sch, 13 03; Port Carbon sab-sch, 30; South Easton sab-sch, 24; Tamaqua sab-sch, 13 10; Weatherly sab-sch, 10. Northumberland—Beck Creek sab-sch, 2 46; Berwick sab-sch, 10; Bloomsburg, 9 62; Elysburg, 6;

Jersey Shore sab-sch, 20 51; Lewisburg sab-sch, 39 80; Millinburg sab-sch, 6; Milton sab-sch, 25 56; Montgomery sab-sch, 4; New Columbia, 4 75; Rohrsburg sab-sch, 3 67; Rush Creek, 3; Sunbury (church, 35), sab-sch, 13 47; Washington, 39 34; Washingtonville, 5 25; Watertown sab-sch, 8; Williamsport 1st sab-sch, 37 97; — 2d sab-sch, 5 71. Parkersburg—Clarksburg sab-sch, 6 50; Parkersburg 1st sab-sch, 17 19; Wyoma sab-sch, 2 59. Philadelphia—Philadelphia Bethesda sab-sch, 45 65; — Bethlehem, 18; — Cohocksink (church, 19 70), sab-sch, 3 23 75; — Grace sab-sch, 23; — Green Hill sab-sch, 1 01; — Memorial, 57 61; — North Broad Street sab-sch, 75; — Olivet sab-sch, 37 53; — Patterson Memorial, 4; — South, 10; — Tabernacle sab-sch, 59 58; — West Arch Street sab-sch, 12 45; — Westminster, 15 22; — Zion sab-sch, 22 20. Philadelphia North—Ann Carmichael sab-sch, 7 43; Ashbourne, 14; Calvary sab-sch, 10; Falls of Schuylkill sab-sch, 33; Frankford, 16 54; Germantown Market Square sab-sch, 45 43; Hermon sab-sch, 35 53; Lawndale sab-sch, 11 50; Leverington sab-sch, 24; Lower Providence sab-sch, 19; Mount Airy (church, 13), (sab-sch, 20), 33; Neshaminy of Warmister, 26; Newtown, 37 16; Pottstown sab-sch, 3 21; Roxborough sab-sch, 35; Springfield (church, 5), sab-sch, 5 50, 10 50; Torredale Macalester Memorial, 25; Wissinoming sab-sch, 5; Wissachikon sab-sch, 41 65. Pittsburgh—Bethany sab-sch, 42 18; Cannonsburg 1st sab-sch, 10 05, (church, 119), 17 24; — Chartiers sab-sch, 33; Courtney, 12 51; Coal Bluff sab-sch, 14 00, 26 51; Duquesne sab-sch, 36 42; Edgewood (church, 7 50), sab-sch, 23 35, 30 35; Finleyville church and sab-sch, 33; Ingram sab-sch, 23 31; Mansfield sab-sch, 10; Middletown sab-sch, 23 33; Mingo sab-sch, 11 50; Pittsburgh 7th, 4 35; — 8th sab-sch, 23 91; — Bellefield sab-sch, 100; — East Liberty (church, 8 14), sab-sch, 18 38, 27 03; — Hazlewood sab-sch, 30 35; — Homewood Avenue sab-sch, 17 76, (church, 3 31), 21 07; — McCandless Avenue sab-sch, 6; — Mt. Washington sab-sch, 20 10; — South Side sab-sch, 45 32. Redstone—Greensboro sab-sch, 4 50; Laurel Hill (church, 24 23), sab-sch, 37 61 23; McKeesport 1st (church, 30), sab-sch, 31 28, 61 23; New Geneva sab-sch, 5 50; Round Hill (church, 10), sab-sch, 10 20; Tent sab-sch, 5; Uniontown sab-sch, 63 37; — Central church and sab-sch, 17 12. Shenango—Enon sab-sch, 16 30; Hopewell sab-sch, 25; Mahoning sab-sch, 33; Neshaunock, 6; Transfer sab-sch, 10 50; Volant sab-sch, 10; Westfield sab-sch, 25 50. Washington—Clayville sab-sch, 33 91; Cove church and sab-sch, 11 03; Cross Roads sab-sch, 11 70; Fairview, 14 60; Limestone sab-sch, 15; Lower Buffalo sab-sch, 8 10; Mount Prospect sab-sch, 35; Mount Union sab-sch, 10 50; Upper Tin Mile, 25; West Alexander sab-sch, 45. Weillsboro—Allegany sab-sch, 4; Antrim, 3; Arnot sab-sch, 7; Beecher (church, 8), sab-sch, 2 47; Covington sab-sch, 7 51; Elkland and Osceola sab-sch, 7 50; Kane sab-sch, 17 05; Weillsboro, 1 50. Westminster—Chenut Level sab-sch, 39 05; Lancaster Memorial, 3 16; Middle Octara church and sab-sch, 12.

SOUTH DAKOTA.—berdeen—berdeen C. E., 5; Raymond sab-sch, 5. Black Hills—Bethel sab-sch, 1 65; Edmond 90; Elk Creek sab-sch, 1 50; Hill City sab-sch, 1 55; Minnesota, 50 cts.; Rapid City sab-sch, 6; Sturgis sab-sch, 1 50. Central Dakota—Alpena sab-sch, 2; Bancroft sab-sch, 8; Bethel sab-sch, 11; Blunt sab-sch, 7; Colman, 1; Hitchcock sab-sch, 10; Miller sab-sch, 7 04; Wentworth sab-sch, 1 50. Southern Dakota—Canistota 4; Mitchell sab-sch, 3 08; Parker sab-sch, 3 50; Scotland sab-sch, 13 19; Tyndall sab-sch, 11. 100 89

TENNESSEE.—Holston—Beech sab-sch, 9; Jeroldtown, 1 45; Olivet sab-sch, 3 75; St. Marks, 2. Kingston—Huntsville sab-sch, 8; Piney Falls sab-sch, 1 42; Rockwood sab-sch, 7 25; Salem sab-sch, 4 25; Welsh Union sab-sch, 3 18. Union—Ebron, 4; Hopewell, 1; Knoxville 2d sab-sch, 33 60; Madisonville, 42 cts.; Mt. Zion sab-sch, 5; New Market (church 9), sab-sch, 21 30; New Providence sab-sch, 27 85; Washington sab-sch, 5 10. 189 34

TEXAS.—Austin—Eagle Pass sab-sch, 3 50; Lampasas, 2; New Orleans Immanuel sab-sch, 8. North Texas—Gainesville sab-sch, 15 40; Valley Creek sab-sch, 1 79. Trinity—Stephenville, 2; Terrell sab-sch, 6 90. 29 59

UTAH.—Boise—Boise City (church, 5), sab-sch, 5 10; Nampa sab-sch, 6. Utah—Hyrum Emmanuel, 5; Richmond, 1 45; Smithfield Central, 1 90; Springville sab-sch, 3 28. 27 63

WASHINGTON.—Olympia—Centralia sab-sch, 4; Olympia sab-sch, 3 75; Puyallup sab-sch, 5 14; Ridgedale sab-sch, 17; Vancouver sab-sch, 7. Puget Sound—Ballard sab-sch, 10; Ellensburg 4 05; Fair Haven sab-sch, 1 57; Kent sab-sch, 5 40; Neattie 1st C. E., 10; (church, 2 16), 12 16; — 2d sab-sch, 5; — Calvary sab-sch, 3 25; Snohomish sab-sch, 8. Spokane—Cortland 5 20; Fairfield sab-sch, 5; Rathdrum sab-sch, 8; Spokane 1st sab-sch, 6 75. Walla Walla—Walla Walla sab-sch, 4 90. 116 17

WISCONSIN.—Chippewa—Chetek sab-sch, 3 80; Chippowa Falls sab-sch, 16 23; Hartland sab-sch, 4 65. La Crosse—Greenwood sab-sch, 3; Mauston German sab-sch, 2 53. Madison—Baraboo sab-sch, 17 47; Belleville, 5; Beloit 1st, 13 11; — German, 2 53; Cambria sab-sch, 18 10; Cottage Grove sab-sch, 5 90; Fancy Creek, 2; Lodi sab-sch, 12 50; Madison Christ sab-sch, 22 52; Prairie du Sac sab-sch, 27 34; Reedsburgh sab-sch, 54 24; Verona, 3. Milwaukee—Horicon sab-sch, 5; Milwaukee Immanuel sab-sch, 37 95; — Perseverance sab-sch, 10; — Westminster sab-sch, 15 92; Ottawa church and sab-sch, 7 06; Richfield sab-sch, 4; Waukesha sab-sch, 20; West Granville sab-sch, 2 25. Winnebago—Auburndale sab-sch, 7 50; Crandon C. E., 6 73; Fond du Lac, 13; Little River sab-sch, 5 65; Neenah sab-sch, 45; Oshkosh sab-sch, 14 43; Oxford, 60 cts.; Waunau, 12 75; Weylock sab-sch, 3; Winneconne (church, 2), sab sch, 5 10, 7 10. 431 98

Total from Sabbath-schools..... $ 19,961 78

MISCELLANEOUS.

C. E. Phenecie, Tacoma, Wash., 5 75; Livingston sab sch, N. J., 1 50; Osceola sab-sch, Neb., 1; Kennard sab-sch, Neb., 3 52; Forest Home sab-sch, I. T., 2; Elmhurst sab-sch, Cal., 9 25; H. J. B. Huey, Phila., 5; Cold Springs sab-sch, Penna., 3; Eight Mile sab-sch, 1 03; Wilcox sab-sch, Iowa, 1; Petersburgh sab-sch, Ohio, 6 50; Fernando sab-sch, Cal., 7 50; Mount Nebo sab-sch, Penna., 2; Belmont sab-sch, N. C., 1 18; Stouchman sab-sch, Penna., 3 44; Elanere Chapel, Del., 2 50; Farmingdale Union sab-sch, N. J., 10; Endeavor sab-sch, Cal., 10; Dano-Norwegian church, Minn., 1 50; Koochville sab-sch, Mich., 3 28; Manchester sab sch, Va., 4; J. S. Phillips, treasurer of the missionaries' Missionary Fund, 65; Woottsville sab-sch, N. Y., 8 96; Los Angeles Mission sab-sch, Cal., 1 41; Bloomingdale sab-sch, Ohio, 14; Pinnebog sab-sch, Ohio, 3; Morning Side church, Pa., 26; F. C. Crounse, Mont., 5 80; Webb, Union and Brick sab-schs., Ills., 3 70; Ringgold sab sch, Ills., 88 cts.; Garth sab-sch, Mich., 1 50; Eagle Mills sab-sch, Mich., 1 20; New Salem sab-sch, S. C., 5 cts.; Alcollee sab-sch, S. C., 15 cts.; Chester sab-sch, S. C., 13 cts.; C. F. Mc'ampbell, Ia., 50 cts.; Games and Munday sab-sch, Mich., 1 25; Pickford sab-sch, Mich., 1 75; J. W. Rawson, Mo., 2; Mission schools, Olympia, 6 56; Ocean Park sab sch, 1 15; Chas Shephard, Wash., 1 10; H. B. Wilson, Ga., 74 cts.; Ebenezer sab-sch, Fla., 4; Ardmore sab-sch, Dak., 2; L. P. Berry, N. C., 1 51; W. H. Long, N. C., 1 6; Little Rock sab-sch, Ark., 75 cts.; Gresham Grove sab-sch, Ark., 30 cts.; Audubon sab-sch, Iowa, 30 cents; Webster Co. sab-sch, Minn., 1 67; Bennett sab-sch, Penna., 13 14; Arupriet sab-sch, Ontario, 6 25; W. D. Brandon, Butler, Pa., 10; Clyde sab-sch, N. Y., 6 05; Havre sab-sch, Mont., 2 65; Evanston sab-sch, Wyo., 4 45; White Lake Gr. sab-sch, N. Y., 5; Idlewood sab-sch, Penna., 6; Phillipsburg Mission, N. J., 5 25; Elizabeth Mission, N. J., 10 50; Providence sab-sch, Minneapolis, 3 90; C. M. Thomas, Ind., 2 50; Jackson Grove sab-sch, N. C., 2 6; Benden sab sch, Ind., 3 50; Neville Island sab sch, Pa., 11; Lakeport sab-sch, N. Y., 2; Doldgeville sab sch, N. Y., 5; Gravois Mission, Mo., 12 50; Aredale sab-sch, Iowa, 4 10; Lewis sab-sch, Iowa, 7 40; Chicago Cuyler sab-sch, Ills., 3; Madison sab-sch, N. C., 50 cts.; Benson Chapel sab-sch, S. C., 1 43; East Franklin sab-sch, Pa., 1 25; Summit Mines sab-sch, Pa., 4; Irving Avenue sab-sch, Bridgeton, N. J., 3 25; Adaville sab-sch, Iowa, 3 56; Blendon Mission, Ohio, 1 95; Mack sab-sch, Wyoming, 5 22; Arago sab-sch, Neb., 5; Carlisle sab-sch, S. C., 2 25; Shopton sab-sch, N. C., 4 90; Miss H. S. Swezey, N. Y., 60 cts.; "C. Penna." 1; A minister's tithe, 24 cts.; Martinsville sab-sch, Va., 2; Los Animis Missions, Col., 2 25; La Crosse Westminster Chapel, 1 37; Rev. W. S. Tarbet and wife, 60 cts. $ 475 6

Total contributions from Churches..... $ 5,065 11
Total contributions from Sabbath-schools..... 14 98

Total contributions during July, 1894..... $20.57 5
Amount previously acknowledged..... 42.78 4

Total contributions since April 2d, 1894..... $63.35 9

C. T. McMILLIN, Treasurer,
1334 Chestnut St., Phila. Pa.

Officers and Agencies of the General Assembly.

THE CLERKS.

Stated Clerk and Treasurer—Rev. William H. Roberts, D. D., No. 1334 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.
Permanent Clerk—Rev. William E. Moore, D. D., Columbus, O.

THE TRUSTEES.

President—George Junkin, Esq.
Treasurer—Frank K. Hipple, 1340 Chestnut Street.
Recording Secretary—Jacob Wilson.
OFFICE—Publication House, No. 1334 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

THE BOARDS.

1. HOME MISSIONS, SUSTENTATION.

Corresponding Secretaries—Rev. William C. Roberts, D. D., and Rev. Duncan J. McMillan, D. D.
Treasurer—Oliver D. Eaton.
Recording Secretary—Oscar E. Boyd.

OFFICE—Presbyterian House, No. 53 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y.

Letters relating to missionary appointments and other operations of the Board should be addressed to the Corresponding Secretaries.

Letters relating to the financial affairs of the Board, containing remittances of money or requests for reduced railroad rates, should be addressed to Mr. O. D. EATON, Treasurer.

Applications for aid from churches should be addressed to Mr. O. E. BOYD, Recording Secretary.

Applications of Teachers, and letters relating to the School Department, should be addressed to Rev. G. F. MCAFEE, Superintendent.

Correspondence of Young People's Societies and Sabbath-schools should be addressed to Rev. Thornton B. Penfield.

2. FOREIGN MISSIONS.

Secretary Emeritus—Rev. John C. Lowrie, D. D.

Corresponding Secretaries—Rev. Frank F. Ellinwood, D. D., Rev. John Gillespie, D. D., and Mr.

Robert E. Speer. Recording Secretary—Rev. Benjamin Labaree, D. D.

Treasurer—William Dulles, Jr., Esq.

Field Secretary—Rev. Thomas Marshall, D. D., 48 McCormick Block, Chicago, Ill.

OFFICE—Presbyterian House, No. 53 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y.

Letters relating to the missions or other operations of the Board should be addressed to the Secretaries. Letters relating to the pecuniary affairs of the Board, or containing remittances of money, should be sent to William Dulles, Jr., Esq., Treasurer.

Certificates of honorary membership are given on receipt of $30, and of honorary directorship on receipt of $100.

Persons sending packages for shipment to missionaries should state the contents and value. There are no specified days for shipping goods. Send packages to the Mission House as soon as they are ready. Address the Treasurer of the Board of Foreign Missions, No. 53 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y.

The postage on letters to all our mission stations, except those in Mexico, is 5 cents per each half ounce or fraction thereof. Mexico, 2 cents per half ounce.

3. EDUCATION.

Corresponding Secretary—Rev. Edward B. Hodge, D. D.

Treasurer—Jacob Wilson.

OFFICE—Publication House, No. 1334 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

4. PUBLICATION AND SABBATH-SCHOOL WORK.

Secretary—Rev. Elijah R. Craven, D. D.

Superintendent of Sabbath-school and Missionary Work—Rev. James A. Worden, D. D.

Editorial Superintendent—Rev. J. R. Miller, D. D.

Business Superintendent—John H. Scribner.

Manufacturer—Henry F. Scheetz.

Treasurer—Rev. C. T. McMullin.

PUBLICATION HOUSE—No. 1334 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Letters relative to the general interests of the Board, also all manuscripts offered for publication and communications relative thereto, excepting those for Sabbath-school Library books and the periodicals, should be addressed to the Rev. E. R. CRAVEN, D. D., Secretary.

All applications for grants whether of books, periodicals or Lesson Helps, and also all letters relating to Sabbath-school and Missionary work, the appointment of Sabbath-school missionaries, to the Rev. JAMES A. WORDEN, D. D., Superintendent of Sabbath-school and Missionary Work.

All manuscripts for Sabbath-school Library books, also all matter offered for the WESTMINSTER TEACHER and the other periodicals, and all letters concerning the same, to the Rev. J. R. MILLER, D. D., Editorial Superintendent.

Business correspondence and orders for books and periodicals, except from Sabbath-school missionaries to JOHN H. SCRIBNER, Business Superintendent.

Remittances of money and contributions to the Rev. C. T. McMULLIN, Treasurer.

5. CHURCH ERECTION.

Corresponding Secretary—Rev. Erskine N. White, D. D.

Treasurer—Adam Campbell.

OFFICE—Presbyterian House, No. 53 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y.

6. MINISTERIAL RELIEF.

Corresponding Secretary—Rev. William C. Cattell, D. D.
Recording Secretary and Treasurer—Rev. William W. Heberton.
OFFICE—Publication House, 1334 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

7. FREEDMEN.

President—Rev. Henry T. McClelland, D. D.
Vice-President—Rev. David S. Kennedy.
Recording Secretary—Rev. Samuel J. Fisher, D. D.
Corresponding Secretary—Rev. Edward P. Cowan, D. D.
Treasurer—Rev. John J. Beacom, D. D.
OFFICE—516 Market Street, Pittsburgh, Pa.
Field Secretary—Rev. Henry N. Payne, D. D., Atlanta, Ga.

8. AID FOR COLLEGES AND ACADEMIES.

Corresponding Secretary—Rev. Edward C. Ray, D. D.
Treasurer—Charles M. Charnley, P. O. Box 294, Chicago, Ill.
OFFICE—Room 23, Montauk Block, No. 115 Monroe Street, Chicago, Ill.

PERMANENT COMMITTEES.

COMMITTEE ON SYSTEMATIC BENEFICENCE.

Chairman—Rev. Rufus S. Green, D. D., Elmira College, Elmira, N. Y.
Secretary—Kiliaen Van Rensselaer, 56 Wall Street, New York, N. Y.

COMMITTEE ON TEMPERANCE.

Chairman—Rev. John J. Beacom, 516 Market Street, Pittsburgh, Pa.
Corresponding Secretary—Rev. John F. Hill, Pittsburgh, Pa.
Recording Secretary—Rev. Joseph B. Turner, Glenshaw, Pa.
Treasurer—Rev. James Allison, D. D., Pittsburgh, Pa.

PRESBYTERIAN HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

President—Rev. W. C. Cattell, D. D., Philadelphia.
Corresponding Secretary—Rev. W. L. Ledwith.
Treasurer—DeB. K. Ludwig, 3800 Locust Street, Philadelphia.
Library and Museum—1229 Race Street, Philadelphia.

TREASURERS OF SYNODICAL HOME MISSIONS AND SUSTENTATION.

New Jersey—Elmer Ewing Green, P. O. Box 133, Trenton, N. J.
New York—O. D. Eaton, 53 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y.
Pennsylvania—Frank K. Hipple, 1340 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.
Baltimore—D. C. Amidon, 31 South Frederick Street, Baltimore, Md.

BEQUESTS OR DEVISES.

In the preparation of Wills care should be taken to insert the Corporate Name, as known and recognized in the Courts of Law. Requests or Devises for the General Assembly should be made to "The Trustees of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America."

Board of Home Missions,—to "The Board of Home Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America, incorporated April 19, 1872, by Act of the Legislature of the State of New York."

Board of Foreign Missions,—to "The Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America."

Board of Church Erection,—to "The Board of Church Erection Fund of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America, incorporated March 27, 1871, by the Legislature of the State of New York."

Board of Publication and Sabbath-school Work,—to "The Trustees of the Presbyterian Board of Publication and Sabbath-school Work."

Board of Education,—to "The Board of Education of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America."

Board of Relief,—to "The Presbyterian Board of Relief for Disabled Ministers and the Widows and Orphans of Deceased Ministers."

Board of Freedmen,—to "The Board of Missions for Freedmen of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America."

Board of Aids for Colleges,—to "The Presbyterian Board of Aid for Colleges and Academies."

Sustentation is not incorporated. Bequests or Devises intended for this object should be made to "The Board of Home Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America, incorporated April 19, 1872, by Act of the Legislature of the State of New York, for Sustentation."

N. B.—Real Estate devised by will should be carefully described.

XVI.

NOVEMBER, 1894.

No. 95.

THE CHURCH T HOME AND ABROAD

PUBLISHED MONTHLY BY ORDER OF THE
GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
IN THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

HENRY A. NELSON, D.D., EDITOR.

EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENTS.

Home Missions,

D. J. McMILLAN, D.D.

Foreign Missions,

JAMES S. DENNIS, D.D.

Ministerial Education,

EDWARD B. HODGE, D.D.

Publication and S. S. Work,

ELIJAH R. CRAVEN, D. D.

Church Erection,

ERSKINE N. WHITE, D.D.

Ministerial Relief,

WILLIAM C. CATTELL, D.D.

Missions to Freedmen,

EDWARD P. COWAN, D.D.

Colleges and Academies

EDWARD C. RAY, D.D.

BUSINESS SUPERINTENDENT,

JOHN H. SCRIBNER.

Remittances by Draft or Postal Order, and all business correspondence, should be addressed to the Business Superintendent—not to the Editor.

PRESBYTERIAN BOARD OF PUBLICATION AND SABBATH-SCHOOL WORK

1334 CHESTNUT STREET, PHILADELPHIA, PA.

When answering an advertisement, our readers will help the magazine and the advertiser by sending to CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD. For advertising space, address RICHARD S. DEXY, 47 Bible House, Fourth Ave., N. Y.

LINCOLN UNIVERSITY.

It receives students this year in two Departments only, Collegiate and Theological. The studies pursued in these are given in the annual catalogue.

For this and fuller information address one or other of the Secretaries, REV. EDWARD WEBB, or REV. W. P. WHITE.

The College and Theological Professors, ten in number, are provided for, (insufficiently indeed), by endowments. We make no appeal for them.

But provision must be made for the students, now numbering over two hundred. For each of these one hundred and thirty dollars a year ($130), or its equivalent, the interest of a permanent endowment of $2,000 or $2,500. Without this help we can make no progress; we shall be forced to cut down the work.

In making bequests note that our corporate title is "LINCOLN UNIVERSITY" in Chester County, Pennsylvania.

Gifts may be remitted to either of the Secretaries.

EDWARD WEBB, Fin'l Sec., L. U.,

Oxford, Chester County, Pa.

BIDDLE UNIVERSITY

Includes four schools:

SCHOOL OF THEOLOGY,

SCHOOL OF ARTS,

PREPARATORY and NORMAL SCHOOL, and SCHOOL OF INDUSTRIES.

Opens 1st Wednesday of October and closes 1st Wednesday of June, annually.

Total enrollment 280, exclusively males. There are 11 professors, 3 laymen and 8 ministers.

Located amid the colored people, for whose special benefit it was founded.

The annual income ($100) of a $1500 scholarship will support a student. This sort of help is most urgently needed.

Title to all property vested in the Freedmen's Board for the Presbyterian Church. Legal name "Biddle University," at Charlotte, N. C.

The last General Assembly recommended an endowment of $400,000.

Catalogue and information furnished promptly.

D. J. SANDERS, President.

Maryville College

1. Founded by Maryville College. 2. Maryville College. 3. Maryville College. 4. Maryville College. 5. Maryville College. 6. Maryville College. 7. Maryville College. 8. Maryville College. 9. Maryville College. 10. Maryville College. 11. Maryville College. 12. Maryville College. 13. Maryville College. 14. Maryville College. 15. Maryville College. 16. Maryville College. 17. Maryville College. 18. Maryville College. 19. Maryville College. 20. Maryville College. 21. Maryville College. 22. Maryville College. 23. Maryville College. 24. Maryville College. 25. Maryville College. 26. Maryville College. 27. Maryville College. 28. Maryville College. 29. Maryville College. 30. Maryville College. 31. Maryville College. 32. Maryville College. 33. Maryville College. 34. Maryville College. 35. Maryville College. 36. Maryville College. 37. Maryville College. 38. Maryville College. 39. Maryville College. 40. Maryville College. 41. Maryville College. 42. Maryville College. 43. Maryville College. 44. Maryville College. 45. Maryville College. 46. Maryville College. 47. Maryville College. 48. Maryville College. 49. Maryville College. 50. Maryville College. 51. Maryville College. 52. Maryville College. 53. Maryville College. 54. Maryville College. 55. Maryville College. 56. Maryville College. 57. Maryville College. 58. Maryville College. 59. Maryville College. 60. Maryville College. 61. Maryville College. 62. Maryville College. 63. Maryville College. 64. Maryville College. 65. Maryville College. 66. Maryville College. 67. Maryville College. 68. Maryville College. 69. Maryville College. 70. Maryville College. 71. Maryville College. 72. Maryville College. 73. Maryville College. 74. Maryville College. 75. Maryville College. 76. Maryville College. 77. Maryville College. 78. Maryville College. 79. Maryville College. 80. Maryville College. 81. Maryville College. 82. Maryville College. 83. Maryville College. 84. Maryville College. 85. Maryville College. 86. Maryville College. 87. Maryville College. 88. Maryville College. 89. Maryville College. 90. Maryville College. 91. Maryville College. 92. Maryville College. 93. Maryville College. 94. Maryville College. 95. Maryville College. 96. Maryville College. 97. Maryville College. 98. Maryville College. 99. Maryville College. 100. Maryville College.

paratory Department. 7. Special advantages: Biblical Drill, Literary Societies, Library of 10,000 volumes. Business Department with personal charge. Vocal Music free. Instrumental Music, Painting and Drawing at low rates. Athletics, and strong religious influence. 8. Three hundred students, male and female. 9. Endowment of $175,000 renders expenses very low. Tuition, $5 per term. Room rent, $1. Text-books, Board at cost, about $1.25 per week. Total expense for year, $60 in $175. 20. Two terms. Next session opens Sept. 5. For catalogues apply to Prof. SAMUEL T. WILSON, Registrar, Maryville, East Tennessee.

SCOTIA SEMINARY.

A High School for colored girls under the care of the Board for Freedmen and the Women's Ex. Committee for Home Missions of the Presbyterian Church. Incorporated under the laws of North Carolina. Legal name, "The Scotia Seminary," Concord, N. C. The final title to all property is vested by the charter in the Board for Freedmen.

Donations solicited to a permanent fund which will provide for the salaries of the teachers and supply scholarships and thus relieve the treasury of the Board.

D. J. SATTERFIELD, President.

PENNSYLVANIA, Chambersburg.

WILSON COLLEGE FOR YOUNG WOMEN.

Fifty miles southwest of Harrisburg, in famous Conberland Valley. Border climate, avoiding bleak north. $250 per year for board, room, etc., and all College Studies. Handsome Park, Large Buildings, Steam Heat, Gymnasium, Observatory, Laboratory, etc. Endorsed by Pennsylvania Synod, Baltimore Synod and Presbytery, Presbytery of Carlisle, etc.

NEW JERSEY, Lawrenceville.

LAWRENCEVILLE SCHOOL.

JOHN C. GREEN, FOUNDATION.

Capacity of School 300.

Early application for admission is advisable.

For catalogue and information, address

Rev. James C. Mackenzie, Th. D.

RESTFUL READING

Big books or little books held in just the right place, at just the right angle—lying down or sitting up. Dictionary handy—touch of a finger brings it before you. saves you the trouble of laying aside your book and getting up to look up meaning or pronunciation of a word. Backs for several other books—just for the lamp—resting table too if you like.

A silent but delightful companion and educator for the home or office. Thousands in use and in almost every country. More testimonials than we can print. Illustrated catalogue free. We also make holders for Webster's The Standard and Century dictionaries.

HOLLOWAY READING STAND, Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio.

THE CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD.

NOVEMBER, 1894.

CONTENTS

A Look at Christ,	375
The Assembly Herald,	376
Year Book for Foreign Missions,	376
That Worn-out Field, Rev. C. B. Taylor ,	376
That Neglected Class, By One Of Them ,	378
What Ministerial Relief Means, Rev. Albert B. Robinson ,	380
A Red-letter Day, A. A. Brown ,	380
Appeal from Women's Executive Committee of Home Missions,	384

FOREIGN MISSIONS.

Notes. —War in Korea—Dr. Good's Explorations in Africa—Farewell Meeting of Missionaries—Death of Miss Hesser—Death of Rev. Dr. C. W. Forman,	385-388
Concert of Prayer. —Missions in South America—Notes on the same—The New Brazil, H. M. Lane, D. D. , (page 395)—Tour in Sergipe, Rev. George W. Chamberlain , (page 398)—Our Mission in Colombia, Rev. T. H. Candor , (page 402)—Instituto Internacional, Rev. J. M. Allis, D. D. , (page 404)—Education in Brazil; Its Relation to Protestantism, H. M. Lane, D. D. , (page 406),	389-406

HOME MISSIONS.

Notes. —The Penitentes—Church at Fort Wrangel, Alaska—Picture of Synodical Superintendents—General Assembly on Home Missions,	409-410
The Utah Situation, Rev. J. A. L. Smith ,	410-411
Concert of Prayer. —The Mexicans—A Pauline Journey, Rev. W. Williams ,	412-414
Letters. —Colorado, Rev. W. Wittenberger , Rev. E. P. Baker —Florida, Rev. John F. Sundell —Minnesota, Rev. F. L. Fraser , Rev. J. B. Freeman —Missouri, Rev. Philip Grilli —Nebraska, Rev. T. L. Sexton , Rev. Vaclav Losa —New Mexico, Miss Kate Scott —Oregon, Rev. W. C. Forbes ,	417-420
Home Mission Appointments,	420

COLLEGES AND ACADEMIES.—Hastings College,	421-428
CHURCH ERECTION.—Plan for Manse Building—Mrs. C. E. Coulter's Letter to Women of the Church—Must We Close the Schools?	428-425
PUBLICATION AND SABBATH-SCHOOL WORK.—Story of a Church—The New Hymnal—Forest Fires in North-west—Clothing for Frontier—Striking Results—Hope of the Church,	426-429
EDUCATION.—Heidelberg University—What Will the Churches Do?—College and Seminary Notes,	430-438
THOUGHTS ON THE SABBATH-SCHOOL LESSONS,	434-435
Recent Efforts to Reform Our Marriage Laws,	436
Treasure Laid Up in Heaven,	437
Tree Known by Fruit,	437
YOUNG PEOPLE'S CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.—In Harvest Time—Mutual Confidence—One Way to Learn the Lesson,	439-444
CHILDREN'S CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD.—Boston Printer's Boy—Loving Act of a Dog—Dying Boy Giving His Money "To Tell Little Children of Jesus,"	444-446
GLEANINGS AT HOME AND ABROAD,	447-450
SUGGESTIVE HINTS FOR STUDY—	451-452
"WORTH READING" AND MINISTERIAL NECROLOGY,	452-454

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY'S COMMITTEE

JOHN S. MACINTOSH, D. D., CHAIRMAN
2021 Delancey Place, Philadelphia, Pa.

CHARLES A. DICKEY, D. D.,
ANSON D. F. RANDOLPH, Esq.
WARNER VAN NORDEN, Esq.
HON. ROBERT N. WILLSON
JOHN H. DEV, Esq.

STEALY B. ROSSITER, D. D.
REV. HENRY T. MCEWEN
STEPHEN W. DANA, D. D.
CHARLES L. THOMPSON, D. D.
F. F. ELLINWOOD, D. D.

WILLIAM C. ROBERTS, D. D.

9TH YEAR 1895

OF THE CHURCH AT HOME

ABROAD

The General Assembly of 1894 received the report of its Committee with emphatic approbation of its plans. Those plans we are steadily pushing to fulfillment.

The Editorial Correspondents representing the several BOARDS of our CHURCH are awake and alert for the enriching of their several departments and beautifying them with Pictorial Illustration.

Rev. Albert B. Robinson will continue his acceptable work, with unabated diligence and greatly increased facilities. From the wide field of missionary, church, and general current literature, he gathers choice facts, thoughts and opinions, and presents them with a terseness and vividness which bring to us, in our daily correspondence, emphatic commendation. His Suggestive Hints for Study have awakened no ordinary interest. The increasing call for these shows wide and cordial approval. Mr. Robinson has become a resident of Philadelphia and now devotes his whole time and strength to the work and the interests of the CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD.

To all Sessions, Sabbath-Schools, Young People's Societies, Mission Bands, and all Christian Workers he is heartily commended. In various ways they are going to hear from him. His address is 1334 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia.

THE ASSEMBLY HERALD. The General Assembly of 1894 established this additional agency for the promotion of intelligent interest in the work of the Church as administered by its several Boards, in cordial co-operation with THE CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD. Rev. Messrs. Green and Hubbard, its editors, are conducting it with remarkable skill and energy, and are meeting the most abundant encouragement. Issuing now 100,000 copies, and the number constantly increasing, there seems to be no reason why they should not at no distant date, reach every family in the Church. The Assembly Herald is cordially welcomed by THE CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD, as a true yoke-fellow in our common work.

THE CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD.

NOVEMBER, 1894.

A LOOK AT CHRIST.

He who to the unbeliever's eye "hath no form nor comeliness nor any beauty that one should desire him," to us, who believe, is "chief among ten thousand and altogether lovely." To the eye of faith his beauties are unveiled, "the beauties of holiness." These are imperceptible to eyes dazzled with the deceitful splendors of worldliness, or besotted by sensuality, or darkened by the amaurosis of sin.

To the eye of grateful love, the visage, marred by sorrow, the form bowed in anguish, and the hands pierced and bloody, have not lost their loveliness. Nay, it is unspeakably enhanced by all these expressive tokens: for that is ever the highest, truest beauty, through which there beams the most pure and fervent love.

Nor is only the look of anguish visible in that countenance. Even when the lamps of Pilate's judgment hall threw their dim light upon it, the stern Roman quailed at its expression of majesty—the majesty not only of conscious innocence, but of conscious power. There was no shrinking timidity in his look, no tremor of uncertainty in his voice when he said, "Hereafter shall ye see the Son of man sitting on the right hand of power, and coming in the clouds of heaven." There was doubtless, a figure and countenance, in beauty "surpassing the sons of men,"

But not as he then was, bound and buffeted, do we now behold him. Affectionately and gratefully remembering him as he then meekly suffered for us, we look upon him as he now gloriously reigns. We do indeed "behold the Lamb of God," but not as John at Jordan saw him, a lamb to be led dumb and unresisting to slaughter—but as the other John, on Patmos, saw him, "a lamb as it had been slain, having seven horns"—the sacred emblem of power—"and seven eyes, which are the seven spirits of God, sent forth into all the earth." In this latter day, when the prophecies are ripening, we behold him, preparing "to take unto himself his great power." In this day of his power—this day of our merciful visitation—this day of his favor to Zion—we behold him in the beauties of holiness, in the dew of his youth, evermore fresh and unfading as the morn.

"Behold the man," not now bowed under the heavy timber on which they are going to crucify him, but highly exalted, bearing a name that is above every name, and clothed in majesty whereunto every creature in heaven and earth shall bow the knee.

And while we thus behold him, let the grateful recollection come, "He liveth—but was dead." "He was slain for us," and in his blood we have washed our robes, and made them white. Have we washed them?

Does he see any stains upon them? Ah! we need also the consoling recollection, that the fountain is still open—we may still wash in the healing, purifying flood.

But we have that consolation, and fully accepting it, how it strengthens us in his service! We can do all things through Christ who strengtheneth us."

THE ASSEMBLY HERALD made its appearance promptly (October 1,) in its third issue. Each number seems to us an improvement on its predecessor. Editors, contributors, printers, all have done their work well, and the handsome readable pages are full of valuable facts, figures and lucid statements tersely and strikingly presented. The enterprise is progressing most hopefully.

THE SUPPLEMENT to the October number is an exceedingly attractive and impressive presentation of the work of the women of our Church, conducted by their Executive Committee of Home Missions. Prominent in this is the Responsive Scripture Service for the Sabbath before Thanksgiving Day, the day recommended by the General Assembly for Sabbath-school contributions for the educational work of the Board of Home Missions.

YEAR BOOK OF FOREIGN MISSIONS.—This is a continuation of a Foreign Missionary Calendar of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Boards have prepared for 1895 a Year Book, which may be obtained at the headquarters of either of these Boards. Price 10 cents. It presents as subjects for prayerful remembrance the successive days of the year, the names of our missionaries, with a brief statement of the work at the various stations and appropriate selections of Scripture. More comprehensive than a calendar, it is intended for the same purpose, "to unite those who love the Lord and are watching for His coming to all nations, in a great circle of prayer, extended round the earth and reaching up to the throne on high."

We commend it heartily for use in private and at the family altar.

THAT WORN-OUT COUNTRY FIELD.

REV. CHARLES B. TAYLOR.

[A letter from an experienced pastor to a theological student]

My Dear T:—Your letter lies before me. In it you say, "No worn-out country field for me." May I ask you to think over the matter once more and let me aid your thoughts a little. I am convinced that you and your fellow students are making a mistake in not recognizing the advantages and the possibilities for good in such fields as the one which you thus reject.

Let me in reply give you the other side.

1. You say that there are ten thousand souls to reach in the city where there are only a few hundreds in the country and you argue that the chances for accomplishing good are in proportion to the numbers among whom you live.

But, my brother you can reach the hundreds in the country far more easily than the thousands in the city. If you go to that country church you will find it full every Sabbath morning. Your audience will be about twice as large as the average congregation at the ——— Street mission which you think of taking.

The country people are a church-going people. They have no theatres, no fashionable concerts, and but few lectures. The great break in the monotony of their lives is their church-going. They look forward to it with eagerness. They expect to find all their friends and neighbors there and to grasp many a kindly hand at the church door.

They expect to join heartily in the singing and they listen earnestly to the preaching. Their meagre opportunities in other directions drive them to the church and the sermon not only for their spiritual food but for their intellectual stimulus.

If you go there, in a short time every member of the community will know you and be interested in you.

Will not your influence count for more in a small community where the large majority come to hear you, know you, and believe in you, than in a large crowd who will not come to hear you and among whom you walk as a comparative stranger in whom they have no special interest?

2. You say that you feel the need of a spur to intellectual exertion; that you want to be crowded into doing your very best work as a preacher, and that since those country people will put up with almost anything you fear that you would "dry up and fossilize" there.

Brother, if you think it an easy task to satisfy the hunger of a country congregation for good preaching, you need to be disabused of that impression as quickly as possible. "Lay not that flattering unction to your soul."

That "worn-out field" is full of the keenest critics of preaching, and they know what good preaching is. They are specialists in that line.

You go down there and preach and then go home to dinner with old Elder Mc——. He will say to you: "Yes; I was interested in your discourse this morning. I heard Dr. Plumer preach from that text once at a communion season at Miller's Run Church in Pennsylvania."

And then he will give you Dr. Plumer's outline. He will quote from memory the simple, massive argument and the spiritual application of that wonderful sermon, and by the time he is through you will wonder that people who have heard such preaching will listen to your poor little sermon so patiently.

3. You say, the salary is so small that you cannot afford to go to such a field.

Brother, the —— Street Mission will pay you a thousand dollars a year and the country field will pay you seven hundred.

If you try it, you will find that you and your wife, that is to be, will find it difficult to make ends meet on the $1,000 while you can live comfortably, increase your library, pay your life insurance, give your tithe, and have some money left out of the $700.

Your rent, fuel, and clothing will cost you less in the country than in the town. The country people will not be particular about the cut of your coat provided your sermons are good, and no inconsiderable part of your food will grow in your own garden, or be quietly left at your door by parishioners who love to have the parsonage family know that they remember them.

I remember when my father left his country church where he was getting $650 and went to Cincinnati on a salary of $1,200, and I remember his surprise when he found that while he had lived comfortably on $650 he had great difficulty in living on the $1,200.

He stayed in the city two years and then went back to his old people, and lived happily with them "until death did them part."

Twenty-five years of experience and observation have convinced me that so far as comfortable home life and freedom from financial embarrassment are concerned, the average country pastor has the advantage of his city brother.

4. You say, "The field has been depleted by emigration till the pluck and the energy are gone out of it and that there is no chance there to build up a large, strong church."

Well, there is an element of truth in what you say. A great deal of "pluck and energy" have gone out of that church. One of its young girls is exhibiting her pluck and energy as a trained nurse in a city hospital; one of its plucky boys is a minister in Northern Dakota; one is an elder in Dr. M's church in the city of ——; one is the Sabbath-school superintendent in the second church, ——; and many more born and trained in that "worn-out field" are scattered throughout the west doing good work for the Master. Those who see them "take knowledge of them that they have been with Jesus."

And now, brother, does it not occur to you that a soil so fruitful in Christian "pluck and energy" ought to be tilled? Is it not a blessed work to train such workers for the towns and the west?

I own that the emigration is still going on. It is true that if you go there a pang will come to your heart every now and then as your brightest and best boys and girls leave you to work for Christ elsewhere. But after a while you will find a bright side even to this experience. You will learn to rejoice as you hear of the good which your spiritual children are doing in other places. You will learn the blessedness of sowing for others to reap. You will find a new meaning to the Savior's words, "It is more blessed to give than to receive."

Neither is the material exhausted. You will find plenty of work, and souls to win in these old fields.

A minister of my acquaintance took such a field a few years ago, and is still pastor upon it. When he went there it was said to him: "All a man can do there is to keep the people together, as there is no material to work on."

Within five years he received one hundred and fifteen members on profession of faith. He has eighty members in his Christian Endeavor societies, three-fourths of whom came in under his ministry.

Do you think that he regrets his course?

Brother, it stirs my heart to see these old neglected fields pastorless. The sheep are scattered upon the mountains because there is no shepherd. Would that I could lift my voice till every minister and theological student could hear me tell that there are blessed harvests to reap in these old, forsaken fields. There are Christ's sheep to be guided and fed, there are wanderers to be brought into the fold, there are eager, appreciative listeners to the truth and, as I believe, the happiest pastorates in Christendom are in these old country churches. When I am sick, let such kindly neighbors be my visitors. When I die, let such a congregation follow me to my grave, and when the resurrection morn comes let me rise in company with the dead in Christ, who shall come up from the old cemetery of such a church as that of which you speak so lightly.

THAT NEGLECTED CLASS.

BY ONE OF THEM.

That article in the October number, about A Neglected Class, took right hold of me, for that is the very class that I belong to. I am nothing but a man. I do not wonder that Mr. Chalfant, home from China to spend a few months in "contact with the home churches," is impressed by some things which he finds—things that have been growing more and more so ever since he went away. He finds "Women's Societies and Young People's Societies and Boys' Societies and Girls' Societies, but no Men's Societies," and he seems to find "the regular channels" a good deal like the regular channels of rivers, from which most of the water has been drawn off in canals for navigation or for irrigation.

I am glad that this subject has been opened by our missionary brother. I have been feeling it in my bones a good while, a good deal as one feels the rheumatism in chilly and damp weather. I am a little puzzled though with the "diagnosis" of it, as the doctors say. I believe they call it that when they are trying to find out what ails us. Besides feeling our pulse and making us show our tongues, and looking sharp into our eyes, and thumping us on the back and sides, and putting their ears to our chests, listening to our breath—besides all these, they generally ask us a lot of questions. Now I'm not much at the thumping and all that, but I would like to ask the patient a few questions. By the patient I mean anybody who is patient enough to read my questions, and try to answer them. If it should be Brother Chalfant himself, I shall be right glad to hear from him. I am in full sympathy with him, and, I am sure, he would be as glad as I would, to at the diagnosis (that is, as I understand it, the what's the matter) of this case.

My questions—some of them—have bothered me for several years, whenever I have read the treasurers' reports and other financial statements of the Boards. They give the items very clear that make up their totals. Something this way, their statements run: Receipts from churches, so many dollars; from Women's Boards, so many; from Sabbath-schools, so many; from Y. P. S. C. E., so many; Legacies, so many; Miscellaneous, so many.

QUESTIONS.

1. If we should now organize the "neglected class" into "Men's Societies," and all their contributions should then be set down under that head, what would be the effect on "the regular channels?" Wouldn't they be left, like the bones in Ezekiel's vision, very dry?

2. In that case, would not the most convenient way to tabulate the Receipts be to just change the heading of the first column from Churches to Men's Boards?

3. Then, might not the footings of all the columns be added together, and the total be set down to the churches? For

4. Are not all the women and all the Sunday-schools and all the Y. P. C. E. Societies in the churches—"part and parcel of them"—precious part and parcel? And the Legacies and Miscellaneous—how much of all them comes from out-side of the churches?

5. If it is at all desirable to compare us men, the neglected class, with the dear other classes that we men never mean to neglect, is there any way of finding out how much of the amount set down to the "churches" is given by women? In the church that I attend I happen to know that of all that goes into the plates, more than half is put in by one woman.

6. Is it any more possible to find out how much of the money set down to "Women's Boards" is put in by masculine fingers? I'm not meaning any of that old talk about the women giving only what their husbands have earned. I have no sympathy and not much patience with that mean nonsense. I know well enough that of all that ever we earned—my wife and I—fully one half was earned by her; may be more. Her name was not in the contracts, and the wages were always paid to me, and the rent and the grocers' bills and taxes all went in my name. But was not my name her name? And would I ever have earned half of that money if she had not kept and cared for the home and the children and me? No, I'm not meaning that what women give is not their own—not a bit of that. I never spoke or thought of the money as mine, but ours—same as the house.

But I've seen a man go often, a little slyly, to a box kept in the church lobby, and labeled "Woman's Missionary Society," and drop in some money—I don't know how much—and I've wondered whether other men do not thus like to "help those women." Some of them, I am sure, love to do such things in memory of women who have gone from their homes, and with whom they hope by and by to "keep house in the house not made with hands." You can't tell the women's and the men's contributions apart, if you try. And what would be the good of it if you could?

In the very start of the world, it was declared "not good" for the man "to be alone." I don't believe it would have been any better for the woman to be alone, if she had been made first out of the clay. She would willingly have given two of her ribs, if needed, to make a man of. I am sure that in this age as in the first—in the church as in Eden—it is not good for either woman or man to be alone, and my last question for Brother Chalfant is:

7. In Church and Mission, is it well for women and men to work and be counted and accounted apart?

P. S.—May be, Brother Chalfant has already answered my last question; for on looking at his article again, I find these words in it:

"I do believe that the ideal method is to arouse such an enthusiasm upon the subject of missions in the local churches that no separate society will be needed."

WHAT MINISTERIAL RELIEF MEANS.

REV. A. B. ROBINSON.

It was my unexpected pleasure on a recent Lord's Day morning to listen to the honored Secretary of our Board of Ministerial Relief. His opening remark, that the Board he represents is less known than the other Boards of the Church, is sufficient reason for a brief report of this excellent address :

The Board of Ministerial Relief is less known than the other Boards of our Church, said Dr. Cattell, since for obvious reasons its work is out of sight. A delicate regard for the feelings of those to whom relief is granted forbids the publication of grateful letters which would certainly lead to more liberal giving. Then it is a fact that most ministers, lest they seem to plead a personal cause, hesitate to present the work of this Board. But to no one of the Boards do the people give more gladly and liberally when fully informed as to its aims, the method of its administration, and the grounds upon which it rests.

AIMS OF THE BOARD.

It does not aim to aid ministers, however great their need, who while in health are unable to secure "a call;" nor does it supplement the inadequate salary of a settled pastor—that is the work of Sustentation; neither does it aid those overtaken by Providential reverses. Its purpose is to aid ministers laid aside by protracted sickness or the infirmities of age from earning in any way a support for themselves and their families, and also to aid the widows and orphans of deceased ministers.

PRINCIPLES.

It is true, continued the Secretary, that appropriations are made only to ministers who are in need. No story of want and suffering comes with more tender pathos than that from the home of the disabled minister. It is the home of scholarly men and of refined, cultured women, where the husband and father, when in health and busy with the work he loved so well, could earn the daily bread for all in the manse and something to give to the poor.

The memory of other and happier days adds to the weariness and burden of the passing hour upon sick beds or in bare and comfortless homes.

But the Board of Ministerial Relief represents more than the sacred privilege and duty of the Church to care for Christ's poor. It stands for the sacred obligation of the Church to do justice! Remittances from the Board are not alms, they are not charity; they are but the payment of what is due from the Church to those who have spent their strength in her service.

For why, in their sickness and old age, are these ministers poor? These educated, scholarly men, some of whom have served the Church for half a century, have not been extravagant or even careless in their expenditures. No, they are poor for the Gospel's sake. From the money-making avocations of life they deliberately turned away when they chose the sacred calling of the ministry. Says one in a position to know the facts: "The salaries of most of our ministers are not more than enough for the needs of their families." Not only the minister's conscience, but public opinion as well, demands that he shall give himself wholly to his sacred calling, and not attempt to add to his small stipend by making money in any outside work. Is it any wonder that the sick or aged minister has been unable in many cases to lay by anything for his support? Were it not for the appropriation from this Board there would be sharp and bitter want in the homes of many of these honored servants of the Church.

In conclusion Dr. Cattell spoke of the letters he was constantly receiving, which brought the tears to his eyes and drew out all the sympathy of his heart, but were too sacred to be made public. "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren," said our Lord, "Ye have done it unto me." What is more like putting your gift into the outstretched hand of Christ?

"A RED-LETTER DAY."

Under this title we find in Indian Notes, (August, 1894), an interesting account of the opening of a new hospital at Miraj, signed A. A. Brown. We give below the principal parts of it:

The Fourth of July was a day of thanksgiving at Miraj. It was ushered in, not by ringing of bells and firing of national salutes, but by sound of mallet and chisel in the Mission compound.

The Chief of Miraj State did much to make the occasion a success, sending state flags to float gaily along the driveway, as well as flowers from the Government Garden, and carpets for platform and aisle. He also sent State carriages for the Sangli missionaries and the visitors from Kolhapur. The Municipal Secretary was on hand to render any assistance, and to designate order of seats for visitors of rank.

The two-story building is an object of wonderment to all the country round, where only mud huts are known to the average Hindu; and many cautious feet tread carefully the two outside spiral iron stairs which were made at Poona, and put up by workmen from that city. The first ascent is usually made with fear and trembling. We, so far removed from our own Western architecture, thought it quite homelike to mount the broad, easy steps of the inside central stairway.

When the town gong had struck four, and word came that the Chief's carriage had arrived, the little company from the bungalow crossed the compound to the hospital steps where a great crowd was waiting. Master Richard Goheen held in his hand a small box, from which the Chief took the key of the building, and in the moment's hush, turned the lock. As the doors opened, the Chief proceeded to unvell the tablet placed in the wall of the main hall, which commemorates the gift of Mr. John H. Converse, of Philadelphia, U. S. A., the donor of the building, and then led the way upstairs. There, the men's ward had been transformed into an assembly room, seated with chairs, and prettily decorated with flowers and palms. On the walls hung the Stars and Stripes, side-by-side with the British colors, and from the high oriole window waved the same emblems above the banners of the Native States. As Dr. Wanless and Chief Bala Sahab took their seats on the platform, the Missionaries were shown to chairs on the left, and the Natives to seats on the right of the long ward.

Among the guests were the Karbhari of Miraj and Sangli; the ex-Karbhari of Miraj, a man greatly loved by the people, and a warm friend of Dr. Wanless; two State doctors, judges, attorneys, the Prince of Kurandwad and other notables from adjacent towns. In a few moments the room was taxed to its utmost capacity and crowds filled both verandahs. Place was reserved for our Native Christians and for all who had worked on the building. Below, in the Hospital grounds, hundreds stood, while "puttawallahs" in dark blue coats and red belts guarded stairs and doorways. Of course no Native women are seen at any public gathering. It is a source of wonder to the Oriental how our ladies can calmly endure the gaze of so many eyes.

In beginning the exercises, Dr. Wanless handed to the Chief the box containing the key with these words: "It gives me great pleasure, your Highness, to present to you the key of this Hospital, trusting you will value it, not for its intrinsic worth, but as an expression of the good-will of our missionaries toward you and your subjects in whose interest this building has been erected. I now ask you to publicly announce what has virtually been done by you this afternoon." The Chief responded, "I declare the Hospital open." * * *

Although probably none of the high-caste Brahmans present would have attended a religious service in that or any other of our buildings, yet on this occasion they all heard, and in their own tongue, the simple Gospel of Christ from the lips of his minister. The exercises concluded with the dedicatory prayer offered by Rev. Mr. Goheen. Then the entire building was thrown open for inspection, after "pan supari" and attar had been distributed to all present.

It was truly a "day of days" for the Western India Mission. It means the granting of a great opportunity for reaching sin-sick souls; and we ask our helpers at home to join us in the prayer that from this day on, till the last stone in that beautiful structure shall crumble, the ministry to suffering bodies shall be subservient to that for which the Great Physician wrought, even the Salvation of souls.

From Rev. J. P. Graham's address we make extracts which will show our readers how faithfully and loyally this medical missionary enterprise is held to its high and holy purpose. After speaking of some who have worked in that mission, he said:

My purpose at this time is simply to make a statement of what we consider to be our work; for in reference to it we have nothing to conceal, and no desire to leave anyone under a false impression as to its nature and aim. The Christian people of the western nations who support us, and especially England and America are perfectly satisfied that they are in possession of a priceless treasure. It does not consist in gold and silver and precious stones; it is not the resources for trade and commerce, which it is admitted they have above those of all the rest of the world combined; it is not the knowledge, resulting from scientific investigation and its application to useful arts, that gives to the West its material progress; it is not the advancement in civil government that fosters enterprise, by securing to every man the profits of his own invention and labor; it is not the military prowess and naval supremacy, that has made England for centuries mistress of the sea and virtual arbiter of the destinies of more than half the human race. That which I speak of as our priceless treasure, has undoubtedly laid the foundations on which these mighty structures rest; it has provided the soil from which these fruitful vines have sprung; it has furnished the motive power that supplies the energy for these rapidly progressing developments; but it is in itself something very different from any one of these and more precious than them all together. Its true value is seen, not in these material benefits which come as indirect results to those who are in possession of this priceless treasure, but in the higher blessings it confers on man's spiritual nature. It has solved the mystery of existence; it has cleared away the darkness (or to borrow a term from Hindu philosophy, the "Maya") that hangs over the pathway of life in every land; it has revealed God and shown the relationship He holds to man in such clear light as to make the "Chief End of Man," the "Paramarth" of his existence, apparent and attainable to everyone who will sincerely and earnestly strive after it: it gives peace and hope and joy, true life to all who receive it. What is our precious treasure? I can tell you in a single word. It is the Gospel of our blessed Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ. Around the person and work of Christ the conflict of thought has been carried on for almost nineteen centuries in Europe; it is the conflict of the ages and must be fought out in every land; its beginning is felt in India and it will increase more and more as the years go by. We missionaries and those who support us have answered the question, "What think ye of Christ?" and count ourselves in the number of those to whom the Apostle addresses the words, "Unto you therefore which believe He is precious." Jesus Christ is precious to us because we do believe in Him. We believe (1) that He is the eternal God, the Creator of all things; and it is He therefore who made the world and all them that dwell therein. We believe (2) that without ceasing to be God he became man. Just such a man as we are, with the one exception that He was entirely without sin; and that the object of His Incarnation was the Salvation of lost men from the guilt, the power, and the pollution of sin. We believe (3) that He is to-day both God and man at the same time; that in virtue of His human nature and His own experience when in the world, He sympathises with all the trials and difficulties of men in every condition in life, and in virtue of His divine nature, He is able to save even unto the uttermost all who put their trust in Him. We believe (4) that to those who come to him with penitence he grants the forgiveness of all sin; that He makes those who come to Him in faith heirs of eternal life and gives to them a perfect title to an everlasting inheritance in heaven; and that in those who come to Him in hope He begets a new nature, fitting them to dwell with Him in the company of the holy angels and the spirits of just men made perfect. In a word we believe (5) that Jesus Christ is the Saviour of men and that apart from Him there is no Salvation either in this world or in the world to come. This is a brief summary of our faith in Christ; and to preach this faith is our work to which all other thing must be subordinated. I might mention as being among the things that are thus subordinated, that we have in all our stations and out-stations primary vernacular schools in which both secular and religious instruction is given: we have at Kolhapur a Boarding School for Christian girls, and at Sangli a similar boarding school for Christian boys, in connection with which there is a workshop for the industrial training of the pupils; and at Kolhapur we have an English High School, which is open to all of whatever class who may wish to attend. Dispensary work is carried on by properly qualified persons in three distinct places, and now from to-day we shall have this large and commodious Hospital which we hope will give prolonged life to many who without its benefits would not live out half their days, and renewed health to many more to whom life would otherwise prove a burden. * * *

We are glad that we can recommend Dr. Wanless to the confidence of the people of Miraj and the whole of our mission field, because we ourselves have confidence in his knowledge, judgment, skill, energy, and devotion to his work. And it is on these qualifications we depend for the success which we believe will, under the blessing of God, attend his efforts. We cannot appeal to the example of Christ as sanctioning this kind of mission work so far as the method is concerned, for Christ built no hospitals, opened no dispensaries and administered no medicine. But on the other hand we do appeal to this hospital as illustrating the spirit of Christian people who are trying to obey Christ's command to make known His Gospel in all the world. This hospital is an expression of good-will on the part of the Kolhapur Mission, of the American Presbyterian Church, and of the generous Christian gentleman who gave the funds for its erection, which we hope and believe the people of Miraj and the surrounding country will appreciate; and we hope it will help forward the day when they will appreciate the coming of Christ into this world as such an expression of God's love to mankind as to be worthy of that exalted praise, that once burst forth from a whole multitude of the heavenly hosts above the plains of Bethlehem, just after the birth of Christ had been announced, "Glory to God in the highest; on earth peace, good will toward men."

It isn't the thing you do, dear,
It's the thing you leave undone,
That gives you a bit of a heartache
At the setting of the sun.
The tender word forgotten;
The letter you did not write;
The flower you did not send, dear,
Are your haunting ghosts at night.

The stone you might have lifted
Out of a brother's way;
The bit of heartsome counsel
You were hurried too much to say:
The loving touch of the hand, dear,
The gentle, winning tone
Which you had no time nor thought for
With troubles enough of your own.

Those little acts of kindness
So easily out of mind,
Those chances to be angels
Which we poor mortals find,
They come in night and silence,
Each sad, reproachful wraith,
When hope is faint and flagging
And a chill has fallen on faith.

For life is all too short, dear,
And sorrow is all too great,
To suffer our slow compassion
That tarries until too late;
And it isn't the thing you do, dear,
It's the thing you leave undone
Which gives you a bit of a heartache
At the setting of the sun.

—Mrs. Margaret E. Sangster.

[From The Assembly Herald.]

TO THE SUPERINTENDENTS OF PRESBYTERIAN SUNDAY-SCHOOLS.

DEAR FRIENDS:—Again the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church gives its endorsement of the educational work of Home Missions, and commends it to your consideration in the following resolution, passed at its last meeting, held at Saratoga, May, 1894:

Resolved, That the Assembly recognize the ever-increasing usefulness and efficiency of the Woman's Executive Committee, particularly in advancing Home Missionary interests among the children and the youth of our church, and that the Assembly recommend that both the Young People's societies and the Sabbath-schools make an annual contribution to the educational work of the Board; the Sabbath-schools on the Sabbath preceding Thanksgiving Day.

The cordial response made by many of you heretofore in the recognition of this day encourages us to believe that others with you will this year be glad to have their Sunday-schools avail themselves of the opportunity thus offered to enlarge the scope of their missionary effort. The Woman's Executive Committee is the only channel in the church through which this educational work can be carried forward, and unless it is supported the work entrusted to it must fail. The purpose of its organization is specific; namely, the Christianizing and educating of the youth of the exceptional populations. A vast army of these are found among the Alaskans, Mexicans, Mormons, and Mountain people of the South. The emissaries of evil by which they are surrounded are making rapid inroads in their lives; to counteract these we must be quick to use every occasion to enlarge the means now being used for their rescue.

Their needs appeal with peculiar appropriateness to the young more largely represented in the Sunday-schools than in any other branch of the church. What mighty forces could be set in motion for their betterment if all the young people—boys and girls—were enlisted in their cause!

In proof of what might be done if this were true, it is a significant fact that last year $19,047.97 were contributed by 820 Sunday-schools, in which is included the special Thanksgiving collection. The 6,463 schools, which cannot claim a share in this result, can readily see what changes could have been wrought in the lives of others of these neglected children if all had united in this endeavor.

The offerings from the schools last year aided in the maintenance of one hundred and twenty-three mission schools and the support of three hundred and sixty-eight teachers. Thus 8,765 pupils were brought under the civilizing influence of Christian instructors, and into an atmosphere that inspired them with a desire to become self-reliant, useful men and women.

The object now presented is the support of the school at Howcan, Alaska, and unless designated for other objects, all money received from Sunday-schools this year will be applied to it. The program will be furnished gratuitously in any quantity desired for Sunday-schools on application to the office of the Woman's Executive Committee. It is arranged attractively in convenient form, with hymns in full, and will require no preparation in advance, but is ready for use. (The sketches of Howcan and Chilcat George will be mailed to each superintendent.)

To facilitate the collection we have mite safes, also envelopes given free in any quantity desired, sent upon application, which can be distributed several weeks previous to the collection, to be returned at the time designated with their accumulated offerings.

If the time suggested—the Sunday preceding Thanksgiving—is not an opportune day for your school to observe, will you not arrange a convenient one, and thereby secure a contribution for this purpose? The money will be credited to your school in the annual report of the Board of Home Missions, and may be sent to the treasurer of the Home Presbyterian Society, through the Home Mission Society of your church, or direct, if preferred, to Miss S. F. Lincoln, treasurer, Woman's Executive Committee of Home Missions, 58 Fifth Ave., New York City.

The extent of this work is limited only by the resources available for its enlargement. As they increase, so does the work correspondingly, and we trust that we may not be disappointed in our desire to count you among our co-laborers, who are so earnestly seeking the advancement of our Master's cause.

Yours in his service,
ELIZABETH M. WISHARD.

Secretary Young People's Department, Woman's Executive Committee of Home Missions, 53 Fifth Ave., New York.

FOREIGN MISSIONS.

The war in the East is assuming immense proportions, and the two leading nations of the Orient are engaged in a deadly struggle over what has long been the occasion of jealousy and excited feeling between them. It is a matter of considerable commercial and political importance to Japan to have the control of Korea. It is a matter of pride and prestige with China to continue, as in the past, to rank Korea among her vassals. The occasion, rather than the cause, of the war was the abominable mis-government and oppression in Korea, which aroused the spirit of rebellion, and threatened to plunge the country into civil war. Japan seems to have taken advantage of these disturbances to make a bold and determined, and, from a military point of view, an effective effort to establish once for all her supremacy over Korea, and assume a kind of national regency over its government. The Japanese seem to have been ready, and their military and naval tactics have been characterized by promptness, efficiency, and remarkable success. This fact only makes the outlook more serious, as the Chinese, while moving more slowly and with less military dash, will no doubt be found to be unyielding and determined, and will draw freely upon their immense resources.

The fact that two great nations in the East that until very recently have lived in seclusion, are now leading actors in the world's arena should lead all intelligent Christians to recognize the importance of the place which foreign missions occupy in the affairs of men. Japan has been in a certain sense the child of foreign missions. It would be impossible at least to deny that had the work of Christian missions in Japan been altogether eliminated as a social, intellectual, and religious force in the development of the country, Japan might have been a very different nation from what it is to-day. In China also both the direct and indirect influence of foreign missions in the development of that country is a force of unknown proportions. It is a striking fact that nations where Christian missions have had some of their most conspicuous successes have suddenly assumed an international importance which every nation of the earth recognizes with a certain measure of surprise. Foreign missions are not the insignificant affair that many take them to be. They stand for the highest intellectual stimulus, the most effective social and religious influence in the development of great nations that may at any moment assume a leading part in international relations. Teaching individual souls the way of salvation is indeed a vital feature of missionary labor, but the broader and larger influence upon social life and national development must also be recognized. There are touches of civilization and intellectual power and humane provision about the way in which Japan is conducting herself, which we cannot but regard as in some sense the results of the humanitarian influence of Christian teaching. It is apparent in the case of China how great is the need of the restraining and elevating power of Christian influence in lifting her in the scale of civilization and humanity. Our foreign missions are being used by God in a quiet and almost unnoticed way to mold the national thought of Eastern nations.

Reinforcements for Africa have just left the Mission Rooms. Dr. and Mrs. Silas F. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Roberts, and Rev. Melvin Fraser sailed in the "New York," September 19. Rev. Herman E. Schnatz preceded them to England, where he expects to join them in the further journey to the African coast. The latter will probably be located at Batanga, and the remaining members of the party are bound for the interior.

Our entrance into the "Dark Continent" grows in interest and promise. Another new station is now to be established at some distance northeast of Efulen. The Farewell Meeting held at the Mission Rooms, September 18, was full of warmth and enthusiasm. There was a cheerful devotion and a spirit of enthusiastic consecration on the part of the outgoing missionaries, and it was manifest that Christ had brought their hearts into intense sympathy with his. It was interesting to reflect that through just such victories over individual hearts Christ plans to gain his larger victories in the mission fields. All his vast designs upon the great continent of Africa in the last analysis resolve themselves into his personal victory over individual hearts, who go forth to be his instruments in winning a continent. All who were present and heard the addresses of the departing missionaries felt that they had an insight into the spiritual workings of our Lord's plans for a victory over the world. Through hearts devoted and ready and consecrated he plans to work out the great marvel of a redeemed world. The going forth of even a single consecrated missionary, who realizes in his experience the fulfillment of Christ's promise, "Lo, I am with you alway," is an event of which the significance and far-reaching results can hardly be grasped. He stands for generations of coming religious history. He is to set in motion influences that have God back of them and in them. He is Christ's messenger to far-away souls waiting in darkness and ignorance for the voice of God. These friends were especially urgent in asking for the support and comfort of the prayers of the Church. Shall they not have them?

A recent letter from Rev. Dr. Good of Africa, which has been received by the Trinity Presbyterian Church of Montclair, which furnishes the funds for Dr. Good's support, contains interesting facts about his recent journeys of exploration in the interior, the object of which was to decide upon the location for a second interior station, to which in all likelihood some of the friends referred to in the above paragraph will go. Dr. Good was tramping for six weeks, much of the time through a region where a white man was never before seen. The town selected for the new station is named Ebolowee (E-bol-le-wo-e). It is in a northeasterly direction from Efulen. The elevation is about 2,400 feet, and the population of the place about 800. It is situated in a populous region, and may be made the centre of a large work.

A farewell meeting was also held at the Mission Rooms on September 28, in view of the departure of a party of missionaries for the East. The members of the party were as follows:

For the Lodiana Mission, India, Rev. Reese Thackwell and Mrs. Thackwell returning; Rev. A. G. McGaw and Mrs. McGaw as reinforcements for that mission.

For the Furrukhabad Mission, India, Rev. C. H. Bandy and Mrs. Bandy, Miss Maud Allen, M. D., and Miss Bertha T. Caldwell, M. D.; returning to the same mission, Mrs. John Newton, Jr.

To the Hainan Mission, Rev. William J. Leveret.

Returning to the Western India Mission, Mrs. L. B. Tedford.

Returning to the Syria Mission, Rev. George A. Ford, D. D. Dr. Ford's mother accompanies him, not by appointment of the Board, but with the hope of personally engaging in missionary work, while making a home for her son on the mission field.

The meeting was largely attended, and interesting addresses were made by Rev. Messrs. Thackwell, Ford and Leveret. These farewell meetings are very informal, and often characterized by deep spiritual fervor. They have a helpful mission in quickening the personal interest and strengthening the ties of Christian love between the missionaries, on the one hand, and the officers of the Board and Christian friends on the other.

Miss Mary K. Hesser, of our Western Japan Mission, who had returned to the United States in the Spring for surgical treatment, died in the hospital at Los Angeles, California, on September 1. Two years before Miss Hesser had passed successfully through a severe crisis and was pronounced by her physician able to resume her missionary work.

Scarcely had she entered upon it again, however, when serious symptoms rapidly developed, and it was decided that she must return without delay to the United States for treatment. Up to within a few hours of her death, an operation which had been performed seemed entirely successful, but a sudden complication arose which no human skill could control.

Miss Hesser went to Japan under commission of the Board of Foreign Missions in 1882. The Rev. Charles M. Fisher, for a number of years a member of the same mission, writes: "Miss Hesser founded the Kanazawa Girls' School, and gave ten years of most efficient service to it, making it one of the strong missionary agencies on the west coast of Japan. All who knew her admired her zeal and devotion to her work and her wonderful tact in dealing with missionary problems in that work. She very soon acquired a fluent use of the language, and, outside of her school duties, did much in pointing the Japanese women to Christ." It was the earnest desire of Miss Hesser, and her constant prayer, that she might be permitted to return to her "dear girls," as she was wont to call her pupils. Her last words as she left the house of a friend to enter the hospital were, "I am in my Father's hands." To-day she is in her Father's house, the service on earth ended, that in heaven begun.

The death of the Rev. Charles William Forman, D. D., of our Lodiana Mission, which occurred at Kasauli, India, August 27, 1894, removes one of the most venerated and beloved missionaries connected with the Board of Foreign Missions. Dr. Forman was a native of Kentucky, a graduate of Princeton Theological Seminary, and at the time of his appointment as missionary a member of the Ebenezer Presbytery. He sailed for India, August 11, 1847, while our mission work in that vast empire was still in its infancy. In 1846, at the close of the first Sikh war, the mission had crossed the Sutlej and planted a station at Jullundur within the Punjab, (Country of the Five Rivers). Soon after Dr. Forman's arrival in India the annexation of the Punjab by the British Government, and the favor of the Board of Administration, which included the two Lawrences, Henry and John, opened the way for the occupation of Lahore, the capital of the new province, and the late Rev. John Newton, D. D., and Mr. Forman were appointed to the station. It was in and from this center of influence that Dr. Forman did his missionary work. That work was varied as necessity or opportunity required. It consisted mainly, perhaps, in the organizing and superintending of a system of schools under mission control where the Word of God was habitually taught and from which thousands of young men have gone forth with at least an intellectual conviction as to the truth of Christianity, while it is believed that not a few have felt its regenerating power. But Dr. Forman was also instant in season and out of season in preaching the Gospel. In bazaar, church and lecture hall, to the learned in the great educational center of North India, and also to the low castes in the villages it was his highest joy to preach the unsearchable riches of Christ. A few weeks before his death when it became evident that he could no longer hope to resume full work in a letter to the Board he expressed the desire and purpose of doing something in the wider distribution of the printed Gospels and of his little book for Mohammedans, "The Christian Sword and Shield."

Dr. Forman was universally beloved. The devoutness of his spirit, the simplicity of his life, the strength of his character, the broadness of his views and sympathies, his indefatigable zeal, his grasp of the situation in India, and above all his interest in and affection for the native population of all classes won for him universal esteem. During the early part of his illness, when a rumor of his death was circulated, a notoriously anti-Christian newspaper published in Lahore devoted an editorial to the commendation of his life and work, stating that "no foreigner had ever entered the Punjab who had done so much for the Punjab as Padri Forman Sahib."

Not least among his services to the Church and to India was the giving of three sons and two daughters to the missionary work, two of whom are connected with the Lodiana Mission, and three with the Furrukhabad Mission. The first Mrs. Forman was a daughter of the late Rev. John Newton, D. D. It is expected that the present Mrs. Forman, who with two younger children survives her husband, will continue the work in India, to which she has given her life and for which she has excellent qualifications.

The Church in the homeland knew little of Dr. Forman from personal contact, as only three times during his forty-seven years of service in India did he visit the United States, and on two of these occasions he remained but six months, being impatient to return to his chosen work. But his name stands for that which is noblest and best in Northern India, and it will be gratefully remembered in connection with the efforts of our Church to give the Gospel to that distant land.

MISSIONARY CALENDAR.

DEPARTURES.

August 6—From Vancouver, to join the Central China Mission, Mrs. L. J. Doelittle. To join the Laos Mission, C. H. Denman, M. D., and Mrs. Denman, and Rev. Howard Campbell and Mrs. Campbell.

August 21—From Tacoma, Wash., returning to the Shantung Mission, Rev. W. M. Hayes and Mrs. Hayes. To join the same mission, Rev. J. P. Irwin and Mrs. Irwin. To join the Central China Mission, Rev. E. B. Kennedy.

August 27—From Vancouver, returning to Peking Mission, Mrs. J. L. Whiting, Mrs. Reuben Lowrie, Rev. J. Walter Lowrie, and Rev. J. A. Miller. To join the same mission, Mrs. J. A. Miller. Returning to Eastern Japan Mission, Miss A. P. Ballagh.

September 11—From Tacoma, Wash., to join the Central China Mission, Rev. J. E. Shoemaker and Mrs. Shoemaker.

September 15—From New York, returning to the Syria Mission, Miss Emilia Thompson.

September 17—From San Francisco, to join the Hainan Mission, Miss Etta Montgomery, Miss Kate L. Schaeffer, and Dr. E. D. Vanderburg and Mrs. Vanderburg.

September 19—From New York to join the Gaboon and Corisco Mission, Rev. Melvin Fraser, Dr. Silas F. Johnson and Mrs. Johnson, and Mr. Oscar Roberts and Mrs. Roberts.

September 22—From New York, to join the Western India Mission, Rev. E. M. Wilson.

September 25—From San Francisco, returning to the Shantung Mission, Rev. Paul D. Bergen and Mrs. Bergen. Returning to Western Japan Mission, Miss Gertrude Bigelow. To join the Central China Mission, Miss L. M. Rolleston. To join the Cantor Mission, Miss Eleanor Chestnut, M. D.

September 29—From New York, to join the Hainan Mission, Rev. Wm. J. Leverett. To join the Furrukhabad Mission, Rev. C. H. Bandy and Mrs. Bandy, Miss Maud Allen, M. D., and Miss Bertha T. Caldwell, M. D. Returning to the same mission, Mrs. John Newton, Jr. To join the Lodiana Mission, Rev. A. G. McGaw and Mrs. McGaw. Returning to the same mission, Rev. Reese Thackwell and Mrs. Thackwell. Returning to the Western India Mission, Mrs. L. B. Tedford.

ARRIVALS.

July 27—At Vancouver, from Shantung Mission, Mrs. E. G. Ritchie.

August 17—From the Eastern Japan Mission, Miss Etta W. Case.

September 16—At San Francisco, from Canton Mission, Dr. D. A. Beattie and Mrs. Beattie, and child.

September 21—At New York, from Chile Mission, Rev. W. H. Lester, Mrs. Lester and child.

DEATHS.

June 20—At Bangkok, Siam, Emma, infant daughter of Rev. and Mrs. E. P. Dunlap.

August 22—At Arima, Japan, Marion, daughter of Mrs. R. E. Abbey of the Central China Mission.

August 27—At Kasauli, N. India, Rev. Chas. W. Forman, D. D., of Lahore, India.

August 27—At Seoul, Korea, Cadwallader Curry, youngest child of Dr. and Mrs. C. C. Vinton.

September 1—At Los Angeles, Cal., Miss Mary K. Heiser of Kanazawa, Japan.

Concert of Prayer For Church Work Abroad.

ANUARY,	General Review of Missions.
FEBRUARY,	Missions in China.
MARCH,	Mexico and Central America.
APRIL,	Missions in India.
MAY,	Missions in Siam and Laos.
JUNE,	Missions in Africa.
JULY,	Chinese and Japanese in America.
AUGUST,	Missions in Korea.
SEPTEMBER,	Missions in Japan.
OCTOBER,	Missions in Persia.
NOVEMBER,	Missions in South America.
DECEMBER,	Missions in Syria.

MISSIONS IN SOUTH AMERICA

BRAZIL MISSION.

BAHIA: 735 miles northeast of Rio de Janeiro; missionary laborers—Rev. J. B. Kolb and Mrs. Kolb, Rev. Geo. W. Chamberlain and Mrs. Chamberlain, Miss Laura Chamberlain; 1 native assistant and 3 colporteurs; 3 outstations.

LARANJEIRAS: north of Bahia, in the state of Sergipe; Rev. Woodward E. Finley and Mrs. Finley; Miss C. E. Fough; 4 outstations; 1 school and 2 native teachers.

RIO DE JANEIRO: capital of the Republic; population, 500,000; occupied as a mission station in 1860; missionary laborers—Rev. J. B. Rodgers and Mrs. Rodgers, residing at Riachuelo, 2 miles distant from Rio; native ministers—Rev. A. B. Trajano, Rev. André Lino da Costa; 1 native licentiate, 1 colporteur, 4 outstations; 1 self-supporting church, 3 mission churches; 3 schools and 3 native teachers.

EAST RIO STATION, Nova Friburgo: 10 miles east of Rio; occupied as a mission station in 1891; missionary laborers—Rev. J. M. Kyle and Mrs. Kyle; 1 colporteur; 1 outstation.

SÃO PAULO: 300 miles west southwest of Rio de Janeiro; capital of the state of the same name; population, 25,000; occupied as a mission station in 1863; missionary laborers—H. M. Lane, M. D., Rev. F. J. Perkins, and Mrs. Perkins, Rev. W. A. Waddell, Miss Elizabeth R. Williamson, Miss A. K. Scott; Rev. M. A. Menezes, Rev. M. P. B. Carvalho; 3 boarding school, 5 day schools, 2 annual training schools, 29 native teachers and 5 foreign teachers; 5 mission churches, 22 self-supporting churches; native pastors—Rev. E. C.

Pereira, J. R. C. Braga, J. Z. Miranda, Benedicto Campos, J. V. Bizarro, Herculanou Gouvea, Bento Ferraz.

CURITYBA: about 300 miles southwest of S. Paulo; the capital of the state of Parana; missionary laborers—Rev. G. A. Landes and Mrs. Landes, Rev. T. J. Porter and Mrs. Porter, Miss Ella Kuhl and Miss Mary P. Dascomb; 1 colporteur, 2 day schools, 1 boarding school and 5 native teachers; 3 outstations.

MISSION IN THE REPUBLIC OF COLOMBIA.

BOGOTÁ: the capital of the country; situated on an elevated plain; 40° north latitude; climate, temperate; population, 100,000; elevation nearly 9,000 feet; occupied as a mission station in 1856; missionary laborers—Rev. M. E. Caldwell and Mrs. Caldwell, (just resigned); Rev. T. H. Candor and Mrs. Candor;

THE MAJESTIC ANDES.

NOTE.—The cut on this page is from "South America: The Neglected Continent," by permission of Fleming, H. Lovell Co.

Rev. A. R. Miles and Mrs. Miles; Miss Martha B. Hunter, and Miss Nellie Nevegold; six native teachers and helpers.

BARRANQUILLA (Bar-ran-keel ya): near the northern seacoast at the mouth of the Magdalena River; 12° N.; population, 80,000; occupied as a station in May, 1888; missionaries—Rev. T. S. Pond and Mrs. Pond, Mrs. E. H. Ladd, and Miss Celia J. Riley.

MEDELLIN: population, 50,000; occupied October, 1889; situated on tableland at an elevation of 5,000 feet, between the two great rivers Magdalena and Cauca, ten days north of Bogota; missionary laborers—Rev. J. G. Touzeau and Mrs. Touzeau.

Under appointment to Bogota, Rev. M. W. Graham.

MISSION IN CHILE.

VALPARAISO: the chief seaport of Chile; population, 120,000; missionary laborers—Rev. W. H. Lester and Mrs. Lester, Rev. James F. Garvin and Mrs. Garvin, Rev. Alberto Moran, native pastor; Victorino Castro, principal of Escuela Popular, and helper.

SANTIAGO: the capital of Chile, 120 miles south-east of Valparaiso, with which it has railroad connection; population, 200,000; missionary laborers—Rev. J. M. Allis, D. D., and Mrs. Allis; Rev. S. J. Christen and Mrs. Christen, Rev. E. A. Lowe, Mr. John Frey, Mr. Karl Kuom, Rev. Paul Hohl; Rev. Francisco Díez and wife; Abelardo Daroch, helper.

CONCEPCION: near the coast, about 300 miles south of Valparaiso, connected with Santiago by railroad; population, 20,000; Rev. Francisco Jorquera.

COPIAPO: about 400 miles north of Valparaiso; population, 15,000; missionary laborers—Rev. W. H. Robinson and Mrs. Robinson; Jose Undurraga, helper.

CHILLAN: Rev. W. B. Boomer and Mrs. Boomer.

TOCOPILLA: visited from Valparaiso; work cared for at other times by Mr. Harry Fraser, a business man.

In this country: Rev. W. H. Lester and Mrs. Lester.

Presbyterian ecclesiastical statistics in Brazil can only be properly represented by noting three distinct phases of the situation. First, we have the missions of the Presbyterian Church, Northern and Southern; second, the relation of these two missions to the ecclesiastical organization known as the Synod of Brazil; third, the Synod of Brazil itself, made up of churches from both missions, some of which are wholly self-supporting and independent of the missions, although originating in connection with them, and others which are still connected and in part supported by the missions. Having these discriminations in view, the result may be summarized as follows:

The mission of our Presbyterian Board reports its latest statistics as follows: ordained missionaries, 9; medical missionaries, 1; married lady missionaries, 9; unmarried lady missionaries, 5; ordained native preachers, 2; licentiate, 1; other native helpers, 4; foreign teachers, 4; boys in boarding-schools, 51; girls in boarding-schools, 51; boys in day-schools, 353; girls in day-schools, 362; total of pupils in schools, 980. The statistics of the churches appear in the next paragraph.

The relation of the mission of our Presbyterian Board to the Synod of Brazil appears in the following statistics, which give both the present number of churches in our mission and also the churches which have grown out of its past labors and now become a part of the independent Synod. The following figures may therefore be regarded as representing the outcome of the work of our mission in Brazil as it appears in the independent Synod:

Number of churches originating in connection with our mission, 43; at present receiving aid from our Board, 20; entirely self-supporting, 23; ordained ministers, 23 (of this number 12 are native and 11 foreign); lay-preachers and helpers, 15; students for the ministry, 9 (of this number six are supported by the native church and three by the mission); adult communicants, 3,651; additions during the past year, 325.

The Synod of Brazil, which is the outgrowth of the combined work of the Presbyterian Mission of our own Board and that of the Southern Presbyterian Church, reports the following results: The report must be understood to include the churches in the fields of both Presbyterian Missions receiving financial assistance, and also the self-supporting native churches not having any organic connection with the Missions as such). Presbyterian churches, 65; ordained ministers, 42; licentiate, 5; lay-workers, 10; students in theology, (also mentioned in the previous paragraph), 9; adult communicants, 4,750; added during the past year, 400; contributions of the churches, $37,500.

The statistics of our mission in Chile are as follows: ordained missionaries, 8; married lady missionaries, 7; ordained native preachers, 3; native helpers, 16; churches, 6; communicants, 315; added during the year, 46; contributions, $12,681; students for the ministry, 3; schools, 7; boys in boarding-schools, 42; girls in boarding-schools, 2; boys in day-schools, 298; girls in day-schools, 169; total of pupils, 506; pupils in Sabbath-schools, 600.

The statistics of our mission in the Republic of Colombia are as follows: Ordained missionaries, 5; married lady missionaries, 5; unmarried lady missionaries, 4; native helpers, 17; churches, 3; communicants, 148; added during the year, 18; contributions, $2,154; schools, 5; boys in boarding-schools, 15; girls in boarding-schools, 17; boys in day-schools, 143; girls in day-schools, 137; total of pupils in Sabbath-schools, 125.

The total statistics for our three missions in South America are as follows: Ordained missionaries, 22; dicial missionaries, 1; married lady missionaries, 1; unmarried lady missionaries, 9; total of foreign missionaries, 53; ordained native preachers, 5; other native helpers, 71; total of native helpers, 77; students for the ministry, 12; churches, 52; communities, 4,109; added during the year, 389; contributions, $52,835; boys in boarding-schools, 91; girls in boarding-schools, 70; boys in day-schools, 789; girls in day-schools, 668; total of pupils in all schools, 18.

Mission literature upon South America is not so abundant as upon many other fields. There has been of late, however, much interesting information in periodical literature, and a small book packed with information has been recently published in England, and is also issued in this country by Fleming H. Revell Company, of 112 Fifth Avenue, New York, and 150 Madison Street, Chicago. It is published in this country at seventy-five cents per copy, and its title is, "South America, the Neglected Continent." Among its contents will be found a historical sketch and summary of missionary enterprise in South America. The editors are E. C. Millard and Percy E. Guinness. It is beautifully illustrated and has instructive diagrams representing the status of mission work in South America as compared with other parts of the world.

A valuable book upon Brazil is entitled, "Brazil; its Condition and Prospects," by C. C. Andrews. The publishers are D. Appleton & Co., New York, 1893.

Among recent articles referring to mission work in South America we would refer our readers to the following:

"The British South American Missionary Society." Rev. J. Johnston, CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD, November, 1899, p. 397.

"Story of the South American Missionary Society," Missionary Review of the World, May, 1892, p. 374.

"Missionary Work in South America," Rev. J. B. Kolb, Missionary Review of the World, November, 1893, p. 860.

"South America as a Mission Field," Rev. Thomas B. Wood, Gospel in All Lands, February, 1894, p. 0.

"Beginnings of Light in Darkest America," Rev. Thomas B. Wood, Gospel in All Lands, June, 1894, p. 242.

"Civil Wars in South America," E. S. Zeballos, North American Review, August, 1894.

"Missionary Perspective of South America," Rev. P. F. Leavens, D. D., CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD, November, 1891, p. 403.

For information more especially upon mission work in Brazil, consult the following:

"A Pioneer and His Plans for Brazil," H. M. Lane, M. D., CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD, November, 1891, p. 406.

"A Christian University for Brazil," Rev. G. W.

Chamberlain, CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD, March, 1891, p. 236.

"The Progress of Religious Freedom in Brazil," Rev. John M. Kyle, CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD, January, 1891, p. 17.

"Why Send Missionaries to Brazil?" CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD, November, 1892, p. 409.

"Personal Observations in Brazil," Rev. Charles E. Knox, D. D., Missionary Review of the World, May, 1890, p. 341, and June, 1890, p. 422.

"Brazil as a Mission Field," Rev. F. F. Ellinwood, D. D., Missionary Review of the World, November, 1890, p. 862.

For information upon mission work in Chile, consult the following:

"Chile's Great Need," Rev. J. M. Allis, D. D., CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD, November, 1891, p. 409.

"Opening a New Station in Chile," Rev. W. B. Boomer, CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD, November, 1892, p. 413.

"Republic of Chile," C. H. Harlow, New England Magazine, March, 1893, p. 96.

For information about missions in the Republic of Colombia, consult the following:

"Sketch of Missions in South America," published by the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church, 1334 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, which contains a special chapter on Colombia.

"Mission Work in South America," by J. G. Touzeau, CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD, October, 1894, p. 304.

"Missions in Colombia," Rev. T. H. Candor, p. 402, of this magazine.

Articles upon the Romish Church in South America, and upon the duty of missions in Roman Catholic countries, may be consulted as follows:

"Missions to Romanists," Rev. W. J. Mornan, Missionary Review of the World, August, 1893, p. 565.

"Romanism in Brazil in its Influence upon National Development," Rev. J. Beatty Howell, CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD, December, 1888, p. 583.

"Two Glimpses of Romanism," Rev. J. M. Allis, D. D., CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD, November, 1893, p. 376.

"Darkness in Brazil," Rev. J. B. Kolb, CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD, February, 1893, p. 115.

Brazil is larger than the whole United States, excluding Alaska. It occupies nearly half the area of South America, with a population of 16,000,000. There is at present one missionary (counting those of all societies) to every 138,000 souls. Out of 16,000,000 people at least 14,000,000 are still entirely untouched by evangelical missions.

Chile is considered one of the foremost South American Republics in intelligence and enterprise. She asserted her independence of Spain in 1818, and has made remarkable progress in constitutional reforms and in the establishment of religious liberty. Her population is 3,300,000, including 500,000 Indians. The country is occupied by our American Presbyterian Mission and the South American Missionary Society, with some of Bishop Taylor's missionary teachers. All told there are 24 men and 37 women,—in all 61 laborers for a population of nearly three and a half millions.

The Republic of Colombia covers an immense geographical area, with a population of about 4,000,000. The only organized mission work in the Republic is that of our American Presbyterian Church.

There are all told, men and women, about 400 missionary workers, connected with sixteen missionary societies, on the Continent of South America, with its population of 37,000,000. This includes ordained and unordained men, missionaries' wives, men and women teachers, and lady helpers. If we imagined each of these missionary workers to have a parish of ten thousand souls, only four million would be reached. Even this is an impossible supposition, and yet were it true there would be still 33,000,000 unreached by any Gospel ministry.

South America is by no means a discouraging field. Heroic work has been done, attended by magnificent results. Dutch Guiana has been called "Dead Man's Land." The Moravian missionaries have persevered in their efforts to evangelize that country, although a terrible fatality seemed to follow their entrance upon that service of martyrdom. In the first fifty years there were more missionary deaths than converts, but soon a divine blessing attended their heroic labors, and to-day there is hardly a mission field where such rapid advances have been made. In the city of Paramaribo there are 14,000 converts out of a population of 22,000. There are four immense Protestant churches crowded every Sabbath. The largest has a congregation numbering 8,000, of whom 3,500 are communicants. The Guianas can hardly be counted longer as a foreign mission field. They are won for Christ as much as any country of Christendom.

Reference is made in an article by Dr. Lane on "Education in Brazil" to the new Mackenzie College, the cornerstone of which was laid February 12 by the Minister of Public Instruction, representing the Governor of the State of Sao Paulo, in the presence of a large gathering of officials and distinguished citizens. Rev. Mr. Waddell writes some particulars as to the building, which is well advanced towards completion. It occupies a commanding site on the brow of a low bluff overlooking the city. Behind it extends a residence district rapidly filling up with a very superior class of citizens. It is a three story structure of pressed brick on a rough granite foundation, which is placed upon a concrete sub-foundation. It contains the necessary administrative offices and ten large-sized class-rooms, well lighted and ventilated. It will accommodate the Literary, Mathematical and Philosophical Departments of the Sao Paulo College until the number of students exceeds 300.

Mr. A. F. Shaw, a graduate of Yale, '92, recently appointed a tutor in the Protestant College, reached Sao Paulo in July. The attendance upon the College is as large as the space available will accommodate.

The following items referring to Church life are of interest. The Second Church of Sao Paulo, organized in Oct., 1893, maintains two Sabbath-schools: two preaching-services in different halls. The attendance at the various services of the day average 140. Work on the new church building in Curitiba is well-advanced. The reports from the churches in the interior indicate encouraging progress. The percentage of additions upon confession is large.

Mr. Frederick Lenington, son of Rev. Robert Lenington, of Jacksonville, Ill., who was for twenty-two years a missionary in Brazil, has spent a year and a half in evangelistic ministry to the church in Guarapuava, and has just returned to the United States to complete his theological course at McCormick Seminary.

A devout Romanist has been recently converted in Curitiba. He traces his conversion to the diligent reading of the Scriptures. Years ago he built a little chapel, or wayside shrine, on the turnpike, adorning it with pictures and images of the saints and the Virgin, and made a vow to keep a candle always burning before them. After his conversion he removed the images and had the Ten Commandments and various texts of the Scripture painted on the walls in Italian and Portuguese, and he kept the lights burning before these Words of God. His shrine now tells the passers-by of God's own word to men.

A new church has been organized in Chillan under the direction of Mr. Boomer. Another will soon be organized in Taital. The interest in the Gospel is increasing all along the coast of Chile. The soil was never more ready for the harvest than now, and each year is bringing the country nearer the final break when men and women will be seeking the truth everywhere.

The question is sometimes raised by those who have a superficial acquaintance with the spiritual condition of Roman Catholic countries, as to whether Protestant Missions among Romanists are justified. The answer has been succinctly given by Rev. F. J. M. Allis, of Santiago, as follows:

1. The Roman Catholic Church has ceased to be in a true sense of the word a Christian Church, since its chief aim is to maintain its own organization without regard to the spiritual conversion or Christian growth of its members.

2. The biblical test of his regeneration or conversion is not required of priest or member in entering the Church.

3. The great aim of its religious instruction is to exact submission to the authority of the Church, rather than to develop spiritual piety.

4. In place of the Lord Jesus Christ as Saviour and Master of the soul it has substituted the ministry of the Church as a means of salvation and the Virgin Mary as an object of worship.

5. It denies such fundamental doctrines of the Bible as that God only can forgive sins, and that He alone is Lord of the conscience, and that Christ was once offered as a final and sufficient sacrifice for sins.

6. It gives to human tradition the same authority as the inspired Word, and practically substitutes it in place of the Bible.

7. It has adopted the ethical principles of the Jesuits, which are subversive of true morality.

8. It has never hesitated to persecute and ruin those who oppose it, if it had the power to do so.

9. It denies the Bible to the laity, and refuses to sanction its public use. The fact that the Pope has issued an encyclical on the duty of priests to study it has little effect throughout the Church. Bibles are still burned in South America, and men are killed for distributing them.

10. The old spirit of persecution still remains, and should the priests obtain power in Chile, it is likely that they would endeavor to carry out their threats to destroy the American College.

11. The fruits of the Roman Catholic system as exhibited in the lives of its priests and higher officials, indicate that the Church has forfeited its right to be called Christian. Gross immorality prevails in the highest Church circles, as well as among the laity, and all this is unrebuked by the Church. The religious life of the people, if judged by evangelical standards, needs the converting power of the Gospel to bring it into harmony with the Bible standards of righteousness and spirituality.

There can be no doubt that the case is truly and moderately stated in the above summary, and a Radical of which these things can be said, needs a radical reformation which only the Gospel can give.

Rev. M. E. Caldwell, formerly of Bogota writes: "Romanism in its grossest form is the religion of the people. A very large part of the people can neither read nor write, and very few know anything about the Bible. The state of morals is sad beyond description. The majority of the intelligent and educated men have drifted away from Romanism, and are practically infidels. Many of these may, for political and social reasons, appear to be very good Catholics, and at the same time despise much that goes to make up Romanism. The ignorant and weak are under the power of a corrupt priesthood, and the intelligent and educated are, as a rule, completely under the influence of infidelity. They are a sad people, practically without God and without hope."

We present a few extracts from "South America, the Neglected Continent:—"

"Swarming priests, friars, and nuns are here, side by side with ignorant masses. Among men a widespread deism, among women cringing superstition, and in both sexes a low standard of morality is everywhere prevalent. Those who conform to the Church's teaching manifest an utter absence of spiritual life, and a resting only in outward ceremonials for an inward preparation for the life to come. The apathy and infidel tendencies of the people are due largely to the character of the national Church, and its dissolute priesthood. The people are tired of Papal dominion, and in several of the free Republics the Government casts its influence and moral support on the side of Protestantism. For what is there in the sterile forms of apostate Christianity to satisfy souls formed in the image of God and for companionship with Him?"

"Discovered by the Portuguese Pedro Cabral, A. D., 1500, South America has for nearly 400 years been part of the parish of the Pope. In contrast with it, the North of the New World—Puritan, prosperous, powerful, progressive—presents probably the most remarkable evidence earth affords of the blessing of Protestantism. For the results of Roman Catholicism left to itself, are writ large in letters of gloom across the priest-ridden, lax, superstitious South. Her cities 'among the gayest and grossest in the world,' her ecclesiastics wealthy and strenuously opposed to progress and liberty, South America groans under the tyranny of a priesthood which in its highest forms is unilluminated by and incompetent to preach the Gospel of God's free gift, and in its lowest is proverbially and 'habitually drunken, extortionate, and ignorant.' The fires of her unspeakable Inquisition still burn in the hearts of her ruling clerics, and although the spirit of the age has in our nineteenth century transformed all her monarchies into republics, Ecuador still prohibits any but Romish worship, and religious intolerance largely prevails.

Only the fringe of this Continent—more than sixty times as large as the Kingdom of Great Britain, more than thirty times larger than Spain and Portugal, more than seven times larger than all British India—has been touched by the message of Free Salvation. On the frozen rocks of Fuegia, 50 years ago, Allen Gardiner and his noble band of companions (to whose labors the South American Missionary Society have since succeeded) kindled a spiritual beacon-light that to-day shines right round the world. Four thousand miles away in the deadly tropics of Guiana the heroic Moravian brethren died and died till deathless blessing for multitudes sprang from their graves; both extremes of the Continent thus proving the lowliest of earth's races capable of becoming new creatures in Jesus Christ."

THE NEW BRAZIL.

H. M. LANE, M. D., SAO PAULO.

It may be safely stated that there is no more interesting or profitable mission field under our Board than Brazil, S. A. There are few people that offer a more interesting study than the modern Brazilians in their social and political, no less than their physical and intellectual development, and certainly no country with such vast unexplored regions, such immense rivers, such extensive plateaus and grand forests to interest the explorer or scientist as Brazil; yet there are few departments of mission work concerning which our Church has so little accurate information, and few countries or peoples about which the general public is so poorly informed. The paucity of literature, both secular and religious, is striking.

The vast extent of the country, which is somewhat larger than the United States, excluding Alaska, the difficulties and expensiveness of travel in the interior, may explain the poverty of that class of literature created by the modern tourist, but how can we explain the almost total absence of mission literature?

ITS SPIRITUAL CONDITION NOT KNOWN.

Our people are accustomed to look upon Brazil as a civilized Christian land, and, as such, not quite a legitimate field for missionary enterprise; so it is, to a certain extent, as it has a civilization older than our own. Many look upon it as coming under the conditions and within the scope of home, rather than foreign missions. It is true that it lacks that element of romance which attaches to most modern missions. It has neither the fantastic paganism of China, nor the semi-barbarous conditions of India, nor the glamour of the Cannibal Islands. No Livingstone or other great traveller, has given it the attractions of the Dark Continent.

This may fairly explain it, but the anomalous fact remains, that our people possess less reliable information concerning Brazil than of almost any other part of the world. Yet for thirty-four years the Presbyterian Church has carried on there a mission work upon which the seal of God's blessing has been set most conspicuously.

ITS PROMPT RESPONSE TO MISSION EFFORT.

There are few countries where Protestant Christianity has advanced so rapidly during the last quarter of a century as in Brazil, and none where its advance has been accompanied by such remarkable social and political changes—such an uplifting of the people—as a mere coincidence, but, rather as a consequence of the introduction of the larger and higher views of life and personal responsibility, inculcated persistently for more than a quarter of a century, by Protestant churches, schools and literature, and the wide diffusion of the knowledge of the Scriptures.

THE CONSECRATION OF ITS EARLY MISSIONARIES.

We may get a clearer view of the present work by taking a look backward. When the beloved Simonton landed in Rio de Janeiro as the first missionary of the Presbyterian Church to Brazil, the writer was a Yankee schoolmaster, keeping school in the neighboring town of Petropolis. On learning of the arrival of his young countryman he hastened to Rio to welcome him, though a total stranger. Then commenced that acquaintance which soon ripened into friendship, bringing into closest touch two very dissimilar lives.

It grew in depth and strength without interruption or shadow of doubt till the summons came from Sao Paulo, in 1869, to visit the sick bed and say the parting word. The one whose life was so freighted with responsibility, so full of hope and promise of great service and upon which so much seemed to depend, was taken; the other whose life had no special significance, was left. The long procession of years has passed; the circle in which both moved has been narrowed till only two or three are living in it, but the memory of the dear friend who laid down his life among the people to whom he was sent, fades not, but rather grows fresher and more fragrant with the passing years, giving as uplift and inspiration not only to the friend who loved him, but, to the churches that have grown up in the work whose foundations he laid so wisely and so well. The earthly remains of the beloved wife rest at the Gamboa, near Rio; his lie on the heights of the "Consolação," in Sao Paulo, a perpetual testimony, and his spirit of faithfulness and love is in our midst as a living power.

VICTORY OVER DIFFICULTIES.

The work was begun in Rio de Janeiro, the populous capital of the Empire, under most depressing and difficult conditions. Religious tolerance was little more than a name. Rome was fiercely and fanatically jealous of this intrusion of Protestantism upon a domain that had been hers exclusively for more than three centuries, where the natural fruits of ignorance and superstition which her rule never fails to produce, were found in abundance. The clergy and people were incited to acts of intolerance and oppression, which at first made the work dangerous, but later, as is always the case, it reacted as a benefit to the oppressed.

Proficiency in the language was rapidly acquired and Portuguese services were commenced in an upper-room. The first church was organized in 1862. Two members were received on profession of their faith, one of whom had been one of two native attendants at the first Portuguese service. From that day to this the Word has had free course and has been blessed.

NEW FORCES AT WORK.

In 1864 a religious paper was started, the Imprensa Evangelica, which carried the Gospel to remote places for more than twenty years. Through its silent influence churches were founded, and a prominent Brazilian statesman said, shortly after its first issue, that "in it the question of religious liberty was being discussed, for the first time in Brazil, with an ability and dignity commensurate with its importance."

Copies of the Bible, religious tracts and books were distributed freely. "A new element," said the same sagacious statesman, "has come into our life which cannot be driven out by sneers and stones but must be recognized and met on its merits."

NO MORE SNEERS AT PROTESTANTISM.

Thirty-four years have passed. There are now 65 Presbyterian churches, four presbyteries and a synod, originating in the two Presbyterian missions, (our brethren from the South having entered the field in 1869).

The Methodists, Baptists and Episcopalians have flourishing missions in various parts of the country. The independent, self-supporting churches founded by Dr. Kalley grow and flourish. There are also large educational establishments under the different Protestant denominations. Religious periodicals have multiplied. No one now thinks of sneering at Protestantism.

WHAT OUR OWN MISSION HAS ACCOMPLISHED.

Let us look at the work of our own mission, as it now stands. In the city of Rio de Janeiro, the capital of the Republic, a neutral municipality, corresponding to our District of Columbia, with a population of 500,000, there is one large self-supporting church with a native pastor, and a small mission church, recently organized in a distant suburb, but no educational work.

In the state of Rio de Janeiro, whose capital is Nictheroy, and which has a population of 1,200,000, there are several preaching places, two organized churches and one ordained missionary. No schools.

In the state of Bahia, 800 miles north of Rio, with an immense territory and a population of 1,800,000, there is one small church, at the capital, which alone has a population of 200,000, and several preaching places in the interior. Two missionaries and their families occupy this state. A small educational work has only recently been started at the capital.

Joining Bahia on the north is the little state of Sergipe; very poor both in men and material resources. Here a most flourishing work is being carried on. This work originated in a stray copy of the Imprensa Evangelica. In spite of poverty and a population of only 200,000, churches increase in number and spiritual power. Prominence has been given to school work for several years. There is one missionary and his family in this state. An American teacher will join the force this year.

In the state of Parana, about 300 miles south of Rio, having a population of 190,000 and an area as large as New York and Pennsylvania combined, there are two missionaries and their families, and two ladies engaged in educational work. There are several flourishing churches, none entirely self-supporting, but all tending strongly that way. In 1892 a branch of the Sao Paulo was started under the able management of Misses Kuhl and Dascomb, our veteran educators, and the influence is already felt both in the churches and among the people.

THE PROSPERITY AT SAO PAULO.

We come now to the rich state of Sao Paulo, the great coffee producer of the Republic, with a population of 1,750,000.

churches, originating in our mission, that are entirely self-supporting and are ministered to by native pastors. Besides this, the native church has a weekly paper edited and supported by Brazilians; a training school for native preachers and evangelists, the first step towards a theological seminary supported and managed exclusively by Brazilians; a tract society with a well appointed printing plant, a large home missionary organization, a ministerial relief society and a FOREIGN MISSION SOCIETY. All these deriving

MISSION CHURCH, SAO PAULO, BRAZIL.

Work was commenced in the capital, the city of Sao Paulo, in 1863. Here the great educational work of the mission has been done, developing into a system of common graded schools with normal, manual-training and high school courses and a college. Here also we find the largest development of strictly evangelistic work, whether as a coincident merely, or as a logical sequence, we need not inquire. Here the great problem of self-support and self-government of the churches has been solved. In this state there are 22 organized their chief support from the state of Sao Paulo. The native church, in this state is amply able and ready to take entire charge of the evangelistic work within its borders.

THE WORK OF FOREIGN MISSIONS, AS AN EVANGELIZING AGENCY, IS PRACTICALLY FINISHED IN THE STATE OF SAO PAULO.

THERE IS NO GOOD REASON FOR SPENDING ANOTHER DOLLAR OF FOREIGN MISSION MONEY OR SENDING ANOTHER MISSIONARY FOR EVANGELISTIC WORK IN THIS STATE.

We have also a small work in the southern border of Minas, and had commenced a work in Rio Grande do Sul, which was given up several years ago to the Episcopalian brethren.

To recapitulate: The Republic of Brazil is a federation of twenty independent states, with a population of about 16,000,000, including a million wild Indians. We have entered seven of these states, partially occupying five of them, representing a population of only 5,315,000, leaving thirteen states, with a population of more than 10,000,000, entirely untouched.

THE POWERFUL INFLUENCE OF EDUCATION.

While the missionaries and the churches have been devoting their attention to individuals and small groups, struggling along with a localized work, touching chiefly the humbler classes and looking for immediate results, the powerful and subtle, though silent, influence of Christian education has been permeating the whole mass of the people. The Methodist school, at Piracicaba, the Southern Presbyterian School at Campinas and our educational establishments at Sao Paulo have been moulding the youth of the land, of both sexes, to higher standards of life and thought, bringing society at large, through the youth, nearer Gospel ideals, and opening the way for the truth.

It had something to do with breaking up both African and Romish slavery. It opened the way for clearer ideas of independence and self-government in political life. Freedom of action and complete representation, as exemplified in our form of church government, undermined the monarchy and made a republic possible. Of this, at least, we stand charged by some of the most sagacious statesmen of the old regime.

REGIONS STILL UNTOUCHED.

In spite of these visible results that cheer and encourage, we must not lose sight of the fact that in only one state, representing a population of 1,750,000 can the evangelistic work of the church be said to be finished, while the great educational work, upon which the permanence of the work already done largely depends, and to which the churches stand pledged, is barely begun.

The population of the state of Minas, joining Sae Paulo on the north, is 2,500,000; the state of Espirito Santo, joining Rio on the north, is coming rapidly into notice as a coffee producer; the great states of Matto Grosso, Goyaz, Pará, Amazonas, and that "terra incognita," Piauh, are untouched.

Who of your readers has ever heard of Piauh? I venture to say that our people know more of Thibet than of Piauh, though it is only from thirteen to fifteen days from New York by steamer. The Gospel command also included Piauh.

MOULDING THE FUTURE OF A GREAT STATE.

A glorious beginning has been made. The work has been richly blessed, but we can see that it is only a beginning.

The contrast between the early days of the mission and now, brings a lesson and an invitation. In 1860 every door was closed; obstacles and dangers were multiplied on every side; a powerful church organization within the state seemed to block the way. An incoercible apathy among the higher classes, fierce and fanatical opposition among the ignorant, seemed insuperable obstacles. To-day every door is open, every obstacle is removed; complete religious liberty is a fact; the antagonistic church is reduced to the common level and must defend and support herself; the intelligent classes are interested in, and drawn towards the pure Gospel of Christ; the poor and ignorant are attracted by the simplicity and promise of Christ's teachings; the educational institutions of Evangelical Christianity prosper and enjoy the confidence and support of the best of the people. The whole nation is looking toward our country and people with warm and sympathetic expectation. There is a natural bond of sympathy in the fact that this newest of American republics is passing through the same unrest and difficulties that so sorely harassed us in the beginning of the century, with a fair prospect of coming out of them somewhat better than we did.

What is lacking to enable Protestant Christianity to go in as an honored guest and help shape this new nation for Christ? Men, money or a proper grasp of the situation? Shall we wait till a false philosophy and materialism crystalize about the young nation and shape its destiny towards misrule and anarchy!

There is no more interesting field of Christian endeavor, no more interesting study for the scientist, no more inviting subject for the merchant than this great country and people on the Atlantic slope of our sister continent.

A TOUR IN SERGIPE.

REV. GEORGE W. CHAMBERLAIN, BAHIA.

The little coast steamer "Jacuipe" left the harbor of Bahia as the sun was dipping behind the hills of the city of San Salvador, April 27, and in twenty-four hours was in sight of the light which guards the entrance over the bar of Aracaju. There a blinding mist hid the light, and all night long we "rocked in the cradle of the deep" and wished for the day. We passed the "bar" at 8 A. M. Sabbath, April 29, and gave thanks; for it sometimes has happened that steamers have had to beat about in the offing for days together awaiting propitious tides. By nine I had "touched ground" in the bishopric of my brother Finley—pastor of Sergipe—the only Christian bishop, and indeed it is safe to say the only Christian minister in a state as large as New Jersey. No wonder he was on the qui vive to see a brother minister and had ridden down twelve miles from Larangeiras to the seaport early on Monday to meet me. When you have tried for two years to cover so large a field without a true yoke-fellow, you will ride to the border any day to look into the face of the man who comes over to help you. My promise to do it was more than a year old, but I too had been a lone guard until recently in Bahia. Brother Finley had delegated a native member of the church to meet me at the landing in case I should arrive Sunday, and conduct me to his humble home on the outskirts of the city.

ARRANGING FOR A SERVICE.

After breakfast and worship with his family we endeavored to make some arrangements for public worship. The market was in full swing and the stores were all driving a good trade on the Lord's Day. We called on the Intendente—mayor of the town—who granted us the use of the Town Hall for conferences, but recommended that we apply to the Governor of the State for the use of a larger hall in the Atheneu, a building devoted to instruction. His Excellency was out when we called. We met him riding a handsome steed, and in a democratic fashion preferred our request in the street. He listened graciously, and said it would be necessary to consult the Director of Public Instruction—the Padre Vicente. We called at the Director's house but he was likewise out. We saw the mother of his children and some of the children themselves, a state of affairs of which he makes no secret. It was not until the next day that we were assured by the Governor that we might have the use of the hall. Meantime I preached at night in the house of an old Roman Catholic gentleman whose daughter married, much against his will, a Protestant. He has been won by the good conduct of his protesting son-in-law to confide in him more than in any other and is willing to incur the censure of the Church by throwing open his house to those who wish to hear the Gospel. He is one of the original settlers of this city—now the capital of the State and has passed by four the limit of three score and ten years. He tells me that his great-grandmother, whose parents came here from Portugal, lived to the good old age of 120 years. It was she who taught him to pray, or rather "say prayers." He is now an earnest listener to the Gospel, never having learned to read. The audience which gathered in his house was for the most part made up of his descendants and servants with a few friends; such a gathering as Peter found in the house of the Roman centurion. He had not, however, like Cornelius, preceded his invitation by prayer, hence it was not succeeded by such a pouring out of the Spirit on all them which heard the Word. On the contrary, a "faithful son of the Church" and son-in-law of our host, filled with the spirit of wine, resisted the Word. He was hurried into another part of the house, but it took several of the audience to keep him there and the incident necessarily distracted the attention of the others. "As Jannes and Jambres withstood Moses so do these also resist the truth—men of corrupt minds * * * but their folly shall be manifest to all." Our unhappy adversary found no sympathizers in the audience, who begged that the Word might be preached again to them. Appointments were made for the following Sabbath. The week was spent in the neighboring town of Larangeiras with nightly services.

A RESOLUTE GOVERNOR.

Early on the next Sabbath we sought to obtain the key of the Atheneu, in the hands of the Padre Vicente, Director of the Public Instruction. But this functionary had changed his mind and refused the key. The friend who called upon him came back saying, "We are out of a house." "Then the Governor is out with his word," I replied, and proceeded to call on his Excellency, the Governor. He dispatched an "orderly" for the key, who returned without it. The Governor went in person. The priest said he would give up the key when he should be out of office.—"You are dismissed," said the Governor, "send the key back at once." It came. In the meantime, while this diplomacy was going on, the people who had come to a service announced for noon-day had dispersed. The worship was marked for 4 P. M., and invitations circulated anew. A goodly audience appeared. On the following days still larger numbers gathered in the Town Hall. The meetings held by daylight were quiet, by night turbulent. Darkness favors evil doers.

THE STORY OF A BRAVE CONFESSION.

After a few days we proceeded to interior towns, finding everywhere open doors. The village of St. Paul was the limit of our inland journey, owing to the heavy rains impeding further progress. A most interesting history, significant and prophetic, attaches to this comparatively new settlement. The first vicar of this place was a native of the neighboring town of Itabaiana, who pursued his theological studies in Bahia, and thence went to Rome.

From this Mecca of the devout Catholic he returned after two years, shaken in mind, (from what causes I was not able to learn) and abode some time in his father's house, and was appointed by the Archbishop of Bahia to the cure of souls in the nascent village of St. Paul (Sao Paulo).

THE FORBIDDEN BOOK.

The very name of St Paul has a smack of Protestantism in it. We seem to hear the apostle of the nations saying: "but this I willingly confess unto thee that after the way which they call heresy, so worship I the God of my fathers." It did not seem strange to us to listen to the story of the heresy of the vicar Padre Felizmino.

NOTE.—The cut on this page is from "South America: The Neglected Continent," by permission of Fleming H. Revell Co.

All bore witness to his singular fidelity and devotion to his parochial duties and to his abounding charity. But there came a time when this assiduous confessor began to instruct his numerous penitents to seek the Lord direct for absolution, and finally flatly refused to hear any more confessions, bidding his parishioners come to him for hearing of the Word, but to God for the forgiving of their sins.

Following close on this he ceased to say mass and instead thereof began reading the Bible publicly. It began to be whispered that the vicar was turning Protestant, which he stoutly disclaimed. Nevertheless he was cited to give account of himself, and another priest was sent to assume charge of the parish.

PERSECUTED BUT NOT FORSAKEN.

He declined to obey the citation and opened worship in his own residence, to which people flocked by the hundreds, insomuch that it became necessary to buy the adjoining house and tear down the partitions to accommodate the crowd. Meantime but eight or ten waited on his successor in the temple. This would not do, and a "mission" was held, to which the Archbishop despatched friars of the Capuchin order, adepts in terrorizing the simple people of the interior. Vast crowds were drawn into town from neighboring parishes whose priests joined in the crusade against their brother, by whose doctrine their "trade" was damaged. For "mass for holy souls agonizing in purgatory," is a source of revenue which must not be interfered with.

More than one priest convinced of the "vanity" of the mass for the dead, have said to me when I have exhorted them to tell the people the truth, "But I have no other means of livelihood."

DELIVERED UNTO DEATH.

The little village of St. Paul became the theatre of a great tumult, such as raged around the fearless Paul, who often had revealed to him in this way how great things he should suffer for the name of the Lord Jesus.

One Saturday night a messenger was despatched post haste to a stout Protestant farmer living ten or twelve miles distant, to say to him that if he wanted to be present at the "sacrifice of Padre Felizmino" he must be on hand early next Sabbath, or Lord's Day, as death or expulsion from the town by violence was determined upon by the multitude, whose fanaticism had been kindled by the harangues of the "missionarios do Arcebispo." This Protestant who had been a sincere friend of the vicar, hoping that he might become entirely emancipated from Rome, hastened on to the town of Itabaiana to notify the family and friends of the priest of his danger, and to solicit from the authorities measures for his protection. These rode fast in the dawn of the Sabbath to St. Paul, to find the public square filled with armed men crying death to the heretic. The house of the latter was filled with his friends, determined to resist his persecutors and refusing to consent to his expulsion. The vicar likewise said he was ready to die in the midst of his people, but he would not leave them. He resisted the solicitations of his friends, and called his own brother the messenger of Satan because he urged him to save his life by flight. At length the judge who, as chief authority, had gone from Itabaiana to the seat of war, as a measure of safety, and to avoid the shedding of blood, gave him "vos de prisoa," and as a prisoner of the government of Brazil, he was escorted from the town of St. Paul amid weeping and wailing of multitudes who loved him, and the exultation and execration of his fanatical co-religionists. Before this was accomplished José Gregorio (the Protestant farmer) had confronted the howling mob as they cried: "Away with him!" and boldly declared in the face of their threats of violence: "Let him say but one word! Let Padre Felizmino say: 'I am a Protestant,' and he shall stay here."

But the vicar would not say it; on the contrary he cried with bared head as he bade adieu to his people: "How can I leave you as lambs amid wolves? I am still a Catholic apostolic Roman; but these priests are apostate from the Christian faith."

He did not realize that he had drifted, on the current of his Bible reading, clear away from Roman moorings and was fast running out on a seaward tide into the wide ocean of God's love.

CAST DOWN BUT NOT DESTROYED.

He never returned to St. Paul. Settling for awhile in his native town of Itabaiana, his house became the center of ever growing pilgrimages, not only from his own parish but from many others to which the fame of his Bible readings extended. They of his own house became his adversaries, and she that bore him, doubtless moved to this by the priest of Itabaiana, stole away the pestiferous book which was "turning the head" of her son from the faith. He separated himself from his family, who opposed his reading of the Scriptures, and in his own house continued to feed the multitudes who flocked to him. His head seems to have suffered from these perturbations, and he began to announce himself as the herald of the end of the world. This gave his enemies advantage of him. They denounced him as crazy, and prevailed on his family to solicit from the Governor of the State his removal to Bahia. An officer was sent from the capital to say that the Governor wished to see him. He never resisted civil authorities, and quietly obeyed the intimation. He was cajoled into embarking for Bahia whither members of his own family accompanied him, and turned him over to the tender mercies of the authorities of the Holy Mother Church.

GOD'S MESSAGE OF DELIVERANCE.

The Archbishop now had him in his power, but needed a pretext for confining him in the Insane Asylum. His case was submitted to a group of medical men. They declared that his was a case of "religious mania." Padre Felizmino was henceforth an inmate of the Asylum of St. John until the Lord in compassion sent the angel of death and took him up to the city where all tears are wiped away from all faces. He wrote constantly letters of exhortation to his disciples who hold his memory sacred, and still meet to read his epistles. Many of them refuse to believe that he is dead, and look for his return and mourn for him with deep sorrow. A few of them are advancing into the full light of the Gospel. It was my privilege to hold a service in the house of one of these—a farmer who had been intimate with the vicar. He told how the priest had one day when they were alone said to him, laying his hand on the Book: "This is a mirror which too long lay closed on my table; late I opened it and began to see." He put aside images, masses, and the confessional, and bade the people seek God only. He went so far as to say that the Pope was Anti-Christ and that his emissaries were devils, and yet affirmed that he was not a Protestant but still belonged to the Church. The major part of those who still reverence his memory are afraid of the name Protestant and avoid contact with us; but they keep away from mass and confession, and meet to read. His friend is persuaded that had the priest lived he would have led out a vast multitude in exodus from the darkness of Egypt, into the land of promise. The ecclesiastical authorities evidently feared a like result, and found means of inducing his family to request intervention of civil authorities under pretext that he was "beside himself."

I visited his aged mother, who had been made an instrument of the Church for this purpose. She said that her son returned "sick" from two years residence in Rome, but had never been "violent;" on the contrary was gentle towards all, and inculcated on his followers non-resistance. He seems to have become alienated from his family solely on account of their resisting his conscientious efforts to instruct the people in doctrines derived from his Bible reading, but which to Rome are "strange fire." It is evident that his mind became confused and shaken by the vain effort to reconcile the doctrines of Scripture with the dogmas of "Holy Mother Church," from which he was reluctant to separate himself, although evidently separated by an abyss which could not be bridged. The house in which he last held his services is now occupied by the father of the present Governor of the State, a constant reader of the Bible—"a Protestant in everything but the name," said his son. This old man invited friends to meet me, and his house was packed by an attentive congregation who listened to the reading of the same Scriptures which drifted the priest away from Roman moorings, and are making many of his countrymen in Sergipe "wise unto salvation" Services held in St. Paul in a private house and in the Town Hall were attended by resolute young men who maintain Sabbath worship together, and by their consistent lives are forcing their adversaries to testify only good of them. Pray for them.

OUR MISSION IN COLOMBIA.

REV. T. H. CANDOR, BOGOTÁ.

Twelve years ago I joined the Presbyterian Mission in Bogotá and remained long enough to get a practical knowledge of the Spanish language, and to do some work in preaching the Gospel in the city, and in starting an educational work in connection with the Mission, for boys and young men.

In 1888, in company with my wife, I opened a station at Barranquilla on the north coast of Colombia, and we remained at that place until last year, 1893, when we returned to the United States for a vacation.

But having been urged by the Bogotá Station to resume work at that place, and being transferred to that station by the Board of Foreign Missions, we sailed from New York on June 2, 1894, and reached Barranquilla June 18.

IMPRESSIONS IN BARRANQUILLA.

The city is growing, and has now more than 40,000 people. The business portion and the finer residences are built of brick and are good substantial structures, but the rest of the city is composed of small houses made of adobe clay and roofed with thatch. The streets are very sandy, are not paved, have no sewers, and during the wet season, from May to October, often run with water like rivers. The climate is thoroughly tropical, rarely cooler than 75° nor hotter than 90°; but the sun makes such an impression at mid-day that but few people are to be seen on the streets. Yet the general health of the people is good. Malarial fevers, caused by the river swamps near the city, are the chief complaints, but they are rarely severe. The population is the most cosmopolitan of any in the country, except perhaps that of Panamá. Here are to be found foreigners from all civilized lands, engaged in trade, or at work developing the country. The large proportion of foreigners make the people anxious to learn of what is transpiring in the world, and this has a tendency to open the way for evangelistic work.

Here our mission has a station with Rev. T. S. Pond and wife, especially engaged in direct evangelistic work, and in the care of a school for boys and young men. There is also a school for girls under the care of Mrs. E. H. Ladd and Miss C. J. Riley.

Here we spent some ten days in visiting friends, encouraging those who profess faith in Christ, preaching the Gospel to all who would hear, and in preparing for the trip to the interior of the country.

JOURNEY TO BOGOTÁ.

Resuming our trip on June 27, we went on board a river steamer, commanded by our good friend and fellow-countryman Capt. W. L. Bradford, and started up the river for Honda.

One pleasant incident on the trip was a visit from an American citizen, resident in Colombia, who was just returning to his home from a business trip to Medellín, our third mission station, where Rev. and Mrs. J. G. Touzeau are located. He gave an excellent report of the workers and the work in that station, and encouraged us to believe that much good is being done there for the cause of Christ. Medellín is three or four days' journey from the river, over rough mountain roads, and none of the other missionaries have ever visited the place.

We arrived at Honda on Saturday evening, and spent the Sabbath at our hotel, where much kindly attention was shown us. This is an old Spanish city, partly in ruins, the result of an earthquake many years ago; but it is a busy, driving little place, where Gospel work might be done if we had laborers to place on the field.

However, we were yet a hundred miles from our destination, and on Monday morning we started over the mule trail as the quickest method of reaching the end of our journey. For three days and a half our party, mostly mounted upon mules, climbed over the rocks, skirted precipices, going up, going down, catching glimpses of some of the grandest scenery in the world, being sometimes above the clouds, sometimes below them, but often directly in them; stopping for meals and rest at some friendly but homely wayside inn, and resting at night in hotels in the villages that cluster in the beautiful valleys of Guaduas, Villeta and Agua Larga that lie between Honda and the plain of Bogota, 8,600 feet above the sea level.

Thursday forenoon, July 12, we passed over the crest of the mountains and entered the plain of Bogotá, the heart of the Colombian Andes. Twenty miles out from the city we took the recently constructed railroad, and at 4 P. M. were warmly welcomed by the members of the station and old friends.

After forty days' travel from New York we really rested, thankful that we had been kept in almost perfect health and saved from any accident during the long trip.

IMPRESSIONS IN BOGOTÁ.

A great improvement is noticed in the material aspect of the city. Many new buildings have been constructed, and they are of a better class than the older ones. Electric and gas lights, steam and street cars, sewers and paved streets, and carts and coaches give a more modern look to the city than it had a dozen years ago.

The population is also evidently larger than it was when I was formerly a resident, and must now be considerably more than 100,000, but a large proportion of the people are very poor, ignorant, dirty and miserable; yet there is much wealth, culture and refinement among the other classes. It is not believed that the people are disposed to be refractory and law-breaking, yet it cannot fail to be noticed that the police and military forces are larger in proportion to the population than we are accustomed to see at home. The peace and prosperity of the Republic no doubt depend upon this fact, however, as the history of the country shows that it is necessary in order to prevent civil strife and war.

The present administration is more favorable to the Clerical or Roman Catholic party than others have been for many years past. This fact is not favorable to the propagation of Evangelical Christianity, yet as the constitution of the country guarantees religious liberty, and a public treaty with the United States secures for all American citizens liberty of worship, our work goes forward unmolested, and in fact protected by the civil authorities.

WORK OF THE MISSION STATION.

Bogotá, being the capital city of Colombia, has the best organized work of any station in the country. This may be divided in three classes.

1. School work for girls and children, under the care of two teachers, Miss Martha Hunter and Miss Nellie Nevegold. This school has its own home, bought several years ago, and it is doing a good work.

2. School work for boys and young men, under the care of Rev. A. R. Miles. This school also has its own home, bought and improved within the last few years.

These schools were opened in part as a means of getting access to those who may be pupils and bringing them under Gospel influences; but the chief object is that of training women and men for service as teachers and preachers of the Gospel, and preparing native converts for leadership in the years to come.

3. Church and evangelistic work, has been under the care of Rev. M. E. Caldwell, who is just now retiring from this field, and this work will then fall to my hands. There is a church organization, which worships in a very respectable building, owned by the Mission. Members of this organization are scattered through the neighboring cities and villages, and to visit them, hold services and establish preaching stations or churches will be an important work in the near future.

In this revisit to Bogotá, nothing has impressed me more than the fact that the great work to be done here is that of preaching the Gospel to the people, earnestly, clearly, and effectively.

Many of the people are now ready to listen to "the old, old story," that to them, however, is really new, and many would hear gladly.

INSTITUTO INTERNACIONAL, SANTIAGO, CHILE.

THE INSTITUTO INTERNACIONAL.

REV. J. M. ALLIS, D. D., SANTIAGO, CHILE.

This is one of the few high-grade institutions for Christian instruction in South America. It is situated in the city of Santiago, and is under the direction of the Chile Mission of our Foreign Board.

The rush of students fully warrants the outlay for the new edifice. Every room is taken, we have four boys in the reading-room, and one occupies the hospital, though he is not sick. We have still other applications. We declined twelve or fifteen old students because we wanted only the best. Some of these plead to be allowed to return, but we would have only those whom we could trust.

The fact that so many were not permitted to return has had a good effect on the discipline of the school, for the boys want to return, and they know that they cannot come unless they behave.

In the instruction we are obliged to follow the state curriculum. The new concentric system includes two hours a week for the study of religion, so we have good opportunity to press home the Gospel.

The two higher classes are not yet included in the new plan, so religious instruction is with them voluntary. As soon as the new plan includes all the classes we will have full opportunity to teach the truth. As it is there seems to be a very good feeling. Parents know that we are an evangelical school. Mr. Christen called for volunteers for Bible study from the advanced classes, and eighteen responded. They became so much interested that once they requested that the Bible class should occur the day before a vacation day so that it might not be lost. Mr. Lowe, of our mission, has the three lower classes, and is taking the lads through a thorough course of Bible study.

Mr. Christen is perfecting a society among the larger boys the object of which is the moral and spiritual uplifting of the people in Chile and in neighboring Republics. The members promise to do all they can, all their lives, to accomplish this end, according to the teachings of the Bible, and in order that they may be the better prepared to do the work, they propose having regular meetings for Bible study while in the Instituto, and to keep up correspondence with the Society when they leave.

Some of our pupils attend the English Church and Sabbath-school. Some attend the Spanish Church and Sabbath-school, and quite a number attend the Christian Endeavor Society of the Spanish Church, some of them being active members. We have already a nucleus of Christian boys, and we are hoping that the teaching now given will in due time produce its effects.

On Sunday morning Mr. Christen preaches a short sermon to the boarders. We have 51 boarders, the largest number the school ever had. We have also 70 day scholars. The day scholars attend prayers in the morning, and the classes for Bible instruction.

We had a dedicatory service several weeks ago, and last week a public gathering of the friends of the school and of the pupils. The rain prevented a large gathering in the first instance, but at the last meeting there were about 300 present.

One of the daily papers asked for Mr. Christen's address for publication. We are better known than ever. Our building is familiar to all. A while ago a senator called and said that the President had planned to call and see the school. We have now sons of senators and of deputies, and also the son of a brother of President Balmaceda.

This school is reaching the upper or ruling classes of the whole coast. We have had scholars from Bolivia, and not long ago a senator of that Republic sent for programmes.

Besides this school there are others conducted by our Mission. There is a day school in Valparaíso with 250 scholars, and others not so large in Chillan, and in Copiapó, and one has just been started here in Santiago. This school has already, after five months, over fifty scholars. In all these schools are daily Bible lessons, and most of the children attend our Sabbath-schools and Christian Endeavor Societies.

We continue to push the tract work, which could be extended largely had we the means. We are also enlarging the circulation and usefulness of our mission paper. A few years ago we changed from a free paper to a pay basis. The circulation was cut down to less than 2000. We are now where we were, with about 8000 subscribers, and we send the paper all through Chile, and to Bolivia and Peru.

We are pushing itinerant work by trips north and south, with the most hopeful signs. This work ought to be constantly followed up, so that we might form centers from which to work. The Valparaíso Bible Society sends its agents in all directions, and the introduction of the Bible in ever increasing numbers aids this work very much.

We have this past year given particular attention to local meetings in large centers and in contiguous places. In Valparaíso there are six meeting places besides the church, counting the contiguous places supplied. In Santiago we had four meeting places. The attendance varies from 15 to 50, and the interest increases. If space afforded, it would be interesting to add incidents in connection with these meetings. They are always opposed by the priests, and they do all they can to keep the people from attending. We have been obliged to give up two places in Santiago, because of priestly influence, and it is not easy to find men willing to rent rooms for this purpose. Mr. Wilson, pastor of the English congregation, had to leave his own house because the owner's wife heard that he was interested in these gatherings.

Counting the temperance meetings and young people's meetings, we have had as many as seventeen different gatherings a week. There are in Santiago two successful temperance societies among the Spanish people, and two or three in Valparaíso. Thus we are trying to press forward all possible agencies. We need more men, we need more funds, so that we can make what we are attempting more effective and attempt even more for the Master. All of our churches have had additions, and there are more coming.

Mr. Boomer has organized a church of 18 members in Chillan, and is much encouraged at the development of spiritual life among the new disciples. We are working among a people unacquainted with the Gospel, and who are far from Christ. The outlook is hopeful. Pray for the opening of hearts, for more laborers, and for the abundant outpouring of the Holy Spirit.

EDUCATION IN BRAZIL: ITS RELATION TO PROTESTANTISM.

H. M. LANE, M. D.

President of the Protestant College at Sao Paulo, Brazil.

Under the Empire there was nominally a system of public schools, controlled entirely by politicians. The schools were a sham.

Teachers were appointed without regard to their ability to teach, and often hired cheap substitutes to do their work, or let it go undone, while they engaged in other pursuits and still enjoyed the life emoluments.

Under these conditions it became possible for the president of one of the provinces to discharge thirteen teachers because they could not read or write. The teachers were obliged to supply house and furniture, and attendance was optional.

The only inspection was that of the parish priest, who saw that the regulation prayers were learned by heart, so consequently little else was studied.

Under the old régime all serious efforts at education were limited practically to preparatory and professional schools for the privileged classes.

Large sums were spent on the Emperor's pet institution, the College of Pedro II., but the course was overloaded and pretensions badly directed, and failed of results.

The schools of medicine, law and science were good of their kind. The attempts at education in the provinces was a failure, and the normal schools and lyceums were, as a rule, below criticism.

Preparatory and commercial branches were taught in private schools. Those who desired a liberal education, went abroad.

The whole situation is summed up in the fact that the Empire left to the Republic a legacy of 87 per cent. of illiteracy.

A MONOPOLY OF IGNORANCE.

In olden time Rome monopolized learning; to-day she is trying to monopolize ignorance.

Even the learning which she permits lacks an ethical basis, so that the education she gives is no bar to vice and crime. This could be shown easily by the penal statistics of our own country.

The new Brazilian Republic has to begin at the foundation and, in spite of internecine strife and financial stringency, she is making a brave, though not always a well-directed, effort to educate the people. Laws are made in abundance, of the most liberal sort, followed by the inevitable "regulation" for their execution. These regulations descend to the minutest detail of administration, and often change the evident meaning of the law to suit old bureaucratic methods, which are also a heritage from the old régime, or to protect old sinecures. It has not yet been possible to separate education from politics, and the ponderous administrative machinery often completely hides the school.

When we reflect that, with the advantage of heredity and almost a century of practical self-government, it was 25 years after our independence before any serious effort was made to organize a system of schools for the people, we shall not hastily judge our Brazilian neighbors, handicapped as they are by old habits of thought and modes of action, as well as by the open enmity of Rome and the cunning machinations of the Jesuits.

THE EDUCATIONAL RENAISSANCE.

The situation in Brazil is, however, most hopeful because the best of patriotic Brazilians, keen of intellect, quick to grasp the situation, perceive the absolute necessity of schools for the people, understand the value of modern methods, and have an honest desire in some way and at whatever expense, to educate the people.

It has been stated by prominent Brazilians, that the most valuable factors in educational advance of the last twenty years, are the American schools founded by the Protestants at Sao Paulo.

The educational work of our mission has been confined chiefly to the state of Sao Paulo. Recently, however, a branch school of the Sao Paulo establishment has been started at Curitiba, the capital of Parana.

In Brazil the question of the school as an evangelizing agency, is no longer under discussion. The growth and spread of all Christian work wherever schools have been established, and the difficulty of accomplishing anything permanent without schools, is an experience too universal to be put down as a coincidence. Under the influence of good schools churches grow up and become self-supporting, the missionary spirit is soon developed and an intelligent native ministry comes forward to relieve the missionary and the boards, while in the sections where there are no schools, the churches languish and fall into a perfunctory life or disappear altogether.

LARGE PLANS AND THOROUGH WORK.

From the earliest days of evangelistic work in Sao Paulo, education has occupied a prominent place. From small beginnings, with painstaking labor and careful study, moulding the work to the needs of the people, adapting all that is valuable in modern methods and appliances to the peculiarities of race and climate, the schools at Sao Paulo have been built up into a complete system of graded schools, from the kindergarten to the college, including manual training and normal classes. There is an enrollment of from 500 to 600 of all ages and both sexes. This is the limit of our accommodations. Many are turned away for lack of room. To this educational work belongs the credit of introducing into Brazil the kindergarten and manual training as a part of a plan of symmetrical education; also of carrying to successful issue the education of both sexes on the same plane.

Our mission schools have the prestige of success, and enjoy the confidence of all classes. They are a success considered from an economical stand-point, being entirely self-supporting. They are also admirable from a pedagogic point of view, having demonstrated the value of the methods evolved, through the students who are graduated, and whose work can be compared with that of those trained in the best institutions of the United States. We adapt, not adopt, the best devices and employ first-class specialists, wherever we can find them, whether in Europe or North America. Upon the evangelical side we keep constantly in view the central purpose of the schools, and make everything contribute towards laying deep and broad the foundations of a sound Christian character, taking the Holy Scriptures as a text-book, and weaving the Gospel of Christ into the whole plan.

THE COLLEGE ORGANIZED.

As a natural outgrowth of this broad scheme of education the Protestant College was organized under authority of the General Assembly of 1889-90, on broad, undenominational lines. A charter was secured from the Board of Regents of the University of the State of New York, a valuable piece of land was donated in the city of Sao Paulo, and work was commenced in very limited accommodations. The College is now in the third year of regular college work. This work will compare favorably in quantity and quality with that done in any of our smaller American colleges. Here also, as in the preparatory schools, the courses of study are regulated to suit the country and people. The Latin youth, keener of intellect, quicker of apprehension and capable of more intense application, require less rigorous discipline than the stronger but less impressionable Anglo-Saxon. The mere acquisition of knowledge, the training of the mind and will is not difficult; what they lack is the hard, practical sense of the less vivacious but more direct Anglo-Saxon, to make the knowledge acquired available; they also lack the clear views of the ethical relations which characterize the Protestant peoples, and are of New Testament origin.

A MUNIFICENT BENEFACTOR.

The late John I. Mackenzie, thoroughly impressed with the ruinous tendencies of the Roman Church, and with the truth that the only remedy for it was in the teaching of the Bible, gave $50,000 to erect a building at Sao Paulo, Brazil, to be known as "Mackenzie College," in which God and His Word should be forever honored and taught; the building to be under control of the Protestant College. This building is in course of erection. Owing to the sudden death of Mr. Mackenzie, the fund will fall somewhat short of the amount named. The building will furnish accommodations for about 400 students, and there is every indication that it will be filled.

We shall soon need the assistance of friends of Protestant education.

The people of the United States need no argument to be convinced that neither a pure Christianity nor free institutions can flourish in ignorance. Republics thrive poorly under Rome. The sense of personal responsibility declines, conscience becomes atrophied, salvation is a matter of contract, and the ethical sense is blunted.

WHAT THE NEW REPUBLIC NEEDS.

Not only the permanence of Evangelical Christianity but the perpetuity of the republic in Brazil, depends upon education, not any education, but education upon those sound Christian principles that have made our own free institutions possible.

In the organic law of the land they have given freedom to religion; it remains now to give a religion fit for freedom. Freedom cannot thrive on a false philosophy, or prosper under the rule of Rome.

In the state of Sao Paulo responsibility for evangelistic work has been shifted from the shoulder of the foreign missionary to a strong native church, but, the educational institutions of Protestantism, the school and college, the home churches are pledged to foster for a generation or two, at least.

No argument can be made for Christian education in our own country that will not apply with equal force to Brazil. The permanence of Evangelical Christianity will depend upon lifting the whole mass of the people from the groveling and false theories of life, whether of pagan or Roman origin, into the higher and cleaner atmosphere of thought and action which surrounds the teachings of Christ, rather than upon the careful training of a few leaders. The very pith and marrow of Protestant education is the development of conscience, a clear sense of individual responsibility, and the cultivation of character, leading up to the high ideals of Christianity. This is the pressing need of the new republic, in order that a sound patriotism may be developed.

HOME MISSIONS.

DRAGGED AMONG CACTUS AND STUMPS.

The Penitentes are a fanatical sect among the Romanists of New Mexico. Their religious festivals are attended with the most distressing penance. In order to expiate sins committed, and by works and sufferings supererogatory, to atone for the sins that may hereafter be committed, the devotee is subjected to painful flogging, laceration and crucifixion. The penitent is placed upon the floor face downward and flogged by a "Selador" or "Brother of Charity." The harder the brother strikes "without malice" the more loving he is considered. The blows are administered with a rope and received upon the naked back. Then he is dragged over the ground, through beds of cactus and among stumps, thrown into the water and otherwise tormented.

The victim is stretched upon the cross and fastened with thongs instead of nails, where he sometimes dies from pain and exposure.

The penitente then says to the "Picador" or pricker: "For the love of God give me the five wounds of Christ, the seven last words of Jesus, the ten commandments, the forty days in the wilderness." Having received the wounds he goes forth whipping himself.

These two forms of torture are illustrated on pages 418 and 420.

The details of this wretched business have been fully set forth in a little volume by the Rev. A. M. Darley, of Pueblo, Col.

We need present no further apology for entering New Mexico with the mission school and the church.

Our church at Fort Wrangell, Alaska, has seventy-six members, and is under the pastoral care of Rev. Clarence Thwing, M. D. It is in every way an interesting and hopeful field. It will be remembered that Fort Wrangell is the place where our Alaska Missions began in 1877 with Mrs. McFarland's school.

"Dear Sir:—In that picture on page 316, CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD for October, there are nine in that back row; you only give eight names. How can one make eight names go around to nine persons?

Faternally yours,

CHAS. F. RICHARDSON."

The names are all there except that of the Sexton of our church in Nebraska. He stands modestly in the back row,—the third from the left. He is so well known throughout the Church that his picture doesn't need to be labeled.

Let it not be forgotten that the General Assembly at Saratoga, with a hearty unanimity, adopted the following resolutions among others:

Resolved, 4. That the attention of Sessions be called to the inadequacy of the ordinary methods of securing funds for this cause, and that they be urged to appoint a Committee on Home Missions whose duty it shall be to co-operate with the pastors in disseminating home missionary information, promoting home missionary interest and devising more effective methods for increasing home missionary offerings, and that these Committees be urged to take into immediate consideration the present needs of the Board, in view of the fact that extraordinary pressure will come upon the Board, and that the Assembly approve the custom of giving home missions a regular place in the Monthly Concerts of Missions.

Resolved, 13. That we recommend to all our Presbyteries the holding of simultaneous meetings in the interests of home missions, and we request the Board of Home Missions to prepare literature, and devise means to aid in so doing.

The Board has the requisite literature for gratuitous distribution, and rejoices that the demand for it is growing.

THE UTAH SITUATION.

REV. J. A. LIVINGSTON SMITH.

In a town of three thousand inhabitants, with less than half a dozen non-Mormon or "gentile" families and but three professing Christians (outside of the mission family after seventeen years of Christian mission work it required a special dispensation of grace to inspire the heart of a missionary with hope, and yet I have never been more sanguine in all my life than now. I am not sure that the Lord designed to convert all these hardened hearts "right speedily," but I am quite sure that the seed that has been sown "shall not return to him void" and that the truth is working mightily through all this region and throughout the territory. There never was a day when opportunities were larger, nor when Christian men and women were so respected and demanded, as at present. They are not flocking to our churches; worldliness is not at any apparent discount.

The people never were so thoroughly dissatisfied with themselves and their possessions and prospects, and never so willing to accept all the comfort and counsel and help that we can bring them.

STATEHOOD.

Statehood even is not without its "larger hope." On the contrary I believe that we should the rather welcome it as the fullest answer to our prayers, notwithstanding the discomfiture and consternation of many who can see nothing but "clouds and thick darkness" in the future by reason of its coming. I have never favored it in the past. I have always conscientiously opposed it because of the unworthiness of the people and their incapacity for self-government. At the same time I have been praying and laboring for the "hastening of the day" when the people would be both worthy and capable, and now that God has seen fit to bestow that prerogative earlier and on less stringent terms than I proposed or deemed necessary, I have no disposition to consider his ways a "public calamity," and I already discern many evidences of its proving one of the mightiest factors in the disintegration of the Mormon Church and the weakening of priestly domination that we have ever known. Never has the conflict between the parties been so animated, never has the interference of the priesthood in political matters been so openly denounced, never have the people done so much of their own thinking and talking and never have they had so intense a hatred of any interference with their right to exercise their own judgment in political and secular matters generally.

COUNSEL AND AID WELCOMED.

Consequently they welcome the counsel and aid of everyone who sympathizes with their demand for freedom of thought, of speech and of action. Every Christian ought to be that kind of sympathizer and helper and to all such there is the grandest opportunity of their lives to get in the most effective help in the line of Christian liberty and manhood and citizenship. It cannot be wise to exhaust resources and waste time in deploring that which the combined Church and State could not longer withstand. The wisdom of God was wiser than that of the wisest men. That which we felt could only prove a disaster unless it came after the people were entirely worthy of it, the Lord has already demonstrated to be a greater blessing by being conferred before any of us expected it or were prepared for it and long before we were worthy of it, before any of us were worthy of it! In fact it came to us as grace always does, and coming as grace and not as our desert, it has all the demonstration and power of a Gospel lesson to saint and sinner, to Mormon and missionary, if only we had faith to believe and eyes to see and hearts to receive.

OUR PART.

We must identify ourselves with the movement and march at the head of the procession and direct and conduct it, or we will have "neither part nor lot in it" or in the victory that I am confident the Lord is going to get out of it, in the face of our opposition or indifference if we will not allow him to use us as his instruments.

My prayer therefore is that the Lord may incline the hearts of all his people, in and out of Utah, to hear his voice and recognize his hand, and now that he has opened a breach in the ranks of the enemy, that the Church may come up as a mighty and solid phalanx "to the help of the Lord, to the help of the Lord against the mighty."

BIBLE STUDY.

I have just returned from Nephi where for two weeks, in Bible study, teachers' convention and presbytery, we have been sitting with the blessed Master on the mount of transfiguration and getting new glimpses of duty and of his glory as the Saviour of lost men. It was the unanimous voice of the ministers and teachers, and of the elders and visitors as well, that we certainly never had a feast of "fatter things" than on this mountain top! We had Bible study in the forenoon under Dr. Wishard's excellent instruction. Teachers' institute in the afternoon with street preaching at 7 P. M. and preaching or lectures in the chapel at 8 P. M. each day for a week. Then presbytery began and continued five days with the most perfect harmony and deepest interest. Meanwhile, Dr. Wishard delivered three stirring lectures in the presence of a crowded audience on "Baptism for the Dead," "Preaching to Spirits in Prison" and the "Sufficiency of the Scriptures." So great was the interest and so powerful the assaults upon the Mormon citadel that the officials at once telegraphed to Salt Lake City for two of their ablest men, Elders Penrose and Roberts, to reply to Dr. Wishard, and upon their invitation we went in a body to their Mormon tabernacle to hear each of them in a two hour's reply respectively. They then gave Dr. Wishard the use of their tabernacle to reply to their replies and on Monday evening last the "grand old man" gave them more Gospel in the house than they ever heard since the day their false prophet made his appearance! Oh, it was glorious! The spirit of his address was as Christlike as the substance was evangelical, and the audience listened as if spell-bound from 8 to 10.30 P. M.!

Never have we had such an open door or received such a hearing of the truth in Christ in the history of Utah Missions. "Our hearts did burn within us," and we were inspired with fresh courage and hope. This is but a "sign of the times" that are upon us.

Concert of Prayer For Church Work at Home.

JANUARY,	The New West
FEBRUARY,	The Indians
MARCH,	The Older States.
APRIL,	The Cities.
MAY,	The Mormons.
JUNE,	Our Missionaries.
JULY,	Results of the Year.
AUGUST,	Romanists and Foreigners.
SEPTEMBER,	The Outlook.
OCTOBER,	The Treasury.
NOVEMBER,	The Mexicans.
DECEMBER,	The South.

THE MEXICANS.

No part of our country has a more extended or romantic history than that occupied by the Mexicans. Their history is voluminous. It dates back more than two hundred years before the Declaration of Independence. Though first to be settled by Europeans that region is last in the march of progress. Forces of retardation have kept it back from the place which its material resources might have given it. But it has caught the impulse of progress, and has been making rapid strides toward prosperity. The forces of civilization have been actively at work for more than a decade arousing the slumbering energies of the people, developing the resources, discovering the attractions and building highways which bring the people into close relations with the States eastward and westward. One of the earliest of these forces was the missionary. Indeed the mission teacher was the forerunner of those aggressive agencies which have awakened the people to their possibilities, and made known to the outer world the advantages of climate and the wealth of soil and mineral deposit found in that long neglected country.

Material prosperity always follows successful missionary effort, and the reasons are obvious. The Gospel quickens all the springs of life and progress. It not only begets a high and reverential regard for God and his word, but it also kindles a desire for the best interests of society in material as well as spiritual things. It does more. It regenerates the homes of the people, and makes the "wilderness and the solitary place glad" and causes "the desert to rejoice and blossom as the rose." By its agency the prophecy is fulfilled that "waters shall break out and streams in the desert. And the glowing sand shall become a pool and the thirsty ground springs of water." This has become literally true in those arid wastes formerly known as the "Great American Desert," of which New Mexico formed a hopeless part. Our Christian civilization is rapidly covering its desert stretches with life by means of irrigating waters. The former "habitations of jackals,"—those coyotes of the plains—are covered with "grass and rushes." "And an highway is there" and many of "the redeemed of the Lord walk there."

Our work has been blessed with a steady growth from the first. Where we began with a mission school twenty-eight years ago we now have a Synod comprising three Presbyteries, including Arizona, which enrolls 45 churches and a number of mission stations. The 27 ministers are not sufficient for this work, and the inability of the Board to provide more has compelled the brethren to employ as "helpers" pious and promising young men who have been trained for the work in the mission schools and afterwards by our ministers. Twenty-one of these helpers have been employed during the past year, seven of whom have received regular licenses. In addition to these forces we have twenty-seven schools and forty-four teachers. Several schools have been closed by the stern necessity for retrenchment.

In these 45 churches are 1,739 members, 2,217 Sabbath-school scholars. During the year 265 were added on profession of their faith and 186 by letter.

The present condition of our work in New Mexico is set forth in the following letter from the Rev. James Menaul:

Only four churches have been organized within the bounds of our synod during the past year:

Santa Fé, sp. July 29, 1893, with 11 members.
Las Cruces, sp. Nov. 7, 1893, with 16 members
Springerville Feb. 17, 1893, with 19 members
Las Placitas, sp. Feb. 24, 1893, with 35 members.

All the above are important fields and should be supplied with the preaching of the word.

Our synod is composed of about the same number of ministers this year as last year. A number of evangelists and helpers in the Spanish work have been dropped from the work, the Board not being able to provide the means for their support. This has resulted in leaving some of our important stations without preaching during the greater part of the winter.

The Presbytery of Arizona is composed of eight ministers and nine churches. During the past year Clifton and Morencia have been without pastor or evangelist.

At the present writing Morencia has an evangelist who devotes his time to the Spanish speaking people.

The Presbytery of Rio Grande has eight ministers and twelve churches. Of the twelve churches ten have contributed to the Board of Home Missions.

The Presbytery of Santa Fé is composed of nine ministers in active work and twenty churches. Most of the churches within the bounds of this Presbytery are Spanish, and are ministered to most of the time by eleven evangelists and helpers. Reports of large attendance come to us from many of the Spanish churches, especially is this true of the week evening prayer meetings. Great efforts have been made during the year to increase the contributions to the Board of Home Missions, and something has been done in this direction, but not enough.

In the Presbytery of Rio Grande there is a very important field that should be occupied on the lower Pecos. At Vaud, some six miles south of Eddy, a colony of Swiss people have taken up lands and are making good homes. These people are Presbyterians, and it is our duty to take care of them. A man who could speak English and French might do a good work among these people and a church of forty or fifty members might be organized. On the line of the A. and P. Railway we need a man to take charge of mission work at Williams and Winslow, but our new church at Springerville must have a pastor. This is an important field; there is a large Sabbath school and a Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor, and large congregations attend the services.

There are other new fields being supplied by the synodical missionary and superintendents of other denominations, but as yet no attempt has been made to organize churches.

The effects of retrenchment in our synod have been painful not only to the evangelists, but to the people. The evangelists who are now in the work are getting only $1.25 a day, and some of these evangelists have to help the needy within the bounds of their congregations. I am afraid some of our evangelists will become involved in debt, and that for the good of the mission work we may have to dismiss some from the work. Then retrenchment has had a bad effect on our American work, as the people fear to undertake work, that they are unable to do without aid from the Board of Home Missions.

The foreign element within the bounds of our synod consists chiefly of Chinese, Swiss, with a large number of Scotch and Welsh in the mining districts of Arizona. The Swiss, Scotch and Welsh are, generally speaking, Presbyterians. The Chinese are heathen, and with the exception of a few Sabbath schools that are carried on by the Presbyterians, nothing is being done for these people.

At present the only thing that is done for this foreign element is a visit and sermon from the synodical missionary. These Scotch and Welsh people are found in the great mining camps of Arizona, and are most grateful for such visits as the missionary can make, and all who can do so are anxious to attend services, and contribute to the expense of the missionary.

THE CRUCIFIED PENITENTE.

As yet little has been done for the Swiss people who are seeking homes in New Mexico. New fields could be taken up among the Indians and Mexicans, but we do not call these people foreigners.

Our duty to these people is plain, "Preach the Gospel to every creature." This is the command of the Master, and again we are to "do good unto all men, especially unto those who are of the household of faith." Many of these people from Scotland, Ireland and Wales are of the same household of faith as we are, and it is our duty and privilege to give them the Gospel. The tithes, if brought into God's storehouse, are abundant to send the Gospel to all classes and conditions of men, and with godly men to preach the Gospel of salvation, the Kingdom of Christ would come, God would be honored and souls saved.

The exceptional population in our field is very large. Jews, Africans, Chinese, Italians and I might say people from all parts of the world are found in these territories. The East and the West meet in the valleys, and far up on the high mountains where the gold, silver and copper is dug out of the earth you will find people from almost all parts of the globe. These exceptional classes have been entirely neglected by all the Christian denominations as far as I know.

In many places the religious interests during the past year have been more spiritual and earnest than at any other time in the history of missions in these territories. In a number of places earnest religious meetings have been conducted and many have come out on the side of Protestant Christianity, and we hope many have been truly converted.

NATURAL RESOURCES.

During the past five years little rain has fallen; the grass has dried up, and most of the cattle have died. At present a change appears to have come, and we are likely to have more rains. This will bring wealth to the country. Our copper mines are immense. This is especially true in Arizona. In New Mexico the gold mines are developing, and new ones are being discovered so that while the price of silver is such that the silver mines are not being worked to any extent other natural resources are being developed.

While it may be true that business in general has not been as active during the past year as in former years, yet there has not been as much real suffering among the poor as in many places in the Eastern states. Cattle and sheep men have suffered much during the past year, but the real cause of this was paying large interest on borrowed money, lack of feed for stock and great loss by death. But the prospects are getting better. Cattle kings will no longer claim the country and count their flocks by ten thousands, but the poor man will be able to own and take care of small flocks, and this will be much better for our territories. In the midst of all discouragements our work in all its departments is in a healthy condition. Considerable has been done, but much is to be done, and as I travel over these great plains and through these great mountains, I often think of the promise made to Joshua, "Every place that the sole of your feet shall tread upon, that have I given unto you."

A PAULINE JOURNEY.

REV. W. WILLIAMS.

During the quarter we made a detailed tour through the greatest part of the district traveling in our buggy night and day. At times we would be imbedded in deep snow, at other times scorched by the sun. On other occasions we had to slumber out at night on the high mountains, in the midst of snow, without much fire and having to listen to the pleasant chorus of the wild cat, the grizzly bear and their companions. October 30, 1898, we left Santa Fé, with our ponies, box of provisions, rifle, a good supply of bibles, testaments, tracts, etc. The first place we came to was Tesuque, an old historical village. The valley, as it nestles in the bosom of the Rockies, is considered very fruitful. There is plenty of water and many fruit trees are planted. Farming is also in a prosperous condition. In the little town (Mexican) there is an old church, and as the distance is not too great, many visitors who come to Santa Fé drive over. It being noon, we took a sandwich for lunch and drank of the brook. Our destination for the night was San Juan. Night, however, caught us about 5 miles from that old Indian town, and we had to remain at Santa Cruz (holy cross), the first town established by the Spaniards in this part of the "new world." The place is really older than Santa Fé. Early the following morning I crossed the Rio Grande and at Chamita I began to make inquiries about the road, and the best place to ford the Chama river. This is a branch of the Rio Grande and a very treacherous river to ford. One of my neighbors in fording had lost his depth and was drowned. A man with a wagon was coming from the direction of the river. This man I stopped and after getting all the information, we had a general conversation. He was an intelligent Mexican. I offered him a tract and one of the Gospels. His face brightened up and as he ordered his little boy to come for the tract, he asked me if I was a Protestant. I answered in the affirmative. He then expressed his joy as he was very strongly inclined to Protestantism and tired of Catholicism. Whenever he could attend Protestant services he was always glad to do so. In this district there are none, he said, but I should like you to come and preach to us. My house is on the other side of the river, and rising in his seat he pointed to an alto house near a big tree, the most conspicuous and biggest in the little town. "My house is open to you," he said, "and my hospitality for you and your horses. Come as soon as you can and preach to us, you will be safe under my roof." I gave him quite a number of tracts and the Gospels which he promised to distribute amongst his neighbors. As I parted I could not help seeing the kind hand of Providence in this meeting on the road, and I went on my way rejoicing. I also determined that this hungry soul should get the Bread of Life.

It was not long before I came to the river. Finding the approaches very difficult and unpleasant, I asked an old Indian to point to me the best path to take. He very kindly took to the water and pointed the way. With care I crossed in safety, and finding a long stretch of heavy sand before me for about 20 miles I rested and fed my horses and took my lunch in the open air. When I was ready to start the mail carrier for Abiqui came up, a bright young Mexican. We travelled together this distance, and took advantage of the opportunity. I could not but think of Phillip and the Eunuch. The only difference was that my explanation of the Scriptures did not affect the young man so as to call for baptism. It was the first time for the young man to have any conversation about the Bible and its truths, about Christ as a Saviour, and man a lost, condemned sinner. Abiqui is a large Mexican town in a rich valley and situated on the proposed Rock Island Railway from Kansas to California. The pure Gospel of Christ has not been preached at all in the place. There is a Mormon settlement a few miles further up the river, and a very rich gold mine four miles away in the same direction. Here and there, there are to be found very rich parcels of land nestling in the form of small valleys under the rich ored mountains. In passing I could see veins of iron and other ores projecting clearly out. As I had quite a distance to travel for the night I had to hurry on. My point was El Rito (The Rite), one of the most important towns in this large district. I passed through numerous small villages, where I left a number of tracts and Gospels, visiting most of the families in each. Often I found much natural intelligence, but it was covered, indeed encrusted, with the Egyptian darkness of Catholicism. I had heard of El Rito as an important centre, I was anxious to reach there in time to have service, but, not knowing the road and misinformed as to the distance, I failed to reach before 8 P. M. Tired and sick, I sought a place to sleep, and found it with one of the merchants, a strict Catholic. This place boasts of a Catholic church, but the people are kept in the same ignorance. The people seem to be stronger, taller and more energetic than the Mexicans generally. They are also very fanatical. The day after I arrived I had to seek a blacksmith as my buggy needed repairs. It was hard to find one, as they would not work on a feast day. However, through the help of one of the leading men, who was anxious to have me interested in the education of his children I got a blacksmith to fix my buggy. While he was working I tried to get the edge of the Gospel to his heart. The man was very much afraid of the priest and he declared he would have to confess and seek forgiveness for fixing my buggy. I succeeded in getting a place where I can hold services when we are ready to go to El Rito. In the near future I hope to be able to place an evangelist here, as it is very important for us to occupy these central commanding places. Quite a quantity of tracts and the four Gospels were distributed here, and those will quickly but surely tell.

The next place I had my face to was Tierra Amarilla, the county seat of Rio Arriba. But I had a journey of 45 to 50 miles. The first twelve miles were rough and hilly, but for the remainder I passed through an exceedingly fine country (grazing land)—very rich and fertile. I made a point to strike again—

tance with as many as I could, and turn the conversation always to my own groove. On the faces of many I found the expression, "Who is this American, when he can speak our language, and he talks of things that we have not been accustomed to?" On meeting persons I handed over to them one of the Gospels. These are bound in a very nice, taking cover. As soon as they left I could see the horse left to his own device—the little book taken from the pocket, and read. Invariably when lost sight of in the distance the last I could see was the reading of the book. God alone, and the revelations of the Great day, will be able to reveal what good has been done. In my coming travels, however, I know that these little books will pave the way for a better acquaintance with these Mexicans. In passing along I came through many villages, where I stopped and distributed the Gospels and the tracts. At Nutritas, a village about 12 miles from Tierra Amarilla, the first person I met with was a young woman. I saluted her, and offered her the Gospel of St. John. She was trembling with fear, and this a fear of the Book. No, she could not take it, and she looked upon it as if it was an incarnate devil. I then turned the conversation, and asked her about the distances to different places, names of the mountains, and other objects, number of people in the village. By this time another woman came up. Then I handed over the book to her, and to my surprise she took it. I drove on, and the last I saw of these two was—they had taken to the roadside and were reading. At the other end of the village I found a man, and I placed in the hand of his little girl a tract. Seeing the paper quite a number of the village children came up, and they became the medium to spread my tracts throughout the place. The man, however, pressed me to enter his house and show him more carefully the Way of the Lord. After travelling another four miles I came to another small village called Nutras. I turned in to a farm house on the roadside to ask for lodgings. It seems they were in the habit of turning their house to an hotel. During the evening I had religious conversation with about eight persons. The eldest son was very religiously inclined, certainly in a Catholic way. A strong desire was manifested to have a Protestant school, as the father declared the Catholics unable to give a good substantial education. Early in the day I came to Tierra Amarilla, a very populous place. As I was anxious to be back for the Sabbath in this place, I hurried on for Dulce. Missing my way after crossing the River Chama the fifth time now high north, I took to the Indian (Navajoes) country, which I travelled from one end to the other. Most likely I was the first preacher of the Gospel that passed this way.

The country is the richest I had seen after leaving the Rio Grande Valley. I passed a great many very large lakes. The Indians had evidently been very industrious, as they had cultivated a very large tract, with evidently an ample recompense. Night overtook me in the high mountains, which were covered with snow. After travelling most of the early morning I came to Dulce, where I had that very night a communion service after preaching. Our evangelist met me here, and we returned to Tierra Amarilla along another route, when we visited Amargo, Monero, and a new lumber camp. We reached Tierra Amarilla after dark on Saturday. We found lodgings with a Catholic family. On the Sabbath we visited every family in the town, and in the evening I preached in the court house to an audience of forty men, not a single woman. These men listened with attention to the message of the Gospel. Mr. Chavez, one of the government officials, kindly gave us the court house, and offered it for our use every Sabbath free of charge. We had to provide fire and lights. When we consider that Mr. Chavez and his family are adherents of the Catholic Church, the action is a good omen. A thorough canvass was made of this populous and important centre, and great ignorance was found. Leaving out of the reckoning the merchants and territorial officials, we found only five who could read Spanish. English is unknown to them. Finding the place of much more importance than Dulce, I removed our evangelist from there and stationed him at Tierra Amarilla, with a hope soon to organize a church here. The Roman Catholic priest who is stationed at Los Ojos (The Eyes) one of the ten villages that form Tierra Amarilla, is pouring upon us the vials of his ire. Well he may, as his life as a representative of the Church of Christ, will not bear the light.

From Tierra Amarilla we made for Las Tusas, a distance of about 55 miles. Here the same evening we preached in Spanish to a full house, and baptized two children. The following evening I preached to the Americans. The school house was full. At the close of the sermon 3 inquirers after salvation came forward in true repentance. We established a church here and placed it under the care of Mr. G. Blinn, a brother who had proved himself very efficient with our Sabbath-school work. After two days sojourn with these noble people I left with our evangelist Mr. A'Guirre, and visited Las Tablas; Petaca where I preached to a full house (hall); numerous other villages that skirted the road for a distance of about 20 miles. Mr. A'Guirre left me after travelling about 15 miles together. He took another direction and made for Vallecito another good-sized town and a place commanding an important section, which up to this last year had not in any way been worked by our Church. After leaving him I made for Ojo Caliente (Warm or Hot Eye). Here are located the noted warm springs of New Mexico; it is quite a large and important village. The people here treated me very kindly. There is here a Roman Catholic church. I came back to Chamita where I placed Mr. A'Guirre, removing him from Las Tusas as this camp is mostly American. Thus I was able to meet the wish of the Mexican I met here, when starting on my journey. This place is soon to become important, as it will be the junction of the new Rock Island route and the D. and R. Grande railroad. Leaving here I made for El Quemado where I preached, held a communion service, and baptized a little child. Most of this vast country is devoid of any religious opportunities of any form. On the north-western side of the Rio Grande, we found only three Roman Catholic churches, which are supposed to minister to the religious wants of the people. If this church was the least missionary in spirit, these people might be reached, but it is not. From its actions in New Mexico, the Roman Catholic Church cares not for souls. Will our Church then become alive to this noble possibility that offers itself to us? Shall we, in the name of Jesus, true and high morality, and the light of education all moulded by the power of the grace and truth as it is in Christ Jesus, take possession of this vast and rich country?

Letters.

COLORADO.

REV. M. WITTENBERGER, Platner.—In some respects this was a trying year; but God's grace manifested itself also abundantly. No crops of any kind in this vicinity. The majority of the men are gone further west in the irrigating districts to find work to support their families. The most of my salary was paid by the people in provisions and work instead of in cash, and I think I may better call it squarely settled. Thanks to the Board for their prompt payment. Stock still lives here and does well on Buffalo grass.

REV. E. P. BAKER, Del Norte.—The article, "The Outlook," in September CHURCH, says: "Aid-receiving churches will find it impossible in many cases, to meet their obligations to their pastors." This is one of the "many cases." When I know that my people are nearly or quite all feeling the pinch of "the hard times," and believe they are making an honest effort to meet obligations, I am willing to bear the pinch with them without complaining.

We continue to plan for a monthly missionary concert Sabbath evenings—alternating Home Missions and Foreign Missions. The one in August on Korea and the one this month on The Outlook, were specially well received.

The ladies' missionary committees take charge of these meetings, and I give any desired assistance in preparation or participation. I think they will prove fruitful in awakening and deepening missionary interest.

FLORIDA.

REV. JOHN F. SUNDELL, Lake Mary.—A new Scandinavian settlement in Osceola Co. near Kissimmee, of about 100 families, is under formation, and the first settlers will come in October next. I am looking with interest to that and you have to send another Swedish preacher down here.

MINNESOTA.

REV. FRANK L. FRASER, Hallock.—It is left to our Church and the Swedish Lutheran to do the pioneer work of this county. Their work is wholly confined to the Scandinavians, and ours is for the most part among the English speaking people. The Episcopalians have one service once in two weeks in Hallock and once in St. Vincent, the most northerly point of the county, but they are not a strong body. The Methodists hold service at two points in the northern part of the county, but at these points we have established Sunday-schools, so that virtually the care of this county is in the hands of the Presbyterian Church. The land is ours "let us go up at once and possess it." We say to our friends in the east, and the cry comes from many, many parts of the west, "Come over and help us." The Church is at present doing good work and we are now in a position, if we only rise to the conception of it, to mould the religious thought of this county. Now is the time to lay a strong and firm foundation of Gospel truth. We are here on the ground with doctrines that appeal to the head and heart, and we ought to do our part in the great work God has given us to do in Kittson County.

But we need men and money. Can not our "true blue Presbyterians" in the east help us and show as much enterprise in pushing work in the west as that shown by other branches of the Christian Church? To deepen interest in the northwest, the suggestion made by Dr. Pentecost might be applied in this case.

Addressing a large audience during the meeting of the American Board in Chicago upon the work in India, he urged that the ladies of the Church, instead of seeking a summer change by visiting Europe and exploring Palestine, should visit India. If, therefore, any of our professors or influential pastors, seeking diversion in the way of chicken-hunting this Fall, will come to Kittson County we will welcome them because we shall be glad to see them personally and because we know that they will feel constrained after seeing the need in these western fields of doing more for the cause of Home Missions.

REV. JAS. B. FREEMAN, St. Paul.—We, with a very few other churches have kept both services going all summer. Many of the Presbyterian churches have been closed in the evening, but we have not omitted a single service and we have had very good congregations. The pastor has been in the field all through, attending the cause and fighting the devil. I think that there is special need for the pastor at home in summer. The laborers are so few then and the devil is so bold. Out here we have balloon ascensions, Sunday excursions, all manner of performances and attractions at the public parks, occasioned by an unholy combination between the Park Board and the city railroad company. The Park Board receives the advertisement and patronage, and the City Railroad Company the nickels of the Sunday crowds. These things deplete the churches and desecrate the Lord's Day, and I have been here all summer fighting them.

MISSOURI.

REV. PHILIP GRILLI, St. Louis.—One thing which I believe makes the work among Italians more difficult is the fact that most of those who know how to read are saloon keepers; and although they don't often go to mass nor believe in the priests, nevertheless they consider us more dangerous for their business than the priests themselves; whilst a great number of Sicilians and Neapolitans don't know how to read, so it is useless to give them tracts, and it is very difficult to reach them because they are suspicious and try to avoid us. It is, therefore, with those who are between these two classes that we find the most to do.

At the meetings, or in the houses, or on the streets a large number of our countrymen and women have heard the gospel, and were it not for human considerations and the fear of persecution, a larger number would leave Catholicism and follow Christ. It is very difficult for the Spirit of God to reach Italians' hearts, and when he does speak to them they believe it to be the spirit of the devil.

A young man after the meeting, one Sunday night, asked me to write on a piece of paper where he could find in his Bible the text from which I preached (John 8:16). When he got home he went to bed, but did not sleep, and for two hours he continued reading and reading again the same chapter and especially the sixteenth verse. His cousin who had his bed in the same room, told him it was time to put out the light and go to sleep, but he did not mind his advice and kept on reading. In the morning his cousin asked him what was the subject of his reading which interested him so much, and the young man answered: "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten son * * *" And so the following night it was the cousin who took the Bible in his bed and read about the great love of Christ for sinners.

Many of those who attend the French meeting are Swiss; but we have also some French, a Belgian, some Germans (Alsace), a few Italians (Waldensians), and now and then some Americans who come to hear French preaching.

NEBRASKA.

REV. THOMAS L. SEXTON, D. D., Supt.—The most striking features of this period have been the intense heat and the long continued drought. The first part of the quarter was favorable for the growing crops, but the last two months have greatly dampened the prospects of the farmers and removed all hope of an enlarged income. July 26 will long be remembered as the day when the intense heat made such sad havoc in burning up the corn and cutting short the other crops. On that day the thermometer registered not less than 112 degrees in the shade, and at the same time the wind from the South was blowing a gale which was wholly unlike the usual Nebraska zephyrs. The effect of all this will be deeply felt in our church work during the coming months. Many of the churches will not be able to raise the amount of support for the minister heretofore secured for that purpose. Some of the people will not be able to pay anything into the church treasury because they do not have it in their power.

While many of the people are leaving the State and are going where they may be able to find work and food for themselves and their cattle and horses, they who remain will be cared for by the State authorities so that we shall not be obliged to appeal to outside parties to assist in this benevolent enterprise. In some parts of the State there will be enough and to spare, and the readiness to aid the unfortunate will be manifested in due measure. So far as our church work is concerned, it is evident that our ministers will be willing to help in bearing the burden so that we may be able to get through the winter with the friendly aid of the Board of Home Missions. It is hoped that this aid may be extended even to some of the fields which have heretofore been counted as self-sustaining. In my judgment it will be better to do this than to suffer the minister to leave the field and the people to become scattered.

On July 29 I organized the church of Bodarc within the bounds of the Presbytery of Box Butte and located in Sioux County. This church has 14 members. It was worked up by the Rev. Chas. E. Rice, who is a student of the Omaha Seminary, having one more term in that institution. He was ordained last April, having been a licentiate for the past two years, was well approved in all his work and passed a very creditable examination in every department of study. Many of the students of this institution are doing acceptable work among the churches during their summer vacation and will return with renewed energy to prosecute their studies in the Seminary.

REV. VACLAV LOSA, Clarkson.—Almost all the people who form this congregation are born Protestants. They migrated to America during the last thirty years. Their religious condition has been the same as that of all other Bohemian immigrants scattered through the different States. They were religiously neglected as they practically had no preacher who would educate them, and the different Protestant missionary societies took no notice of them. Now the times are changed, thanks to the great wisdom and zeal of the Board of Home Missions. Ministers of the Gospel are educated for them, and the families are sought after and brought back to the old faith. But during the long period of their desertion skepticism and infidelity were active in sowing the evil seed. Their influence spread mostly through the press and literature, even to the remotest Bohemian settlements. And though the traces it left behind are not as marked in the country as they are in the city settlements, yet one cannot fail to notice the greatly weakened faith and zeal of the old and the alienation of the young. I could reach all the Protestant families and I trust, God helping me, I will reach some at least who live in this neighborhood, but do not care any more for Church. This congregation could be comparatively large.

Yet some of the families, after the many years of hardship and desertion, remained true to their Hussite origin. It is due to their faithfulness, that for many years past a small band of Christians was gathered from time to time and the Scriptures were read by some pious old man, songs three to four hundred years old, composed by the members of the famous Unitas Fratrum Bohemorum, were sung and yearning prayers were sent to the Heavenly Father. Once a year the only Protestant Bohemian pastor in the United States of America visited these with comforting words. At last, a few years ago, they erected a little church in which we worship now.

NEW MEXICO.

MISS KATE SCOTT, Pajarito.—I have just returned to my work from the Teachers' Institute at Santa Fé. It is the first institute ever held by the teachers of New Mexico. It has proved a success socially, intellectually and spiritually. We shall look back with pleasure over the enjoyable time spent together at our first institute at Santa Fé, and greet with gladness the time for our second one to be held at Las Vegas.

THE PRICKER.

OREGON.

REV. W. C. FORBES, Portland.—As a result of special meetings in a destitute place where there is no church organization of any kind, a petition signed by ninety-two persons, twenty-six communicants, was presented to the Presbytery. Also a German mission was organized at Sandy, whence a petition came to the Presbytery for a church organization. It was thought wise, however, to organize it as a mission and receive the members into the Damascus Trinity Church, which is ten miles away. Mr. Fruht is in charge. There were twenty-four members received into the mission. $850 was raised for church building.

HOME MISSION APPOINTMENTS.

A. Cooper, Jefferson,	N. Y.
J. McIntyre, Vorheesville,	"
E. Snyder, Scipio and Scipioville,	"
E. E. Grosh, Brandon and stations,	"
J. W. Lowden, Fairville,	"
H. A. Hall, Helena,	"
W. C. Brown, West Chester, 2d,	Pa.
W. T. Veale, Titusville, 1st,	Fla.
J. N. McGinley, Thomas and Easley, Ala.,	Ala.
A. M. Penland, Beech and Pleasant Grove,	N. C.
D. A. Clemens, Huntsville,	Tenn.
L. L. Carson, Jeroldstown, Pine Grove and Castlewood,	"
J. T. Cooter, Lamar,	"
J. M. Alexander, Eusebia and Rockford,	"
D. M. Grant, Pikeville and Salyersville,	Ky.
J. L. McWilliams, Ashland Station,	"
F. A. Hamilton, New Castle and Campbellsburgh,	"
C. Davis, Mission Work,	"
H. G. Blish, Livingston and New Market,	"
W. W. Baxter, Hubers,	"
H. A. Brown, Ebenezer Valley and Murphysville,	"
L. B. Dye, Appanoose, 1st, and Pontoonuc,	"
R. M. Hall, Plymouth,	"
T. Melvin, Burr Oak, 1st,	Mich.
G. D. Sherman, Hamilton,	"
J. Ferries, St. Ignace, 1st,	"
W. L. Hays, Ontonagon, 1st,	"
D. Morrison, Iron Mountain, 1st,	"
W. Johnston, Hurley and Ironwood,	Wis.
E. H. Bull, Willow River and Rutledge,	Minn.
D. D. McKay, Grand Rapids, 1st,	"
T. Davies, Delano and Maple Plain,	"
O. H. Elmer, Knox of Hamline and Warrendale,	"
R. C. Mitchell, Chester and stations,	"
W. C. Hunter, Wheatland and Howe,	N. D.
J. H. Baldwin, Goose Lake,	"
L. E. Danks, Hunter and Blanchard,	"
J. T. Killen, Milton and Osnabrock,	"
T. D. Acheson, Hamilton, Cavalier and Backoo,	"
G. Gerrie, Alpena and Rose Hill,	S. D.
D. Renville, Wood Lake,	"
T. W. Russell, Dell Rapids, 1st,	"
O. Utikal, Bon Homme Co., 1st Bohemian,	"
J. Linka, Brule Co. 1st, and Bon Homme Co. 1st,	Iowa
F. W. Grossman, Pastor-at-Large,	"
A. M. Tanner, Dedham, 1st,	"
W. H. Kelly, Burt, 1st, and station,	"
A. A. Randall, Armstrong and Maple Hill,	"
A. J. Harman, Wall Lake and Auburn,	"
Geo. Bray, Aurora and Lysinger,	Neb.
R. N. Powers, Superior, 1st,	"
H. O. Guthe, Kearney, German, and stations,	"
S. T. Wilson, Table Rock, 1st,	"
W. R. Adams, Goshen, of Benedict,	"
W. E. Kimball, D. D. Madison, 1st,	"
A. T. Aller, Nortonville,	"
C. V. Molnar, Cuba and station, Bohemian,	Kan.
L. Dobson, Miami Afton and Fairland,	Ind. Ter.
C. C. McGinley, Claremore,	"
B. J. Woods, Apell, Spring Hill, and stations,	"
D. H. Dodson, Leonard,	Tex.
F. R. Wotring, Berthoud, 1st,	Col.
R. Robinson, La Salle, 1st,	"
H. H. McCreery, Mt. Pleasant, 1st,	Utah.
F. L. Arnold, Salt Lake City, Westminster,	"
E. M. Knox, Kaysville,	"
O. S. Wilson, Nephi,	"
J. A. L. Smith, American Fork, 1st,	"
J. H. Barton, Caldwell, 1st,	Idaho.
T. G. Watson, Oneur d'Alene,	"
J. A. Hedges, White Sulphur Springs, 1st,	Mont.
D. Walker, Philbrook and Utica,	"
G. S. Rice, Tacoma, Westminster,	Wash.
W. A. Mackey, Fairhaven,	"
B. F. Miller, Roslyn, Mount Pisgah,	"
J. H. Hope, Nooksack City, Deming, Cedar Grove, and station,	"
A. J. Canney, Nooksack Crossing, Clearbrook and Bethany,	"
J. E. Stewart, Starbuck and Prescott,	"
H. J. Furneaux, Pacific Beach, Point Loma and San Diego City,	Cal.
B. Dodd, Glendale, 1st, and station,	"

COLLEGES AND ACADEMIES.

HASTINGS COLLEGE.

PRES. W. F. RINGLAND, D.D.

Hastings College began its work in 1882. In the train of young colleges in the west it was coupled on next to the engine when the Board of Aid for Colleges was created in 1883. Both the president of the College and of the Board of Trustees sat in the General Assembly when Dr. Herrick Johnson read that masterly report which led the Assembly to create that Board without a whisper of opposition. When the Board was created and the President announced, as the first act of the new Board, that a gift of $5,000 had been received from Mr. Cyrus H. McCormick, Sr., to be passed to Hastings College, the two aforesaid Presidents had to step around the corner of the old First Church in Saratoga, where they could congratulate one another unobserved. That was a high day.

When the Hastings College was organized in 1882 it was under control of Hastings and Kearney Presbyteries. It is now under the control of the Synod of Nebraska. It has a large and important field. The State University, the colleges of the Methodists, Congregationalists and others are from 77 to 96 miles east of Hastings, all east of the line drawn from north to south equally dividing the population of the State, leaving the western half of the state practically free from local competition. By the last census Hastings had a population of over 13,000. It has railroads reaching out in ten different directions into this vast college field. The college has two commodious buildings costing $36,000, and a beautiful campus of twenty-three acres. McCormick Hall stands as the first monument erected under the fostering care of the Board of Aid for Colleges and as the last monument of the kind in which Mr. McCormick took special and personal interest before his death. Ladies' Hall, a four-story brick building, contains excellent accommodations for boarding department and pleasant rooms for eighty-four young ladies.

Teachers are employed who are characterized by rare scholarship, positive Christian character and active Christian influence. Sometimes their salaries descend below the average Home Missionary salary without the helpful "Home Missionary Box."

The college has done a large and important work. There have been over one thousand different students from fifty-six counties, and over one hundred different towns and communities of Nebraska. More than one hundred have become Christians after coming to college. Thirty-nine have been graduated. Nine are now regularly ordained ministers. Seventeen more are preparing for the ministry. Three have gone to Foreign Missionary fields. Five more have offered themselves to the Foreign Mission Board. Nearly all the graduates are preaching or teaching.

The College has had all the ills that young colleges are heir to. After seven years, in securing buildings and grounds and meeting the running expenses without endowment, a debt of $37,000 had accumulated. Appeal was made to the Board of Aid for an offer of $15,000 of endowment to be given on two conditions: First, the debt of $37,000 to be entirely removed by the citizens of Hastings. Second, that a nominal mortgage such as is given to the Board of Church Erection be given to the Board of Aid for Colleges for $85,000, (that being the total amount received by the College through the Board, in annual and property payments), to secure the property against mortgage indebtedness in the future. The proposition was met and the plan carried out. Then we learned that the generous hand reaching through this strong arm of the Church and saving the life of the College was the hand of a woman, the widow of that first generous donor for whom McCormick Hall was named. As the day of that first gift was a high day, a day of joy and hope, these days of crisis were days of rich experience, through self-sacrifice and spiritual blessing. The Faculty by a voluntary process originating among themselves reduced the expenses that year to the amount of $2,500. One member donated his services, others reduced their remuneration to $400 for the year. Some brought themselves to extreme need to tide over the crisis.

The history of young colleges in the West cannot be put on paper. The clear vision of a providential hand, the felt blessing of the hovering spirit, the experiences that are woven into its warp and woof and make its character are like the things that Paul could not utter.

CHURCH ERECTION.

THE PLAN FOR MANSE-BUILDING.

A lady writes to us expressing the interest with which she read an article entitled "For lack of it," published in the August number of the magazine, and then adds: "I wish you would put another article in THE CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD, giving a full explanation of the way the Manse Fund is carried on. I think I understand it, but I am sure many do not, and as I know people were struck just as I was by the above mentioned article, more money might be given for that cause which I think is one of the very best agencies in the Church."

In accordance with this suggestion we give the action of the Assembly establishing the Manse Fund and the rules touching its administration. The Assembly of 1885 upon the recommendation of its standing committee took action as follows:

"An additional fund to be known as the Manse Fund shall be raised by special gifts and such portions of church collections as may be designated for this end to be used as hereinafter provided to enable feeble congregations to erect manses for the use of their ministers."

RULES GOVERNING THE ADMINISTRATION.

APPROPRIATIONS.

1. No loan shall be made to any congregation, unless such congregation own in fee simple, and free from all legal incumbrance, the lot on which their Manse is situated, or on which they propose to build.

2. No loan shall be made for the payment of any debt, except that which may have been contracted within one year previous in erecting the Manse.

3. The appropriations of the Board for Manses shall be made only from such special gifts, and such portions of church collections as may be designated by the givers for this end.

4. The appropriations in all ordinary cases shall be made as loans, the amount without interest, to be paid by installments or otherwise. within three years, such loans never to exceed one-half of the cost of the building. In case the appropriation, for exceptional reasons, is a grant, then the amount shall not exceed one-third the cost of the building.

5. Such limit shall be fixed as will confine the work to the feeble and Mission Churches.

PAYMENTS.

After the loan is voted, the conditions to be fulfilled before the payment of the money are as follows:

1. Before any Church shall receive the loan the trustees shall certify that the amount necessary to erect and complete their Manse, less the amount of the loan of the Board, has been collected and actually expended upon the building, and that the sum to be received from the Board will entirely complete the building and leave the congregation free from debt for its erection.

2. A mortgage upon the Manse property duly executed and acknowledged by the trustees, and recorded in the County Clerk's or Register's office, is to be returned to the Board with a certificate endorsed upon said mortgage by an Attorney-at-Law, designated by the Presbytery, to the effect that the Church has a valid title to the property, and has full liberty to mortgage the same, and that said mortgage is a first lien upon the property, and has been properly executed, acknowledged and recorded, according to law.

8. A Policy of Insurance in some trustworthy Company is to be procured by the Board, said policy to run five years. The premiums upon all policies are deducted from the amount of the loan in the first instance, and when the loan is repaid, a rebate of unearned premium, if any, is returned.

[Blanks for the above mentioned forms of mortgages and insurance will be furnished by the Board. Care should be taken to secure accuracy in the form of the papers—especially the mortgage instruments—to be executed at the time of receiving the appropriation, as thus vexatious delay will be prevented. The Board is not at liberty to depart from the rules established by its Charter and by the General Assembly.]

THE NEED OF THIS FUND.

In this connection we give the following letter as an illustration of those we are constantly receiving:

Dear Secretary:—We are very greatly in need of a Manse here in Sigourney, Iowa, and as some interest has been awakened would like to have you send us the full condition of a loan. Please do this immediately as I have come here to undertake the work on this field, and now for seven weeks have been trying to rent a house, and am not able. Houses are not to be had. Another minister who visited this field shortly before I came here and had accepted a call conditionally, provided a house could be had, after several weeks looking for and waiting was obliged to go elsewhere, for no other reason than that a house could not be rented. Another surprising fact is that boarding has been secured only after much difficulty.

What is said in the above letter of Sigourney is true of the great majority of the new towns that spring up in our young states and territories. The population is always pressing upon the accommodations. Each man has to build his own house, so when the minister comes to the little village ordinarily there is no place for him to live excepting the so-called hotel, usually, in the early days more noted for its bar-room than for anything else. A few days ago at the meeting of one of our largest presbyteries I was making some such statements as these, and when I sat down one of the pastors said to me:

"Dr. White, you do not put this case any too strongly. More than once when I was a missionary in Washington I was obliged to shelter my family in a tent while I built a cottage with my own hands."

Think of it, women of our Eastern churches! Many of your sisters, wives of missionaries upon the frontier, women as delicately nurtured as yourselves, accustomed to like comforts in their Eastern homes, have literally no place where with decency they may establish a home and protect their little children, unless a home can be built especially to receive them.

It is to accomplish this—to make it certain that those who have consecrated their lives to pioneer work shall not be homeless—that the Manse Fund was established.

When you are apportioning the contributions of your societies this year remember that money given to the Manse Fund remains a perpetual blessing. It is loaned to be returned; and then is loaned again, so that in effect, a gift of $300 is a manse endowment in perpetuity. It ensures the erection of a new home every three years.

FREEDMEN.

TO THE WOMEN OF THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

Dear Sisters:—It is written, "The poor shall never cease out of the land; therefore I command thee saying—Thou shalt open thine hand wide unto thy brother, to thy poor and to thy needy in thy land." Duet. 15: 11.

Recognizing as we all do the authority that issued this command, we again come before the women of the Church to plead the cause of the poor who are likely to be overlooked. We have among us 8,000,000 fellow-citizens who are made to feel that they are not of us. Suffering, which if felt by any other race would call loudly for help, is endured in silence by this people, and they toil on and suffer, and if need be die with few to pity or relieve. The hard times felt in the North cause positive suffering in the South, and we hear in places of starvation, of families boiling grass to eat, without meat or bread—of children who when strangers approach hide among the bushes because they are without clothing. These are physical discomforts; but we find their higher natures also suffer starvation. Want of money has compelled the Board to cut down schools, to refuse to enter upon new evangelistic work, no matter how promising. My dear sisters, ought these things so to be? While every mail brings the word of extreme suffering, it also brings news of souls being born into the Kingdom, and spiritual blessings resting upon the work. Ought not the Church of Christ to be ready to follow where he so manifestly leads? It is due you to know how we stand in this work. Last year we did not reach the mark set before us. This year we have in the first quarter fallen $2,500 below what we received during the same period last year. We do rejoice that the Women's Executive Committee has made a gain of $25,000. This we ought to have done, but we do entreat that work for the Freedmen should not be left undone.

MRS. C. E. COULTER,

General Secretary,

Freedmen's Department, Woman's Executive Committee of Home Missions,
516 Market St., Pittsburgh, Pa.

MUST WE CLOSE SOME OF OUR SCHOOLS?

To call a halt is one thing; to order a retreat is another. The Freedmen's Board has for some time been replying to new calls for help: "We cannot grant your request, since for lack of funds we are compelled this year to take up no new work." We have all along, however, cherished the hope that we might be able to maintain the work we already have on hand. We have therefore arranged to open our schools this fall and winter with about the same amount of teaching force as last year. We have, however, of necessity, lowered the salaries of most of the teachers.

As the time to open these schools, and begin the payment of these teachers' salaries and the other necessary expenses connected with many of these schools draws near, the very serious question begins to stare us in the face, where is the money to come from? Our debt has been creeping up each week and month until now it amounts to the unprecedented sum of $60,000. We have reached the limit of our credit in bank, and unless money comes in soon sufficient to meet the immediate demands of the work the order will have to be given not simply to halt, but to retreat.

The debt of last spring has increased, because while ministers were taking their needed rest, and many of the churches were closed during the summer, and contributions to our Board in a large measure suspended, the pay of our one hundred and seventy-two colored ministers went on, just the same as in winter. To take on this winter the additional expense of the schools, with a debt already up to the limit of our credit, demands a very prompt and generous response on the part of the friends of the work to prevent our being driven to the extremity of absolutely closing a part of our schools until the Church at large, whose work it is, shall generously come to our relief.

If we do have to adopt these measures what will be the consequences?

1. How bitter will be the disappointment of many of the students who have set their hearts on gaining all the advantages our superior schools afford!

2. How unfortunate for us to be compelled to lose ground it has taken years of hard work and expense to gain!

3. How cruel to the teachers who perhaps have let other opportunities pass by, and have accepted work under our Board from their strong faith in the stability and fidelity of the promise and purpose of their own great Church!

4. How humiliating to that Church herself to feel that she has failed to meet the requirements of her own work on one of the purest missionary fields that her Master has ever given her to cultivate!

Oh no, it cannot be, it must not be that the members of the Freedmen's Board and the stewards of the Church in the management of this work will be allowed to be pushed to the extremity of closing any of our schools this winter! The reproach attached to such a course would be more painful and more lashing than the Church would be willing to bear. We appeal to you pastors, who as leaders in the Church having under your care and control all the various agencies of benevolence in your own congregations and Presbyteries and synods, in the hope that through you our cause may be pleaded, and the needed help secured—and that right early! We are too poor to appoint special agents to reach the various young people's organizations and Sabbath-schools of the Church. But our hope is in the many faithful pastors through whom we hope to have our cause brought to the mind of those who are willing to help us. Circulars and statistics will be gladly sent where information is needed. A better knowledge of our needs, we feel sure, will bring us a better support.

E. P. COWAN.

PUBLICATION AND SABBATH-SCHOOL WORK.

THE STORY OF A CHURCH.

The interesting picture on the opposite page is copied from a photograph sent to us a few weeks ago by Mr. S. A. Meredith, one of our Sabbath-school missionaries. It represents so beautifully some of the characteristic features and results of our work, that we resolved with the permission of the editor to have it reproduced in these pages. To give additional interest to our picture, we wrote to Mr. Meredith for full particulars, and received the following reply, which we have great pleasure in printing in these pages, for the information,—of course in the strictest confidence,—of the beloved members of the great Presbyterian family who read this magazine:

This church is the outgrowth of a Sabbath-school organized for the benefit of a community destitute of Sabbath school and church privileges.

The school was first organized August 13, 1890, and continued prosperous until it was refused the use of the school-house, when it had to remove to another school-house nearly two miles distant. Owing to this those interested deemed it necessary to have a church organization and a house of worship.

On the 24th of April, 1891, just eight months after the first organization of the Sabbath-school, a church was organized with eleven members. On the day following, this little band with some of their neighbors assembled for worship, and to consult about carrying the work forward properly. After the services all left except the members, and they looked like a little flock of sheep in the wilderness, with no shepherd and no fold. But while discouragements appeared on every hand they resolved to make an effort, and a paper was prepared to secure funds if possible to build a church. It was resolved that each should subscribe all they could afford, and no one should know what the other subscribed until all had subscribed. This was done, and to their astonishment enough was pledged to warrant their building. On the day following a member of another church, living five miles distant, donated from some land near them a beautiful parcel of ground to build on, which lay adjoining the school-house which they were forced to leave. On the tenth of January, 1892, a beautiful church was dedicated free from debt. But this was not accomplished without a struggle. Just at the time of getting the building fairly under way some discouragement was encountered, and caused some to think it best to abandon the matter for a time. But a young man who had just started in the Christian life heard it and drove to the place of building and in a clear tone inquired "What all this meant." "Why," said he, "this house not to be built! Do you think we as Presbyterians will suffer such disgrace as that? No sree. This house will be built if I have to do it myself. Why I have just got interested, and then you say 'stop'!" By this others were encouraged, and the house was built and paid for.

In front of the church, with the children around her, stands the mother of the church and Sabbath-school. One of the Lord's chosen, purified so as by fire, staunch and unwavering in adversity, zealous and aggressive in prosperity, with her eyes ever Zionward, pressing forward in the master's work of saving souls. Her beloved companion having been called home long since, the burden of her family fell upon her at a time when it was heaviest, but she did not waver nor falter from duty; living for her family, and those around her, and now they all rise up and call her blessed.

In a letter of late date she writes: "How I wish you and Mrs. M. could have been here last Sabbath. We have such a nice school—eighteen young ladies in one class and fourteen young men in another, with the classes all full, and we now have a superintendent, who is the right man in the right place. And then we had such an excellent sermon from our minister. I could not but rejoice and wish you were here to rejoice with us. Come up and spend a week with us, everybody wants to see you."

At the right of the picture, in front of the window, stands the young man who was interested. Back of him, next the window, stands his brother, an elder, and to the extreme right, at the corner of the building, stands the man who bore the burden of the work. The two first the sons and the last the son-in-law of the lady in front. To the left, almost in front of the door, is the superintendent so highly spoken of. Others I might mention, but time and space prevent.

This church is located in as fine an agricultural district as there is in this state, or any other state, and there is no reason apparent why it should not continue to grow and prosper."

THE NEW HYMNAL.

TO BE PUBLISHED BY THE AUTHORITY OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

The Presbyterian Board of Publication and Sabbath-school Work desires to call the special attention of pastors, churches and all persons interested in the use of hymns and tunes in sacred worship, to the fact that the new Hymnal is practically now completed with the exception of putting the material in proper shape for the mechanical work of printing, binding, etc., and the work of this character.

At an earlier stage of the undertaking the results then reached were submitted to the Standing Committee of the last General Assembly upon the affairs of this Board. That Committee, through its Chairman, the Rev. David R. Breed, D. D., of Chicago, reported upon the subject as follows:

The Board, acting upon the recommendation of former Assemblies, is still laboriously engaged upon the preparation of the new Hymnal.

The Committee, after diligent investigation and some inspection of the methods actually employed in the preparation of this book, is satisfied that the work is progressing under the most favorable auspices and with brilliant promise. The agents in this work are fully equipped for their task, and are experts in the subjects of hymnology. They have traversed the entire field with minute and intelligent care. The result will probably appear, and the Hymnal be published within the next year. The fact should be extensively advertised for the information of our congregations.

It is the intention of the Board not to disappoint the high expectations that would naturally be raised by the language of the Assembly's Committee. Since that report was made, much additional labor has been expended in the selection of hymns, and in efforts to arrive at their original form and text, in order that, so far as possible, the proposed Hymnal may exhibit the thought and inspiration of the authors of the hymns. It is believed that the collection of hymns thus prepared will commend itself to the churches as the best and most serviceable of any that are now at command.

While due respect has been given to the old hymns, which have become sacred from long use, many new ones, that later experience is proving to be helpful and inspiring in the worship of the sanctuary, have been inserted. A vast deal of labor has been expended in the selection of tunes; and the Board expects that, in this respect, the new book will receive high commendation. It is not proposed to eliminate the old melodies and harmonies, which have become precious to the people of God, but it is intended to furnish in addition, and in such a method of arrangement as will allow an alternative use, a large amount of the best music which, in this country and in England, has been found to be expressive of the true devotional sentiment of hymns. Moreover, original tunes will be furnished, which, it is believed, will greatly add to the freshness and value of the book.

The special Committee of the Board, to which the details of the whole work have been intrusted, is confident that, both in respect of hymns and tunes, the new Hymnal will note a decided advance upon any like publication that has previously appeared in this country. The aim has been to combine a high standard of excellence with practical adaptations to the demands, or necessities, of congregations of different degrees of culture.

In view of what has been stated, especially in view of the fact that it is endeavoring to supply the wants of the great Church, of which it is the agent and representative, the Board feels itself justified in asking that all churches contemplating the introduction of a new hymn and tune book shall defer action until the proposed Hymnal shall be issued. Owing to the nature of the work, the type-setting, proof-reading, electrotyping, etc., must necessarily be careful and slow. All possible expedition will be used in that regard, and it is expected that the book will, without doubt, be published and for sale during the year 1895. When issued the book will be of various sizes, and it is expected that the price will be such as, in itself, will make the book worthy of consideration.

ROBERT N. WILLSON,
President of the Board and Chairman of the Hymnal Com.

E. R. CRAVEN, D. D., Secretary.

FOREST FIRES IN THE NORTHWEST.

Through the daily and weekly press our readers have doubtless learned the principal facts connected with the recent deplorable forest fires in Minnesota and Wisconsin. We have received the following letter:

Dear Brother:—Replying to yours of the 17th, our Sunday-school at Hinckley of about fifty and flourishing, the only one in town, also at Sandstone of about thirty and the only one there, were both, with our handsome little churches, swept off the earth by wind and flame. A Sunday-school just started at Mission Creek, and another at Finlayson, by Mr. Renick, student at Princeton, were also both destroyed. The scattered children are not yet all found. Some are orphans, some have perished.

J. A. PAIGE,

Stated Clerk, Duluth Presbytery.

Two other mission schools were destroyed in addition to those mentioned in Mr. Paige's letter.

Rev. T. H. Murphy of Phillips, Wis., also writes in regard to the disastrous forest fires in Wisconsin. We have gladly forwarded special offerings for the sufferers in both states, and shall be glad to take charge of other contributions for the same purpose.

SOME STRIKING RESULTS.

Since April 1, 1888, up to and including the month of July, 1894—a period of six years and four months—our Sabbath-school Missionaries have directly organized 6,588 new Sabbath-schools, and gathered into these schools 29,558 teachers and 247,921 scholars. In addition to these, 729 schools were organized during the same period under a standing offer of the Board to supply lesson helps.

It is not easy at first to realize the vast meaning in these figures. They mean an average of 1,081 schools and 48,812 teachers and scholars every year; 86 schools and 3,648 teachers and scholars every month; 8 schools and 125 teachers and scholars every day for over six years.

From these schools we have seen grow during the last five years over 809 Presbyterian church organizations.

Can any one estimate truly the amount of good flowing from these efforts to individuals, to families, to communities, to the entire country?

And yet it is the want of money alone that has prevented our doubling and trebling this work.

CLOTHING FOR THE FRONTIER.

Gratifying responses are being received by almost every mail to an appeal for clothing for destitute people among whom our Sabbath-school missionaries are often called by Providence to labor. Reports from all the mission fields, west, northwest, south and southwest tell of unusual hardships, and of the prospect of much suffering, which timely gifts will materially lighten. Our missionaries will act as faithful almoners, and we will gladly place any one who desires to forward clothing in communication with one or more of these brethren.

THE HOPE OF THE CHURCH.

The Rev. C. D. McDonald of Grafton, North Dakota, writes us as follows: "The hope of the Presbyterian Church in our great northwest depends under God upon the thoroughness of our work in and our care for the present Sunday-school population.

Earnest calls for the appointment of Sabbath-school missionaries reach us from Presbyteries in all parts of our land.

EDUCATION.

HEIDELBERG UNIVERSITY.

It is possible that our readers may be interested to see what appearance is presented by one of the universities across the ocean, and to learn something of the manner of life among the students. We have accordingly secured for this number of the magazine a picture of the old and famous University of Heidelberg, and a portrait of one of its most accomplished professors. All American students must look with peculiar interest upon this institution and others like it in Germany, not only because they are the pride and glory of that land, but also because of the very great influence which they have in the past exerted over the thought of the age in the various departments of human learning, and which they are evidently destined to exert in the future. So long as our sons continue to cross the sea in order to enjoy the advantages of studying under the distinguished professors who give their lectures in these halls, so long must we in a very peculiar manner be interested in the universities of Germany. Eight of them are conducted exclusively in the interests of the Roman Catholic religion. Thirteen are classed as Protestant. Five have two theological faculties, one Roman Catholic and one Protestant.

There are four departments in each university, theology, philosophy, law, and medicine: the post of honor being given to theology. It is well known that in Germany the "lecture" is the characteristic feature, and that a degree of liberty is enjoyed by both professor and student to which we are strangers in the colleges of this country.

It is the function of the university, according to Matthew Arnold, to "develop into science the knowledge a boy brings with him from the secondary school, at the same time that it directs him towards the profession in which his knowledge may most naturally be exercised." It has been estimated that, taking the whole of Germany, one person in every 2,600 of the population finds his way to a university. This ratio is about twice that which prevails in England. The German university is an institution of the State. The Minister of Public Instruction appoints the professors, and the public treasury makes up all deficiencies in the income of the institution. No new regulations may be made for the government of the university without the sanction of the minister and of parliament, and in each university is the curator, who represents the government and sees to it that all laws and regulations are faithfully observed. The rector is the head, and with an assessor takes care of the discipline of the institution. The Academical Senate consists of the rector, the outgoing rector, and a professor from each faculty. The quaestor collects the fees from the students and pays them to the professors to whom they may be due. There are in the universities also a large number of assistants to the professors who are known by the name of privatdozenten. Of course the students do not all observe the laws and regulations which are laid down for their guidance in an absolutely perfect manner, although they sign an agreement to that effect. It is amusing to the stranger to learn that one of the penalties imposed for breach of ordinances is imprisonment in the university carcer. It is very plain, however, that many circumstances contribute to the alleviation of the miseries of prison-life as experienced in pleasant Heidelberg. Much has been said, and very earnestly, of the advantages of the free life at the German universities. But it is plain that there are many drawbacks. The number of idlers is very large. Probably not more than one-third really work hard. There seems to be moreover no satisfactory substitute for the delightful social life of our American colleges. The duelling clubs still flourish, and it is a common thing to see students with numbers of gashes on their faces received in the settlement of affairs of honor. These wounds are their pride. Duelling with sabres is strictly prohibited, but is secretly indulged in. The contestants meet each other stripped to the waist and with little or no protection for any part of the body. The contest is exciting and full of danger. Ordinarily another weapon is chosen, which is used for attack only upon the opponent's face and head. Neither of the contestants moves from the position assumed in the beginning of the duel, nor does he from the beginning to the end lower his arm from its elevated position. The whole movement is of the wrist, and the aim is to reach the face of the adversary. The eyes are protected and the ears in part, and the wounds inflicted are commonly upon the face and the scalp. Nothing could well be more absurd than this custom: but it is bound up in the social life of the university and helps to constitute it. In some of the institutions it is said that an Ehrengerichte has been established, a sort of student's jury, before which all quarrels may be brought and adjusted by arbitration. Our American students are simply amazed at the enormous quantities of beer that their German brethren are capable of consuming. The drinking, smoking, and singing all contribute to good fellowship, but are sadly in the way of earnest study. Favorite songs are "Gaudeamus igitur," "Was ist des deutschen Vaterland," "Es zogen drei Bursche wohl über den Rhein," "Wohlauf noch getrunken den funkelnden Wein." It seems a pity that such good fellowship could not be dissociated from addled brains and aching heads. In our American colleges there is, alas, too much drinking; but sober-minded students find the most delightful fellowship without the brutality and folly of duelling, and without debasing themselves with strong drink.

Heidelberg is a delightful spot for the seat of a university. The building is exceedingly plain, as the picture shows, and one misses the charming campus which so often adorns the American college and is the centre of so much that is attractive in the life of our students. But there is the charm that attaches to that which is venerable and which has so much of interesting history associated with it. The universities of Prague and Vienna are the only ones that antedate it in Europe. It was founded in 1386 by the elector Ruprecht. Its later history dates from the year 1803, when it entered upon a new career under the grand duke Charles Rupert. Its name is closely associated with the revival of learning and with such men as Wessel, Agricola and Reuchlin. It was the alma mater of Melancthon, Oecolampadius and Bucer. The theology of the reformed churches of the continent was fostered within its walls. Its chair of theology was occupied by Ursinus and Olevianus, to whom the preparation of the famous Heidelberg catechism was intrusted. In the early part of this century, however, very different influences prevailed in the theological department, and Paulus with his extreme naturalistic views exercised a controlling power. More lately men like Rothe, Hundeshagen, Schenkel, and Umbreit, have devoted learning and ability to the rebuilding of what rationalistic thinkers were striving to destroy. It is a pleasure to be able to give our readers so excellent a likeness of Prof. Kuno Fischer, who is one of the most distinguished men in the present faculty. He is the author of a number of valuable works, one of the most important of which is his Geschichte der neuern Philosophie. It may interest Princeton men to know that among the students from America who have lately been attending his lectures is one who bears the familiar name of Caspar Wistar Hodge. It would not do to close a notice of Heidelberg without at least a brief allusion to the famous castle which is to visitors perhaps the most interesting feature of the place. It is in ruins, and great masses of the wall lying prostrate tell of the fury of the bombardment to which it was subjected by the French, and the name of the ferocious general Tilly (1622) and the name of Melac (1688) are not held in very pleasant remembrance. The ruins are now kept from further injury with the utmost care, and the pleasure-grounds about the castle are in the most beautiful condition. The "Church of the Holy Ghost" in the town of Heidelberg is remarkable for the fact that a division wall has been built through the structure and Roman Catholic worship is celebrated in one part of the building and Protestant worship in the other. On the other hand the church of St. Peter is famous as the building to the doors of which Jerome of Prague, the companion of John Huss nailed his theses, after the fashion of the times. May Heidelberg be ever true to the Reformed doctrine and the principles of the Reformation.

PROF. KUNO FISCHER.

WHAT WILL THE CHURCHES DO!

Nine hundred students are anxiously waiting to know. The summer has been a trying one for many of them. It has been exceedingly difficult for them to secure remunerative employment; and one case has come to our knowledge in which the student after a hard summer's toil is unable to collect the money earned and on which he depended for his winter's support. It is not pleasant under such circumstances to learn that the amount to be received from the treasury of the Board must probably be twenty dollars less than the amount upon which they had been depending. If it has been a hard year for the churches it has been a peculiarly hard year for the candidates under our care. Our sympathies are strongly excited for them because they are almost without exception men who are making heroic exertions to earn their own support.

COLLEGE AND SEMINARY NOTES.

PARK COLLEGE, Mo., reported this year 818 students, of whom 305 were professors of religion. 70 per cent of the graduates of this institution have entered the ministry. There are 26 in the Student's Volunteer Band.

GROVE CITY COLLEGE, Penna., reports 310 students, of whom 230 are professors of religion, and 15 are candidates for the ministry, besides 11, who are members of the Student's Volunteer Band.

HARVARD UNIVERSITY.—The papers bring the information that the entire estate of Mrs. Harriet Hayden of Boston, valued at about $4,000 or $5,000 has been given to Harvard College, in trust, to establish "the Lewis and Harriet Hayden Scholarship for Colored Students." The income is to be used for the benefit of needy and worthy colored students, the medical school to have the preference. Provision is made that if no such student is to be had in any year, the income is to be sent to the Home for Aged Colored Women in Boston.

THE YOUNG MINISTER.

[A lady, who modestly writes, "Do not print my name unless necessary," sends us the following from the distant State of Washington. Certainly it is not "necessary" to give any name to enforce such wise, womanly, motherly, counsels. Young ministers and old ministers, who remember when they were young, will heartily thank her for them.]

The young minister has taken his first charge; he is to deliver his first sermon to the people with whom he is to labor. He knows they will criticise his language, his delivery, his dress and his gestures. Consequently he is somewhat disturbed. He looks at the audience to find one sympathizing countenance which if he does find, it cheers his heart like a benediction.

But if nothing greets him but curious faces he is more ill at ease than before. He sends a swift silent prayer to the sympathizing friend for help which is always sure. He gets through with the service in some way, but is weary and sad.

Does some one take him by the hand and speak a thoughtful word about the sermon? I hope so; he will remember it, and will

The following are President Elliot's recommendations on the subject of college athletics.

He recommends first: That there should be no freshmen inter-collegiate matches or races.

2nd. No games, inter-collegiate or others, should be played on any but college fields belonging to one of the competitors, in college towns.

3rd. No professional student should take part in any inter-collegiate contest.

4th. No student should be a member of a University team or a crew in more than one sport in the same year.

5th. No foot-ball should be played until the rules are so amended as to diminish the number and violence of the collisions between the players, and to provide for the enforcement of the rules.

6th. Inter-collegiate contests in any one sport should not take place oftener than every other year.

Finally, if trial shall prove the insufficiency of all these limitations, inter-collegiate contests ought to be abolished altogether.

know where to expect help and sympathy on the next Sabbath. Friends, be very kind and helpful to the young minister, he is a stranger and does so much need an encouraging word. Help him by thoughtful appreciation of his work. Remember that he is mortal and enjoys kind words and consideration as much as anyone. I think that during a minister's first work is when, if ever, he needs love shown to him, make him to feel that he is welcome. Do not stand aloof, and wait to know whether he will please you or not. How can he if he is made to feel that he is an alien, and that he has not the trust and confidence of God's people? Remember, too, that he is a studious person, and must have time to prepare his discourses. If he does not call on each one every week, think not unkindly of him, he loves you every one, or he would not be in the ministry.

Let no man despise thy youth; but be thou an ensample to them that believe, in word, in manner of life, in love, in purity. Till I come, give heed to reading, to exhortation, to teaching. Neglect not the gift that is in thee.—I Timothy, IV, 12.

Thoughts on The Sabbath-school Lessons.

I.

November 4.—Jesus Lord of the Sabbath.—Mk. 2: 23-28 and 3: 1-5.

In the healing of the withered hand we find one of many instances in Christ's ministry, of his teaching that with him "mercy is better than sacrifice."

But perhaps some cavilling Pharisee would say, "We will admit the force of that example, but the disciples might have provided their lunch beforehand and not depended upon gathering it from the fields on the Lord's day."

The giver of all good sets us an example here of the mercy which he wishes us to show to those less favored than ourselves.

In spreading his bounties before his children in the fields as freely as he furnishes them to the birds of the air, he invited them to "stretch forth" their hands as truly as he commanded the afflicted man to do the same act. And their response was as acceptable to him as that of the other.

II.

November 11.—The Twelve Chosen—Mk. 3: 6-19.

Favored twelve; chosen by the Great Teacher to be his disciples! Chosen by the Great Captain to be his body-guard! Chosen by the king of kings to be his special messengers! Chosen before the foundation of the world to be holy and without blame!

As disciples, it took them long to learn what manner of spirit they were of. As soldiers, they deserted their Captain in the hour of his greatest need, but afterwards fought for his honor even unto death. As messengers of the King, it was hard for them to learn that the message was to Gentiles as well as to Jews; but they carried it to all parts of the known world and left their testimony to future generations.

And they grew in holiness and in likeness to their pattern until they attained unto the "measure of the stature of the fulness of Christ," when they saw him "as he is."

III.

November 18.—The Sermon on the Mount.—Lu. 6: 20-31.

What a succession of mysteries this passage would present to one reading it for the first time, if we can imagine such a one, without the aid of any other portion of the Gospel! Not until he reached the last verse, that wonderful Golden Rule, would he discover the least clue to its meaning. A little reflection would then perhaps make him see that that rule, if universally adopted, would be the surest means for abolishing from the world all enmities, curses, smitings and thefts.

NOTE.—For the cuts on this and the following page we are indebted to the courtesy of Messrs. Whittet & Shepper son, publishers of the new Primary Quarterly of the Presbyterian Church, U. S., Richmond, Va.

From the first part of the lesson he would at least gather that the joys and sorrows of this world are under the control of a just God, who will not always leave things as they are now, but will bring right out of what seems most wrong.

How much reason we have to be thankful that the Truth is so fully revealed to us in the Bible, and that it has been preserved to us entire for our instruction.

IV.

November 25.—Opposition to Christ.—Mk. 3: 32–35.

It is not the name of Christians, nor membership in any church that can give us a right to call ourselves brothers and sisters of Christ,—but doing the will of God. He who came down from heaven not to do his own will, but that of the Father who sent him; whose meat was to do the will of him that sent him; whose delight was to do the will of God,—will not own as his brethren any but those who bear a family likeness to him in this respect.

“The end of life is not personal enjoyment; it is the image and glory of God.”

JOHN THE BAPTIST AND JESUS.

John could receive the haughtiest of Pharisees, and the most venerable of scribes, coming to his baptism with no timidity. No sense of unworthiness to baptize them did he betray. His only hesitation about them was, whether they were spiritually fit to receive the rite; whether they did truly repent.

But now he saw before him one whose moral blamelessness, whose absolute innocence, whose unstained holiness he could not help feeling. How much he had known of the actual life in Nazareth, of that son of his mother's cousin—something of whose marvelous story must, we should think, have been told him—we are not informed. But John's visible awe of that presence; his conscious spiritual inferiority to that person is manifest. “How can I apply this symbol of purification to one whose soul I feel to be so much purer than mine!” This doubtless was John's honest feeling. “I have need to be baptized of thee, and comest thou to me?” John shrank from an action which would set him in official superiority over one to whom he felt himself spiritually so greatly inferior. No wonder, it was difficult for John to consent. No wonder, he felt, what a privilege it would be, to confess all his own sins, and to receive from that saintly one the symbol of cleansing upon his own person.

Jesus did not disclaim the spiritual superiority which John ascribed to him. He did not deny the spiritual need of John, which John had so honestly confessed. But, even in this distant reading, we can feel the quiet dignity and power of his word, “Suffer it to be so now, for so it becometh us to fulfill all righteousness?” And do we need any more ample account of John's compliance, than the simple sentence, “Then he suffered him?”

What if John could not see how his baptizing his Lord would tend to the fulfillment of all righteousness, it was enough for him, that the Lord assured him that it would. John's reverence for Jesus was too sincere to be made a reason for disobeying him. His modesty was too genuine to insist upon his objection to assuming an apparent precedence to his Lord when assured that such was his Lord's will. Doubtless he who had come into the world "to fulfill all righteousness" knew how to accomplish it. Ill would it become one who felt himself unworthy to loose his shoe-latchet to undertake correction or criticism of his methods. Can you imagine the devout and holy comfort with which John at length realized the privilege and the honor of applying the consecrating water to the person of Jesus? Doubtless the prompt and full surrender of his own judgment and his own will to that of the Lord was a principal ingredient in that holy joy.

RECENT EFFORTS TO REFORM OUR MARRIAGE LAWS.

[From the Philadelphia Public Ledger.]

When the true history of the moral and social progress of the American people shall be written not a little space will be given to record the work which the closing years of the century have witnessed in the defence of purity and permanence of the family. This will include the legislation and the wise and patient enforcement of the laws which were necessary to suppress polygamy in Utah and other Western Territories. The Edmunds law for this purpose, the constitutionality of which was upheld by the Supreme Court, will be regarded with increasing interest as the full significance of this whole passage in our history is better understood. It was the affirmation of the nation's right and the declaration of her purpose to maintain over her whole territory the Christian or monogamous type of the family. It recognized the fact that identity of social institutions is a chief factor in the unity of the nation, and that, under the law of self-preservation, the nation has the right to establish one domestic order for all households within her pale.

But it was impossible to suppress polygamy in Utah, and at the same time to take no note of the "consecutive polygamy" which has become possible in many States. The pending movement for "divorce reform" was therefore, the logical corollary of our legislation against the Salt Lake abomination. The moral instincts and convictions which were offended by the one evil are arrayed equally against the other. From the beginning of our history the uniform tendency of our legislation had been toward greater laxity in the recognized grounds for divorce. As the result of discussion this tendency has been reversed, and the trend of legislation for some years has been towards greater strictness in the safeguards of marriage. The first organized effort in this direction was the formation of the New England Divorce Reform League, which has since been made a national society. The National Reform Association, organized to maintain and promote the Christian features of the American Government, found the maintenance of the Christian law of the family an integral and unavoidable part of its operations, and appointed a special Secretary for service in this field, and, later, created a special committee to superintend the work. The active members of this committee, with Dr. John Ashhurst as their Chairman, have been chosen from the citizens of Philadelphia.

To the former of these organizations we are indebted for the national investigation into the working of our marriage and divorce laws, the report of which shows the number of divorces granted in every State and Territory and in every separate year from 1867 to 1886, enabling the student to ascertain both the distribution of the evil and the rate of its increase in particular States and in the nation. The whole is a volume of more than one thousand pages, and is, beyond doubt, the most important report on any sociological subject ever issued by our Government.

For several years discussion was directed to the securing of a National Marriage and Divorce law. No doubt this would be the ideal solution of the problem, but for the present it has been found to be impracticable. The States must first, in the constitutional manner, surrender this matter to the control of the General Government. The friends of better morals are, therefore, thrown back on the legislation of the several States, and the fact that 21 States have appointed Commissioners to frame a uniform code of laws relating to marriage and divorce is an impressive monument to the zeal and earnestness with which the movement has been pressed forward. No more important juristic work has been undertaken in the United States since the adoption of the National Constitution.

The number of States represented by Commissioners at Saratoga would have been larger but for the fact that so many of the Legislatures were not in session last winter. Every State will wish to have a voice in deliberations affecting so large and so important a body of laws. The investigation and discussion out of which this whole movement has grown will continue and become more intelligent and more earnest. The outcome of the whole can hardly fail to be a purer and more uniform marriage code. This will mould and educate the people. The moral forces which work so powerfully and so beneficially in our national life will find a noble reinforcement in these better laws. The steady increase of divorces will be checked, and a diminishing ratio will be established in its stead. The typical American family, in which one man and one woman remain husband and wife until death, will become more and more the rule, and the exceptions will every year be fewer, and we shall enter the twentieth century under the benignant influence of a great social reformation. To the end that this fair vision may become a beneficent reality, the labors of a host of good citizens will be steadily put forth.

TREASURE LAID UP IN HEAVEN.

Will the missionary, whose life has been spent far away from Christian association and intercourse, be permitted hereafter personally to know those who, at home, in humble spheres and laborious occupations, have carefully saved from scanty earnings their willing contributions toward his support? Will those to whom God has entrusted large pecuniary resources, and who have used them for his cause, be greeted by the men who devoting their lives to religious labors, have been sustained by their endowments or their contributions? Will not these then look together, in perfect sympathy and in unutterable joy, upon the blessed immortals, who have been saved by means of their sacred partnership of labor? Happy are those rich men—rich in faith as well as in earthly goods—who thus “make friends of the mammon of unrighteousness,” and lay up treasures in the “everlasting habitations.”

No less blessed will that poor widow be whom the Lord saw casting in all that she had into the treasury, and many such ones who now, out of scanty resources, or with restricted opportunities, give what they are able, or do what they can.

All this will doubtless then be seen much more than we are apt to see it now.

Will it not be a joy worthy of that life to study what may then be revealed of the numerous and various instrumentalities which have all been connected with one another and with the grand result then to be witnessed? That we shall there know much that here is wholly concealed from us, and know fully much that here we know only in part, we have ample assurance. Doubtless the more we know of the way in which the work of God here has been carried forward, the more we shall admire the secret connections and harmonies of the so various agencies; and will not they all then rejoice together who have had part in these agencies?

THE TREE KNOWN BY ITS FRUIT.

It is right to judge of a religion, by its effects on the character of those whose who embrace it, and to choose, or reject it, on that ground.

A religion which makes people worse, which debases them, corrupts them, makes them, impure, dishonest, unkind, unthankful, unholy—such a religion is not a good religion. It is not best to have such a religion. One is better without it. On the contrary a religion which makes its believers better, improves their character, ennobles and purifies them, makes them more upright, more kind, more honest, more conscientious, more lovely; every way better people—such a religion must be good.

It must have been much in this way, that Ruth, the Moabitess, judged of Naomi's religion. Naomi had doubtless commended her religion to Ruth most decidedly and effectually. One might rashly profess adherence to another's religion without any correct understanding of it. But the subsequent career of Ruth shows that her choosing Jehovah for her God, was not like that. Her behavior in the country of her adoption was such as to convince such a man as Boaz, that she had a sincere faith in God. We are justified in assuming that when she said to Naomi, "Thy God shall be my God," she made an intelligent and sincere choice. Probably she had to a great extent judged of Naomi's religion by its effects on her character. Naomi had doubtless related to her the wonderful things God had done for her nation. She probably had read to her such portions of the sacred writings as she may have possessed and Ruth could see and feel the excellence of those writings and of the doctrines and precepts which they contained. But their principal influence with her must have been by means of their perceived effects on her mother-in-law's character. If Naomi had not exemplified those principles—if it had not been manifest that in so far as she was under the influence of that religion, she was made good and lovely by it, is it likely that Ruth would have been led to embrace it?

Ruth acted reasonably in thus judging of the Hebrew religion. It is proper to judge any religion in this way—by its effects. This is not the only kind of evidence we can have, but it is a legitimate kind, and rightly used it will guide us safely. We would be willing to say that any person should choose among all the religions of this world, on this principle fairly applied to them. That one which uniformly, so far as it is sincerely embraced and faithfully acted on, produces the best effects on men's character, is the best religion. It must be the true religion.

In all sections of the British Empire prayer is frequently made for the rulers of that great realm, and especially for Queen Victoria. In Canada, during a sojourn of a few weeks there for several summers past, we have been struck with this more than ever, though familiar with it from early years. May not the purity of the court of Britain's Queen, and the beneficence of her reign be due in part to this. Further, it was pleasant to find that in such prayers made in pulpits of the Canadian Presbyterian Church, prayers for the President of the United States were very often coupled with those for the Queen. We are almost certain that we have heard public prayers for the President of the United States made as often in a given time in Canada, as we have heard such prayers in a like time in the United States. The experience of others may differ with ours, but such has been ours.

In the above suggestions of The Christian Observer we heartily concur. And why should our prayers be limited to the rulers of our own land? Why should not British subjects sojourning with us be cheered and comforted by hearing the revered name of their Queen coupled with that of our President in the prayers of the sanctuary as our countrymen do when sojourning in the British dominions? And when we pray for our missionaries in more distant lands under less free governments, do we remember to pray for God's blessing and guidance for the rulers whose people they are evangelizing?

Does not every king, czar, sultan of them all, and "all in authority under them" need the blessing of God as much as our rulers?—the mercy of God as much as we ourselves? Do we truly care for the souls of their subjects, and not also for their own?

IN HARVEST TIME.

[From Heathen Women's Friend].

Where blithe the merry reapers bind
The Summer's golden store,
I hear upwafted on the wind,
Re-echoed o'er and o'er.

The joyous rush of swinging scythe,
The sound of eager feet,
As to and fro the workers lithe
Bear happy sheaves of wheat.

Ah, lightest hour her glad heart knows
When down the sunny slope,
Beneath her sheaf the reaper goes
In joy of garnered hope.

Dear Lord of years and harvests kind,
In day of ripened leaf,
Forbid it then, that I should bind,
In harvest-time, no sheaf. L. M. H.

Young People's Christian Endeavor.

MUTUAL CONFIDENCE.

There are many relations in which reciprocity is essential to fulness of enjoyment in faith. Every one sees it to be so in the conjugal relation. It is equally true as between parents and children. The little child needs to be able to trust itself wholly to its parent—the infant smiling in the parent's arms, nestling close to the parent in the dark, clinging to the parent's garments in danger real or imagined. A little further on in life parental prescription and direction will be of no avail unless they win the child's confiding obedience. No sullen, reluctant, compelled submission can suffice. That such faith, confidence, trust in the parent is essential to the child's happiness needs no assertion. And is anything in human life more beautiful than the reciprocal trust of the parent in the child resulting from the child's rendering of appropriate filial trust to the parent?

Children that can be trusted out of their mother's sight—a mother who can come home after being a while away and feel sure of finding that her children have tried to do just as they knew that she wished—a boy who can be trusted down the street, in sight of places into which he must not go, who can be sent on his father's errands, left in charge of his father's business, trusted with matters which concern his father's honor and his mother's happiness—is any other human experience more delightful?

"The heart of her husband doth safely trust in her" is the sweetest encomium that can be spoken of a wife. The true fulfillment of filial dutifulness is realized when it can be said of sons or daughters, "the heart of their parents doth safely trust in them."

Some feelings are to mortals given,
With less of earth in them than heaven;
And if there is a human tear
From passion's dross refined and clear,
A tear so limpid and so meek
It would not stain an angel's cheek,
'Tis that which pious fathers shed
Upon a duteous daughter's head.

Filial faith fulfills itself when it wins complete reciprocal parental faith.

The confidence of pupils in a teacher fulfills itself in his willingness to trust his reputation—to trust himself to them.

How vain were all valor and wisdom of generalship if they did not so inspire armies with confidence in their leader that he in turn can safely entrust the flag and the cause it symbolizes to them?

Is our trust in Christ to be similarly fulfilled by winning his reciprocal trust in us? Certainly it is. In the Gospel according to John, we read of many believing on his name to whom Jesus did not trust himself. John ii: 24. Evidently that believing on his name was not satisfactory to him. Our gracious, loving, faithful Lord wants disciples who not only trust him, but whom he can trust. He is trying to train us into fitness to be trusted on his errands, with his business, with sacred and precious interests of his kingdom. Can there be a more worthy Christian Endeavor than to become, and help each other to become such trust-worthy disciples?

THE YOUNG CHRISTIAN IN BUSINESS.

I am disposed to lay claim for the good word, business, to its primary significance, including all things with which earnest men and women busy themselves. It would perhaps be a gain to our literature and our speech and our thought, if we could bear back our usage toward that older and broader meaning, instead of yielding to the tendency to restrict the word business to trade.

There is an unhappy suggestion in distinguishing professional men from business men—even a hint that lawyers, doctors, teachers, writers and ministers are not expected to be as busy as merchants. There is not only a verbal but a practical gain in understanding that in the pulpit, the Sabbath-school and the church—in our preaching, in education, in all our practical Christianity, we "mean business." Let us keep the earnestness and the diligence which that strong word expresses. Let us, as Christians, fully occupy all its wide and deep meaning.

In that primary and large sense of the word, all Christian endeavor is business, and every member of a Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor is a Young Christian in Business.

It is, however, convenient and not improper to use this word, as we do use many another, sometimes in a more restricted sense, and we would in this article consider the relations of the young Christian to those transactions which involve commercial dealing, buying and selling, trade, traffic. This includes all exchanges of one commodity for another or for money. It also includes all dealing in money, as lending or borrowing it, keeping it in safe custody, and facilitating exchange and transfer of it—all that is meant by banking. Trade and finance may perhaps be regarded as covering the entire field of commercial business.

In the various departments of such business a large number of young Christians now have their daily employment. The larger number of these are young men, but already a considerable and increasing number are young women.

It is also to be noted, that, as purchasers, all men and women have more or less mercantile business to do. We all buy most of the things we use, and we are thus in contact and have dealing with those whose habitual employment is to provide and to sell the things which others need to purchase.

The Christian principles of trade apply to both parties in commercial transactions—the buyers and the sellers.

A good bargain is not one in which you buy something so cheap that the seller has lost a part of its value, or in which you have sold something at so high a price that the buyer has not received the worth of his money. Such a bargain is bad for both parties. It hurts one in his purse and the other in his character. The one who gets the pecuniary advantage has the worst of it, for he has lost character. That only is a good bargain which benefits both parties—that is, when each gets what is better for him than that which he has exchanged for it. Each has accommodated the other, each has helped the other to that which he needed. Now there are two rules which apply to this.

One is, "Let each party in a trade look out for himself." The other is, "Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others." Surely no Christian Endeavorer can have any doubt which of these rules is according to the mind of Christ.

THE PLEDGE.

The first promise in the pledge of the Christian Endeavor Society is: "Trusting in the Lord Jesus Christ for strength, I promise him that I will strive to do whatever he would like to have me do."

An exceedingly busy merchant once said to his pastor: "The days in which my business presses me most are my best days spiritually, for in such days, I have the most frequent occasion to ask myself, 'how would my Saviour be best pleased to have me transact this item of business? What does he wish me to do or to say to this customer?' Thus I am kept in closer communication with him than in days of comparative leisure. It is in the evening of one of those busy days that I find myself in the best mood to enjoy a prayer-meeting."

The same good man once said: "I think that we should make all our secular business not only subordinate but subservient to our piety." If every young Christian in business will follow that rule and example, we shall by and by have a mature generation of business men and busy women who make "earthly care a heavenly discipline"; a generation with whom the phrases "business principles" and "Christian principles" will have the same meaning.

THE YOUNG CHRISTIAN BEHIND THE COUNTER.

Are you a salesman, a cashier, a teller, a railroad ticket agent, a post-office clerk? You are at that post through all the business hours of the day, the week, the year. Those with whom you there have dealing are there only occasionally, and each one only for a little time. To many of them their business transactions are not so frequent as to make them feel at home and at ease as you have learned to feel. Some of them are timid, shy, consciously awkward. What precious opportunities to show kindness, consideration, courtesy! In some cases—perhaps not a large proportion, but some—there is opportunity to "speak a word for Jesus," and try to win a soul for him. But in every case there is opportunity to do business exactly as the Lord Jesus "would like to have you do it." And how is that? Think how that young carpenter in Nazareth probably took orders for tables or stools or chests to be made in that shop, or took pay for them when they were finished. It does not take any time to have such thoughts, the more familiar such thoughts are to you, the less time it will take, and the less it will weary or worry you to complete any business transaction.

BUSINESS ON WHEELS.

More and more, in our time of swift and easy travel, wholesale purchases of goods are made, not in the store-houses where the goods are kept, but by agents going to the purchasers at their places of retail business, showing them samples, and taking their orders. This has called into service and trained a numerous army of travelling salesmen. Many of these are Christians, Y. M. C. A. men, Y. P. C. E. men, church-members. No class of young Christians have more use for all these Christian organizations. None can make better use of them, for their own improvement, and for helping others.

A traveling man's simple and frank testimony, in the prayer-meeting of a village or city where he is stopping for a night is welcome and encouraging to the Christians who live there, and such brief contact with any company of disciples, in such a meeting, will refresh the visitor, and renew his spiritual strength.

THE OTHER SIDE.

I am not forgetting the other side of this. You who are at home—young or old—can help such an occasional visitor to your prayer-meeting, your church, your Sabbath-school, by cordially welcoming him, shaking hands with him, showing him that his few words cheered you—perhaps inviting him to your home and table—at any rate assuring him of welcome to your meetings whenever business may bring him to your town again.

There is another side too to the business done over the counter. If the experienced person behind it should be considerate and sympathetic, as well as careful, truthful and just to the timid, bashful or awkward purchaser, so is it equally incumbent upon the experienced purchaser to be considerate and sympathetic towards the young person behind the counter, who may also be timid, or tired, or over-fearful of making mistakes. There are frequent and precious opportunities to help and encourage such youth—to speak words for Jesus to them—and perhaps to do them more good by letting them see that you are as unwilling to pay too little as to pay too much for what you buy—as careful not to make unnecessary trouble as to exact all the attention due to you—in short, to let them see how the Lord Jesus doubtless made purchases, if he ever made any in Nazareth or in Capernaum.

You need not try to show this to the persons of whom you make purchases. They will probably see it, if it is true. They will be sure to feel it.

H. A. N.

ONE WAY TO LEARN THE LESSON.

From The Free Church of Scotland Monthly.

Charlotte was standing at the counter waiting for her parcel to come to her. Suddenly the girl behind the counter spoke up sharply.

"Sam," she said, "there was a lady sick in here just now; they sent for water for her, and the cooler was empty."

The slouching, good-natured negro looked guilty.

"That was too bad. I'm sorry."

"The lady was sick," repeated the girl with still greater emphasis, "and she needed a glass of water, and there wasn't any."

By this time the bundle was ready. As Charlotte made her way along the crowded aisles out of the great establishment, she was thinking of the little scene which she had just left.

"It reminds me of the cup of cold water," she said to herself when she reached the street, "and throws a new light on it. I always thought this just meant that every little helps, but, if this is a good illustration, it means more. I shall tell my Sunday-school class about it. Maybe this morning, or yesterday, or some time last week, somebody in God's big world was sick—heart-sick—tired, maybe, or lonely or discouraged, and needed a cup of cold water (the children understand that), and could not get any. Perhaps it was one of my own little girls who ought to have had it ready for her and didn't. Yes, I will certainly put 'Sam' in the lesson next Sunday."

She turned the idea over in her mind for a square or two further, and then another thought came.

"And meantime I might put him into my own daily walk and conversation. I could teach it better than probably."

Charlotte was nearly home when she met a tall, thin young woman, carrying several books under her arm.

"She is a typical school-mistress," thought Charlotte, as she bowed and smiled—"more typical than usual this afternoon; her eyes look more owl-like behind her great gold-rimmed spectacles. She must lead a dreadful life with that mob of boys."

Charlotte walked on a few steps, then wheeled around, and, dodging a woman with a big market basket, hurried after the school-teacher.

"Miss Gardner," she said, "what have you done to my small brothers?"

"I beg pardon!" was the stiff response. But Charlotte knew that she had heard.

"Harry and Jack are getting on so splendidly with their lessons this winter; they really enjoy studying. You seem to have a genius for keeping them interested. I heard father tell the boys last night that he hoped they realized what an uncommon teacher they had. And they said, of course they did; she was all right all round—the fellows all thought so."

"Your father is satisfied with their progress, is he?" asked Miss Gardner, trying not to seem too eager.

"Satisfied! he is beamingly delighted, and is never tired of talking about it. All the family feel themselves very much in your debt."

"You are very kind to say so," said Miss Gardner. Then, losing some of her primness, she added, "I was needing a cheering word this afternoon. It has been a hard day, and as I walked home I was thinking that perhaps my work was a failure after all."

"Oh no. Never think that when you teach those growing boys so much every week, and teach it with a moral, too, which they respect and will remember."

"It helped her; she was thirsty," Charlotte told herself when they had parted; but she did not know how much it helped, how often the solitary, hard-worked woman thought of her words of praise when the pranks of "those growing boys" had brought her spirits to the lowest ebb, and how it rested her.

Charlotte's room at home was next to the nursery. When she was putting her hat and coat away she heard Katie the nursemaid through the half-open door say coaxingly,—

"Now, Daisy'll be a good little girl and sit quiet a while, and let Katie get her letter done, won't she? It's a poor writer that Katie is; and what with the rushin' and hurryin' we've gone through with, I ain't found a bit o' time to attend to it, and my mother'll be waiting a week to hear from me. I fear she'll go to worryin'. So you'll just look over all your beautiful pictures here and leave Katie to herself, won't you?"

But Daisy clamorously objected to any such arrangement.

"Write your letter, Katie," said Charlotte, appearing suddenly on the scene; "I will take care of this small nuisance for a while."

"Oh no, miss," said Katie, flushing and deprecatory; "I can do it to-night just as well when she gets asleep."

"You will be asleep then yourself. You must go to bed early to-night, for you are tired.—Come on, Daisy, into sister's room and make her a visit.—And, Katie, tell your mother that if everybody were as good-natured and helpful when a rush of work comes as her daughter always is, the world would be very much better off."

You may be sure that Katie delivered the message faithfully, her smiling lips working as laboriously over the construction of the words as did the pen in her slow, cramped fingers. When it was complete, she added this somewhat Irish comment, "i guess more of us gurls would be willing to oblige if the ladys would only take more notis of it."

It was wonderful how many Katies and Miss Gardners showed themselves in the course of the next few days. Charlotte was kept busy. On Saturday afternoon, on her way home from the Mission Band, she was joined by Miss Lansing, an eminently stylish young person, who chatted about her many social engagements at a rate that took Charlotte's breath away. Presently, however, she broke off with a sigh.

"But what a bore it all gets to be after a year or so! I feel about a thousand already at the very lowest. I am sick and tired of everything, myself in particular. Yet I'm not really any older than you are, and you are as fresh as a rose. What is your fountain of perpetual youth?"

It came so close to what had been uppermost in Charlotte's mind all these past days that involuntarily she spoke out her thought with unsmiling earnestness,—

"The river of the water of life."

There was an awkward pause. Charlotte, painfully startled and embarrassed at what she had done, did not know how to break it, and Miss Lansing was silent until they reached her corner, which was near. There she stopped.

"Do you know," she said, "that those five or six words are the first such that have been spoken to me in years? I often long for somebody to talk religion to me, but nobody does. It is a great mistake to suppose that butterflies never think, and would scoff at the person who tried to make them. It isn't by any means only in the highways and hedges that people are waiting for an invitation to come in."

The little girls in Charlotte's class were unusually quiet and attentive the next day.

"It was a lovely lesson, wasn't it?" said one of them to another afterward. "Miss Charlotte made it so plain, and as if we really could live that way ourselves, not just as if all the things were done by make-believe girls out of the Lesson Helps."

And Charlotte said, "It was a good way. Personal experience is about the best commentary on the Bible I know."

Children's Church at Home And Abroad.

THE BOSTON PRINTER'S BOY, THE PHILADELPHIA PATRIOT AND PHILOSOPHER.

The little Presbyterians who will read this, or whose mothers will read it to them, have probably heard a good deal about Benjamin Franklin. Indeed, the boys in all civilized countries are almost as sure to have heard or read about him as about George Washington. He was twenty-six years old when Washington was born; and he died when Washington had been President of the United States only one year. Franklin was born in Boston, Mass., January 17, 1706, and he died April 17, 1790. Washington was born February 22, 1732, and died, December 14, 1799. You all knew these dates before, I presume, and certainly you all know how to find, from these dates, how long each of these two great men lived. Through the greater part of their lives they knew each other and were among the most distinguished men in the world. They were both wise and patriotic men, and both did a great deal to make our country free and to give us the excellent government under which we live.

Benjamin's father was a chandler, that is a maker of candles or a seller of them—probably both—and his mother was a daughter of a prominent citizen of Nantucket, named Peter Folger. I think it was from that family of Folgers that Charles J. Folger was descended who was the Secretary of the Treasury of the United States when he died ten years ago. Earlier than that Mr. Folger was Chief Judge of the State of New York. There was rather a funny prediction of that when he was a very young man and a student in the college at Geneva, New York. He was always in the habit of writing his name in this way, "Ch. J. Folger." Once when he was writing it so, one of his fellow-students playfully asked, "Does that Ch. J. stand for Chief Judge?" He remembered this, when the people of New York made it true.

But I was not to tell you about Charles Folger but about Benjamin Franklin. He was one of a very large family—seventeen children—and only two of them were younger than Benjamin.

So, it is not strange that James, his oldest brother, was quite grown to manhood, when Benjamin was a little boy. James was a printer, and Benjamin was apprenticed to him to learn his trade. He wished to go to sea and be a sailor, but his parents preferred to have him stay on land.

He was that kind of a boy who would learn to do well whatever he had to do. That is the kind of boys that great men are made of. There is a good story of him, when he went to London a number of years later, and wanted to get employment in a printing house. The English printer had not believed that a boy could learn to be a good printer in such a new country as New England was then. He asked the young Yankee if he really could set type, in such a tone as showed that he did not believe he could do it well. But Benjamin very pleasantly asked him to let him try. So, the man gave him a "composing stick" and Benjamin quickly put the types into it, which spelled these words, "Can any good thing come out of Nazareth? Come and see." The printer saw at once that the boy understood his business, and he was pleased with his quick wit, so he gave him a job.

I think that he showed, at the same time, that he was very familiar with the Bible. Although I am afraid that he did not then think much of the highest things in the Bible, I have no doubt that he learned from it much of the wisdom by which he was distinguished, the same sort of wisdom for which Solomon was remarkable.

But you must not suppose I have forgotten, that Franklin did not go from Boston to London, you know that when he was seventeen years old, when he thought that his brother James was hard upon him and unjust, he ran away and went first to New York and then to Philadelphia.

When he came to Philadelphia he had very little money left, and taking good care not to waste any of it, he bought some cheap rolls and went along the street carrying one under his arm while he ate another. He found out how little money it took to buy enough of such plain food to live on, and he always took care to content himself with what he could pay for out of honest earnings. He was such a good workman, so industrious, faithful and frugal, that he always had work, and never lacked food or clothes or money to buy books. He bought good books and read them and gained useful knowledge fast.

He became one of the greatest philosophers of his age, or of any age. After he became famous and rich, as well as wise, he established the Philadelphia Library, the American Philosophical Society and the University of Pennsylvania, which is now a great institution with more than two thousand students in its various departments.

In its beautiful grounds on Woodland Avenue near the noble library building, there has lately been placed a statue of Franklin which represents him making one of his great scientific discoveries. Probably some of you have taken a cat into a dark closet and rubbed the fur on her back to see the sparks fly from it. You know that there are other ways of getting such sparks of electricity, but none more simple or more amusing than that with the cat. You know very well that this is the same electricity which flashes along the clouds, and which we call lightning. This was not known before Franklin's time, and this statue shows him making one of the experiments to prove it. He took a common boy's kite, and went out into a field near Philadelphia, when there was a thunder shower, and sent his kite up toward the cloud. He hung a brass key on the string of the kite, and when he held his knuckle near it a spark would fly from the key and prick him just as it would when he put his knuckle near to the brass knob of an electrical jar charged with electricity. By such experiments it was clearly proved that the electricity produced by rubbing glass with silk or rubbing the cat's fur with the hand is the very same as that which flashes and thunders in the cloud and that sometimes strikes trees and buildings and men so terribly. He also discovered that a rod of iron suitably placed, reaching its pointed end high above a building, while its lower end is buried in the ground, will lead the electricity down silently and without harm.

This statue of Franklin, much larger than life, has its right hand resting upon the top of a kite beside his knee, as if ready to be sent up to the cloud, and in his left hand is a key.

His large, intelligent face is looking up as if watching the cloud.

When Franklin lived in Philadelphia, if he was ever at the spot where his statue now stands, he would have had to walk more than a mile east, to reach the Schuylkill river, and, after crossing that, he would have had to go nearly another mile before he would come into sight of Philadelphia, which was then a small town lying along the west bank of the Delaware. Now the city has been extended west across the Schuylkill, far beyond the University grounds in which that statue stands. I am writing this in my own home, more than half a mile west of the statue, and I am by no means at the western edge of the city. There are well-built streets, and trolley cars are running much farther west.

Many of you now ride in trolley cars, but some of you never have seen one. Have any of you considered how wonderful it would have seemed even to Franklin, if the thought had come into his mind that before the end of the next century after his own, that strange power that came down from the cloud on his kite-string, would set cars full of passengers running along the streets of the great city that Philadelphia was to be, and in all the cities of the civilized world?

Have you studied the trolley cars—you who ride in them? They run on wheels on iron tracks much like those on which horses have drawn tram-cars for thirty years or more. But what makes them go? You see a slender pole reaching up from the roof of the car pushing a grooved wheel at its upper end along a wire upheld by cross wires, and these upheld by iron posts set at intervals along the sides of the street. That wire running for many miles along various streets is connected with a battery somewhere that generates the electrical power. "Generates" is the word now used. I am not altogether sure that it is accurate. The battery does not make that power begin to be. The power seems to be diffused through all the air, and rightly constructed batteries concentrate it, and apply it. The men of science, from Franklin down, have studied and experimented, and found out the ways and means, which God has appointed for bringing down this power to these wonderful human uses.

Sometimes when I am riding in a trolley car, it suddenly stops, and I soon see that the pole reaching up from our car, has sprung aside and lost its connection with the wire. That is soon readjusted, and we move on again. But sometimes there is some larger or more serious breaking of connection with the battery, and the cars stand still until the break is repaired and the connection restored.

The car reaching up its pole into the air to bring down to its wheels the unseen power that moves them so swiftly seems to me like prayer; and this great system of wires stretching along many streets, all carefully arranged for the many cars running hither and thither under them, reminds me of our arrangements for prayer —our closets, our family prayer room, our church prayer-meetings and our concerts of prayer.

Could not God who made the world and the air and this wonderful electric power that is all through it, make it move our cars, as his winds move our ships, without wires or batteries? I suppose he could, but he has not chosen to do that. Would it not be very foolish to throw away our wires and batteries, because we believe that God could give us all the good of electricity without them?

How is it any less foolish to neglect prayer, because we cannot see why God has any need of it, as a means of giving us the spiritual help and power which we need? Is it not enough, in one case and in the other, that he has told us or shows us that he has so planned and ordained?

THE LOVING ACT OF A DOG.

During mother's long and severe illness Carlo took great interest in all that pertained to her, watching the doctor very closely and sitting by the half hour with his chin on the bed by her side. We bought our bread, and knowing Carlo's fondness for warm biscuit the baker often gave him one, which he quickly dispatched. Once during a severe attack of mother's when we were doing our utmost to tempt her appetite, Carlo came in early one morning, bringing his warm biscuit untouched, and laid it on the floor by mother's side. She was too sick to notice this act of his, but not to be disappointed in his own plan he came forward and lifted the biscuit to her pillow and retired again to his corner to wait some look of thanks from her. It came, and such a happy dog! He had brought his choicest offering—a warm biscuit—and it had been recognized. Was there not a loving plan and careful observation in this act?—MARY E. HOLMES, in Science.

Seven years ago diphtheria entered a country parsonage in Maine, and for a week the father and mother and little child were in an agony of suffering and anxiety. God took the child to Himself, and just before he died he asked that his money might "go to tell little children about Jesus." The money went for the support of an evangelist in India, and as a result there is now an "Arthur" Church in that place with thirty earnest members—a light in the surrounding region.—The Congregationalist.

Gleanings At Home and Abroad.

[Gathered and Condensed by REV. ALBERT B. ROBINSON.]

—"Consecration ought to mean Coinsecration."

—Says one pastor, "My church is not my field, it is my force."

—Expediency is man's wisdom; doing right is God's.—George Meredith.

—The highest service that man may attain on earth is to preach God's Word.—Wycliffe.

—Missions constitute a criterion of spiritual vitality, says a writer in the London Quarterly Review.

—The spirit of Christian Endeavor may be expressed by the motto, "Do something, and do it now."—William Shaw.

—"Don't forget to take your purse along," says Rev. A. W. Spooner, "when you present your bodies a living sacrifice unto God."

—The essential heathenism which still exists in the Armenian Church is the one great justification of foreign missionary work in Turkey.

—It is always to the credit of the church when its own building operations are not allowed to affect its benevolent contributions.—Congregationalist.

—The Christian Indian Vernacular Translation Society receives $100,000 from Mr. John Clark formerly at the head of the thread manufactory at Paisley, Scotland.

—"The Club of Love and Friendship" in Sendai, Japan, organized for the study of the Bible, has become a centre of moral and religious influence, says Gospel in All Lands.

—The Home Mission Monthly tells of a missionary teacher who sent two dollars to the Emergency Fund, one for herself, and the other "for one who does not see her duty aright."

—The immigration of heathen from India to the Fiji Islands is increasing so fast as to seriously threaten the Christian character of the islands.—Baptist Missionary Magazine.

—The history of the Church proves that every pastor should receive practical training as an evangelist, and that every evangelist should receive practical training as a pastor.—Rev. B. Fay Mills.

—A writer in the London Times states that among the Fiji Islanders the deaths now number about five to one birth, and claims that the natives are rapidly decreasing and lapsing into barbarism.

—The very existence of a Church, says B. G. Tutt, D. D., is proof of its ability and obligation to support the work of missions. If it is not in the least concerned in the spread of the gospel, it forfeits its right to live.

—Invitations to a Biographical Tea contained this notice: "Each one is requested to come prepared to give the name, station, and at least one item in the life of some missionary, home or foreign, past or present."

—The influences which are helping to break the power of Mormonism—legislation, immigration, education—are efficient, but not sufficient. Only the Gospel of Christ is sufficient.—Mrs. Hawkes, at Omaha, June, '94.

—A debating society in Hankow, composed of Chinese boys, after gravely discussing the question, arrived at the unanimous conclusion that tight lacing or waist binding was a far greater evil than foot binding.—The Missionary.

—Reviewing the recent published dictionary of the Nyanja language by Dr. Robert Laws, an expert says: "Next to Swahili, the Nyanja language is by far the most important in East Africa, and it has a great future before it."

—In England five per cent, with good security, is thought liberal interest; in China, twenty per cent, is often secured; but our Lord assures us of a hundred fold. Is not that pretty good interest? And no anxiety about securities.—J. Hudson Taylor.

—A medical missionary in Southern China was at first called "the foreign devil." Now he is known as "the angelic healer from beyond the seas." His medical art won for him a way into the hearts of the people, and they listen as he tells the story of Christ.

—According to Rev. J. Hudson Taylor's recent statement, only one-third of the Thibetan race live in that interior Thibet which is still closed to the gospel; and two-thirds of the race are even now accessible to Christian missionaries.—Methodist Review of Missions.

—Mr. Murray, a negro from South Carolina, in the House of Representatives, asks that the half million dollars due to colored soldiers in the civil war in the form of back pay and bounties, be appropriated to the establishment of industrial schools for his race in the South.

—No student of the kingdom, no servant of Christ and His church should fail to give serious and sympathetic attention to the marvellous development of missions as manifestly one of the foremost movements of providence in the religious history of our century.—James S. Dennis, D. D.

—Since Hinduism is not a feeble system which must necessarily melt before the missionary, but one which calls for the highest powers to combat its errors, Sir M. Monier Williams urges that only well-trained missionaries be sent to India.

—Christian Chinese, returning to their own country, attempt to reproduce in China the fruits of what has been done for them here, writes Rev. Ira M. Condit. The only self supporting work in southern China is largely from what our California Chinese Christians have done.

—Home Missions is synonymous with self-preservation, writes Mrs. O. T. Johnson in The Occident. If we let events care for themselves, we are doomed as a Christian people. If we drift with the current, we drift to destruction. If we would insure our safety as a Christian republic, we must assimilate and Christianize as well as Americanize this heterogeneous mass of incoming people.

—"He did not flash, he rather glowed." This was said of a minister of God who was not a brilliant man, who did not startle people by sudden outbursts of eloquence, but whose steady light burned brightly and faithfully year after year. The example of a solid, reliable, unselfish, consecrated, every-day-the-same life is of far greater value than that of the flashy, brilliant life that suddenly blinds with its light and then gives place to midnight darkness.—Epworth Herald.

—God is in His world working with and for His children. He is speaking to this age by science, by criticism, by discovery, by revelation and its fulfilment. The chart of the ages is with Him. History is but a page of His diary. We are not working alone. The blessed assurance of the Master, "Lo I am with you alway, even to the consummation of the age," is known only in its rich fulfilment by those of whom it specifically speaks.—Rev. Wm. R. Hunt in The Messenger.

—A good citizen is one who is not for sale, honest to the heart's core, and with a conscience as true to the right as the needle to the pole. Such citizens are not produced in a day. Much of the raw material that comes to us from other shores cannot be transformed into good citizens by the issuing of a naturalization paper. The true citizen is the product of a social and moral evolution. He must first be a well rounded, symmetrically developed, harmoniously adjusted and full orb'd man, before he can be a good citizen.—Herald and Presbyter.

—The late George W. Childs always believed it was possible to unite success in business with strict moral integrity, that indulging in sharp practice is not necessary to such success. There are higher satisfactions, said he, than the mere getting of money, and riches cannot compensate a man for the consciousness of having lived a dishonorable or selfish life.

—It was the late Hon. Daniel Appleton White, of Salem, says the Boston Transcript, who, being at the time a member of the Massachusetts Senate before which was pending a bill to incorporate the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, replying to an objection that "we had no surplus of religion to export," said: "Religion is a commodity of which the more we export the more we have."

—"If I were asked," said Mr. Sathianadan, a native Hindoo pastor, addressing the undergraduates at Cambridge, what were the three essential qualifications for a successful missionary, "I should answer after the manner of the Greek orator, when asked a similar question concerning his art, and I should say: the first qualification is love, the second qualification is love, and the third qualification is love."

—Discussing in the Political Science Quarterly the assimilation of nationalities, with especial reference to affairs in this country, Prof. R. Mayo-Smith says: The optimistic view that the mere mixture of races and peoples will, of itself, produce a superior type has no scientific basis in anthropology and ethnology. Everything depends upon the way in which the mixture is brought about, and the elements which are involved.

—The mission field demands a higher qualification than the work of the practitioner at home, writes a missionary of Jaffna, Ceylon, in Herald and Presbyter. In many cases a missionary, face to face with a difficult case, can neither call in a consultant, send the case to the hospital, nor hand it over to a specialist. He must, single-handed, undertake operations which no private practitioner at home would face, or leave his patient to die.

—The native races of Alaska are exceedingly religious, writes Dr. Sheldon Jackson. They refer all events, great and small, to an influence supernatural. If a man makes a good catch of fish he does not say, "How skillful I am," but, "A good spirit helped me to-day." If a hunter comes back with little to show, he does not say, "I have had bad luck," but he will tell you, "Bad spirits drove all the animals away, or disturbed my aim."

—Missionary societies should not wait for volunteers, and from them select those who will represent the Church in foreign lands, but look over all the ministers at home, and from them make the selection and appointment, and let the responsibility of going or remaining at home rest with the one thus appointed.—Gospel in All Lands.

—Of an old coin, worn with age, and long treasured in the home for its associations, the owner said, as he gave it to help the Home Mission cause: "Money could not buy that dollar. It is associated with the happiest memories of my life; but if it can be used in Christ service, then it belongs to Him, and I have no right to keep it.—L. A. D. in Home Mission Monthly.

—Elders and deacons should be men of approved piety, zeal and well-trying devotion to the Lord's service, writes Elder Peter Caldwell, in Herald and Presbyter. These sacred offices should never be filled by men merely for the respect they may command in the community through their wealth or social standing. Property is not piety, cash is not character, money is not mind, neither is social standing soul excellence. In the midst of worldly affluence there may be an inner poverty. Intellectual and moral worth united is the only title to such honor and position.

—The Christianization of society is a large part of the calling of the disciples of Jesus Christ. The kingdoms of this world are to become the kingdoms of our Lord and of His Christ; and the phrase includes not merely the kingdom of Siam, and the kingdom of Madagascar, and the kingdom of Dahomey, but the kingdom of commerce, and the kingdom of industry, and the kingdom of fashion, and the kingdom of learning, and the kingdom of amusement; every great department of society is to be pervaded by Christian spirit and governed by Christian law. To this end we are to direct our energies.—Washington Gladden.

—No one who has lived in an Asiatic community and observed the treatment of women and other domestic animals, whether kept for breeding or industrial purposes, will be imposed on for a moment by the implication that the Hindus abstain from flesh from motives of humanity. People among whom infanticide is common, and the suttee was a national institution till the English suppressed it as a result of missionary agitation—since which time the treatment of widows has been such as to make the pyre seem merciful—do not abstain from animal food on account of extreme sensitiveness of suffering.—Fred Perry Powers, in The Forum.

—We have spent nearly $470,000,000 in building churches in this land, and $500,000,000 in building jails. It costs $50,000,000 a year to run the churches, and $400,000,000 to run the jails. We pay eight times as much for running our fellow-men down and jailing them as we do in trying to make them better so that they will not need the jail. It takes the world a long time to find out that men are not made better by force.—Rev. William G. Pudgefoot.

—The argument for medical missions does not rest exclusively upon the physical destitution of the people. If a Hindu or Mussulman finds that the Christian teacher or the Christian doctor helps him more in the time of sickness than anyone else, it will probably be to his mind a more powerful argument in favor of Christianity than the mere statement of the fact, which he is asked to take on credit, that our hospitals and dispensaries, our asylums and refuges, are the fruits of the teaching of Christ.—Katie Myers in Herald and Presbyter.

—Though the Gospel has wrought such marvels of transformation within the realm of Anglo-Saxon character and life yet greater wonders may appear when its work has been fully achieved upon the Chinaman, the Hindu, the African, the modern Hebrew. Since some of these races possess elements of religiousness different from and far surpassing those of the Anglo-Saxon, we are justified in expecting that Christianity will take firmer root in such soil, and perhaps produce a better crop than has yet been seen.—Dr. Dale.

—One of God's greatest gifts to this new world is the foreigner. Take your map and find those states which the stream of immigration has passed by, and in every case you find them behind the times. Hamilton, of whom it was said, "the greatest man this country had produced," was an immigrant. Albert Gallatin, the financier, Agassiz, the scientist, and thousands of illustrious names would make a strong list. One-twelfth of the land foreigners, but one-fourth of the Union armies were foreigners too—one-twelfth furnished one fourth. Men fought for the Union who knew no language but Old Glory. There is no way to lift Europe so fast as to evangelize her sons who come to us. Sixteen per cent. go home to live who can never forget what they saw here; and did we but teach them aright they would be an army 50,000 strong of foreign missionaries, preachers of the Gospel to the people in the tongue in which they were born, and thus creating a perpetual Pentecost.—Rev. William G. Pudgefoot.

—To evangelize and to teach is not our whole task. To Christianize is more than this. It is "teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you." A Christianized society is the aim of all our efforts—an embodied Christianity. This would be the kingdom of God set up in the world. To this task the generation in which we live, the providence of God and the leadership of Jesus Christ, through his mighty spirit, are calling us.—Henry Hopkins, D. D.

—The influence of the Church upon society is not the less beneficent because it is indirect. Christianity does not propound political systems and a true ordering of industry, but it does create that type of character, at once independent and self-suppressing, which may be called the raw material of sound politics and just industry. It works through individuals upon society. Politics are concerned with men, not as Christians, but as citizens; but the Christianity of the citizens will inevitably mold that conception of civic well-being, which will be enshrined in their legislation.—London Quarterly Review.

—Buddhist priests at the Parliament of Religions asserted the superiority of their religion on the ground of its greater regard for the sacredness of life, writes Rev. Henry Loomis. They denounced the killing of animals for the sustenance of man. But it is to their shame that while they provide for birds, monkeys and various animals, the helpless aged and dependent children in all Buddhistic countries are left to die from want. It has remained for Christianity to give to Japan a practical lesson of true benevolence, to teach that children are gifts from God, and whosoever receiveth a little one in Christ's name receiveth him.

—The Arjya Literary Society in Calcutta, composed of a few of the leading men of letters, has been engaged in translating into classical Bengali the sacred books of different religions. Having turned their attention to the Bible, they requested Mr. K. C. Banerjee to convene a meeting of representatives of the Christian denominations. At their further request this meeting appointed a committee to look over their translation as it progressed, and point out anything that would be against Christian doctrine or unacceptable to the Christian community. Rev. Herbert Anderson, who reports the action of these broad-minded, educated, non-Christian Bengali gentlemen, regards it as a remarkable proof of the success of Christian Missions in Bengal.

—The exclusion of all Biblical instruction and New Testament ethics from our colleges and universities deals a deadly blow at morality in the very place in which the foundation of character is expected to be laid. The highest degree of education and political privileges does not, moreover, secure morality and patriotism for the State. For we often find those who have enjoyed the greatest privileges, intellectually and politically, violating the laws and defying civil order and government. Without a large infusion of religious principles to direct the conscience and restrain the conduct it is not possible to secure the training necessary to self-government.—Assembly Herald.

—Suppose the over-crowded, intense world, now crying to God, in beautiful but hopeless repetition, should "move forward" among the people who have not heard of Christ, would they be doing for God anything more self-sacrificing than many are doing for wealth, sight-seeing, sport and glory? If even vast armies of people should offer to live and die in order that the Gospel might at once be made known everywhere, would life be for you more of a struggle, than it is now for millions of good people? Are not the masses of people jammed together and tramping upon each other getting hard and bitter; and all just to live a little more narrowly every year? What would be the effect if employment were given among the over-crowded by letting many go, by helping to send them to level up the sunken two-thirds of the human race? Might not the machinery and business of the world still run?—J. M. Hodson.

—The Zulus have a custom of giving to a friend about to leave them for a long journey from which he may not return, a sum of money, called "grave money," to be devoted to providing a suitable burial. The Independent, referring to this says: When Aldin Grout, D. D., left the Zulus in 1870 to return to this country, after being with them twenty-five years, the natives in token of their deep affection, made up a purse of "grave money" for him. On arriving at Springfield, Mass, he put the sum in a savings bank, where it increased until his death in February, 1894. It was then taken out and proved to be sufficient not only to meet the expenses of the funeral, but to erect a plain shaft of marble with a granite foundation, and bearing this inscription:

"I have fought the good fight."
The Rev. Aldin Grout, born in Pelham, Mass., 1808.
One of the founders of the Zulu mission,
A. B. C. F. M., 1835-1870
Died 1894.

SUGGESTIVE HINTS FOR STUDY.

THE NEGLECTED, DESTITUTE CONTINENT.

"When will this beautiful country be delivered from its Christian idolatry?" wrote Henry Martyn, as the ship in which he sailed to India touched at Brazil. "The cross is not wanting, but the message of the cross is unknown."

For the study of our own missions in Brazil, Colombia and Chile, the reader is referred to the excellent material in another part of this magazine. These suggestions are intended to lead to an interest in the needs of the whole continent.

VENEZUELA.

In the Pantheon at Caracas are the remains of Bolivar, the liberator of South America.

The boundary dispute with British Guiana has lasted half a century.

One Protestant missionary for more than two million inhabitants.

COLOMBIA.

The death of the President, Dr. Rafael Nunez, was reported September 21, 1894. During his three terms of office he has done more than any of his predecessors for the development of the resources of the country.

ECUADOR.

"The loveliest country in South America," and the most backward. The roads are only mule-tracks, practically closed during the rainy season. No other religion than that of Rome is tolerated.

PERU.

The Incas had reached a high state of civilization in 1527, when Pizarro landed on the coast. See article in Popular Science Monthly for October, 1894, on the Astronomy of the Incas.

The most ancient university in America is San Marco's at Lima; its charter was granted by Charles V.

An illustrated article of deep interest by Charles F. Lummis appears in Harper's Weekly, September 29, 1894. Mr. Lummis characterizes Pizarro as "the just, unspotted hero, who died as he had lived—God-fearing and true," and says his "Indian policy," from his first day in Peru to his last, was inflexibly noble and humane. He abandoned the site first chosen for the capital because to maintain a city there would be detrimental to the aborigines.

"Peru enjoys the anomalous distinction of having for its President the most universally hated individual within its confines." President Caceres first filled the office from 1886 to 1890, and was succeeded by the late President Bermudez. Mr. Lummis credits him with great energy—his only great quality; and says he has succeeded because he is the only thoroughly energetic man in Peruvian politics.

The portrait of President Caceres may be found in the number of Harper's Weekly just mentioned.

"It were as idle," writes Mr. Lummis, "to study Peru without reference to its religious side, as to analyze New England, forgetting Puritanism. Peru remains to this day a Catholic corporation, limited. Its national constitution expressly forbids the public practice of any other religion."

Mr. Ford, the only Protestant pastor in Peru with its 8,000,000 inhabitants, has charge of the two churches in Lima and Callao. M. Penszotti, agent of the American Bible Society, has recently been imprisoned because he scattered the Scriptures.

BOLIVIA.

"The republic in the clouds." Formerly known as "Upper Peru." Named in honor of the Washington of South America, Simon Bolivar. Agents of the American Bible Society scatter the Gospel seed. One settled missionary.

CHILE.

In many respects the most advanced of the South American republics. Her three million inhabitants are vigorous, energetic and progressive.

Once a man who had been guilty of stealing a silver candlestick from a church was punished by being obliged "to serve at Copiapo as a school-master for three years." Now Chile pays much attention to the matter of public education.

URUGUAY.

Pastoral industry is the chief business of its 700,000 inhabitants. Bishop Newman thinks Montevideo, the capital, the handsomest South American city. The National University has 600 students. There are 400 public schools.

The Waldensian colony is attempting to maintain a college.

Missions are carried on by the M. E. Church of the U. S. and by the South American Missionary Society.

PARAGUAY.

With the exception of some parts of Peru, this country impressed Mr. Theodore Childs as the most beautiful and charming country south of the equator. The land of orange trees, supposed to have been introduced by the Jesuits, and the seeds distributed by the birds.

It is believed that the yerba mate, or "Paraguayan tea" will become a main source of wealth. This beverage is said to possess invigorating properties superior to tea and coffee, "stimulating the physical and mental powers without any waste to the system."

The South American Missionary Society has a station in the Paraguayan Chaco. The unpronounceable Indian name of the station is Thlagnasinkinkith. Mr. Grubb, the missionary is meeting with some success in his efforts, and has received from the government the title of "Pacificador del Chaco."

BRAZIL.

According to recent reports President Peixoto refuses to hand over the office to President elect Moraes. Hundreds of prisoners, arrested during the late revolt of the fleet, have been executed.

Said Prof. Agassiz, in his Journal to Brazil: "Should her moral and intellectual endowments grow into harmony with her wonderful natural beauty and wealth, the world will not have seen a fairer land."

Read the account of "A Revival in Two Languages," CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD, February, 1894.

ARGENTINE REPUBLIC.

During the months of February, March and April, 1894, this Republic exported 22,840,000 bushels of wheat; the United States exported during the same period only 15,615,183 bushels. —Providence Journal, via. Public Opinion.

The Argentine Republic is the second wool-producing country of the world, her annual output being 400,000,000 pounds, while the United States produces 800,000,000 pounds.

A recent correspondent of the London Times writes unfavorably of the economic condition of the Republic. Only one of the fourteen provinces is in a condition of financial soundness, the others being burdened with debts out of all proportion to the revenues available for discharging them.

Missionaries of the South American Missionary Society and of the M. E. Church in the United States labor in the Republic. The population is about 4,000,000.

The Handbook of American Republics is authority for the statement that there are more Protestant churches in Buenos Ayres than in any other city in South America.

The assistant pastor of a congregation in Buenos Ayres describes his conversion thus: He had never spoken with an Evangelical Christian, nor read anything about Christianity. Receiving a copy of the Bible, he began by searching for quotations he had found in the works of Voltaire which he was then reading. Then came a desire to read more, and a deepening interest. His doubts gradually subsided, and he gave himself to the service of Christ.

PATAGONIA.

Origin of the name given by Magellan? The original Indian inhabitants have dwindled to a few thousands.

For an interesting account of Tierra del Fuego read Mr. O'Sullivan's article in Fortnightly Review, January, 1893. "The condition of the natives is wretched in the extreme. Condemned to live in an archipelago of mountain tops, which are covered with snow ten months of the year and are swept by perpetual gales, life is a constant struggle to obtain sufficient food to keep soul and body together. They lead a nomad existence, wandering along the shores in search of their wretched sustenance, in a state of almost complete nudity, with no domestic ties other than bind a hard-worked and ill-used slave to a merciless and cruel task master. On this wide earth there are no people so cruelly circumstanced and so utterly devoid even of the meanest pleasures of existence than these inhabitants of the Land of Fire."

Captain Allen Gardiner, R. N., was the founder, July 4, 1844, of the South American Missionary Society, under the title of the Patagonian Mission. The jubilee has been celebrated this year. See monthly issues of the Magazine of that society.

WORTH READING.

LYNCHING BLACK MEN BECAUSE THEY ARE BLACK, by Hon. Frederick Douglass. Our Day, July and August, 1894.

PULQUE, THE NATIVE DRINK OF MEXICO, by Arthur Inkersley. Overland Monthly, September, 1894.

THE QUESTION OF KOREA, by Henry Norman. Contemporary Review, September, 1894.

CHINA AND JAPAN IN KOREA, by Hon. Augustine Heard, Durham White Stevens and Howard Martin. North American Review, September, 1894.

LIFE AMONG THE THIBETANS, by Isabella L. Bishop, Arthur's Home Magazine, September, 1894.

PEKING UNIVERSITY, by Rev. Marcus L. Taft. The University Magazine, September, 1894.

THE RELIGION OF GOTAMA BUDDHA, by William Davies. Atlantic Monthly, September, 1894.

HOME LIFE IN INDIA: CHILD-MARRIAGE AND WIDOWS, by Purushotam Rao Telang. The Forum, September, 1894.

THE CHERKEFA OF WAZAN, by Ernest Hart. Pall Mall Magazine, September, 1894.

APACHE INDIANS IN FLORIDA. Lend a Hand, September, 1894.

PALESTINE RESEARCH—PAST AND PRESENT, by Major C. R. Conder, D. C. L. Contemporary Review, September, 1894.

THE HADRAMUT: A JOURNEY IN SOUTHERN ARABIA, by J. Theodore Bent. The Nineteenth Century, September, 1894.

A JOURNEY TO THE SACRED MOUNTAIN OF SIAO OUTAI-SHAN, by A. Henry Savage-Landor. The Fortnightly Review, September, 1894.

GOOD CITIZENSHIP, by Ira H. Evans. American Journal of Politics, September, 1894.

LAHORE AND THE PUNJAB, by Edwin Lord Weeks. Harper's Magazine, October, 1894.

ACROSS ASIA ON A BICYCLE, VI., by Thomas G. Allen, Jr., and William Lewis Sachtleben. The Century, October, 1894.

CHINA AND JAPAN AT WAR IN KOREA, by William Elliot Griffis, D.D. The Chautauquan, October, 1894.

SIGNIFICANCE OF THE JAPAN-CHINA WAR, by Michitaro Hisa. The Forum, October, 1894.

TARAHUMARI DANCES AND PLANT-WORSHIP, by Carl Lumholtz. Scribner's Magazine, October, 1894.

WEST AFRICAN FOLKLORE, by M. Jean du Gourcq. Popular Science Monthly, October, 1894.

THE FRONT DOOR OF PERU, by Charles F. Lummis. Harper's Weekly, September 29, 1894.

Book Notices.

THE BUILDING OF CHARACTER, by J. R. Miller, D. D., author of "Silent Times," "Making the Most of Life," "The Every Day of Life," "Glimpses Through Life's Windows," etc., is a duodecimo of 123 pages. It contains twenty-three chapters with such titles as The Building of Character; Our Undiscovered Faults; Life's Second Chance; Some Secrets of a Beautiful Life; Helping by Prayer; Of Judging Others, etc.

We have found it pleasant and helpful reading in quiet Sabbath hours. Like Dr. Miller's other writings, it is a limpid stream of "English undefiled," and its contents have the flavor and wholesomeness of "the river of the water of life."

Published by Thomas Y. Crowell & Co., 100 Purchase Street, Boston.

CHRISTIANITY IN THE HOME, by Theodore L. Cuyler, D. D., author of "God's Light on Dark Clouds," "Heart Life," etc. New York; The Baker & Taylor Company, 5 and 7 East 16th Street.

There are intelligent people on every continent—thousands of them—who are eager to read, in newspaper, magazine or book, anything written by "Theodore Cuyler." Many of these, we are sure, will be glad to get, to read, to have or to give to loved ones, this duodecimo volume of 264 pages containing just three dozen of his attractive and edifying essays, on such topics as Christianity in the Home; the Conversion of Children; Extravagant Living; Sins Against Childhood; Wait and See; Fruit in Old Age; Push Upward.

Just like him, in his wise thinking and uncommon skill in "putting things," are these essays.

The "holy tact" needed for winning souls is admirably illustrated in Chapter V, "The Flaw in The Wedding Ring."

We have just one criticism for Chapter II, "The Conversion of Children." Its first sentence is: "The most important ten years of human life are from six to sixteen years of age." We do not believe that those ten years exceed or equal in value and opportunity, the six years that have preceded them, we cannot think it more scriptural or more reasonable to seek the "early conversion" of our children than to seek the renewal of their inherited nature from the beginning of their spiritual being—so that they will have no remembrance of a time when they did not love God. We abate nothing from Dr. Cuyler's assertion, that "an enormous proportion, perhaps a majority, of people who pass twenty-one irreligious are never converted." But we believe that "children of the covenant" should not be expected to pass any "irreligious" years.

Ministerial Necrology.

WE earnestly request the families of deceased ministers and the stated clerks of their presbyteries to forward to us promptly the facts given in these notices, and as nearly as possible in the form exemplified below. These notices are highly valued by writers of Presbyterian history, compilers of statistics and the intelligent readers of both.

BAY, REV. WILLIAM H.—Born, Cross Creek, Pa., October 26, 1807; removed with his parents to Ohio, where he received his early education; taught school while preparing for college, 1823 to 1828; entered Marietta College, 1828; forced by ill health to abandon college life in his junior year; studied theology under instruction of Rev. Bennett Roberts; licensed to preach, 1838; ordained, 1839; spent the whole of his very active and useful ministerial life in the Presbytery of Athens. Age and feebleness completed his retirement from regular ministerial duty, 1889. Died, July 27, 1893.

Married, June 6, 1840, Miss Sarah Bosworth, of Chester, O.; second marriage, September 4, 1845, to Miss Susan Higley, of Rutland, O., who, with two sons and four daughters, survives him.

DIAMANT, JEREMIAH NIXON—Born in Cumberland Co., New Jersey; graduated at Middlebury College, Vt., 1857, and at Auburn Theological Seminary, 1860; pastor, Franklin church, Pa., Redfield church, New York, Ada and Stanton churches, Michigan, Cherry Tree church, Pa. During his last 12 years he labored as a missionary in the Indian Territory.

Married Miss Mary E. Petengill of Vermont, who died leaving one daughter, Altha. His second marriage was to Miss Mary E., daughter of Rev. Wm. Hamilton, of Nebraska, who survives him with his daughter.

FENTON, JOSEPH FENNIMORE.—Born at Babb's Run, near Winchester, Frederick Co., Va., June 28, 1812; graduated from Hanover College, Indiana, in 1838, New Albany Theological Seminary, 1841; licensed, Presbytery of New Albany, September, 1841; ordained, Presbytery of St. Louis, September, 1842; pastor, Union, Mo., 1842-50; Washington, Mo., 1850-54; Kirkwood, Mo., 1854-57; Washington, Mo., 1857-67; Union, Mo., 1867-73; Missionary Board of Publication, with residence at Kirkwood, Mo., 1873-75; after this, without charge, but doing much preaching and visiting with residence at Union, Mo., 1875-93; supplied various churches, as Newport, Pacific, Moelle, Boeuf and others in Franklin and adjoining counties in Missouri. Died at his home, Union, Mo., December 26, 1893.

Married, Miss Margaret H. Hassell, July 23, 1846, who died February 19, 1857. Of this marriage two children are living: Emma H., of St. Louis, Mo., and David G., of Seattle, Wash. Married the second time to Miss Lizzie L. Bleumner, who died November 2, 1880. Of this marriage five children survive: Lizzie Matilda, Carrie E., and Eugene A., who live at Union, Mo., and Rev. E. McLean and George E., who reside at James, New Mexico.

GOODMAN, REUBEN SMITH—Born in Bolton, Warren Co., N. Y., April 30, 1818; united with the Church, 1835; graduated from the University of New York, 1842, and from Princeton Theological Seminary, 1846; licensed to preach, 1846, and preached at Lodi (now Gowanda) until 1848; then at Clarkson until 1853; pastor at Coldwater, Mich., 1853-1860; then removed to La Porte, Ind.; pastor of Westminster church, Grand Rapids, Mich., 1865-1871; removed to Kendallville, Ind., and ministered to the church there, 1871-1890; retired from active ministerial work, 1890, and resided at Grand Rapids, Mich. Ministered in his last year of life as chaplain of Michigan Soldiers' Home. Died, August 30, 1894.

Married in 1849 Mary Elizabeth Rodgers of Troy, N. Y., who survives him together with three daughters and two sons.

PARMELEE, ANSON HALL.—Born in Bristol, Vt., September 19, 1810; graduated from Middlebury College, 1839; from Andover Theological Seminary, 1842; labored in North Carolina South Carolina and Georgia for the American Tract Society until 1845; pastor of Presbyterian church, Addison, N. Y., 1845-1855; at Livonia N. Y., 1855-1869; Seneca Castle, N. Y., 1871-1874; lived on a farm, near that village, 1874-1889; lived thenceforth at Phelps with the family of his only son. Died, August 28, 1894.

Married, 1843, Mary Elizabeth Whiting, daughter of Rev. Francis L. Whiting, who died 1858. Married, January 3, 1860, Lycintha Martin of Rochester, who survives him, as do also his three children, Mrs. George Waterhouse, of Beaufort, S. C., Mrs. John Barnes of Rockford, Ill., and Mr. G. H. Parmelee. Phelps, N. Y.

POMEROY, CHARLES S., D.D.—Born in Brooklyn, N. Y., July 7, 1834; graduated from Columbia College, 1854; partner of his father in mercantile business, 1854-1857; received to communion, First Presbyterian Church, Brooklyn, 1857; began to prepare for the ministry, and, after some months of private study took a partial course in Union Theological Seminary, where he graduated; licensed to preach, May, 1864, by the Presbytery of Brooklyn; pastor, Ross Street Presbyterian Church, Brooklyn, 1864-1870; pastor, Second Presbyterian Church, Cleveland, O., 1873-1894; died at his home, September 10, 1894.

Married, September 7, 1858, Miss Clara Townsend, New York City, who, with one son and one daughter, survives him, five children having died.

TINDALL, GEO. P.—Born near Trenton, New Jersey, April 29, 1822; obtained his academical education at Tecumseh, Michigan, and received the degree of A. B. from the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, 1849; received his theological training at Union Seminary, New York; licensed 1852 by the Presbytery of New York and ordained the following year by the Presbytery of Dayton; pastor in Dayton, Ohio, Third Street Church, 1853 to 1857; pastor in Indianapolis, Indiana, Second Church, 1857 to 1863; pastor in Ypsilanti, Michigan, First Church, 1863 to 1875; pastor in Flint, Michigan, First Church, 1875 to 1881; pastor in Sacramento, California, Fourteenth Street Church, 1889 to 1893. Between his pastorate in Flint and Sacramento, he established an academy in Placerville, California, which he carried on successfully with the assistance of his two daughters until his call to Sacramento. While in the academy he preached on Sabbaths in outlying districts. Died in Sacramento, September 8, 1894.

Married, March 23, 1853, Louise Brown, Ypsilanti, Michigan, who died October 12, 1890. Had three children, George Lee, deceased; Lizzie H., now teaching in the High School in Colusa, California, and Anna L., now teaching in the High School in Sacramento, California.

Synods in SMALL CAPITALS; Presbyteries in italic; Churches in Roman.

It is of great importance to the treasurers of all the boards that when money is sent to them, the name of the church from which it comes, and of the presbytery to which the church belongs, should be distinctly written, and that the person sending should sign his or her name distinctly, with proper title, e. g., Pastor, Treasurer, Miss or Mrs., as the case may be. Careful attention to this will save much trouble and perhaps prevent serious mistakes.

ATLANTIC.—Fairfield—Mt. Hermon, 2. South Florida—Boriento, 5.
BALTIMORE.—Baltimore—Deer Creek Harmony, 18 50; Taneytown, 18 41. New Castle—Dover, 6 70. New Castle, sab-sch, 3 02. Washington City—Falls Church, 10. 56 68
CALIFORNIA.—Los Angeles—Ventura, 3 10. Oakland—Golden Gate, 5 30; Oakland Brooklyn sab-sch, 8 40. San Francisco—San Francisco Calvary, 20. Stockton—Columbia, 2; Sonoma, 5. 43 80
CATAWBA.—Catawba—Ogdens Chapel, 1. 1
COLORADO.—Denver—Denver North, 8. 1
ILLINOIS.—Alton—Brighton, 4; Greenville, 5 05; Hillsboro, 6; Moro, 5 55; Waveland, 1 55. Bloomington—Bloomington 2d, 50; El Paso, 7 76; Rossville, 6. Cairo—Flora, 2 50. Chicago—Chicago Bethany, 4; Evanston South, 27 95; Herscher, 3 15; Manteno, 35; Peotome, 21 17. Freeport—Ridgely, 6 40; Rockford Westminster, 4 12; Willow Creek, 25. Mattison—Charleston, 12 34. Ottawa—Aurora, 5 50; Mendota, 14. Peoria—Princeville, 19 44. Rock River—Ashton, 6; Franklin Grove, 11 50; Garden Plain, 7 90; Peniel, 4; Princeton, 14 60; Sterling, 75 20; Viola, 5. Springfield—Pingah, 1 70. 398 46
INDIANA.—Crawfordsville—Bethany, 5 70; Colfax, 2. Fort Wayne—Ligonier, 4 71. Indianapolis—Hopewell, 26 54. Logansport—Crown Point, 5. New Albany—Hanover, 9 50; Livonia, 1 75; New Albany 2d, 24 40. Vincennes—Clabornes, 5; Salem, 3. White Water—College Corner, 15; New Castle, 10 16; Rushville, 11. 125 76
INDIAN TERRITORY.—Choctaw—Philadelphia, 1. 1 00
IOWA.—Cedar Rapids—Clinton, 64 23. Corning—Creston, 13; Sidney, 13; Villisca, 15 50. Council Bluffs—Avoca, 3 67; Council Bluffs 1st, 11 50. Dubuque—Frankville, 3; Hasketon, 4; Lansing, 1st, 8 70; Mount Hope, 2; Pine Creek, 5 05; Wilson's Grove, 5 50. Mount Dodge—Gildeden, 3 40. Iowa—Chequamegon, 2; New London, 8 50. Ottumwa—East End, 6; Troy, 2; West Point, 7. Iowa City—Columbia Central (including sab-sch, 1 25), 3 04. Sioux City—Sioux City 3d, 3. 773 09
KANSAS.—Emporia—Mount Vernon, 2; Mulvane, 4; Oxford, 8 50; Wellington, 11 50; Wichita West Side, 2. Larned—Kingman, 1. Neosho—Neodesha, 4 10; Osage 1st, 3; Osawatimie, 2; Toronto, 3 75. Solomon—Culver, 8; Minneapolis, 12 19. Topeka—Manhattan, 11 59; Topeka Westminster, 2 47. 79 90
KENTUCKY.—Ebeneser—Frankfort, 33 55; Lexington 2d, 50; Maysville, 12. 96 55
MICHIGAN.—Flint—Bad Axe, 12; Cassville, 1; Chandler, 4; Fair Grove, 5; Flint, 39 32. Lake Superior—Menominee, 19 36. Monroe—Blissfield, 7; La Salle, 2; Tecumseh, 41. Potosi—Brutus, 3 50; Mackinac City, 3 50. 126 88
MINNESOTA.—Duluth—Duluth 3d, 3 10. Menkato—Marshall, 6. Minneapolis—Buffalo, 13 71. Minneapolis Bethlehem (including sab-sch, 3 73), 7 90; Franklin Avenue, 2 60; Highland Park, 10 63; Oak Grove, 1. St. Paul—Farmington, 2; St. Paul House of Hope, 47 16; Vermillion, 2. Winona—Preston, 5 30. 101 20
MISSOURI.—Kansas City—Butler, 12; Clinton, 9; Nevada, 8 65; Sedalia Central, 10 75; Sharon, 3 41. Palmyra—Moberly (including sab-sch, 2 52), 6 72; New Providence, 2. Platte—Avalon, 3 44; Fairfax, 2 35; King City, 4; Mound City, 3. St. Louis—Bethel German, 10; St. Louis Cote Brillante, 14 21. 89 83
NEBRASKA.—Hastings—Hanover German, 2; Wilsonville, 3. Kearney—Genoa, 9. Nebraska City—Lincoln 2d, 75; Table Rock, 6 25. Omaha—Fremont, 19 94; Omaha 1st, 17 33. 64 57
NEW JERSEY.—Monmouth—Cream Ridge, 2 67; Moorestown, 7. Morris and Orange—Flanders, 5; Mt. Freedom, 5; Mt. Olive, 8 75; New Vernon, 9 05; Summit Central, 66 23. Newton—Andover, 3; Hackettstown, 50. West Jersey—Atlantic City German (including sab-sch, 1 60), 4 10; Hammonton, 6; Salem, 54 26. 291 11

NEW YORK.—Albany—Ballston Centre, 3 81; Schenectady East Avenue, 3 50. Binghamton—Binghamton West, 15. Brooklyn—Brooklyn Hopkins Street, 3. Buffalo—Tonawanda, 1. Cayuga—Auburn Central, 13 70. Chemung—Burdett, 1 54; Watkins, 20 21. Columbia—Hunter, 6 59; Jewett, 8 54. Genesee—Wyoming, 6. Geneva—Ovid, 23 33; Penn Yan, 18. Hudson—Chester, 19; Florida, 8 20; Good Will, 8 36; Otisville, 8. Long Island—Mattituck, 6; Middletown, 7 93; Southampton, 54 34. Nassau—Christ Church, 10; Freeport, 11 72. New York—New York West Farms, 6. Niagara—Holley, 5 67; Wright's Corners, 2. North River—Highland Falls, 7 50; Fine Plains 5; Poughkeepsie, 14 90. Osage—Middlefield, 3; Stamford, 104. Rochester—Mendon, 4 70; Ogden, 3 44; Piffard, 2. St. Lawrence—Ox Bow, 3 60; Waddington Scotch, 3; Watertown 1st, 30 30. Steuben—Jasper, 3 20; Painted Post, 5 53. Syracuse—Baldwinsville, 14 84; Onondaga Valley, 6. Troy—Cambridge, 7 63; Troy Memorial, 4 19. Utica—Augusta, 1 77; Camden, 8; Forest, 8 64. Westchester—Gilead, 9 25; Mt. Vernon 1st sab-sch, 36 47; Peekskill 1st, 39 79; Rye, 50 44; South Salem, 14 20; Yorktown, 8. 648 78
NORTH DAKOTA.—Fargo—Hillsboro, 2. 3 00
OHIO.—Athens—Logan, 15. Bellevue—Marselles, 1 80; Nevada, 3 60; Urbana sab-sch, 5 29. Chillicothe—Greenfield 1st, 4 74; South Salem, 16; Washington C. H., 5. Cincinnati—Springdale, 10 40. Columbus—Central College, 3 75. Dayton—New Carlisle, 6; New Jersey, 3 30; Seven Mile, 4 08; South Charleston, 11 26; Washington, 2. Mahoning—Massillon 2d, 10 68; Pleasant Valley, 2 63. Marion—Iberia, 2 59; Liberty, 3; Mount Gilead, 6 37; Trenton, 3. Maumee—Fayette, 1 58. Portsmouth—Eckmanville, 5 25; Jackson, 5 49; Manchester, 4. St. Clairsville—Bannock, 4; Beniah, 2; Caldwell, 9; Olive, 6 40. Steubenville—Hopedale, 3; New Cumberland, 2 09; Wellsville, 31 50. Wooster—Apple Creek, 4 70; Doylestown, 3; Fredericksburg, 13; Lexington, 4 70; Loudonville, 8 33; Perryville, 1 55; Shreve, 2 55. Zanesville—Homer, 2 40; Newark Salem German, 3 10; New Lexington, 1 26; Roseville, 3 81; Uniontown, 1 32; Unity, 2 74; Utica, 9; West Carlisle, 4 05; Zanesville 1st, 33 54. 292 15
PENNSYLVANIA.—Allegheny—Freedom, 6. Blairsville—Braddock, 11; Cresson, 4; Harrison City, 3; New Alexandria (including sab-sch, 7 52), 83 18; New Salem, 13 61. Butler—Muddy Creek, 4; Summit, 5 65; Unionville, 2. Carlisle—Carlisle 2d, 54 31. Chester—Avondale, 5 25; Doe Run, 5 03; Oxford 1st, 45; Penningtonville, 5 30; Westminster, 10. Clarion—Penfield, 5. Erie—Cambridge, 9; Concord, 9 08; East Greene, 3 50; Evansburgh, 3 10; Girard (including Miles Grove Branch, 2 88), 8; Hadley, 2; Harmonsburg, 2 50; Pleasantdale, 14 27; Salem, 2; Watsburg, 1 84. Huntingdon—Altoona 1st, 18; Birmingham Warriors' Mark Chapel, 9 14; Buffalo Run, 1 80; Kermore, 2; Logan's Valley, 10; Lower Tuscarora, 5. Kittanning—Indiana sab-sch, 20; Marion, 6. Lackawanna—Athens, 8; Franklin, 1; Moocic, 15; Nicholson, 4; Tunkhannock, 18 62; Wilkes Barre Westminster, 9. Lehigh—South Bethlehem, 10; South Easton, 10. Northumberland—Bald Eagle and Nittany, 6; Mifflinburg, 3; Watsonstown, 8 29. Parkersburg—French Creek, 5. Philadelphia—Philadelphia 1st, 298 18. Philadelphia North—Bristol, 7 48; Calvary, 2 60; Neshaun'y of Warwick, 13 05. Pittsburgh—Cannonsburgh Central, 4 90; Charleroi, 3; Finleyville, 3 50; McDonald 1st, 16 90; Pittsburgh East Liberty, 22 40; Shady Side, 11 50. Redstone—Laurel Hill, 15 67; McKeesport 1st, 20; Smithfield, 1; Uniontown Central, 4. Shenango—New Castle 2d, 6; Rich Hill, 2; Unity, 7. Washington—Wheeling 2d, 16 90. Wellsboro—Allegheny, 1. Westminster—Middle Octorara, 6; New Harmony, 6; Strasburgh, 2 50; York 1st, 65 41. 969 77

SOUTH DAKOTA.—Black Hills—Whitewood, 3. Central Dakota—Madison, 3 50	6 50
TENNESSEE.—Holston—Jonesboro, 10 36. Union—Hebron, 2 25; Westminster, 1 60.	14 91
TEXAS.—North Texas—Gainesville, 16 05.	16 05
UTAH.—Utah—Evanston, 2.	2
WASHINGTON.—Olympia—Olympia, 6 50; Toledo, 1.	7 50
WISCONSIN.—Chippewa—West Superior, 11 94.—Milwaukee—Manitowoc 1st, 2.	13 94

Collections from churches and Sabbath-schools, $3,559 33

OTHER CONTRIBUTIONS.

From a Friend, 5; Mrs. Mary E. Palmer, New Brighton, Pa., 6; C. Penna., 4; Rev. W. L. Tarbet and wife, 80 cts.	14 80
	$ 3,574 13

MISCELLANEOUS.

Interest on Investments, 258 33; Partial losses recovered from Insurance Co., 186 94; Payments on Church Mortgages, 589 50; Plans sold, 8; Premiums of Insurance, 179 68; Sales of Book of Designs, No. 5, 50 cts.; Sales of Church Property, 872.	2,145 15
--	----------

SPECIAL DONATIONS.

From a Friend in Princeton, N. J.	50 00
	$5,769 38

Church collections and other contributions, April—August, 1894.	$15,731 76
Church collections and other contributions April—August 1893.	17,804 07

RECEIPTS FOR COLLEGES AND ACADEMIES, AUGUST, 1894.

COLORADO.—Denver—Littleton, 2.	2 00
ILLINOIS.—Chicago—Bethany, 2; Hinsdale, 4; Lake Forest, 140 01, Freeport—Galena South, 24 30. Springfield—Piagah, 1 70; Springfield 2d, 29 45.	211 46
INDIANA.—Crawfordsville—Spring Grove, 18.	18 00
KANSAS.—Emporia—El Paso, 1 52.	1 52
MISSOURI.—Kansas City—Westfield, 2. Palmyra—Unionville, 7. St. Louis—Windsor Harbor, 1.	10 00
NEW JERSEY.—Jersey City—Jersey City 1st, 81 28. Morris and Orange—Orange 1st, 65. Newark—Newark Central, 3. New Brunswick—Bound Brook, 90; Trenton 1st, 37 43;—4th, 1. Newton—Hackettstown, 25; Harmony, 6 37.	189 07
NEW YORK.—Buffalo—Tonawanda, 75 cts. Columbia—Hunter, 5 46. Geneva—Seneca, 13 36. Hudson—Florida, 2 40; Good Will, 2 52. Long Island—Bellport, 7. Lyons—Newark, 10 95. Nassau—Hempstead Christ Church, 10; Huntington 1st, 51 73. New York—New York Central, 129 62; West Farms, 3. Niagara—Lockport 1st, 33 86. North River—Newburgh Calvary, 25 cts.; Pine Plains, 5; Poughkeepsie, 11 18. Rochester—Ogden, 2 58. St. Lawrence—Plessis, 3; Waddington Scotch, 6. Westchester—Mount Vernon 1st sab-sch, 31 75; Yorktown, 7.	886 41
OHIO.—Bellefontaine—Gallon, 3. Columbus—Columbus 2d, 34 67. Marion—Oberia, 2 59. Maumee—Mount Salem, 2. Zanesville—Coshocton, 7.	49 26

RECEIPTS FOR EDUCATION, AUGUST, 1894.

BALTIMORE.—Baltimore—Annapolis, 14 81; Bel Air, 4 60. New Castle—Cool Spring, 1 35; Georgetown, 2 60; Lower Brandywine, 6; Rock, 5.	34 36
CALIFORNIA.—San Francisco—San Francisco Lebanon, 2 50.	2 50
COLORADO.—Denver—Littleton, 2.	2
ILLINOIS.—Bloomington—Piper City, 5. Chicago—Chicago Bethany (Jr. C. E. Soc.), 4;—Jefferson Park, 24 33. Freeport—Bethel German, 10; Elizabeth, 2. Mattoon—Ashmore, 5; Pana, 7 81; Pleasant Prairie, 2 70; Toledo, 3 70. Ottawa—Waltham, 7. Springfield—Piagah, 1 28; Springfield 2d, 44 17.	115 83
INDIANA.—Crawfordsville—Romney, 4; Spring Grove, 21. Muscie—Hartford City, 5. New Albany—Corydon, 4 05. White Water—Richmond, 15 30.	49 35
IOWA.—Cedar Rapids—Springville, 4. Des Moines—Indianola, 7; Ridgedale, 5 50. Dubuque—Sherrill's Mound German, 5. Fort Dodge—Lohrville, 1. Iowa—Birmingham, 4 40; Mount Pleasant German, 10. Sioux City—Sioux City 3d, 2.	89 90

LOAN FUND.

Interest	$394 84
Payments on mortgages	750 60
	$1,444 94

MANSE FUND.

IOWA.—Corning—Villisca, 5;—Fort Dodge Glidden	$1 70
NEW JERSEY.—Monmouth—Moorestown 1st	3 00
PENNSYLVANIA.—Lackawanna—Wilkesbarre Westminster	1 00
	$10 70

OTHER CONTRIBUTIONS.

From a Friend in Princeton, N. J.	500 00
	$510 70

MISCELLANEOUS.

Installments on Loans	$713 00
Interest	29 81
Premiums of Insurance	23 00
	$765 81
	$1,276 51

If acknowledgement of any remittance is not found in these reports, or if they are inaccurate in any item, prompt advice should be sent to the Secretary of the Board giving the number of the receipt held, or in the absence of a receipt, the date, amount and form of remittance.

ADAM CAMPBELL, Treasurer,
53 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

† Under minute of the Assembly of 1893.

PENNSYLVANIA.—Chester—Chester, 24 97; West Chester Westminster, 5. Lackawanna—Great Bend, 6 20; Susquehanna, 6; Troy, 13. Northumberland—Jersey Shore, 12. Philadelphia—Washington Square 1st, 123 88. Pittsburgh—Pittsburg East Liberty, 23 40;—Shady Side, 5 75. Washington—Cove, 1 75. Westminster—Centre, 16 sab-sch, 6 68; Chestnut Level, 11 17.	255 11
WISCONSIN.—Milwaukee—Manitowoc 1st, 1 75.	1 75

Total receipts from churches and Sabbath-schools, August, 1894..... $ 1,674 55

PERSONAL.

Mrs. Caleb S. Green, Trenton, N. J., 100; Mrs. Mary E. Palmer, New Brighton, Pa., 5; Rev. W. L. Tarbet and wife, Springfield, Ill., 80 cts.; "C. Penna.," 3.	106 60
--	--------

Total receipts for August, 1894..... $ 1,188 35
Previously reported..... 6,543 15

Total receipts from April 1st to September 1st, 1894..... $ 7,736 55

C. M. CHARNLEY, Treasurer,
P. O. Box 294, Chicago, Ill.

KANSAS.—Emporia—Cedar Point, 3 71; Florence, 5 32. Solomon—Glen Elder, 2.	11 03
KENTUCKY.—Edenizer—Lexington 2d add'l, 60.	60 00
MICHIGAN.—Flint—Mundy C. E. Society, 1. Kalamazoo—Cassopolis, 5.	6 00
MINNESOTA.—Minneapolis—Minneapolis Stewart Memorial, 9 11. St. Paul—St. Paul House of Hope, 7 14.	56 27
MISSOURI.—St. Louis—De Soto, 2 50; Windsor Harbor, 4.	6 50
MONTANA.—Helena—Helena 1st, 16 15.	16 15
NEBRASKA.—Hastings—Oxford, 1.	1 00
NEW JERSEY.—Jersey City—Paterson East Side, 28. Morris and Orange—Morristown South Street, 37 88. Newark—Bloomfield Westminster, 83 66; Mountclair 1st, 8 90; Newark Central, 3. New Brunswick—Trenton 2d, 1;—Prospect Street, 25. Newton—Harmony, 6 47.	214 91
NEW YORK.—Albany—Charlton, 13. Brooklyn—Brooklyn Hopkins Street, 5. Buffalo—Portville, 20; Tonawanda, 75 cts.	214 91

wanda, 63 cts. Champlain—Mineville, 7. Genesee—East Pembroke, 4. Hudson—Florida, 2. Good Will, 2 10; Stony Point, 13 75; Unionville, 4 25. Long Island—Mattituck, 4. Lyons—Newark, 3. New York—New York Washington Heights, 7 97; West Farms, 5. North River—Poughkeepsie, 9 31. Rochester—Ogden, 2 15. St. Lawrence—Waddington Scotch, 5. Troy—Warrensburg, 2 22. Westchester—Mt. Vernon 1st sub-sch., 48 24. 157 06

OHIO.—Bellefontaine—Nevada, 2 22. Columbus—Columbus Broad Street, 18 06; Lithopolis, 2. Mahoning—Canton, 16 21. Zanesville—Coshocion, 3. 46 59

PENNSYLVANIA.—Butler—West Sunbury, 5. Carlisle—McConnellsburch, 4. Chester—West Chester 1st, 35 72. Clarion—East Brady, 6; Emilion, 10 23. Erie—Irvine, 3. Huntingdon—Hollidaysburgh (sub-sch, 3 18), 26 88; Tyrone, 19 24. Kittanning—Apollo, 19. Lackawanna—Franklin, 1. Lehigh—White Haven, 9. Northumberland—Milton, 75. Pittsburgh—Oakmont 1st, 5 50; Pittsburgh East Liberty, 23 40; Shady Side, 14 28. Redstone—Little Redstone, 5 66; Long Run, 5; Mount Pleasant, 3 58; Rahoboth, 6 80. Washington—Fairview, 6. 288 55

SOUTH DAKOTA.—Central Dakota—Artesian, 2. 9

TEXAS.—Austin—Austin 1st, 13. Trinity—Dallas 2d, 2 55. 15 55

RECEIPTS FOR FOREIGN MISSIONS, AUGUST, 1894.

ATLANTIC.—South Florida—Eustis Y. P. S. C. E. for Mr. Clark, 13; Tarpon Springs Y. P. S. C. E., supt. Mr. Bent, 3 75. 16 75

BALTIMORE.—New Castle—West Nottingham Y. P. S. C. E. for R. Irwin, 10. 10 00

CALIFORNIA.—Los Angeles—Glendale sub-sch birthday, 11. San José—Templeton, 2; Y. P. S. C. E., 3 90; Stockton—Sonora, 3 50. 19 45

COLORADO.—Boulder—Longmont, for work in Peking, 7. Denver—Denver, North, 10; Littleton Y. P. S. C. E., salary Mr. Finley, 3 55. 20 55

ILLINOIS.—Alton—Steelville, 1. Bloomington—Clarence, 5 50; Clinton Y. P. S. C. E., 5 50; salary Mr. Drummond, 35. Cairo—Centralia, 10 35. Chicago—Chicago, 1st, 43 18; Jefferson Park, 9 45; Scotch, 15; Morgan Park, 31. Ottawa—Aurora, 10; Sandwich Y. P. S. C. E., salary Mr. Eckels, 5 45. Peoria—Canton Y. P. S. C. E., 5 40; Lewistown, 2 73. Schuyler—Layton Y. P. S. C. E., supt. Mr. Hyde, 17; Plymouth Y. P. S. C. E., salary Mr. Hyde, 5. Springfield—Pisgah, 5 95. 188 95

INDIANA.—Crawfordsville—Crawfordsville Centre, 35; Darlington, 5. Indianapolis—Greencastle Y. P. S. C. E., 5 15. Logansport—Rensselaer, 60 63. Muncie—Shiloh, 10 50. 115 61

INDIAN TERRITORY.—Choctaw—Philadelphia, 1 25. 1 25

IOWA.—Corning—Lenox, special Laos account, 2. Dubuque—Dubuque, 1st, 5 60; Sherrill's Mound, German, salary J. C. Melrose, 10. Fort Dodge—Arcadia, 1 63. Iowa—Keokuk, Westminster sub-sch., 10. Stow—City Liberty sub-sch., for Mrs. J. C. Melrose, 3. 29 43

KANSAS.—Emporia—Mason, 1 61; Quenemo, 6 14; Waverly, 5. Wichita—Oak Street, Y. P. S. C. E., salary N. Fred Das, 37 75. Highland—Blue Rapids, 14 24. Neosho—Chanute, 20 70; Independence, 25. Osborne—Smith Centre, 3. Topeka—Junction City Y. P. S. C. E., supt. Mr. Griswold, 10. 110 69

KENTUCKY.—Louisville—Hopkinsville 1st, Y. P. S. C. E., salary Mr. Sibby, 10; Louisville Alliance, 10. 20 00

MICHIGAN.—Flint—Mundy, C. Grand Rapids—Grand Rapids Westminster, 19 65; Y. P. S. C. E., salary Mr. Drummond, 15. Lansing—Lansing, Franklin Street Y. P. S. C. E. for Motel houses, 5. Monroe—Meeker Trust Fund, through Rev. W. H. Babbitt, 25. 70 05

MINNESOTA.—Mankato—Beaver Creek, 5 25; Lake Crystal Y. P. S. C. E., salary Mr. Clark, 5 53; Mankato, 1st, Y. P. S. C. E., salary Mr. Labaree, 19 50. St. Paul—St. Paul House of Hope, 141 43. Winona—Chatfield, 2 50; Claremont Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Utica, Union, 1 25; Worth District, 75 cts. 179 56

MISSOURI.—Kansas City—Appleton City sub-sch, 3 05; Holden Y. P. S. C. E., 10. Ozark—Waldensian, 4. St. Louis—Bethel, 33; Nazareth German, 8 50; Zion German, 2. 54 55

MONTANA.—Butte—Anaconda, 5 10. 5 10

NEBRASKA.—Hastings—Hanover German, 5; Ruskin sub-sch, 2 15; Kearney—Genoa, 10; North Platte, 23 59; sub-sch, 10 11. Omaha—Omaha Knox, 2 50; Lowe Avenue sub-sch, 9 31; Omaha Agency Bethlehem Miss'y Society, 9 10; Osceola Y. P. S. C. E., for Peking Boys' School, 5; Tekamah Y. P. S. C. E., 10. 71 76

NEW JERSEY.—Elizabeth—Cranford, 7 71; Liberty Corner, 15. Jersey City—Newfoundland, 43 30; Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Rutherford, 33 31; West Hoboken, 15 50. Monmouth

UTAH.—Boise—Boise City, 4. 4
WISCONSIN.—Chippewa—Ashland 1st, 6 22. Madison—Lodi, 7 90. Milwaukee—Manitowoc 1st, 1 50. Winnebago—Stockbridge Indian, 1. 16 62

Receipts from churches in August..... $ 1,101 75
Receipts from Sabbath-schools and C. E. Soc.. 46 47

REFUNDED.

A. S. O'Brien, Vinland, Kan..... 35 00

MISCELLANEOUS.

Geo. S. Will, Jr., 2; "C. Penna.," 2; Rev. W. L. Tarbet and wife, 60 cents; Rev. D. J. Stewart, Zacatecas, Mex., 5..... 9 60

INCOME ACCOUNT.

75; 18 38; 3; 105; 90; 90; 21; 21; 63 50; 75..... 560 28

Total receipts in August..... $ 1,753 70

Total receipts from April 16th..... 20,331 97

JACOB WILSON, Treasurer.

1324 Chestnut Street, Phila., Pa.

—Cranbury, 1st, 74 28; Freehold, 10 37; Long Branch Y. P. S. C. E., for Ningpo, 8 33; Manassquan, 3 75. Morris and Orange—East Orange Bethel, 32 50; Madison sub-sch Miss'y Society, salary native helper, 50; Morristown South Street sub-sch, salary F. G. Coan, 112 50; —Men and Boys' Fund for A. Beatty and helpers, 266 50; Mt. Freedom Miss'y Aid Society, 15; Orange 1st sub-sch, 100; —Central, 150; Stirling, 2. Newark—Newark Park, 28 71. New Brunswick—New Brunswick 1st, 51 69; Trenton 4th, 9 60; —Prospect Street, 31. Newton—Newton, 20, 1,290 44. New York—Albany—Northampton, 17 90. Binghamton—Conklin, 3; Cortland sub-sch, 100; Whitney's Point, 8. Boston—Boston 1st, 24 55; Houlton Y. P. S. C. E., 10. Brooklyn—Brooklyn South 3d Street, 31 23. Buffalo—East Hamburg, 4 55; Tonawanda, 4 14; for India 2 90, for Siam and Laos, 1 50. Cayuga—Cayuga sub-sch, 3 50; Genoa 1st, 33 00. Columbia—Hudson Y. P. S. C. E. Missionary Committee for salary Y. F. Parich, 7 68. Geneva—Geneva Falls Boys' Miss. Band for boy in Tabriz School, 23 63. Hudson—Florida, 18 20; Good Will, 13 85; Greenbush, 10 65; Nyack, 35; Stony Point, 13 65; Unionville, 13. Long Island—Bellport, 35; Bridgehampton, 25 01; Mattituck, 3 75; Setauket Stony Brook Chapel, 8; South Haven, 25; West Hampton, 35 64. Nassau—Glen Cove, 10; Springfield Y. P. S. C. E., 5 50. New York—New York Harlem Y. P. S. C. E., salary native worker, 10. Niagara—Niagara Falls 47 48, sub-sch, 6 33. North River—Marlborough, 68 22; Newburgh Calvary, 18 37; Pine Plains, 11; Pleasant Valley, 15; Poughkeepsie, 61 47; Wappinger's Falls Y. P. S. C. E., salary Mr. Drummond, 3. Otsego—Guilford Centre, 14 15. Rochester—Genesee Village, 100; Livonia Y. P. S. C. E., salary Boon 1st, 9; Ogden, 14 19. St. Lawrence—Waddington Scotch, 33; Troy—Hosick Falls sub-sch, 13 53. Utica—Clinton, 3 93. Westchester—Mahopac Falls, 60; Mt. Vernon 1st sub-sch, 65 33; Peekskill 1st, 24, for Orooniah, 5; Rye, 20; South Salem, 9 57; Yonkers Dayspring, 9. 1,180 56

OHIO.—Athens—Amesville Y. P. S. C. E., salary Mr. Clark, 2 50. Chillicothe—Hamden, 4 15; White Oak Y. P. S. C. E., salary Mr. Drummond, 13. Cleveland—Cleveland 1st Y. P. S. C. E. special Laos account, 10; Woodland Avenue Young Men's Fraternity, support Mr. Fulton, 23; Guilford, 14 57. Columbus—Columbus Broad Street, 15 57; Lithopolis, 4. Dayton—Springfield 2d sub-sch, special Laos account, 25. Lima—Enon Valley, 18; Lima 1st, W. M. S., 10; Van Buren, 8. Mahoning—Alliance 1st Y. P. S. C. E., salary R. H. Bent, 25; Ellsworth sub-sch, 15; Warren sub-sch, 25; Y. P. S. C. E., 11. Portsmouth—Red Oak Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Sardinia Y. P. S. C. E., support Mr. Jones, 9 02. St. Clairsville—Buffalo, 24 30; Crab Apple, 25 70; Wheeling Valley, 4. Steubenville—Annapolis, 5; Bakersburg, 3 12; Carrollton, 26; Corinth, 25; East Liverpool 2d, 1 29; Long's Run, 7 20; Minerva, 5; New Harrisburgh, 16; Two Ridges, 6 12. Wooster—Ashland, 11 19. Zanesville—Granville, 39 92; High Hill, 6 95. 443 90

OREGON.—Willamette—Brownsville, 5 10; Crawfordville, 3 25. 7 35

PENNSYLVANIA.—Allegheny—Bull Creek, 10. Blairsville—Jeanette, 14 23; New Alexandria, 8 96. Butler—North Washington sub-sch, 15 35. Carlisle—Harrisburgh, Pine Street Bethany Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 2 70; Lebanon 4th Street, 73 73. Chester—Fairview, 5 75. Clarion—

Academia, 3 42; Rockland, 1 75. Erie—Irvineton, 14. Huntingdon—Lower Spruce Creek Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Middle Tuscarora Y. P. S. C. E., salary Mr. Eckels, 6. Lackawanna—Carbondale, salary J. A. Fitch, 86; Hawley, 11; Scott, 8 50; Meranton 2nd, Y. P. S. C. E., salary Mr. Watson, 45; —Green Ridge Avenue, sab-sch Infant Class, for S. Jessup, 5; Wyalusing 2nd, 4 10. Y. P. S. C. E., 5 50. Philadelphia—Philadelphia 4th, 28 98; —Covenant, 25; —Grace sab-sch, 10. Philadelphia North—Ambler, 12; Doylestown, 57 18; Falls of Schuylkill sab-sch, 25; Holmesburgh, 7 12; Y. P. S. C. E., 10; Lower Providence, 25; Neshaminy of Warwick 31, self denial, 12 50; Thompson Memorial, 10 50. Pittsburgh—Pittsburgh East Liberty, 118 03; —Shady Side, 34 50. Redstone—Friends at Markleton Sanitarium, 5. Shenango—Westfield sab-sch, 25. Washington—Lower Ten Mile, 6 55; West Union, 7 25. Wellsboro—Farmington Y. P. S. C. E., 1 77. 767 87
SOUTH DAKOTA.—Central Dakota—Blunt, 5; White, 3. 7 00

WASHINGTON. Olympia—Tacoma 1st, 31 25. Puget Sound—Friday Harbor, 3 60. 34 85

WISCONSIN.—Madison—Cottage Grove, 5 47; Hurrlicane, 2; Liberty German, 1 70. Milwaukee—Milwaukee Perseverance Y. P. S. C. E., for Haiman, 10. 19 17

WOMEN'S BOARDS.

Women's Board of New York, 1800; Women's Board of Philadelphia, 6,486 37; Women's Board of North West, 965; Women's Occidental Board, 195 60..... $3,946 97

LEGACIES.

Bequest of Walter McQueen, deceased, 2,000; Bequest of Hugh H. Whitney, deceased, 242 50; Bequest of Elijah DeWitt, deceased, 500; Bequest of Edward Russell, deceased, 95..... $2,837 50

MISCELLANEOUS.

Mrs. H. M. Beaumont, 5; Jessie Stewart, 10;

RECEIPTS FOR FREEDMEN, AUGUST, 1894.

CALIFORNIA.—San Francisco—San Francisco Calvary, 20. Stockton—Sager, 3. 28
CATAWBA.—Cape Fear—Bethany sab-sch, 1 95; Simpson Mission sab-sch, 3. Catawba—Good Hope sab-sch, 1. 5 95

ILLINOIS.—Chicago—Chicago Bethany, 5; —Jefferson Park, 11 50; Evanston South, 18 80; Oak Park, 33 78. Freeport—Elizabeth, 2; Winnebago, 15. Peoria—Brunswick, 1. Schuyler—Macomb, 17 50. Springfield—Pisgah, 2 55; Springfield 2d, 29 45. 135 58

INDIAN TERRITORY.—Choctaw—Hebron, 1. Oklahoma—Tecumseh, 2 50. 3 50

IOWA.—Des Moines—Des Moines Central, 32 60. Fort Dodge—Lohrville, 1. Sioux City—Sioux City, 3d, 2. Waterloo—Morrison, 7, C. E., 1 15, 8 15. 43 75

KANSAS.—Highland—Horton, 8. Neosho—Independence, 4. Solomon—Concordia 1st, 12 15. Topeka—Wamego, 2 25. 26 40

KENTUCKY.—Ebenezer—Covington 1st, 95 40. 95 40

MICHIGAN.—Flint—Fraser, 1 24; Popple, 3 04. Lansing—Lansing 1st, 18 72. Monroe—Clayton, 4 50; Dover, 1 25. 28 75

MINNESOTA.—Duluth—Duluth 1st, 58 51. Mankato—Wells, 25. St. Paul—St. Paul House of Hope, 47 16. Winona—Albert Lea, 1 50. 132 17

MISSOURI.—Kansas City—Westfield, 2. Ozark—Joplin 1st, 10 05. St. Louis—Bethel, 10; Windsor Harbor, 1. 23 05

NEW JERSEY.—Elizabeth—Basking Ridge, 49; Elizabeth 1st, 79 56; Lamington, 7 73; Plainfield 1st, 29 81. Monmouth—Forked River, 2. Morris—East Orange 1st, 123 50; Mendham 1st, 9 32; South Orange Trinity, 40; Summit Central, 20. Newark—Newark Central, 5. New Brunswick—Frenchtown, 11 98; Princeton 1st, 34 43; Trenton Prospect Street, 29. 434 31

NEW YORK.—Binghamton—Whitney's Point, 3. Buffalo—Tonawanda, 63 cts. Genesee—Corfu, 4 75. Geneva—Ovid 1st, 20. Hudson—Florida, 2; Good Will, 2 10; Stony Point, 15 46. Lyons—Williamson, 3 77. North

Mrs. Langdon, England, for Dr. Underwood's work, 9 74; Mrs. George Jamison, 5; F. E. Armstrong, 2; Rev. A. Cushing Dill, 10 10; Miss B. A. R. Stocker, 10; J. B. Davidson, 20; Mrs. Sarah C. Shuts, for Woman's Department of An Ting Hospital, 25; Mary E. Woodhams, for boy in Junna High School, 30; E. A. K. Hackett, for salaries of Mr. Fraser and Mr. Kerr, 250; Rev. George Coulson, 2; George H. Will, Jr., 2; State of California, 1,000; A Friend, 1; Mrs. Mary E. Palmer, for Korea, 5, for Laos, 10; Mrs. Sophia D. Hale, 20; J. T. Turner, for five students in Lam-poon School, 25; From Presbyterian Members' Union, C. E. Casselton, for B. W. Labaree, 4 20; John M. Layman, for Brazil, 5; "G. R." III, 6; J. A. Miller, 10; Albert F. Remy, for support of native preacher, 75; N. Schell, 1 00; H. B. Cragin, support E. P. Dunlap, 100; E. M. Wright, for Mitchell Memorial Fund, 1 00; Rev. and Mrs. J. P. White, 10; From a Friend, 100; J. H. Montgomery, support Jarai Shingh, 8; Rev. W. W. Taylor, 2; Miss F. E. Diven, 5; A. Steward, 2 50; C. Penna, 22; Rev. W. L. Tarbet and wife, 2 80; Margaret Cummins, 25; "Friend," West Point, Ia., 10; State of California, 1,500; Rev. J. A. Miller and wife, 120; Children of Rev. W. K. Eddy, 3 50; Rev. E. Wachter, 3 75; Rev. and Mrs. W. A. Briggs, 20 00..... $3,614 5

Total received during August, 1894..... $12,514 7

Total received from May 1st to August 31st, 1894..... 106,412 2

Total received from May 1st to August 31st, 1893..... 112,109 7

WILLIAM DULLES, JR., Treasurer,

53 Fifth Avenue, New York City

River—Cornwall on Hudson, 7 68; Newburgh Calvary, 19 63; Poughkeepsie 1st, 9 31. Rochester—Lima, 13 5. Ogden, 2 15. St. Lawrence—Waddington Scotch, 1. Utica—Waterville, 5 50. 114 6

OHIO.—Dayton—Fletcher, 1 75; Gettysburgh, 1 25. Mauvee—New Rochester, 8 50. Steubenville—Weller, 1st, 22 88. 5 22

PENNSYLVANIA.—Blairsville—Fairfield, 36 16. Buile—Concord, 7 92. Clarion—New Rehoboth, 4 10. Frederick, 2. Huntingdon—Mount Union Y. P. S. C. E., 2. Kittanning—Indiana 1st sab-sch, 20; Rayne, 2. Lackawanna—Pittston 1st, 21 11. Philadelphia—Philadelphia West Hope, 15. Philadelphia North—Norristown 1st, 18 88. Pittsburgh—Charleroi, 5; Pittsburgh Shady Side, 14 37. Shenango—Clarksville sab-sch, 12 4. Sharpville, 2 46. Washington—West Alexander, 2. Westminster—Delta sab-sch, 2 74; Slateville, 3 4. Union, 25. 264 5

UTAH.—Boise—Payette, 1 15. 1 15

Receipts from churches during August, 1894... $1,200 46

MISCELLANEOUS.

Woman's Executive Committee, 654 20; W. M. Soc., Parkville, Mo., 10 01; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Meyer, Tecumseh, Ok., 2 50; "State of California," 1,000; Margaret and Elizabeth A. Cumming, Bellaire, O., 25; Mrs. S. C. L. Travis, Portland, Ore., 5; "C. Penna," 2; Rev. W. L. Tarbet and wife, Springfield, 1 20; Mrs. Mary E. Palmer, New Brighton, Pa., 5. 264 5

Total receipts during August, 1894..... $1,911 6

Previously reported..... 27,104 5

$29,016 1

JOHN J. BEACON, Treasurer,
515 Market Street, Pittsburgh, Pa.

RECEIPTS FOR HOME MISSIONS, AUGUST, 1894.

ATLANTIC.—South Florida—Brookville, 6 50; Centre Hill, 60 cts.; Orange Bend, 10 15; Paola, 3 85; Umatilla, 24 08. 45 18

CALIFORNIA.—J. D. Thompson, 3,000. Bentica—Blue Lake, 7 50. Los Angeles—Los Angeles Bethany, 8; Santa Paula, 13 08. Oakland—Oakland Brooklyn sab-sch, 7 85;

Pleasanton, 10. Sacramento—Roseville, 22. San Francisco—San Francisco Franklin Street, 2 50; —Holy Park, 5; —Lebanon, 11; —Memorial, 16. San Jose—Templeton, 2 30. Stockton—Fowler, 4; Sonora, 2 00. 3,006 9

COLORADO.—Denver—Denver North, 10. Gunnison—

Glenwood Springs, 3. 13 00
ILLINOIS.—Alton—Edwardsville C. E., 5. Chicago—Chicago Bethany, 3;—Jefferson Park M. C., 383;—Scotch 1st, 15; La Grange 1st, 9 15. Freeport—Woodstock add'l, 12 15. Ottawa—Waterman C. E., 8 50. Peoria—Canton C. E., 5 41; Prospect, 12 25. Rock River—Morrison sab-sch, 4. Schuyler—Hamilton Bethel, 7. Springfield—Pisgah, 5 11; Rev. W. L. Tarbet and wife, 3 40. 87 50
INDIANA.—Crawfordsville—Crawfordsville Centre, 35. New Albany—Mitchell sab-sch, 10 20. 45 20
INDIAN TERRITORY.—Cimarron—Kingfisher, 5. Choctaw—N-nichto, 1 45; Philadelphia, 90 cts. Oklahoma—Mulhall, 3. Sequoyah—Tulsa, 7. 17 85
IOWA.—Corning—Part proceeds of sale of church at Imogene, Iowa, 335 88. Dubuque—Dubuque 1st, 2; Roseville, 1 50; Sherrill's Mound German, 6; Volga, 8 50. Fort Dodge—Arcadia, 1 63. Iowa—Keokuk Westminster sab-sch, 10. Sioux City—Sioux Centre 2d German, 4. 369 51
KANSAS.—Emporia—Marion, 10; Maxon, 5; Quenemo, 15 55; Wellington, 46 46. Larned—Arlington 1. Neosho—Altamont, 4 77; Chanute, 11 60; Garnett, 13; Independence, 15. Osborne—Plainville, 3 75; rhiloh, 2 25; Solomon—Cawker City, 13; Concordia additional, 2. 142 28
KENTUCKY.—Ebenezer—Falmouth, 5. Louisville—Guston, 17 45; Louisville Alliance, 19;—Immanuel, 3; Owensboro 1st, 10. 45 45
MICHIGAN.—Kalamazoo—Richland, for debt, 10 25. Lake Superior—Corinne, 1 88; Gould City Station, 1 55; Hunts Spur Station, 4 17; Lakefield, 1 60. Monroe—Monroe 1st, 12 50; Tecumseh sab-sch, 50. Petoskey—Alanson, 1; Conway, 2. Saginaw—Fairfield, 3 54; Greenwood Station, 3 60; Ithaca 1st, 8; Long Rapids, 5 25; Orchard Hill Station, 2 61; Saginaw Immanuel, 12. 120 04
MINNESOTA.—Duluth—Birch Lake, 3; Hibbing, 3; Shiloh, 1. Mankato—St. James, 10. Minneapolis—Minneapolis Stewart Memorial, 23 66. Red River—Crookston, 4 27. St. Cloud—Kerkhoven, 5 10. St. Paul—St. Paul Dane Norwegian, 1 39. Winona—Chatfield, 2 50; Utica Union (No school district), 4. 56 92
MISSOURI.—Ozark—Fairplay, 6; Grand Prairie, 5; Mount Zion, 2 50; Rev. T. H. Cleland, D. D., 10. Platte—Carrollton, 4. St. Louis—Bethel German, 25. 52 50
NEBRASKA.—Hastings—Campbell German, 5; Hanover German, 5; Oxford, 2 50. Kearney—Genoa, 9; St. Edwards, 12; Woodville, 3; "Tithe," 17 50. Nebraska City—Goshen, 4. Omaha—Omaha 1st, 49 26;—1st German, 10;—Knox L. M. S., 17 50. 134 76
NEW JERSEY.—Elizabeth—Elizabeth Marshall Street, 5; Perth Amboy 1st sab-sch, 3 00; Springfield, 19. Jersey City—Rutherford, 24 74. Monmouth—Barnegat, 5; Long Branch, C. E., 10 66. Morris and Orange—Mendham 1st, 43 35,—2d, 11; Morristown South Street, 170; Mt. Freedom, 10. Newark—Caldwell, 109; Newark Park, 33 94. New Brunswick—Trenton Prospect Street, 33. Newton—Branchville, 31. West Jersey—Cedarville 1st, 12 57. 521 34
NEW MEXICO.—Arizona—Flagstaff, 8. Santa Fe—Axtex, 2 50; Farmington, 2 50. 13 00
NEW YORK.—Albany—Ballston Centre, 9 35. Binghamton—Corland 1st, sab-sch, 100; Whitney's Point, 8. Boston—Antrim, 25 25; Barre, 15; Houlton, 25; Londonderry, 10 50; Newburyport 1st, 81; Newport, 30. Brooklyn—Brooklyn 2d, sab sch, missionary society, 40; West New Brighton Calvary, 12 24. Buffalo—Cattaraugus Sta., 5. Tonawanda, 6 92. Cayuga—Cayuga sab-sch, 3 50; Genoa 1st C. E., 1. Columbia—Durham 1st, 9 10. Hunter, 229 50. Genesee—Corfu, C. E., 4; Wyoming sab-sch, 10 30. Geneva—Geneva 1st, 34 65;—North, (sab-sch, 55 64), 90 64; Romulus, 28. Hudson—Cochection, 15; Florida, 12 40; Good Will, 12 60; Hopewell, 53; Milford, 28; Stony Point, 16 55. Long Island—Bellport, 30; Mattituck, 7; Setauket, 25 75; Southampton, 118 07; South Haven, 36. Lyons—Ontario C. E., 2; Williamson, 6 04. Nassau—Northport C. E., 6 25; Roslyn Jr. C. E., 10; Springfield, C. E., 6 50; Whitestone C. E., 10. Niagara—Lockport 1st, 39 72. North River—Highland Falls, 10 31; Matteawan, (Jr. C. E., 2), 29 26; Pine Plains 5 25; Pleasant Valley, (sab-sch, 10), 25; Poughkeepsie, 55 88. Osage—Colchester, 2 98; Gilbertsville, 40; Unadilla, 18 30. Rochester—Genesee 1st C. E., 4 50; Ogden, 12 90. St. Lawrence—Heuvelton C. E., 3; Le Ray, 3 09; Wadlington Scotch, 81; Watertown 1st, Hope Chapel, 3 23. Syracuse—Constantia, 8 31; West Monroe, 1 81. Utica—Clinton, 25 98; Oriskany, 20; Utica Memorial C. E., 5. Westchester—South Salem sab-sch, 26; Stamford 1st, 237 53; Yonkers Dayspring, 5. 1729 44
NORTH DAKOTA.—Fargo—Goose Lake, 3; Tower City, C. E., 2 33. Pembina—Minnewauken, 4. 9 33
OHIO.—Athens—Amesville, 4 50; Carthage, 1 76; Guysville, 3 01; New England, 1 10. Chillicothe—Washington,

C. H., 6 78. Cincinnati—Delhi, 11 38. Cleveland—Cleveland 2d, 40. Columbus—Columbus 2d and sab-sch, 96 15. Lithopolis, 3. Dayton—Dayton Riverdale C. E., 5. Lima—Lima Main Street Jr. C. E., 2 50; New Stark, 3. Mahoning—Middle Sandy, 14 50; New Lisbon, 12 50; Warren, (C. E., 11), (sab-sch, 25), 36. Maumee—Toledo 1st German, 7. Portsmouth—Decatur, 7; Red Oak C. E., 10. St. Clairsville—Bethel C. E., 10. Steubenville—Beech Spring, (sab-sch, 10) 30. Corinth, 20; Pleasant Hill, 3 23; Two Ridges, 6 25. Wooster—Apple Creek, 31. Zanesville—Newark Salem German C. Day, 3 25. 368 01
OREGON.—East Oregon—Union, 11 20. Portland—Springwater, 4. Southern Oregon—Ashland (sab-sch, 3 25), 9; Myrtle Point, 5; Oakland, 2; Roseburg, 3 50; Yoncalla, 1 75. Willamette—Dallas, 5; Lebanon, 3. 44 45
PENNSYLVANIA.—Allegheny—Avalon C. E., 9. Butler—Amity, 4; Harlansburgh, 7; Summit, 8. Carlisle—Lower Marsh Creek, 31 15. Chester—Darby Borough, 43; Doe Run, 9 25. Erie—Erie Park, 85 13; Irvington, 10. Kittanning—Elders Ridge, 31; Jacksonsville, 10; Rural Valley, 7. Lackawanna—Franklin, 1 18; Meott, 3. Lehigh—Bethlehem 1st C. E., 11; Hazleton, 43 51; South Easton 1st C. E., 11 70. Northumberland—Milton, 240. Philadelphia—Philadelphia 4th, 11 67;—Patterson Memorial, 8. Pittsburgh—Pittsburgh East Liberty, 74 69;—Shady Side, 23. Redstone—Friends Markleton Sanitorium, 7; Rehoboth, 20 26. Shenango—Rich Hill sab sch, 3 34; Sharpville, 2 05. Washington—McMechen, 1; Upper Ten Mile, 100; Wheeling 2d, 13. Westminster—Slateville Glenwood C. E., 2 10. 834 03
SOUTH DAKOTA.—Aberdeen—Palmer 1st Holland, 6. Central Dakota—White, 3. Dakota—Dakota Mission, 2 75; Poplar Creek Agency, 5. Southern Dakota—Dell Rapids sab-sch, 3; Emery 1st German, 5. 24 75
TENNESSEE.—Kingston—Bethel, 6 12; Thomas 1st, 4 27. Union—Knoxville Belle Avenue Jr. C. E., 5; Mount Zion, 7. 23 39
TEXAS.—Austin—Fort Davis, 7 50. North Texas—Through Rev. H. F. Albright, 10 12. 17 63
UTAH.—Kendall—Soda Springs, 5. Utah—Box Elder, 5; Corinne, 2 65. 12 65
WASHINGTON.—Puget Sound—North Yakima, 10; Seattle 2d, 5. Spokane—Spokane Centenary, 4; Waterville, 8. Walla Walla—Colton, 5. 32 00
WISCONSIN.—La Crosse—Hixton, 6; La Crosse 1st, 16 22; New Amsterdam (sab-sch, 2), 24 83. Madison—Beloit German, 5 50; Cottage Grove, 7 50; Hurricane, 1 20. Milwaukee—Rev. W. E. Hamilton, 5. Winnebago—Stockbridge Indian, 1; St. Sauveur, 2 02; Westfield, 8 41. 77 68
Woman's Executive Committee of Home Missions. 17,696 98

Total from churches..... $25,640 54

LEGACIES.

Walter McQueen, late of Schenectady, N. Y., 2,000; Hugh H. Whitney, late of Tombstone, Ariz., 242 50; Minerva A. Phelps, late of Aurora, N. Y., 805 99; Wm. G. Murdock, late of Ohio, 25; John Longwell, late of Lewis-ton, Pa., 195 45..... 3,268 94

MISCELLANEOUS.

Clarence Ford, Jedidah, 40; Mrs. J. P. Twad-dell, Devon, Pa., 10; Mrs. George Jameson, Eau Claire, Pa., 5; Missionary Society of Omaha Agency Mission, 2 10; "Mrs. M. C. M., " 50; "A Friend," 50; Friend at General Assembly, through Rev. Wm. H. Roberts, 1; Isabella A. Griffin, Chiang Mai, Laos, 10; Rev. Luke Donald, D. D., and wife, N. C., 25; H. B. Silliman, Cohoes, N. Y., 1,000; Rev. J. S. Lord, Laingburgh, Mich., 2; "G. R., " Ill., 5; East Bloomfield Congregational Church, N. Y., 21 17; Mrs. Mary B. Gillespie, Gallatin, Mo., 10; Mrs. Mary E. Palmer, New Brighton, Pa., 5; "Mrs. M. C. M., " 50; "Chas. O. Rain, Augusta, Ga., 10; "A Steward," 2 50; "C. Penna," 14; Margaret Cummins, Bel-laire, O., 25; Friend, West Point, Ia., 10; "State of California," 1,500; Algonquin Hotel, Lower Saranac Lake, 18; Mrs. Mary E. Palmer, 5; Interest on Permanent Fund, 91 50; Interest on John C. Green Fund, 350; Interest on D. D. Meeker Fund, 25; Interest on C. R. Otis Fund, 30..... 3,364 27

Total received for Home Missions, August, 1894..... $33,973 75

Total received for Home Missions from April 1st, 1894.....$342,150 01
Amount received during same period last year, 189,997 59

O. D. EATON, Treasurer,

Box L, Station D. 53 Fifth Avenue, New York.

RECEIPTS FOR N. Y. SYNODICAL AID FUND, AUGUST, 1894.

Albany—Albany Chariton sab-sch, special, 15. Boston—Newburyport 1st, 13 30. Buffalo—Tonawanda, 13 cts. Champlain—Peru 1st Congregational 3. Hudson—Milford, 16; Good Will, 43 cts.; Florida, 13 52. Long Island—Shinnecock 1. North River—Pine Plains, 6; Poughkeepsie 1st, 1 88. Otsego—Colchester, 4 06. Rochester—Genesee Village, 43 93; Ogden, 43 cts. St. Lawrence—Waddington Scotch, 30. Syracuse—Constantia, 3; West Monroe, 1 63. Westchester—King Sing, 41 40.

Receipts for New York Synodical Aid Fund,
August, 1894.....$ 177 66

RECEIPTS FOR SABBATH-SCHOOL WORK, AUGUST, 1894.

ATLANTIC—Atlantic—Grace sab-sch, 3 20. Fairfield—Bethlehem 1st, 5 60; Hermon sab-sch, 3; Liberty Hill sab-sch, 3 75. 12 55
BALTIMORE—Baltimore—Annapolis (sab-sch, 38 13), 43 93; Baltimore La Fayette Square sab-sch, 8 16; Elliott City (sab-sch, 5 67), 13 16; Frostburgh sab-sch, 7 37; Mount Param, 15; Relay sab-sch, 15. 100 53
CALIFORNIA—Bentona—Blue Lake, 5; Napa (sab-sch, 24 94), 60 49; Santa Rosa sab-sch, 33 25. Los Angeles—Montecito O. E. S., 5; San Diego sab-sch, 35. Oakland—Livermore sab-sch, 3 15; Oakland Brooklyn sab-sch, 17 80; Welsh, 7 40; San Leandro sab-sch, 7. Sacramento—Davisville sab-sch, 9; Sacramento Westminster sab-sch, 30 50. San Francisco—San Francisco Lebanon (sab-sch, 8 35), 10 75; Misspah sab-sch, 35. San José—Milpitas sab-sch, 5 10. Stockton—Columbia sab-sch, 5; Traver sab-sch, 30 cts. 240 37
CATAWBA—Cape Fear—Bethany sab-sch, 3 96; Pilgrim's Chapel sab-sch, 9 49; Simpson Mission sab-sch, 4 06. Catawba—Ben Salem sab-sch, 2; Murkland sab-sch, 2 60. Yadkin—Salisbury sab-sch, 7. 20 93
COLORADO—Gunnison—Aspen sab-sch, 25. Pueblo—Antonito sab-sch, 5 60; Mesa (sab-sch, 22), 47; Walsenburgh sab-sch, 10. 37 60
ILLINOIS—Alton—Greenville (sab-sch, 3 05), 7 70; Trenton sab-sch, 8. Bloomington—Bement (sab-sch, 10 75), 17 31; Champaign sab-sch, 26 18; Danville, 17 98; Wenona, 10. Carro—'Arterville (sab-sch, 6 56), 15; Centralia sab-sch, 13 01; Eagle Creek sab-sch, 3 50. Chicago—Chicago Bethany, 2; Covenant sab-sch, 40; Fullerton Avenue, 19 50; Chicago Heights, 14 80; Oak Park, 31 60. Fresport—Galena South sab-sch, 15 54; Middle Creek, 11; Rockford 1st sab-sch, 31 55; Willow Creek sab-sch, 26 50; Woodstock sab-sch, 12 61. Mattson—Beckwith Prairie sab-sch, 3 09; Charleston sab-sch, 37 30; Neoga sab-sch, 15; Pleasant Prairie sab-sch, 8 50. Peoria—Crow Meadow sab-sch, 3; Galesburgh sab-sch, 33 72; Knoxville (sab-sch, 10), 16 80; Peoria 1st sab-sch, 35 40. Rock River—Norwood sab-sch, 18. Schuyler—New Salem, 1 65. Springfield—Murrayville, 3 50; Pisgah, 1 28; Springfield 2d, 23 09; —3d sab-sch, 6 55; Unity sab-sch, 11 16. 534 83
INDIANA—Crawfordsville—Dayton sab-sch, 12 40; Montezuma sab-sch, 3. Indianapolis—Acton sab-sch, 6 51; Bethany sab-sch, 5; Southport sab-sch, 3; White Lick sab-sch 13. Logansport—Concord sab-sch, 4 25; Mount Zion sab-sch, 3 47; Rochester sab-sch, 6 38; Tassinong sab-sch, 6 03. Muncie—Anderson sab-sch, 9. New Albany—Browns town sab-sch, 14; Jefferson sab-sch, 84 cts.; New Albany 2d, 28 42. White Water—Aurora sab-sch, 8 70; Brookville sab-sch, 9 27; Greensburgh sab-sch, 14 64. 146 90
INDIAN TERRITORY—Oklahoma—Kingfisher sab-sch, 2. 2 00
IOWA—Cedar Rapids—Atkins, 11 15; Cedar Rapids 1st, 17 67; Central sab-sch, 7 61. Corning—Afton sab-sch, 19 50; Norwich sab-sch, 2; Villisca, 6 52; Yorktown sab-sch, 5. Des Moines—Des Moines Central (sab-sch, 8 94), 54 41. Dubuque—Independence 1st sab-sch, 16 05; Rossville, 3 79; Zion sab-sch, 15. Fort Dodge—Churdan sab-sch, 6 55; Paton sab-sch, 3 03. Iowa—Mount Pleasant German sab-sch, 5; Mount Zion sab-sch, 3. St. Louis City—Liberty sab-sch, 5; Wall Lake sab-sch, 13 25. 198 08
KANSAS—Emporia—Waverly, 5 48. Larned—Hutchinson sab-sch, 6 67; Meade Centre sab-sch, 1 39; Spear-

Receipts for New York Synodical Aid Fund
from April 1, 1894.....$2,100 66

O. D. EATON, Treasurer,

Box L, Station D. 53 Fifth Avenue, New York.

RECEIPTS FOR SUSTENTATION, AUGUST, 1894.

ILLINOIS—Springfield—Pisgah, 86 cts.; Rev. W. L. Tarbet and wife, 46 cts. 1 25
IOWA—Ft. Dodge—Lohrville, 1. 1 08
KANSAS—Neosho—Independence, 5. 5 09
MISSOURI—St. Louis—Windsor Harbor, 1. 1 05
WISCONSIN—La Crosse—New Amsterdam, 2. 2 09

Total for Sustentation, August, 1894.....$ 30 25
Total for Sustentation from April 1, 1894.....$22 34

O. D. EATON, Treasurer,

Box L, Station D. 53 5th Avenue, New York.

NOTE—In September number, CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD, June receipts, "Morris and Orange Presbytery, Orange Central Church, $1,600," should read Orange 1st Church.

ville 2 17. Neosho—Coffeyville sab-sch, 14 25; Girard sab-sch, 7 63; La Cygne sab-sch, 1 76; Lone Elm sab-sch, 2 50; Pleasant Hill sab-sch, 60 cts. Solomon—Glen Elder, 1 54. Topeka—Bethel sab-sch, 5. 30 91
KENTUCKY—Ebeneser—Dayton sab-sch, 12. Louisville—Louisville Central sab-sch, 19 05. Transylvania—Richmond 2d, 14 80. 38 85
MICHIGAN—Detroit—Birmingham, 5; Wyandotte, 12 64; Ypsilanti sab-sch, 1 26. Flint—Brent Creek sab-sch, 4; Columbia sab-sch, 6 33; Flushing sab-sch, 16. Grand Rapids—Grand Rapids Mission Wood sab-sch, 35 59; Mulr sab-sch, 4 50. Kalamazoo—Allegan sab-sch, 9; Benton Harbor, 3 55. La Superior—Manistique Redeemer sab-sch, 39; Pickford sab-sch, 15 cts. Lansing—Delhi, 5; Lansing Franklin Street, 10; Mason, 25; Windsor, 9. Petoskey—Cadillac sab-sch, 15; Elk Rapids sab-sch, 8 60; Harbor Springs sab-sch, 12. Saginaw—Pleasant sab-sch, 5. 216 63
MINNESOTA—Mankato—Cottonwood church and sab-sch, 5 46; Redwood Falls, 7 21; Woodstock sab-sch, 1 44. Minneapolis—Minneapolis Westminster sab-sch, 64 61. Red River—Angus sab-sch, 5; Evansville sab-sch, 2 13. St. Cloud—Bethel, 7 09; Harrison sab-sch, 5 97. St. Paul—Farmington, 6; Oneka, 55 cts.; Shakopee sab-sch, 5 50; White Bear (sab-sch, 6 05), 11 69. Wadena—Albert Lea, 12 97; Austin, 9 46; Canton sab-sch, 2 50. 146 86
MISSOURI—Kansas City—Appleton City sab-sch, 7 93. Ozark—Bollivar sab-sch, 12 91; Waldensian, 2. Palmira—Laclede sab-sch, 2 50; Lagonda sab-sch, 1 96; New Providence, 4. Platte—Chillicothe sab-sch, 10; Mount City (sab-sch, 7 23), 9 25; St. Joseph's 3d Street sab-sch, 2 65. St. Louis—Salem German, 20; St. Louis West, 12 01. 84 37
MONTANA—Butte—Anaconda, 18; Deer Lodge sab-sch, 1 30; Stevensville, 60 cts. Helena—Helena 1st (sab-sch, 41 23) 58 49; —Central, 60 cts. 73 99
NEBRASKA—Hastings—Stockham, 1 50. Kearney—North Platte, 31 45; Shelton, 4 60; Wood River sab-sch, 40 cts. Nebraska City—Alexandria, 7; Fairmont, C. E. S., 5; Falls City sab-sch, 1 46; Lincoln 2d, 7 60; Nebraska City, 5; York (sab-sch, 10 05), 23. Niobrara—Omnead sab-sch, 1 75. 90 79
NEW JERSEY—Elizabeth—Elizabeth 1st, 31 54; Plainfield 1st sab-sch, 80. Jersey City—Englewood, 5 67. Monmouth—Barnegat (sab-sch, 3), 6; Cream Ridge, 3; Jamesburgh sab-sch, 25; Plattsburgh sab-sch, 8; Tennent sab-sch, 27. Morris and Orange—Dover sab-sch, 2 60; Madison Missionary Society, 100; Mt. Freedom sab-sch, 7 59; Orange 1st sab-sch, 100; —Central sab-sch, 35. Newark—Roseland sab-sch, 12 16. New Brunswick—Amwell 1st, 9; Pennington sab-sch, 5 44; Trenton Prospect Street, 33. Newton—Andover sab-sch, 8; Hacketts-town, 15; Wantage 1st sab-sch, 5 50; Washington sab-sch, 30 20. West Jersey—Camden 2d, 1 10. 616 70
NEW MEXICO—Arizona—Peoria sab-sch, 3 25. 2 25
NEW YORK—Albany—Albany West End sab-sch, 20; Charlton sab-sch, 15; Jermain Memorial sab-sch, 7 10; Menands Bethany sab-sch, 25; New Scotlands sab-sch, 25. Binghamton—Nichols sab-sch, 18 16. Boston—Barre sab-sch, 6 20; Bedford sab-sch, 7 37; Litchfield, 10 25; Londonderry, 4 40; Portland sab-sch, 20 40; Quincy, 9. Brooklyn—Brooklyn Bethany sab-sch, 24; —Throop Ave., 17 76. Buffalo—East Hamburg church and sab-sch, 18 66; Portville, 15; Sherman sab-sch, 10; Tonawanda, 3 19; Westfield sab-sch, 25 02. Champlain—Champlain,

18. Chemung—Sugar Hill sab-sch, 1 50. Genesee—East embrook sab-sch, 9 30. Geneva—Geneva 1st, (sab-sch, 10), 10 30; Seneca Falls, 24 70. Hudson—Florida, 1 20; Good Hill, 1 26; Milford, 18; Stony Point, 16 33; Unionville, hurch and sab-sch, 18 50. Long Island—Bellport, 10; utchogue sab-sch, 10; Greenport sab-sch, 25; Southaven, 31. Lyons—Marion, 10 13; Newark, 5 25. New York—New York 4th Ave., 19; 14th St. sab-sch, 40 76; Washington Heights sab-sch, 24 72, 51 42; West Farms, 1; Westminister West 23d St., sab-sch, 59 03. Niagara—Tolley, 1; Lyndouville, 5 19; Medina sab-sch, 13. North River—Highland Falls sab-sch, 18; Poughkeepsie, 5 59. Roseton—Laurens sab-sch, 4 81; North Guilford sab-sch, 60. Rochester—Moscow sab-sch, 5; Mount Morris sab-sch, 9 15; Nunda sab-sch, 4; Ogden, 1 39; Rochester Calvary sab-sch, 11 15; Sparta 2d, 13 14. St. Lawrence—Chaumont sab-sch, 5 38; Ox Bow, 5; Waddington Scotch, 1; Watertown 1st, 33 75. Steuben—Hornby sab-sch, 1. Troy—Burnswick, 10; Cambridge, 7 63; Glens Falls sab-sch, 110. Utica—Waterville sab-sch, 20. 1090 74

NORTH DAKOTA—Fargo—Howe, 1 30. Pembina—Minot sab-sch, 6 14. 7 44

OHIO—Bellefontaine—Marselles sab-sch, 11 15; Urbana sab-sch, 44 62. Chillicothe—Belfast, 2; Bloomingburgh sab-sch, 10 75. Cincinnati—Cincinnati Central (sab-sch, 5), 23 74; North sab-sch, 41 25; Walnut Hills, 57 09. Columbus—Columbus 2d sab-sch, 14 28; Reynoldsburgh sab-sch, 7. Dayton—Dayton Memorial sab-sch, 19 54; Gettysburgh sab-sch, 12; Seven Mile, 3 70; Washington sab-sch, 5. Lima—Enon Valley, 10; Ottawa sab-sch, 8 30. Mahoning—Alliance 1st, sab-sch, 10 39; Canton sab-sch, 34 60. Maumee—Bryan, 7 50; Fayette sab-sch, 9; Mount Salem sab-sch, 9 17; Tontogony sab-sch, 10; West Unity sab-sch, 14. Portsmouth—Decatur sab-sch, 6 30; Jackson sab-sch, 15 59; Mount Leigh, 4. St. Clairsville—Bethels sab-sch, 13 73; St. Clairsville sab-sch, 12; West Brooklyn, 6 87. Steubenville—Corinth, 5; Feed Spring sab-sch, 12 60; Hopedale, 6; Island Creek sab-sch, 1 45, 6 45; Nebo, 3 75; Two Ridges, 3 18. Wooster—Orville, 2 58. Zanesville—Coshocton sab-sch, 27 08; Keene sab-sch, 10; Newark Salem German sab-sch, 3 25; Waterford sab-sch, 2. 556 45

OREGON—East Oregon—Union sab-sch, 1 52. Portland—Portland 1st sab-sch, 36 35; St. John's sab-sch, 5 10; Tualatin Plains, 8. Southern Oregon—Ashland sab-sch, 16; Jacksonville sab-sch, 2 30; Myrtle Creek sab-sch, 1 50. Willamette—Lafayette sab-sch, 5; Woodburn, 6. 71 77

PENNSYLVANIA—Allegheny—Avalon, 7; Bellevue, 18 38; Plains, 3; Sewickly sab-sch, 11 20. Blairsville—McGinnis, 5; New Salem church and sab-sch, 27 25. Butler—Harlanburgh, 5; Martinsburgh sab-sch, 17 32. Carlisle—Carlisle 2d (sab-sch, 28 34), 63 90; Green Castle sab-sch, 13 56; McConnellsburch, 3. Chester—Chichester Memorial sab-sch, 7; East Whiteland C. E. S., 5 50; Fagg's Manor, 35; Media, 95 84; Oxford 1st, 48 11; Wayne sab-sch, 19 06. Clarion—Oak Grove sab-sch, 3; Sligo sab-sch, 10. Erie—Concord sab-sch, 7; Erie Park sab-sch, 16 85; Garland, 5 35; Millledgeville sab-sch, 5 38; Mount Pleasant, 1 69; Pittsfield, 4 08; Tideout sab-sch, 21 55. Huntingdon—Buffalo Run, 1 30; Gibson Memorial sab-sch, 10 55; Huntingdon sab-sch, 3 84; Millfistown Westminster, 15 55; Pine Grove sab-sch, 6 53; Shade Gap sab-sch, 10; Tyrore, 21 74. Kittanning—Cherry Run sab-sch, 3; Cherry Tree sab-sch, 15 57; Harmony, 11 20; Indiana sab-sch, 20; Jacksonville sab-sch, 12; Strader's Grove sab-sch, 5 34. Lackawanna—Elmhurst, 2 09; Franklin, 1; Scranton Sumner Avenue sab-sch, 6 08. Lehigh—Hazleton, 60 79; Pottsville 1st, 31 15; South Bethlehem, 1. Northumberland—Grove sab-sch, 28 30; Mooreburgh sab-sch, 9 97; Raven Creek sab-sch, 5. Philadelphia—Philadelphia 1st, 120 86; Chambers sab-sch, 33 46; Clifton Street Immanuel sab-sch, 13 16; Harper Memorial, 20; Hebron Memorial sab-sch, 4 49. Philadelphia North—Chestnut Hill sab-sch, 37; Germantown 1st sab-sch, 73 63; Neshaminy Warwick, 20 86; Norristown Central sab-sch, 36 76. Pittsburgh—Bethany, 9 35; Concord, 18 50; Highland, 10; Homestead, 10; Mansfield, 16 04; Mingo, 3; Pittsburgh East Liberty, 11 30; Sharon ch. and sab-sch, 40; Valley, 15. Redstone—Long Run, 9; Smithfield sab-sch, 6 10. Shenango—New Brighton sab-sch, 13 57; New Castle 1st sab-sch, 30;

— 2d, 8 50; Rich Hill, 3. Washington—Burgettstown, 91 89; East Buffalo 16 48; Upper Buffalo (sab-sch, 24 19), 54 19. Westminster—Little Britain, 41; Slateville sab-sch 17 55. 1,498 12

SOUTH DAKOTA—Southern Dakota—Dell Rapids sab-sch, 7; Harmony sab-sch, 10. 17

TENNESSEE—Holston—Calvary sab-sch, 4; Greenville sab-sch, 1 50; Timber Ridge, 2. Union—Knoxville 2d, 6 47; Belle Avenue, 12. 25 97

TEXAS—Austin—Sweden sab-sch, 2 10. North Texas—St. Jo sab-sch, 10 15. 13 25

UTAH—Boise—Payettesab-sch, 6 30. Utah—Kaysville, Haines sab-sch, 1 10. 7 90

WASHINGTON—Olympia—Castle Rock, 2 35; Chehalis sab-sch, 6; La Camas, St. John's sab-sch, 10 25; Puyallup Indian sab-sch, 3; Woodland sab-sch, 4 65. Puget Sound—Seattle 1st, 26. Spokane—Davenport sab-sch, 6 18; Grand Coulee sab-sch, 1 10. 59 53

WISCONSIN—Chippewa—Ashland 1st sab-sch, 20 67; Phillips, 10; West Superior sab-sch, 8 21. Milwaukee—Manitowoc 1st, 1. Winnebago—Rural sab-sch, 1 10; Westfield sab-sch, 1 75. 42 73

MISCELLANEOUS.

Neelyton sab-sch, Penna., 5; Port Royal sab-sch, Ga., 36 cts.; Rosedale sab-sch, Mich., 11 78; G. V. Albertson, Ok., 2; H. K. Bushnell, Neb., 50 cts.; J. B. Currena, Neb., 4 41; Clifton church sab-sch, Ok., 1 60; Gillespie Enloe, Fla., 5; Miracle sab-sch, Iowa, 6; D. M. Good, Iowa, 1 93; Poseyville sab-sch, Mich., 4 30; Shelby District, Mich., 3 18; W. L. Hood, Mich., 3 31; Amelia sab-sch, Va., 70 cts.; J. G. Harris, Va., 2 28; Downs sab-sch, Mich., 1; Sunfield, Mich., sab-sch, 50 cts.; D. A. Jewell, Mich., 5 36; W. H. Long, N. C., 5 53; J. M. May, Kansas, 1; Vale sab-sch, So. Dak., 3; Big Bend sab-sch, So. Dak., 2 25; R. F. Sulzer, Minn., 5 81; McMurry sab-sch, Wash., 2 58; W. A. Yancey, Va., 1; Lothair sab-sch, Ga., 1 23; Grove City sab-sch, Minn., 6 40; Thos. Scotton, Minn., 8 05; Lincoln Mission, Neb., 68 cts.; Quinon sab-sch, Iowa, 2 22; Barber sab-sch, Iowa, 1 65; South Portland sab-sch, Ore., 9 45; Eagle Creek sab-sch, Ore., 1 25; Potomac sab-sch, Mont., 4 10; R. Mayers, S. C., 5 58; Seney sab-sch, Mich., 6 83; Canterbury sab-sch, W. Va., 5 74; C. M. Thomas, Ind., 1; Chimney Rock sab-sch, Mont., 4; M. E. Chapin, So. Dak., 45 cts.; Linden sab-sch, Mich., 3 75; S. B. Schiffelin, N. Y., 25; Mount Pleasant sab-sch, Ills., 2; Samuel N. Brown, Phila., 300; East Lake sab-sch, Del., 8; Clearbrook sab-sch, Wash., 1 24; Gastonia sab-sch, N. C., 1; Maple Hill sab-sch, Iowa, 7 18; Little York church and sab-sch, N. J., 3 28; Camden 2d sab-sch, N. C., 4; Strodes Mills C. E. S., Penna., 5; Harrison Grove church, N. C., 1 20; Ontario church and sab-sch, Cal., 5 75; Congdon Lake sab-sch, So. Dak., 4; Vale sab-sch, So. Dak., 6; Brainerd Chapel sab-sch, Ills., 2; J. V. N. Hartness, Lansing, Mich., 3 65; Dryad sab-sch, Wash., 15; Skye sab-sch, 65 cts.; Sagaming sab-sch, Mich., 63 cts.; Burt sab-sch, Iowa, 2 57; Royaltan sab-sch, Minn., 5; Hope sab-sch, Minn., 4; Thos. Scotton, 2 26; Coburg sab-sch, Iowa, 4; Murjussville sab-sch, Mont., 6; J. V. N. Hartness, Mich., 15 11; Johns' Mills sab-sch, Wis., 4; Mrs. Mary E. Palmer, Pa., 5; "O. Penna.", 1; Rev. W. L. Tarbet and wife, 60 cts., "State of California," 100. 670 41

Total contributions from churches..... $ 2,137 82
Total contributions from Sabbath-schools..... 3,904 37
Amount previously acknowledged..... 63,904 88

Total contributions since April 3, 1894..... $69,997 43

C. T. McMULLIN, Treasurer,
1324 Chestnut St., Phila., Pa.

RECEIPTS FOR MINISTERIAL RELIEF, AUGUST, 1894.

BALTIMORE—Baltimore—Bel Air, 4; Emmittsburgh, 20 64. New Castle—St. George's, 6 55. Washington—Darnestown, 6. 26 99

CALIFORNIA—Los Angeles—Inglewood 1st, 3 50. San Jose—Cambria, 11. 14 50

ILLINOIS—Bloomington—Cooksville, 6 05. Cairo—Shawneetown, 22. Chicago—Chicago 2d, 3 40; Bethany, 3; Calvary, 1 20; Hinadale, 5 03; Wilmington, 9 60.

Freeport—Bay German, 15. Peoria—Altona, 2 87; Eureka, 13 85; Oneida, 5. Schuyler—Camp Point, 10; Ebenezer, 11 42; Warsaw, 2 84. Springfield—Pisgah, 86 cts 448 73

INDIANA—Crawfordsville—Crawfordsville Centre, (for P. A. House), 20 75. Indianapolis—Roachdale, 1. Logansport—Union, 3 92. New Albany—Livonia, 1 81. 27 48

INDIAN TERRITORY—Choctaw—Philadelphia, 85 cts.

OSMARRON—Kingfisher, 1. 1 85
IOWA—Cedar Rapids—Cedar Rapids 3d, 4 20. Dubuque—Sherrill's Mound, German, 4. Fort Dodge—Lohrville, 1. Iowa City—Atalissa, 3 73; Scott, 6; Tipton, 14; West Branch, 4 42. 37 35
KANSAS—Larned—Spearville, 4. Topeka—Leavenworth 1st, 76 60. 80 60
MICHIGAN—Detroit—Ann Arbor 1st, 19 04. Monroe—Tecomseh 1st, 10 36. 29 40
MINNESOTA—St. Paul—Rush City, 2; St. Paul Arlington Hills, 3; — House of Hope, 56 44. 60 44
MISSOURI—Palmyra—Unionville, 7. Platte—Gallatin, 5. St. Louis—Jonesboro 1st, 6; Ridge Station, 1. 19 00
NEBRASKA—Hastings—Stockham, 1 25; Verona, 75 cts. Nebraska City—Adams 1st, 4; Alexandria, 7. Omaha—Bellevue, 8. 21 00
NEW JERSEY—Elizabeth—Elizabeth Westminster sab-sch, 15. Monmouth—Forked River, 4. Morris and Orange—Boonton, 28 45; Chatham, 89 08. Newton—Hackettstown, 50. 186 48
NEW YORK—Albany—Albany West End, 23. Binghamton—Binghamton Ross Memorial, 5; Conklin, 8. Brooklyn—Brooklyn Hopkins Street, 2. Buffalo—Alden, 4; Tonawanda, 4 90. Geneva—Ovid, 17 50. Hudson—Circleville, 6; Florida, 3 60; Good Will, 3 78. Lyons—East Palmyra, 5 45; Junius, 2. Nassau—Islip, 35; Jamaica 1st, 29 63. New York—New York Washington Heights, 14 25; — West Farms, 5. North River—Little Britain, 11; Pine Plains, 6; Poughkeepsie, 16 77. Rochester—Lima, 15 50; Ogden, 8 87; Pittsford 1st, 11 38. St. Lawrence—Waddington, 9 25; — Scotch, 12. Utica—Illion, 2. Westchester—Katonah, 68; Patterson Memorial, 2 75. 217 81
NORTH DAKOTA—Fargo—La Moure, 5 61. 5 61
OHIO—Athens—New England, 1 10; New Plymouth, 5. Bellefontaine—Forest, 5 70; North Washington, 1 16; Patterson, 56 cts.; Urbana 1st sab-sch, 5 99. Chillicothe—Chillicothe 3d sab-sch, 15; Greenfield 1st, 7 75; White Oak, 7. Columbus—Columbus 2d and sab-sch, 28 22. Dayton—Bath, 2; Camden, 4; Osborn, 2. Maumee—Bryan, 8 50; West Unity, 6. St. Clairsville—Bannock, 4; Short Creek, 6. Steubenville—Madison, 7 20; Scio, 4 50; Wooster—Shreve, 2 75. Zanesville—Bladenburgh, 3 64. High Hill, 1 40; Martinsburgh, 3 64; Mount Pleasant 3 65; Mount Zion, 2. 138 98
PENNSYLVANIA—Allegheny—Tarentum, 11 62. Blairsville—Cresson, 6. Butler—North Washington, 3. Carlisle—Paxton, 10; Silver Spring, 10. Chester—Dilworthtown, 5. Clarion—Brockwayville, 8; Clarion 1st, 23 50.

Erie—Cambridge, 8; Hadley, 2. Huntingdon—Holl daysburgh 1st (sab-sch, 3 14), 43 28; Lower Tuscarora, 5 15; Tyrone 1st, 32 37. Kittanning—Elder's Ridge, 18 50; Slate Lick, 9. Lackawanna—Nicholson, 8; Pits-ton 1st, 32 26; Rushville, 4; Scranton German, 10 22. Stevensville, 4. Lehigh—Pottsville 1st, 41 70. Philadel-phia North—Conshohocken, 2 11; Overbrook, 66; Thomp-son Memorial, 6. Pittsburgh—Miller's Run, 5; Pitts-burgh East Liberty, 37 34; — Shady Side, 11 50. Ste-nango—Clarksville, 11; Moravia, 2 43; Wampum, 4. Washington—Cross Creek, 31. Westminster—Slater-7; Union, 35. 51 75
SOUTH DAKOTA—Central Dakota—Bethel, 2; Harola, 9 63. Dakota—Ascension, 2. Southern Dakota—Par-ton, 9 23; Union Centre, 5 75. 22 6
TENNESSEE—Union—Knoxville Belle Avenue, 2; S. Paul's, 2; Tabor, 2. 6 00
WASHINGTON—Puget Sound—Friday Harbor (former San Juan), 2 55. Spokane—Coeur d'Alene, 2. 4 55
WISCONSIN—Madison—Belleville, 2; Platteville Ger-man, 5 90; Verona, 2. Milwaukee—Manitowoc 1st Chris-tian Endeavor Society, 2 50. 12 40

From the churches and Sabbath-schools..... $1,290 6

FROM INDIVIDUALS.

Rev. J. L. Lord, Laingsburg, Mich., 1; Mrs. H. L. Taylor, Monroe, Mich., 2; Mrs. J. M. Roberts, Anaheim, Cal., 2; Rev. J. L. Pomeroy, Fairview, W. Va., 1; Rev. and Mrs. L. L. Rad-cliffe, Chataqua, N. Y., 50; "State of Cal-ifornia," 3 000; M. and E. A. Cummins, Bellaire, O., 35; Alex. McDonald, Cincinnati, O., 25; "A Friend," 500; Rev. J. C. De B. Kops, La Crosse, Wis., 2; balance of appropriation returned on account of death, 50 05; Mrs. Mary E. Palmer, New Brighton, Pa., 5; "C. Penna," 6; Rev. W. L. Tarbet and wife, Pisgah, Ill., 40 cts. 1,674 90
 Interest from the Permanent Fund..... 2 00 00

For the Current Fund..... $ 333 34
 Total for the Current Fund since April 1, 1894.. 46 29 34
 " " " same period last year 44 62 60

W. W. HERRINGTON, Treasurer,
 1324 Chestnut Street, Phila.

—In World-wide Missions a church is reported where a letter is read at the morning service once each month from the missionary whom the church helps to support, and a church letter written by some one of the young people to the missionary read to the congregation before it is sent.

—Good citizenship, says Mr. William Shaw, does not commit the voter to any party, nor advocate any candidate. It does aim to educate our youth to a sense of the sacred responsibility of the franchise, to exalt their ideal of good government and to send them forth into their respective parties to elect men who will stand for honor and righteousness.

—College life claims to do its largest and most valuable work for the student not as future lawyer, physician, editor or preacher, but as man. Its distinctive office is to enlarge, enrich and ennoble the life. It is to give not merely information and scholarly training: it is also to impart culture and to develop character.—Prof. Henry A. Frink in The Independent.

—Propagation is essential to increase and continuance of life, says The Christian Missionary. The church or denomination that ceases to propagate and grow will soon cease to be. The grave question that confronts our churches to day is the question of "Extension or Extinction."

—It is a special trial to Japanese Christians to be charged with disloyalty, says Mrs. J. H. De Forest, and conscientious scruples having arisen in the minds of some with regard to the customary New Year's vow before the likeness of the Emperor, a word in the form of the vow has been changed to make it mean only an act of reverence.

—Rev. Prof. Streator, late of Denver University, represents a new departure in Christian work among the Jews, says Mid-Continent. He believes that in seeking to turn the Jew to Christ as the promised Messiah, we must not "un-Jew" him, but let him retain his Old Testament observances, and festival days and ceremonial rites.

Officers and Agencies of the General Assembly.

THE CLERKS.

Stated Clerk and Treasurer—Rev. William H. Roberts, D. D., No. 1334 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.
Permanent Clerk—Rev. William E. Moore, D. D., Columbus, O.

THE TRUSTEES.

President—George Junkin, Esq.
Treasurer—Frank K. Hipple, 1340 Chestnut Street.
Recording Secretary—Jacob Wilson.
OFFICE—Publication House, No. 1334 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

THE BOARDS.

1. HOME MISSIONS, SUSTENTATION.

Corresponding Secretaries—Rev. William C. Roberts, D. D., and Rev. Duncan J. McMillan, D. D.
Treasurer—Oliver D. Eaton.
Recording Secretary—Oscar E. Boyd.

OFFICE—Presbyterian House, No. 53 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y.

Letters relating to missionary appointments and other operations of the Board should be addressed to the Corresponding Secretaries.

Letters relating to the financial affairs of the Board, containing remittances of money or requests for reduced railroad rates, should be addressed to Mr. O. D. EATON, Treasurer.

Applications for aid from churches should be addressed to Mr. O. E. BOYD, Recording Secretary.

Applications of Teachers, and letters relating to the School Department, should be addressed to Rev. G. F. MCAFEE, Superintendent.

Correspondence of Young People's Societies and Sabbath-schools should be addressed to Rev. Thornton B. Penfield.

2. FOREIGN MISSIONS.

Secretary Emeritus—Rev. John C. Lowrie, D. D.

Corresponding Secretaries—Rev. Frank F. Ellinwood, D. D., Rev. John Gillespie, D. D., and Mr. Robert E. Speer. Recording Secretary—Rev. Benjamin Labaree, D. D.

Treasurer—William Dulles, Jr., Esq.

Field Secretary—Rev. Thomas Marshall, D. D., 48 McCormick Block, Chicago, Ill.

OFFICE—Presbyterian House, No. 53 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y.

Letters relating to the missions or other operations of the Board should be addressed to the Secretaries. Letters relating to the pecuniary affairs of the Board, or containing remittances of money, should be sent to William Dulles, Jr., Esq., Treasurer.

Certificates of honorary membership are given on receipt of $30, and of honorary directorship on receipt of $100.

Persons sending packages for shipment to missionaries should state the contents and value. There are no specified days for shipping goods. Send packages to the Mission House as soon as they are ready. Address the Treasurer of the Board of Foreign Missions, No. 53 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y.

The postage on letters to all our mission stations, except those in Mexico, is 5 cents per each half ounce or fraction thereof. Mexico, 2 cents per half ounce.

3. EDUCATION.

Corresponding Secretary—Rev. Edward B. Hodge, D. D.
Treasurer—Jacob Wilson.

OFFICE—Publication House, No. 1334 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

4. PUBLICATION AND SABBATH-SCHOOL WORK.

Secretary—Rev. Elijah R. Craven, D. D.

Superintendent of Sabbath-school and Missionary Work—Rev. James A. Worden, D. D.

Editorial Superintendent—Rev. J. R. Miller, D. D.

Business Superintendent—John H. Scribner.

Manufacturer—Henry F. Scheetz.

Treasurer—Rev. C. T. McMullin.

PUBLICATION HOUSE—No. 1334 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Letters relative to the general interests of the Board, also all manuscripts offered for publication and communications relative thereto, excepting those for Sabbath-school Library books and the periodicals, should be addressed to the Rev. E. R. CRAVEN, D. D., Secretary.

All applications for grants whether of books, periodicals or Lesson Helps, and also all letters relating to Sabbath-school and Missionary work, the appointment of Sabbath-school missionaries, to the Rev. JAMES A. WORDEN, D. D., Superintendent of Sabbath-school and Missionary Work.

All manuscripts for Sabbath-school Library books, also all matter offered for the WESTMINSTER TEACHER and the other periodicals, and all letters concerning the same, to the Rev. J. R. MILLER, D. D., Editorial Superintendent.

Business correspondence and orders for books and periodicals, except from Sabbath-school missionaries to JOHN H. SCRIBNER, Business Superintendent.

Remittances of money and contributions to the Rev. C. T. McMullin, Treasurer.

5. CHURCH ERECTION.

Corresponding Secretary—Rev. Erskine N. White, D. D.
Treasurer—Adam Campbell.

OFFICE—Presbyterian House, No. 53 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y.

6. MINISTERIAL RELIEF.

Corresponding Secretary—Rev. William C. Cattell, D. D.
Recording Secretary and Treasurer—Rev. William W. Heberton.
OFFICE—Publication House, 1334 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

7. FREEDMEN.

President—Rev. Henry T. McClelland, D. D.
Vice-President—Rev. David S. Kennedy.
Recording Secretary—Rev. Samuel J. Fisher, D. D.
Corresponding Secretary—Rev. Edward P. Cowan, D. D.
Treasurer—Rev. John J. Beacom, D. D.
OFFICE—516 Market Street, Pittsburgh, Pa.
Field Secretary—Rev. Henry N. Payne, D. D., Atlanta, Ga.

8. AID FOR COLLEGES AND ACADEMIES.

Corresponding Secretary—Rev. Edward C. Ray, D. D.
Treasurer—Charles M. Charnley, P. O. Box 294, Chicago, Ill.
OFFICE—Room 23, Montauk Block, No. 115 Monroe Street, Chicago, Ill.

PERMANENT COMMITTEES.

COMMITTEE ON SYSTEMATIC BENEFICENCE.

Chairman—Rev. Rufus S. Green, D. D., Elmira College, Elmira, N. Y.
Secretary—Killian Van Rensselaer, 56 Wall Street, New York, N. Y.

COMMITTEE ON TEMPERANCE.

Chairman—Rev. John J. Beacom, 516 Market Street, Pittsburgh, Pa.
Corresponding Secretary—Rev. John F. Hill, Pittsburgh, Pa.
Recording Secretary—Rev. Joseph B. Turner, Glenshaw, Pa.
Treasurer—Rev. James Allison, D. D., Pittsburgh, Pa.

PRESBYTERIAN HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

President—Rev. W. C. Cattell, D. D., Philadelphia.
Corresponding Secretary—Rev. W. L. Ledwith.
Treasurer—DeB. K. Ludwig, 3800 Locust Street, Philadelphia.
Library and Museum—1229 Race Street, Philadelphia.

TREASURERS OF SYNODICAL HOME MISSIONS AND SUSTENTATION.

New Jersey—Elmer Ewing Green, P. O. Box 133, Trenton, N. J.
New York—O. D. Eaton, 53 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y.
Pennsylvania—Frank K. Hipple, 1340 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.
Baltimore—D. C. Amidon, 31 South Frederick Street, Baltimore, Md.

BEQUESTS OR DEVISES.

In the preparation of Wills care should be taken to insert the Corporate Name, as known and recognized in the Courts of Law. Requests or Devises for the General Assembly should be made to "The Trustees of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America."

Board of Home Missions,—to "The Board of Home Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America, incorporated April 19, 1872, by Act of the Legislature of the State of New York."

Board of Foreign Missions,—to "The Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America."

Board of Church Erection,—to "The Board of Church Erection Fund of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America, incorporated March 27, 1871, by the Legislature of the State of New York."

Board of Publication and Sabbath-school Work,—to "The Trustees of the Presbyterian Board of Publication and Sabbath-school Work."

Board of Education,—to "The Board of Education of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America."

Board of Relief,—to "The Presbyterian Board of Relief for Disabled Ministers and the Widows and Orphans of Deceased Ministers."

Board of Freedmen,—to "The Board of Missions for Freedmen of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America."

Board of Aids for Colleges,—to "The Presbyterian Board of Aid for Colleges and Academies."

Sustentation is not incorporated. Bequests or Devises intended for this object should be made to "The Board of Home Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America, incorporated April 19, 1872, by Act of the Legislature of the State of New York, for Sustentation."

N. B.—Real Estate devised by will should be carefully described.

2X
901
156
OL. XVI.

DECEMBER, 1894.

No. 96.

THE CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD

PUBLISHED MONTHLY BY ORDER OF THE
GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
IN THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

HENRY A. NELSON, D.D., EDITOR
REV. ALBERT B. ROBINSON, ASSOCIATE EDITOR

EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENTS

DUNCAN J. McMILLAN, D.D.
JAMES S. DENNIS, D.D.
EDWARD B. HODGE, D.D.
ELIJAH R. CRAVEN, D.D.

ERSKINE N. WHITE, D.D.
WILLIAM C. CATTELL, D.D.
EDWARD P. COWAN, D.D.
EDWARD C. RAY, D.D.

BUSINESS SUPERINTENDENT

JOHN H. SCRIBNER

All business correspondence should be addressed to the Business Superintendent—not to the Editor.
Remittances should be by Draft or Postal Order.

PRESBYTERIAN BOARD OF PUBLICATION AND SABBATH-SCHOOL WORK
1334 CHESTNUT STREET, PHILADELPHIA, PA.

LINCOLN UNIVERSITY.

It receives students this year in two Departments only, Collegiate and Theological. The studies pursued in these are given in the annual catalogue.

For this and fuller information address one or other of the Secretaries, REV. EDWARD WEBB, or REV. W. P. WHITE.

The College and Theological Professors, ten in number, are provided for, (insufficiently indeed), by endowments. We make no appeal for them.

But provision must be made for the students, now numbering over two hundred. For each of these one hundred and thirty dollars a year ($130), or its equivalent, the interest of a permanent endowment of $2,000 or $2,500. Without this help we can make no progress; we shall be forced to cut down the work.

In making bequests note that our corporate title is "LINCOLN UNIVERSITY" in Chester County, Pennsylvania.

Gifts may be remitted to either of the Secretaries.

EDWARD WEBB, Fin'l Sec., L. U.,
Oxford, Chester County, Pa.

BIDDLE UNIVERSITY

Includes four schools:

SCHOOL OF THEOLOGY,
SCHOOL OF ARTS,
PREPARATORY and NORMAL SCHOOL, and SCHOOL OF INDUSTRIES.

Opens 1st Wednesday of October and closes 1st Wednesday of June, annually.

Total enrollment 280, exclusively males. There are 11 professors, 3 laymen and 8 ministers.

Located amid the colored people, for whose special benefit it was founded.

The annual income ($100) of a $1500 scholarship will support a student. This sort of help is most urgently needed.

Title to all property vested in the Freedmen's Board for the Presbyterian Church. Legal name "Biddle University," at Charlotte, N. C.

The last General Assembly recommended an endowment of $400,000.

Catalogue and information furnished promptly.

D. J. SANDERS, President.

Maryville College

1. Founded 1862. 2. Maryville a health resort. Excellent. 3. Campus 250 acres. 4. Courses of Study: Classical, Latin-Scientific, English, Scientific. 5. Thorough. 6. Fourteen instructors. 7. Well-organized Preparatory Department. 8. Special advantages: Rhetorical Drill, Literary Societies, Library of 12,000 volumes. 9. Business Department with nominal charges. 10. Music free, Instrumental Music, Painting and Drawing at low rates. 11. Athletics, and strong religious influences. 12. Three hundred students, male and female. 13. Endowment of $175,000 renders expenses very low. Tuition, $5 per term. Room rent, $3. Text-books rented. Board at cost, about $1.25 per week. Total expense for year, $60 to $125. 14. Two terms. Next term opens Sept. 5. For catalogues apply to Prof. SAMUEL T. WILSON, Registrar, Maryville, East Tennessee.

SCOTIA SEMINARY.

A High School for colored girls under the care of the Board for Freedmen and the Women's Ex. Committee for Home Missions of the Presbyterian Church. Incorporated under the laws of North Carolina. Legal name, "The Scotia Seminary," Concord, N. C. The title to all property is vested by the charter in the Board for Freedmen.

Donations solicited to a permanent fund which will provide for the salaries of the teachers and supply scholarships and thus relieve the treasury of the Board.

D. J. SATTERFIELD, President.

PENNSYLVANIA, Chambersburg.

WILSON COLLEGE FOR YOUNG WOMEN.

Fifty miles southwest of Harrisburg, in famous Cumberland Valley. Border climate, avoiding bleak north. $250 per year for board, room, etc., and all College Studies. Handsome Park, Large Buildings, Steam Heat, Gymnasium, Observatory, Laboratory, etc. Endorsed by Pennsylvania Synod, Baltimore Synod and Presbytery, Presbytery of Carlisle, etc.

NEW JERSEY, Lawrenceville.

LAWRENCEVILLE SCHOOL.

JOHN C. GREEN, FOUNDATION.

Capacity of School 300.

Early application for admission is advisable.

For catalogue and information, address

Rev. James C. Mackenzie, Ph. D.

THE CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD.

DECEMBER, 1894.

CONTENTS

Approaching Day,	467
Synod of Pennsylvania,	469
Observance of the Lord's Day in Venice, Alexander Robertson, D. D. ,	470
The Sabbath in its Relation to Law and Order,	471
Indians of Arizona, Rev. C. H. Cook, M. D. ,	473
Threatened Uprising of the Neglected Class, Rev. W. P. Chalfant ,	475
Our Church's Education of German Ministers,	476
Foreign Mission Congress—Missionary Album—Our Pictures,	477

FOREIGN MISSIONS.

Notes. —Treasurer's Statement—Japan in War—Aintab in Central Turkey Mission— Lahore Tribune's Tribute to Dr. Forman—Leaflet on "Prayer and Pains in Foreign Missions"—Leprosy in Sandwich Islands—Hindu Lecturers—Comparative Religions in Chicago University—French Government and Mission Work in West Africa— Rev. N. G. Clark's Retirement—Missionary Calendar,	478-481
Concert of Prayer. —Missions in Syria—Notes on the same—The Syrian Gibraltar (page 486), Rev. A. F. Schauffler, D. D. —Forward Movement in Syria (page 488), Rev. G. A. Ford, D. D. —God's Providence in the History of the Syria Mission (page 490), H. H. Jessup, D. D. —Church Dedication upon Mt. Lebanon, (page 495), W. W. Eddy, D. D. —Waning Power of Syrian Priesthood, (page 496), Rev. W. S. Nelson ,	482-497
Letters. —Africa, Rev. A. C. Good, Ph. D. ,	497-500

HOME MISSIONS.

Notes. —Fire Cyclones—Indians in New Mexico—Hymn Books Needed—Texas, Rev. Julian Hatch —Incompetency of Mexicans in New Mexico—Drought-stricken Nebraska—Synod of Tennessee—Killisnoo, Alaska—Financial Statement—Swedish Minister in Florida—Naphtha Launch for Missionary in Oregon,	501-505
Our Church in Kentucky, Rev. D. McDonald ,	505
Among the Synods, W. Phraner, D. D. ,	506
Mohonk Indian Conference,	507
Concert of Prayer. —The South,	508-510
Letters. —Texas, Rev. D. H. Dodson —Washington, Rev. H. V. Rice —Oklahoma Territory, Rev. S. V. Felt ,	510-511
Letters Abbreviated.—Boxes Versus Blizzard—Summer Resorts and Gospel—Minnesota—Colorado—Woman's Work—California—Alabama—Mormonism, Bible and Wishard,	511-513
Home Mission Appointments,	513

FREEDMEN. —Do Not Forget the Freedmen—Biddle University—Our Scholarships, H. N. Payne, D. D. ,	513-516
PUBLICATION AND SABBATH-SCHOOL WORK. —Review of Synodical Work—Report of a Sabbath school Missionary,	516-518
EDUCATION. —The Annunciation—College and Seminary Notes— Rev. T. A. Mills ,	519-521
COLLEGES AND ACADEMIES. —Buena Vista College,	522-523
CHURCH ERECTION. —Samuel Davies Alexander, D. D.—Work Among Indians,	523-525
Omission, From The Congregationalist ,	525
THOUGHTS ON THE SABBATH-SCHOOL LESSONS,	526-527
YOUNG PEOPLE'S CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR. —A Syrian Ready to Perish, George A. Ford, D. D. —Twenty-five Years of Truly Christian Endeavor—Suggestive Hints For Study—Worth Reading,	527-533
CHILDREN'S CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD. —Entertainment—Why Hettie Was Happy—The Little Flock—Giving Our Hearts—Summer Life in Syria,	534-537
GLEANINGS AT HOME AND ABROAD,	538-542
BOOK NOTICES,	543

THE CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD

enters its ninth year with stronger and more abundant assurances of approval from its constituency than have before greeted it. Grateful for such approval, we mean to deserve it more and more as the years go by.

THE EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENTS

representing the several boards of the Church are awake and alert for enriching their several departments and enlivening them with pictorial illustration.

THE ASSOCIATE EDITOR

whose name appears on the cover, has already become known to our readers, and the editor and committee regard his accession as assuring great increase of usefulness to the magazine.

THE CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR SOCIETIES

will find the "Suggestive Hints for Study," broadened in their scope. Since deep and abiding interest must have a foundation of knowledge, it will be our purpose to aid The Missionary Extension Movement by giving our young people a broad outlook over the aggressive work of the Church, both at home and abroad.

ABLE WRITERS

are engaged, and others will be, as the year advances, for the biographical sketches of Missionary Heroes, promised by our Editorial Home Mission Correspondent in his note on page 504, and for general articles on other subjects.

We aim to be awake to the spirit and demands of our times, and shall introduce new features or methods to meet the artistic tastes as well as the Christian sympathies of our readers. We are grateful for friendly suggestions and criticism, and we shall try to profit by them.

We respectfully and earnestly ask every subscriber who is glad that he is a subscriber to try to make at least one of his friends as happy as himself.

THE CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD.

DECEMBER, 1894.

APPROACHING DAY.

Have not we been passengers in a railroad car, when the whistle signaled near approach to the station at which our journey would end? Tired, and dull, and listless we have been in the monotonous progress of the train, but now, so near the end of the weary journey, so near home, we rouse ourselves, and in very animating and cheery tones call upon even the tired and sleepy little children to wake up too.

Home, a hundred miles off—home, to which we have yet many weary hours of travel before we can come, would have no such power to rouse us. Home near—home in sight—home from which loved and loving faces are even now looking forth to welcome us—this thought banishes drowsiness.

Paul, in one stirring passage, figures the time which has been passing as the night, and cheerily calls us “to awake out of sleep,” because now it is morning—or almost morning. “The day is at hand.”

Heathen minds, in their best culture, have thought of our earthly life-time as day, and conceived of it as ending in the “cold, silent night of the grave.” Paganism, nature, cannot look beyond the grave. It can only feebly conjecture whether there is anything beyond. It is as if, without geographical and astronomical knowledge, one were set down in the Arctic region, and should watch the sun circling around the horizon, daily settling lower and lower towards it, till at last it has sunk quite out of sight, appearing only as a glow on the sky, passing round and round, and daily fainter, until it has faded utterly out. He would not know that, after the cold blue dome with its steady stars and its occasional auroral coruscations shall have made a hundred revolutions, the sun will be visible again, climbing in a reversed spiral, up the sky. If such a one—an illiterate sailor let us imagine—should receive from his captain books and kind instruction, teaching him the true geography and the true astronomy, what a revelation it would be! With what expectations of the coming day would such a revelation cheer the long waiting through that Arctic gloom! And when the faint blush should appear, and go its rounds, constantly brightening, until at length the narrow edge of the fiery disc should go moving around and widening, to what joyous outlook would the glad eyes open after every season of necessary sleep!

What Arctic gloom of hopelessness would wrap this earthly life, if the Bible did not give us this celestial geography and astronomy!

“I would not have you to be ignorant brethren, concerning them who are asleep, that ye sorrow not as others, who have no hope.” There is a morning to dawn on

"the cold, silent night of the grave." And to one to whom the unfading glories of that morning have been made known, as they had been to Paul, all this mortal life seems, in contrast, as one weary night, to be patiently watched through, in brave and faithful doing of duty, but in hopeful expectation of the day, "and so much the more, as we see the day approaching."

Paul spoke as a Christian man to Christian men; he spoke under the full influence of the faith and hope which he inculcated, believing all that he has tried to get others to believe of Jesus who died and rose again, and will surely bring with him all who sleep in him. Under the influence of such a view, Paul did not talk of this earthly life as a day of which the sun is drawing near to its setting, but as a night, the gloom of which is soon to be broken by the dawn of the sun's glorious rising.

Paul made this near approach of day the ground of his exhortation to "cast off the unfruitful works of darkness and to put on the armor of light." Those who first read his epistles had lately been heathen. Missionaries now have similar occasion to exhort recent converts from Hindoo or Mohammedan superstition and immorality—from any of those false systems which utterly divorce morality from religion, or teach a morality that is utterly spurious and false. So also have General Booth and his captains occasion to teach and exhort those whom they fetch out from the slums or pull out of the black filth in which they are "submerged." No doubt, such rescued ones need to be patiently taught to cast off, like foul garments, many sinful and even loathsome practices.

But can we need this exhortation, to cast off "works of darkness?"—church-members, children of Christian parents, reared under Christian instruction and influences, living always in refined society, in the midst of the Christian civilization of this nineteenth century?

It makes a great difference whether we compare the light that shines upon us with the darkness which now broods over Central Africa, or compare it with the light in the eternal city, in which they need no candle and no sun. There is a great deal that is dark in this "enlightened age," as we so fondly and so proudly call it! There are many things tolerated, winked at, excused and even smiled upon, in our "refined society," which are very plainly discountenanced, very pointedly condemned in Paul's epistles and in Christ's sermon on the Mount. Do we faithfully let the light of those holy scriptures in upon our innermost life!

Are they Christ's laws or the "laws of trade, and usages of society," by which we judge ourselves? And have we duly compared these latter with the law of Christ? Is Christ's Golden Rule one of the recognized "laws of trade?"

"Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others."

Did Paul practice that—his own version of the Golden Rule—any less carefully when making a contract to construct a lot of tents, than when he was preaching the Gospel?

And these "social usages"—are they all pure? Are they all unselfish? Are they all such as we can imagine to prevail in angelic society?

In our homes, how is it? Is there any selfishness there?—any indulgence of ill temper?—any unreadiness to bear one another's burdens, and to be as patient towards others' infirmities as we need others to be towards our own? How is it in our churches, and in our presbyteries?

No, it is not yet quite so bright here, even in the brightest spots, as we hope to find it yonder. We cannot safely assume that we have no need of the exhortation to "cast off the works of darkness."

And "the armor of light"—have we got it on!—the girdle of truth, the breast-plate of righteousness, the helmet of salvation, the shield of faith!—and are we so diligently and prayerfully studious of "the word of God," that we have it in hand, sharp, glittering, ready, as the drawn sword of a trained cavalier-man!

Are we studying the bible daily, diligently, earnestly—Sabbath-school teachers and scholars, parents and children—searching for the rich instruction in it, as for hid treasures? There is no other way so effectual for getting upon us "the armor of light."

Surely "now is our salvation nearer than when we believed." How swiftly these weeks and these years are flying! If we are indeed Christians—we who profess and call ourselves so—we are not very far from the celestial city.

Are there not some works of darkness which we would better hasten to cast off? And cannot we now, very soon, get "the armor of light" more completely on?

THE SYNOD OF PENNSYLVANIA, at its meeting in Tyrone, October, 1894, unanimously adopted the report of its Standing Committee on Foreign Missions, from which we desire to give to our readers the following extracts:

To one suggestion, made by Rev. George D. Baker, D. D., chairman of the Foreign Missions Committee of the Presbytery of Philadelphia, we invite special consideration. It is in these words, "The one thing imperatively needed is to keep the people well informed with reference to the progress of missions. Mere exhortation is not enough."

From that point of view it is pleasant to observe that all our religious papers, and some of the secular papers, are giving to their readers a large and increasing amount of reliable information on this and all other departments of church work. These journals should be gratefully acknowledged as valuable and welcome auxiliaries, and should be encouraged and aided in their efforts to promote the work of the Church.

Besides these voluntary auxiliaries our General Assembly has established two monthly periodicals for the special purpose of diffusing information concerning all the distinct departments of the Church's work and educating the people, young and old, as workers and contributors. These are THE CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD, now in its eighth year, and The Assembly Herald, established by the last General Assembly. * * * * *

These publications are in no sense rivals. They aim jointly to reach all the families of the Church with the information which they contain. THE CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD welcomes The Assembly Herald as a coadjutor, and bids it God speed in its energetic efforts to reach every household. The editors of The Assembly Herald are among the most ardent advocates and supporters of THE CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD, and believe that their own publication, reaching multitudes which the magazine does not yet reach, will cultivate a love for such literature and an interest in the work which it advocates which, in its ulterior effect, will increase the number of readers of all that the Church causes to be published for explaining and advocating all departments of her work. * * * * *

The Synod commends to all its people these two monthly publications of the General Assembly as means of instruction on missions and all departments of our Church's work, and desires all pastors and sessions to co-operate heartily in any efforts of their publishers for increasing the number of their readers.

With equal heartiness the Synod commends the publications representing the work of women and of children, viz: Woman's Work for Woman, The Home Mission Monthly, and Over Sea and Land.

THE OBSERVANCE OF THE LORD'S DAY IN VENICE.

REV. ALEXANDER ROBERTSON, D.D., VENICE.

A peaceful revolution has taken place in Venice in regard to the observance of the Lord's Day. The daily press with a measure of justifiable pride says, "A change that often takes months and years to bring about in other cities, has been wrought out here in a few weeks." The extent of the change is not all that we might wish, but it is a long step in the right direction. Formerly the Venetians, in common with other Italians, broke the fourth commandment in two ways: they did not work six days, and they would not refrain from working on the seventh. The first breach was in part the cause of the second. Because they did not work six days, they did not rest the seventh. And if we carry the inquiry one step further back and ask, "why did they not work six days?" The answer is, "the Church of Rome forbade it." That church, when it had the power, insisted that its saints' days should be kept holy. No shops might be opened, no work done on the saints' festivals which were very numerous. It was impossible for a poor Italian to work six days in a week. On the other hand the Church of Rome does not forbid working on the Lord's Day. It commands the attendance of the faithful at mass, but they can do so and yet attend to their own worldly concerns at the same time. I have seen two men on their knees selling corn and cattle in front of the altar, simply bending their heads when the silver bell rang to tell them to distrust their own senses and believe that the bread and wine had changed natures. I have seen others attending mass by looking out of their windows towards the chapel where it was going on, whilst at the same time they read the newspapers. After thus attending mass the faithful are free to do what they like, either for gain or amusement. They can go to a ball, attend a fair, open a shop, go to a bull fight, catch birds, which is the amusement of the Pope in the Vatican gardens, or dawdle away the day in drink shops. Therefore, the good Venetians did work and play on Sunday. A good Roman Catholic, by that I mean one who really believes in the falsehoods and frauds of the Church—happily a rara avis in Italy now-a-days—has often said to me, "Your religion does not permit you to amuse yourself and do shopping on Sundays, but my religion does." The Church of Rome thus taught the Venetians to break the fourth commandment both ways. Now the people have reversed all this. They have thrown the Church of Rome overboard, and they have resolved, and they are making good their resolution, not to observe saints' days, but to observe Sunday, to work six days and to rest the seventh—in other words, to keep the fourth commandment both ways. Well, not quite, for the closing of the shops is to take place at mid-day on Sundays. At first they fixed on four o'clock as the closing hour, now it is mid-day. This makes us hope that it may soon be all day, and that the example a few set of not opening at all on Sundays may soon be followed by all. The few who do so have said to me personally that they are gainers in health, and happiness, and purse, and business, by keeping holy the Lord's Day. They have proved the truth of the lines:

A Sabbath well spent brings a week of content,
And health for the toils of the morrow;
But a Sabbath profaned, whatso'er may be gained,
Is a certain forerunner of sorrow.

The only days to be observed besides the Lord's Day are National Festivals, holidays appointed by the State. In some cases the National Festival is also a church one, but it will henceforth be observed not because the Church commands its observance, but because the State does, and it will be spent in a more healthful way than giving a sham attendance at mass, and paying a priest to forgive old sin that new sin may be indulged in. It is interesting to note too that this whole revolution in the matter of work and rest is a native Venetian movement. No outsider had a hand in it. It was suggested by the noble conduct of King Humbert and the Emperor William, who, when recently in Venice, refused to attend the theatre on a Sunday evening, even though a special piece was to have been enacted in their honor. The theatre that night was packed from floor to ceiling with the best families in Venice, but the Royal box was empty. That suggested Sunday closing. A Committee was appointed to canvass the merchants and shopkeepers on the matter, and the result was that almost all signed a paper consenting to the arrangement I have mentioned. The Committee has formed itself now into one of surveillance, and it goes through the streets on Sundays to see that all who have put their hand voluntarily to the bond for Sunday closing loyally obey it. Yesterday near my church in the Piazza of San Marco the Committee found a shop open, and boldly entered and demanded that the shutters be at once put up. A crowd gathered, and, as all sympathized with the Committee, it was not long before the place was locked up. Venice is recovering something of its old independence of papal pretensions, and this is only one of the many happy reforms we may expect to see brought about. They are free from their old Church, which one described the other day, "as a rotten bough on the trunk of Christianity," and they are free to yield obedience to the laws of God, and to receive the Gospel, and in Christ to find that service which is the highest freedom.

Under date of October 7, Dr. Robertson writes to us from Venice desiring us, if not too late, to add to his article, printed above, the following incident, which signally illustrates and emphasizes what is therein related:

The secretary of the movement was Signor Ravagnan, the director of a shoe establishment. His master took offence at this and called upon him either to resign his position or his secretaryship. He resigned the former. He started business for himself in the chief street of Venice, and as shops are generally dedicated to something or other he has written on his door "To the Repose of the Lord's Day." The press of Venice highly commended his action and augurs him "good fortune." When he opened his shop yesterday evening quite a crowd entered to congratulate and to patronize him.

THE SABBATH IN ITS RELATION TO LAW AND ORDER.

In our August number we suggested the enquiry, whether the men whose unlawful and violent proceedings had just then been suppressed by military force had not had examples of lawlessness set them by the very corporations against which their lawless violence was directed. This was not to excuse lawlessness in one class by noticing its natural relation to that of another class, but to invoke serious consideration of the necessity of remedying both. "God is no respecter of persons," and Republican government is no respecter of classes.

The Christian Sabbath has been so highly esteemed by the people of this country, from the very beginning of our national history, that it has been carefully guarded by our laws as a day of rest to which all classes are entitled, and as a day of worship on which those whose consciences so regard it are to be protected from disturbance. This religious duty is not to be enforced by civil authority, but its voluntary conscientious observance is to be respected and protected.

The laws of our states designed to protect the people's right to Sabbath rest and Sabbath quiet have for many years been disregarded and disobeyed habitually and conspicuously by most of the railroad corporations. Evidence has not been wanting that multitudes of their employes of all grades feel this to be a wrongful exaction and oppression upon them and their families, and that it excludes from the employment of these corporations many conscientious and intelligent men whose services would be most reliable and valuable and whose influence would be powerful against all recklessness and lawlessness.

This is set forth with great candor and distinctness in an article on the railroad strikes, by Rev. Dr. D. P. Putnam, in The Evangelist. He says:

The saddest thing to me and the one fullest of menace in the whole situation, is the fact that our railroad system has no place for a Sabbath day either for the high officials or for the commonest employe. Some years ago a man came in from his farm and took employment in the railroad shops here. The first foreman he worked under excused him from labor on the Sabbath day, but the second foreman required him to work on the Sabbath or lose his place. After the first Sabbath's work he came to me as his pastor and stated his difficulties. Thinking that possibly some change of position or relief in some way might be provided, I went to the Superintendent and stated the case in the most gracious manner I could. Without any discourtesy, yet with a decision which was unmistakable, the Superintendent said to me: "I do not see that anything can be done. If he has any conscientious convictions about working on Sunday, the sooner he gets out of railroad employment the better." These words were burned in my memory. I made no reply. The speaker was and is a better man than his reply would indicate, and when I saw this same Superintendent's name (now promoted) in the papers as one of the General Managers who has had charge of railroad affairs in Chicago during this great strike, I wondered if he or any of his fellow-managers have ever in their thoughts even, connected their present difficulties with the absence of "conscientious convictions" on the part of some of their men? This General Manager was once a common railroad employe himself, and is but a product of the system of which he forms a part.

The fact is that if conscientious convictions in regard to the Sabbath day be burned out of a man, his whole moral nature is thereby undermined and his convictions as to common honesty and chastity and every other virtue are weakened.

The railroad men and the laboring people generally have taken the Sabbath for the day upon which they meet for the transaction of the business of their lodges and unions and other organizations. This practically leaves no place in the life for the cultivation of the religious and moral elements of their nature.

The railroad managers have taught their men disregard for the Sabbath and for their own moral convictions. The result is a weakening of the manhood of their employes at all points, and thus the fulminations and plottings of labor agitators in their secret lodge rooms have had undue influence. However, the best of our working people have seen the evil of these tendencies, and will somehow find a way out of them.

We would earnestly second this considerate and respectful appeal to the gentlemen who control the railroads, and commend it to their thoughtful consideration. We are glad of the respectful tone in which Dr. Putnam addresses them, and are in full sympathy with the spirit which it indicates. We know that there are conscientious Christian men holding official positions in railroad corporations whose persuasions and votes are faithfully given in favor of dispensing with all unnecessary labor upon railroads and who would define that word necessary as strictly in its application to this as to any other kind of labor. They do not abandon their positions, because they do not think that they would thus do as much to abate the evil as they may hope to do by retaining their votes and continuing their testimony and persuasion. Is not this a good time for such men, and for all who sympathize with them to renew and redouble their efforts to bring all in authority in railroad management to one mind on this momentous question?

The love of God, as expressed in redemption, is nothing without the holiness of God as set forth in his law.—Dr. Parkhurst.

It is a joy to see the Ten Commandments coming to the front again, says the Christian Intelligencer. They are the beginning, in the middle, and at the end of the Revelation of God. The Redeemer of men preached on them, interpreted them, insisted on obedience to them, and condemned with severity the men who attempted to lower their demands.

It is the duty of the Church to lead the members of congregations from Sunday rest to Sunday hallowing. This is the language of a pastoral letter recently issued to ministers and church councils, by the Consistory of Hanover, Germany.

THE INDIANS OF ARIZONA.

REV. CHARLES H. COOK, M.D., SACATON.

The word Arizona, or Arlizona (Little Spring), is well known to our older Papagoes and some Pimas as the name of a spring, the hard water of a creek in Sonora, Mexico, a little way south of the line, where formerly many Papagoes resided, and where the land is now occupied by Mexicans.

Southern Arizona, with its very warm and dry climate, clear atmosphere, great deserts, some fertile valleys and plains, mountains and mountain fastnesses and mines, probably resembles Palestine and Syria more than any other country.

Fifty years ago Arizona was a part of Mexico, but, aside from the Indians, it had only a few Mexican settlers in the neighborhood and south of Tucson.

The Papagoes and Pimas, the Navajoes, Apaches and Moquis were the principal Indian tribes. A thousand or more Indians also lived near the Colorado River, so that in all about 30,000 heathen were added to our country with Arizona.

The Catholic missions among the Papagoes in the vicinity of Tucson were discontinued when Mexico gained her independence.

What a field this would have been for such men as Col. Ingersoll here to have studied the civilization of a people who had not been imposed upon by Christianity.

Hunting and war, gambling and stealing, drunken carousals and dancing, running races, etc., were the chief occupations of the men. Nearly all work—weaving cloth and blankets, making earthen jars, and even farming and taking care of sheep—was done by the women. Family ties were not considered sacred. Little girl babies were sometimes given to the prairie wolves, and the old were often neglected. Those who lost loved ones had no hope of ever seeing them again, but frequently one or more were murdered of those whom the medicine man pointed out as having caused the death by witchery. There was no security for life or property. Often there were famines and sicknesses; often they would live on one or two wretched meals a day, when the country could have supported many times their number in comfort with but little labor.

The Arizona Indians had not yet heard of the Great Spirit and of the happy hunting grounds of the poets, they only believed in devils and witchcraft, and a few of them in a possible future existence in the form of an owl or prairie wolf. Their faith was: Let us eat, drink and be merry, if we can.

Here they had, and in a measure they still have, the medicine man. He is the prophet and priest, physician and surgeon. Unlike the spiritualistic medium, he got his communications from the bodies of the deceased. He could make it rain, practice divination and sorcery, charm and sing away sickness, and do many wonderful things. He was the counsellor of the chiefs concerning wars, robberies and feasts, and most Indians, old and young, were afraid of him. Perhaps one-tenth part of the tribe belonged to this class of imposters, and the revenue which they collected might have supported all the teachers and missionaries needed to show them a better way.

Passing a summer's night with the Indians in a beautiful mountain resort, partaking of their hospitality when all was well, one might have exclaimed, "How much like ourselves are these red children of the desert!" Seeing them in their war dances, all hideously dressed and painted, or in a drunken carousal, one would have thought it almost impossible that human beings could sink so low. There are great differences of character and characteristics between Indian tribes, and between villages and families of the same tribe.

Cadetta, an Apache war chief, and his people were once hotly pursued by our soldiers. Two soldiers lost their way and fell into the hands of Cadetta. He treated them kindly and showed them their camp in the evening, bidding them a friendly good-bye. He had been kindly treated once at a soldiers' hospital, and he wanted to show his thankfulness. Some of his children or grandchildren, I am told, are attending a government school.

Here we have two Papago villages, not far apart. The Tchujh-cut-Kuk (Owl-scream) people have been conspicuous for many years as horse and cattle thieves, while the Wawa-ki-wut people, when here on a visit, come to listen to God's word, and most of their children attend our Tucson school.

The first missionaries sent to Arizona's Indians were undoubtedly the U. S. Army officers and soldiers.

General Alexander, Major Green, Generals Crook, Howard, Miles and many others had to teach the Indians obedience to law and order and due respect to the rights of others.

One Christian officer, trusting the Apaches too much, lost his life.

President Grant knew what was needed, but our churches were not ready, and so for a number of years the progress was slow.

After a while better men were employed as agents, and the school work was pushed so that at present nearly all the tribes in Arizona are beginning to appreciate the value of an education for their children.

Nearly all of our army officers, acting as such, have made the best of agents, and nearly all of our Indian schools would be a credit to any nation.

Our Indian office deserves much credit for pushing the school work among Arizona's Indians; yet more facilities are needed, and we earnestly hope that instead of the cutting down of teachers' salaries out here, they will soon be raised; otherwise this important work will suffer.

The schools are nearly all boarding schools. Perhaps, after two or three decades the Indians will become so far civilized that day-schools with compulsory attendance will answer the purpose.

Indian wars here are about a thing of the past, and at present four Protestant missionaries and two Indian helpers are endeavoring to give the Gospel to the Indians of Arizona.

The Moquis number about 2,000 souls. They have a school. A Baptist brother, without regular support, preaches the Gospel there at present. Cannot our Baptist brethren support one man among Arizona's Indians?

The Navajoes, about eight to ten thousand in Arizona, have a school, and a M. E. brother attends to their spiritual wants.

Our Lutheran brethren of Wisconsin, I believe, have lately sent a missionary to the San Carlos Apache field, where there is also a government school.

The White Mountain Apaches, some 1,200 or more Indians, have a small government school near Camp Apache. They asked for a missionary in 1872, but so far no one has come to them.

The Catholics have a small day-school for Papagoes near San Xavier; they also had, and I think still have, a government contract school among the Indians on the Colorado River.

Mormon priests have baptized many Papagoes, some Maricopas, Pimas and other Indians, not only for themselves but for their ancestors, long dead. Formerly they preached the beauties of polygamy and they told the Indians that the Mormons and Indians would soon rule the country.

Among the Pimas the first government school was opened in 1871, at the earnest request of General Alexander. At present nearly 600 Pima children attend school. Our Presbyterian school for Pimas and Papagoes at Tucson was opened early in 1888. It has already accomplished great things for these Indians. Two of the pupils are doing good missionary work as helpers. We look to this school for a supply of teachers and preachers, merchants and mechanics and Christian leaders for the Indian tribes of Southern Arizona.

Our Home Board took hold of this field in 1881, employing one man. At present we have over 120 church-members and an average attendance at our three chapels on Sundays of about 500 or more Indians.

The lack of sufficient water for irrigation is a serious drawback here, yet the work of Christian civilization goes forward.

Much is being done for Arizona's Indians at present, yet very much is still left undone for lack of men and means.

Much good work has been done by our many Christian lady teachers. May we all so work that at last we many hear the welcome words of the Master, "Inasmuch as ye did unto one of these my brethren, even these least, ye did it unto me."

THREATENED UPRISING OF THE NEGLECTED CLASS.

REV. W. P. CHALFANT.

It was with pleased surprise that I read the racy and pointed remarks of the brother who claims, in the November number, to belong to the newly discovered neglected class. It was, in fact, with a pleasure akin to that which fills the breast of a preacher when he sits down, wipes the perspiration from his brow, and observes that not only is a large part of the congregation still awake, but that one man's face betokens genuine interest.

Let us follow the lead of Brother November and ventilate this matter.

I take the liberty of calling him Brother November because that appellation is sufficiently descriptive, begins with the same letter as "Neglected" and does not sound so harsh.

My own position upon the general question is accurately expressed in the sentence quoted in postscript to that November article.

It is plain that if God's people saw their duty to preach the Gospel in every land, including their own, as plainly as the early Church seems to have seen it, there would be no need of missionary societies within the Church.

Much consecrated energy now spent in organizing and operating these agencies would be set free to work directly in the local church to which it naturally belongs.

But observe two facts:

1. That until comparatively recent years the Church had almost lost sight of the obligation to give the Gospel, at the earliest possible moment, to all the world.
2. That the organized co-operation of interested individuals of various classes within the Church has proved to be a powerful agency in bringing the Church back to the divine conception which scattered the missionaries of the early Church to the ends of the earth.

If the process should be continued until all classes of Christians are thoroughly informed and aroused upon the subject of missions, then, no doubt, these cumbersome, wasteful, if temporary indispensable, organizations, will no be needed.

Meanwhile, is it not true that the men of the Church, not having given that systematic attention to the subject which organized effort secures, have fallen behind their sisters in missionary activity?

As stated in my original article, I have no zeal for any special method of interesting the men in missions, but am convinced that our men need to be in some way more thoroughly interested. Then they will see that it is just as necessary to provide for each Church's share in the expense of extending the knowledge of the Gospel as it is to support it in the local church—just as obligatory to give systematically and liberally to missions as it is to pay the pastor's salary?

The first four questions in the November article point to what seems to be a case of misleading nomenclature.

It is a pity that the distinction between "churches" and "societies" should be made in reports or anywhere else. Would not the formation of men's societies bring out even more clearly the absurdity of this distinction? When those men who are deeply interested in mission work are banded together for mutual stimulus and what they give is definitely credited to them, then the little streamlet of nickels and dimes that falls into the collection baskets "for the benevolent work of the Church," would be thankfully received, indeed, but be relegated to the miscellaneous columns and the combined inpour from the various societies would fill the "regular channels" to overflowing. Why not? Why not arrange that all moneys raised by local societies shall pass through the hands of the Treasurer of the church to which they belong, and be forwarded by him to the appropriate Boards and credited to the societies from which they come.

The societies would thus in due time become practically co-extensive with the Churches, and men would learn, as women have learned, to do their giving as they do their business, with intelligence, method and promptness.

As to the remaining questions we must admit that our brother again suggests the ultimate truth.

This thing of the women going off and having their meetings and giving their gifts all by themselves does not look well, to be sure, but seeing that we, preachers and elders, have set them the example of exclusiveness so long, we cannot very well blame them, and anyhow they are by this time so far ahead of us in missionary intelligence and enthusiasm that we men must certainly do something to overtake them.

In closing let us indulge in a wider vision. It is Sunday morning in the year nineteen hundred and not-so-many-as-you-might-suppose. The minister pauses before the sermon and says: "Allow me to remind the members of the congregation that the time has arrived for the gathering in of the accumulated tithes and offerings of the year. It is true that there is the usual balance in the several treasuries of the Church, but it is necessary that the offerings of the current year be promptly forwarded, so that the Boards can intelligently lay out the new work, so constantly increasing, to meet the gifts of God's people. I ask your earnest prayers for the Boards that they may be led by the Spirit in their delicate and arduous task of disposing wisely of the increasing offerings of the Church.

Let every man, woman and child hand in his accustomed proportion of income that the church treasurer may apportion the gifts according to the accustomed ratio and remit promptly to the Boards."

I firmly believe that the day is coming when some such vision shall become reality. But that glad day will be indefinitely postponed unless effective measures be taken to stir up the minds of our brothers by way of remembrance.

Let us hear suggestions from all who are interested in the neglected class.

OUR CHURCH'S EDUCATION OF GERMAN MINISTERS.

Of the value of this instrumentality in our Church's work, an impressive illustration is furnished in the following affectionate and just tribute to a minister of German birth, whom death has lately removed from the Presbytery of Philadelphia, and from the care of one of its valued congregations of German-speaking people.

It was prepared by his dear friend and worthy comrade in the same work, Rev. H. J. Weber, pastor of a similar congregation, and altogether a kindred spirit, by request of the Presbyterian Ministerial Association of Philadelphia, and is given to our readers by his permission. He says:

Rev. John Richelsen was born April 5, 1853, at Tarp, near Flensburg, Schleswig. He was the only son of a German peasant, who had but little means, but nevertheless gave his son the best education which the Latin school of the near by city could offer. When nineteen years old the son came to America, because his parents, whose sympathies were with Denmark, did not desire their only offspring to become a Prussian soldier. In God's providence the youth was destined to be a courageous and energetic soldier of a greater master than the Emperor of Germany, for hardly had the young man touched the American soil when he made the acquaintance of Prof. Geo. C. Selbert of our German Seminary, and at once decided to study theology. The excellent spiritual tone at Bloomfield moulded more and more the character of our dear friend into the likeness of our common Lord and Redeemer. Brother Richelsen often thanked our Heavenly Father for what our Bloomfield Seminary did and was for his inward life. He became not only a true follower of his Divine Master, but also a warm-hearted and vigorous, aggressive advocate of the German Presbyterian Church. In 1875 he graduated, and at once entered into the practical work of the ministry by accepting a call to the churches of Morristown and Long Hill, N. J.

But his real life-work began when he accepted the call to the Corinthian Avenue Presbyterian Church of Philadelphia in 1878. Here our German Presbyterian Church was almost unknown and strongly opposed as an effort to proselyte the Germans, although it is a fact, that quite a percentage of the trans-atlantic German Churches are Reformed, and the whole Prussian Church as also the Church of the Rhineland is evangelical. The Reformed and Lutheran creeds are in those countries considered as having equal rights, as being but two variant presentations of the same Divine truths. Brother Richelsen took hold of the new work with implicit trust in the Lord, with a keen apprehension of the needs of the German Church, and with a vast resource of practical schemes combined with a strong will power.

In fifteen years of incessant labor and one year of uninterrupted suffering, he built up a strong congregation, a devoted Christian flock, a beautiful church edifice, a fine parsonage, and for himself, an enviable reputation as an upright man of pure character, and as an ardent follower of Christ, who spent his life in doing good.

He was a grand pastor and a patient sufferer. He had sown love and he reaped it abundantly during the protracted illness. His wife, his nurse, and a number of friends were to him, to use his own words, angels of God.

Bro. Richelsen loved his people dearly, and would have enjoyed a few more years of happiness and work here upon earth, but he bore his sufferings valiantly, and was fully prepared to go at his master's command. Often, during his long illness, members of his charge were asked to sing some of our German church-hymns, among which the German translation of "Rock of Ages" and "Nearer My God to Thee" were his favorites; then he would become very quiet and happy. Thus he gradually sank physically, whilst his mind was bright and active, until on the morning of June 15, 1894, he was called to his heavenly home.

A Congress in the interest of foreign missions is to be held in Mansfield, Ohio, under the auspices of the Foreign Mission Synodical Committee of which Prof. Hulbert of Lane Theological Seminary is Chairman, on Tuesday and Wednesday, December 4 and 5. It is expected that at least 250 delegates, including Women's Presbyterial Societies, Sunday-schools, and Young People's Societies, will be present. Addresses will be made by Dr. Knox of Japan, Mrs. Wellington White of China, Mr. Lyon, Secretary of the Volunteer Movement in Chicago; Mr. McCauley of Dayton, Ohio; Dr. Gillespie, one of the Secretaries of the Board of Foreign Missions, and others.

The beautiful Missionary Album and Christmas Exercise combined, which the Board of Foreign Missions has recently issued, is in large demand. There is reason to believe that the first edition will be speedily exhausted. Sabbath-school superintendents are urged to send in their orders promptly, that the Board may be prepared to fill them in good time before Christmas comes. It is hoped that every school will wish copies of this charming missionary souvenir which, as one Superintendent writes, must have "a great educative force."

OUR PICTURES.—Just look at the noble face and figure of "the Martin Luther of Syria;" at those ancient columns and the new one; at those lively scenes in the girls' playground in Beirut. Look, and think.

Those glimpses of Alaska will also give you plenty to think about. "The Annunciation" will help you get ready for Christmas; and our little folks will be sure to find that boy up in the apple tree.

FOREIGN MISSIONS.

TREASURER'S STATEMENT OF RECEIPTS, MAY 1 TO OCTOBER 31, 1893 AND 1894.

	CHURCHES.	WOMEN'S S'D'S.	SAB. SCHOOLS.	Y. P. S. C. E.	LEGACIES.	MISCELLANEOUS	TOTAL.
1893	$51,569 96	$49,373 56	$7,596 46	$4,584 37	$32,256 23	$31,756 39	$184,936 86
1894	51,504 93	48,173 41	6,307 47	4,814 03	76,356 64	22,700 88	209,954 36
Gain Loss	$65 03	$1,100 15	$1,218 99	$230 36	$54,100 42	$944 49	$52,991 10

Total appropriated to November 1, 1894.....$1,006,782 94
 Deficit of April 30, 1894.....102,597 79

Total needed for year.....$1,109,380 73
 Received from all sources to November 1, 1894.....209,954 36

Amount to be received before April 30, 1895, to meet all obligations.....599,422 77
 Received last year, November 1, 1893 to April 30, 1894.....684,657 69

Increase needed before the end of the year.....214,936 68

NOTES.

We are indebted to Rev. Henry Loomis of Yokohama, Japan, agent of the American Bible Society, for interesting facts connected with the present war in the East. He considers the conduct of the Japanese in Korea during the present conflict to have been considerate and honorable in the highest degree. He sees at present no good reason to doubt that Japan is making an honest attempt to secure to the Koreans deliverance from an oppressive and venal government, and introduce an era of reform.

The entrance of Japanese soldiers struck terror at first into the hearts of the Koreans, who have never forgotten the inhumanities of the previous war, but, to the surprise and gratification of all, the Japanese soldiery have exhibited a self-restraint and a respect for discipline which has secured the friendship of the Koreans and excited their highest admiration. Every breach of discipline has been severely punished. Not the slightest license is granted the soldiery.

The Japanese Minister of War, Count Oyama, has just issued instructions to the army, from which the following extract is taken:

"Belligerent operations being properly confined to the military and naval forces actually engaged, and there being no reason whatever for enmity between individuals because their countries are at war, the common principles of humanity dictate that succor and rescue should be extended even to those enemies who are disabled by wounds or disease. The Japanese troops must never forget that however cruel and vindictive the foe may show himself, he must nevertheless be treated in accordance with the acknowledged rule of civilization, his disabled succored, his captured kindly and considerately protected. Even the body of a dead enemy should be treated with respect. Japanese soldiers should always bear in mind the gracious benevolence of their august sovereign, and should not be more anxious to display courage than charity."

There are bright spots in every mission field. Aintab, in the Central Turkey Mission of the American Board, about a hundred miles north of Aleppo, is one of them. Rev. F. E. Hoskins, of our Syria Mission, has recently returned from a visit to that locality.

He reports three evangelical churches, with a total of over 1700 members. The congregations which assemble in these churches cannot be matched anywhere in all Asia, from Constantinople to Japan. The First Church will accommodate an audience of 2000, and is frequently full to the doors. The Second Church has over 800 members, 19 of whom were admitted upon the Sabbath when Mr. Hoskins worshipped with them. The congregation has outgrown its building, and is searching for a new site upon which to erect a larger house of worship. Eighteen persons were counted sitting on the pulpit stairs during the service. Its pastor is a graduate of Yale Theological Seminary, as is also the pastor of the First Church. The highest number of pupils in attendance upon the Sabbath-school of the Second Church upon a single Sabbath during 1893 was 1,560. The average attendance for every Sunday of the year was 1,188. Have we not in the following fact one of the secrets of this spiritual prosperity? It is the custom in this and in all the churches of that region for the congregation, old and young, to meet early on Sunday morning for the study of the Bible in the Sabbath-school. The preaching service is held in the afternoon about an hour before sunset. Is it not more than probable that this general custom of Bible study on the part of the entire church is one of the secrets of church growth?

The Lahore Tribune, a native newspaper, has published a memorial notice of the late Rev. C. W. Forman, D. D., of our mission in India, written by a Hindu, and voicing the appreciation in which an American missionary is held by a non-Christian community in which he has spent his life. We can give only a few extracts, which correctly represent the whole spirit of the article:

"It will be long before Lahoris forget the sweet and benignant face of the great American missionary who went to his reward on Monday last. * * * Half our educated young men have been brought up in his school. * * * We doubt whether any other man, European or Indian, has taken as great a part in the making of the Punjab of to-day as Dr. Forman. * * * He devoted all his mighty energies to bringing the torch of knowledge to the people who were steeped in superstition and dense ignorance. * * * Looking around his assembled pupils, over 1,000 in number, at morning prayer time, he used often to remark that he had begun with one, and had been delighted once on having six together. * * * For the benefit of workmen and others who could not afford to read in the daytime, he started a night school, which was formerly known as the Mission Adult School. There are hundreds who owe their rise in life to that school. * * * Most of his time and attention was given to educational work, but he was not at all remiss in his preaching duties. * * * Whatever he said came direct from the heart, and went direct to the heart of the listener. Though he is no longer working in the flesh in our midst, the spirit of his work will beckon us onward. His memory will long be a pillar of light to our people. * * * Not less than 3,000 persons, of all classes and creeds, followed the hearse. * * * The hearse and the coffin were covered with wreaths of flowers, which were placed upon them by Hindus, Mussulmans, and Christians alike."

Have our readers seen a little leaflet recently issued by our Foreign Board, entitled "Prayers and Pains in Foreign Missions"? It glances at the successes of foreign missions which have now become a matter of history, and it faces the problems of the present with practical suggestions so full of inspiration that one realizes while reading it how utterly needless after all are the struggles and embarrassments of the Board in its efforts to overtake its great work. These staggering problems of how to make both ends meet, with growth in the work and shrinkage in the receipts, would all vanish if each individual Christian would take pains to do his duty to the Board. The leaflets published by our Foreign Board are often most stimulating and useful. Samples can always be had through a postal to Rev. Dr. Benjamin La-baree, 58 Fifth Avenue, New York.

In June, 1889, about three months after the death of Father Damien from leprosy in the Sandwich Islands, a Committee, with the Prince of Wales as Chairman, was formed in London to devise some appropriate way of perpetuating his memory. Among other things it was resolved to secure the appointment of an "Indian Leprosy Commission" to examine and report on the whole subject of leprosy in India. The Commission consisted of five medical men, three from England, nominated respectively by the Royal College of Physicians, the Royal College of Surgeons, and the Executive Committee of the National Leprosy Fund, and two in the service of the Government in India.

From the report of the Commission published within the past year we learn that the Commission spent about five months in visiting asylums and lepers in various localities, and afterwards devoted much time to bacteriological investigations at Simla, the summer headquarters of the Government in the Himalayas, where a laboratory had been built for the purpose. The conclusions of the Commission will be a bitter disappointment to many of the English residents in India who had hoped that the results of the investigation would lead to the segregation of the lepers in the Empire. Instead of this the Commission found that "leprosy is a disease sui generis," "is not diffused by hereditary transmission," and has "a natural tendency to die out;" though scientifically it must be regarded as contagious and inoculable, "the extent to which it is propagated by these means is exceedingly small;" it "is not directly originated by the use of any particular article of food, nor by any climatic or telluric conditions, nor by insanitary surroundings." It is admitted, however, that the disease is indirectly influenced by insanitary surroundings, such as poverty, bad food or deficient drainage or ventilation.

The Commission recommends that lepers be prohibited from selling articles of food or drink, or following the occupations of barber, washerman or any other which concerns the food, drink or clothing of the people; that their concentration in towns and cities be discouraged; that additional asylum provision be made near towns, and that the authorities have power where lepers infringe regulations either to send them to their homes or compel them to enter an asylum. The Commission concludes that "neither compulsory nor voluntary segregation would at present effectually stamp out the disease, or even markedly diminish the leper population, under existing conditions of life in India. It can only be hoped that by means of improved sanitation and good dietetic conditions a diminution of leprosy will result. The Commission agree with most authorities in believing that the decline of leprosy in Europe has been due principally to improved hygienic habits and surroundings and increased material prosperity."

Our Hindu lecturers now in the country, as well as their Western apologists, continue their trite slurs against the character of the native Christians in India, but here are two witnesses, both men of wide observation on the ground, who give quite a different version:

"No statistics can show the growth of these native Christians in wealth, in social position, in official and professional influence. They are pushing out the Brahmans, many of them being simply Christian Brahmans, by character, by ability, and by intelligent loyalty, till the Hindu press confesses the fact with apprehension, and the local blue-books report it continually to Parliament."
—Dr. George Smith.

"I never heard but one opinion from magistrates, civil officers and independent observers; namely, this, that these people (the native Christians of India) are well-behaved, law-abiding, free from crime, temperate, harmless. * * * * * That they never cause scandals to arise, never apostatize, never compromise themselves with idolatrous practices, and yet never engage in feuds, or even in disputes with their heathen neighbors. As for their inner life—let any person who is acquainted with the practical ethics of Hinduism, not as gathered from sacred writings accessible only to the learned, but as displayed in the conduct of public worship and the effect of private example—contrast all that with the pure belief and the virtuous instruction under which they now live. We will then find it impossible to doubt the enormous effect morally and spiritually produced by Christianity on their minds and hearts.

—Sir Richard Temple.

In the department of Comparative Religions in the University of Chicago a three months' course has been opened in the Hindi language under the direction of Rev. Fulton J. Coffin, M. A. Mr. Coffin has labored among the Hindus in Trinidad, W. I., for several years. Opportunities are here offered for missionary candidates, who so desire, to make a beginning in the Hindi language before going to India.

The French Government has struck another blow at our mission work on the west coast of Africa. For a number of years it was understood that the ownership of a strip of territory, including Benito, where one of our most fruitful missionary stations is located, was in dispute between the French and Spanish Governments. Within the past year or two, however, the French have taken upon themselves to visit our mission and insist that the French language should be taught. This was done by the ladies in charge, apparently to the satisfaction of the authorities, while the main stress was still put upon teaching the vernacular. A letter recently received, however, informs us that our missionaries have been officially notified that nothing must be taught in the school except French, and that by a thoroughly qualified teacher. As it was impossible to comply with this condition, the schools were closed. Scarcely was this done, however, when a Spanish man-of-war anchored off the mouth of the Benito river. The commander, on landing, expressed his surprise that the French authorities had assumed the responsibility of closing the schools, insisting upon it that Benito belonged neither to France nor to Spain, as the question of ownership was still undecided. To give emphasis to his statement, he presented a new Spanish flag to one of the natives, telling him to raise it in town, and not to lower it by any order from the French, but to let them take it down if they saw fit. Whatever the outcome may be it is certain that the work in one of the most delightful and hopeful mission stations in West Africa has been seriously crippled for the present.

Rev. N. G. Clark, D. D., who has been for twenty-nine years Foreign Secretary of the American Board, has recently retired in favor of a younger and stronger man, who can bear the strain and burden of the position. In the November number of The Missionary Herald, a paper from Dr. Clark gives "A Retrospect," of the progress of the work of the Board during his incumbency. Every lover of Christ's advancing kingdom should read that magnificent story. A single lifetime of service in the cause of missions in our day is marked by changes which prophets and apostles would have counted themselves happy in beholding. Dr. Clark is to be congratulated that his life has been identified with such a blessed record. A "Well done, thou good and faithful servant" surely awaits him.

MISSIONARY CALENDAR.

DEPARTURES.

October 6—From New York, returning to the Syria Mission, Rev. George A. Ford.

October 10—From New York, returning to the Siam Mission, J. B. Thompson, M. D.

October 25—From Marseilles, France, returning to the Gaboon and Corisco Mission, Rev. A. W. Marling and Mrs. Marling.

ARRIVALS.

October 13—At New York, from Gaboon and Corisco Mission, Mrs. T. S. Ogden.

October 23—At New York, from Bogota Mission, Rev. M. E. Caldwell, Mrs. Caldwell and three children.

October 24—At New York, from Gaboon and Corisco Mission, Rev. R. H. Milligan.

October 28—At New York, from the Western India Mission, Miss Jennie Sherman.

October 28—At New York, from the Western India Mission, S. E. Winter, M. D.

DEATHS.

June 28—At Ichowfu, China, Theodore Berger, son of Rev. W. O. Elterich, DR. MICHAEL MESHAKA.—See page 486.

Concert of Prayer For Church Work Abroad.

JANUARY, . . .	General Review of Missions.
FEBRUARY, . . .	Missions in China.
MARCH, . . .	Mexico and Central America.
APRIL, . . .	Missions in India.
MAY, . . .	Missions in Siam and Laos.
JUNE, . . .	Missions in Africa.
JULY, . . .	Chinese and Japanese in America.
AUGUST, . . .	Missions in Korea.
SEPTEMBER, . . .	Missions in Japan.
OCTOBER, . . .	Missions in Persia.
NOVEMBER, . . .	Missions in South America.
DECEMBER, . . .	Missions in Syria.

MISSIONS IN SYRIA.

BEIRUT: occupied 1823. Rev. C. V. A. Van Dyck, D. D., M. D., L. H. D., LL. D. and Mrs. Van Dyck, Rev. H. H. Jessup, D. D., and Mrs. Jessup, Rev. Wm. W. Eddy, D. D., and Mrs. Eddy, Rev. James S. Dennis, D. D., and Mrs. Dennis, Rev. Samuel Jessup, D. D., and Mrs. Jessup, Mrs. Gerald F. Dale, Miss E. D. Everett, Miss Alice S. Barber, Miss Ellen M. Law, Miss Mary Pierson Eddy, M. D., and Miss Emilia Thomson.

ABEIH: on Mt. Lebanon, 15 miles southeast of Beirut; occupied, 1843. Rev. Wm. Bird and Mrs. Bird, Rev. O. J. Hardin and Mrs. Hardin, Miss Emily G. Bird.

TRIPOLI: on the seacoast, 50 miles north of Beirut; occupied, 1848. Rev. F. W. March and Mrs. March, Rev. Wm. S. Nelson and Mrs. Nelson, Ira Harris, M. D., and Mrs. Harris, Miss Harriet La Grange, and Miss Mary T. Maxwell Ford.

SIDON: on the seacoast, 30 miles south of Beirut; occupied, 1851. Rev. Wm. K. Eddy and Mrs. Eddy, Rev. George A. Ford, D. D., Rev. G. C. Doolittle and Mrs. Doolittle, Miss Charlotte H. Brown and Miss M. Louise Law.

ZAHLEH: on the eastern slope of Mt. Lebanon, 30 miles from Beirut; occupied, 1872. Rev. Franklin E. Hoskins and Mrs. Hoskins, Rev. Wm. Jessup and Mrs. Jessup.

In this country: Rev. James S. Dennis, D. D., and Mrs. Dennis, Dr. and Mrs. Ira Harris, Miss M. T. M. Ford, and Rev. H. H. Jessup, D. D., and Mrs. Jessup.

Faculty and Instructors of the Syrian Protestant College: Rev. Daniel Bliss, D. D., President; Rev. George E. Post, M. A., M. D., D. D. S., Rev. Harvey Porter, Ph. D., Robert H. West, M. A., Harris Graham, B. A., M. D., Alfred E. Day, M. A., Walter Booth Adams, M. A., M. D., William G. Schaeffer, B. A., M. D., Charles L. Bliss, M. A., M. D., Jabr M. Dhunit, B. A., A. Chamorel, B. A., Henry C. Havens, B. A., John W. Nicely, B. A., Arthur Mitchell, B. A., Paul Erdman, B. A., Salim I. ul-Khuri, B. A., Sa'id Abu Jamrah, B. A., Khalil D. Tabit, B. A., Ibrahim Abd-un Nur, B. A., Ilias Alam, and Shukri K. Maluf, B. A.

The statistics of our mission in Syria for 1893 are as follows:

EVANGELISTIC: Ordained American missionaries, 14; missionary physicians, 2 (one of whom is a lady); wives of missionaries, 15; unmarried ladies, 9; total of American missionaries, 40; native Syrian laborers, 227; stations, 5; outstations, 98; churches, 26; communicants, 1,972; added on profession during the year, 133; preaching places, 90; average congregations, 4,980; Sabbath-schools, 101; Sabbath-school scholars, 4,929; contributions of natives to evangelical and educational work, $10,700.

EDUCATIONAL: Syrian Protestant College, 1; medical school, 1; pupils in academic department of the college, 180; in medical department, 60; total, 240; theological seminary, 1; pupils, (summer term of 1894), 8; boys' boarding schools, 2; pupils in same, 222; girls' boarding schools, 3; pupils in same, 267; other schools, 147; pupils in same, 7,423; total pupils in all schools, 8,298; women in Bible-classes, 350.

LITERARY: Bible-house and press establishment, 1; publications on the press catalogue, 507; volumes printed during the year, 78,800; pages printed during the year, 22,952,546; pages of Scripture printed for the American Bible Society, 14,215,850; total pages from the beginning, 508,059,896; Scriptures (Bible and portions) sent out during the year, 33,281; other books and tracts sold or distributed, 69,053 total copies of publications of all kinds issued during the year, 224,000.

MEDICAL: Indoor patients at St. John's Hospital, 430; patients treated in Polyclinic, 10,278.

Statistics of the evangelistic, educational and medical work in all Syria and Palestine by all missions of the American, English, Scotch, Irish, and German societies for the year 1892, were given in full in the Concert of Prayer section of THE CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD for December, 1893. Comparative tables were also given in the same number representing the progress of the above work in the last decade. The statistics of the total Protestant missionary work in the entire Turkish Empire, including Egypt, for 1892, will also be found in the same issue.

In addition to the valuable articles in the present number with reference to missionary work in Syria, our readers are referred to the following sources from which useful material may be culled for Monthly Concert papers and addresses:

"A Syrian Retrospect," by Rev. W. W. Eddy, D. D., CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD, December, 1887, page 592.

"Successive Stages of Missionary Experience in Syria," by the same author, CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD, December, 1893, page 450.

"Some Thoughts of God about Syria," Rev. James S. Dennis, CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD, December, 1892, page 491.

"Evangelical Missions in Syria," Rev. George A. Ford, D. D., Missionary Review of the World December, 1893, page 906.

"A Militant Gospel in Syria," Rev. Frank E. Hoskins, CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD, September, 1894, page 206.

"The Work of American Missionaries for Literature of Arabic-Speaking Races," Rev. W. W. Eddy, D.D., CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD, December, 1890, page 520.

"The Syrian Protestant College," Rev. George E. Post, M.D., CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD, December, 1887, page 600.

"Medical Missions in Syria," Rev. George E. Post, M.D., Missionary Review of the World, September, 1893, page 641.

The Annual Reports of the Syria Mission for recent years may be had by addressing Rev. Benjamin Labaree, D.D., 53 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

For a more general survey of American missionary results in the Turkish Empire, consult the following:

"Modern Triumphs of the Gospel in the Ottoman Empire," Rev. H. H. Jessup, D.D., CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD, November, 1893, page 363.

"Missions and Sects in the Turkish Empire," Rev. F. F. Ellinwood, D.D., Missionary Review of the World, October, 1890, page 785.

"Missions in the Levant," Rev. James S. Dennis, CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD, December, 1889, page 489.

"The Kingdom of God in the Land of its Origin," Rev. George F. Herrick, D.D., Missionary Review of the World, November, 1890, page 854.

"Twenty-six Years in Turkey," Rev. Lyman Bartlett, Missionary Herald, July, 1894, page 282.

"The Strategic Import of Missions in the Levant," Rev. James S. Dennis, Missionary Herald, June, 1894, page 233.

"Present Aspects of Missionary Work in Turkey," by a returned missionary, Missionary Review of the World, November, 1894, page 818.

Recent articles upon Mohammedanism and the relation of Christian missions to Islam may be consulted as follows:

"How Shall Mohammedans be Evangelized?" Missionary Review of the World, June, 1890, page 428.

"Islam and Christian Missions," Missionary Review of the World, August, 1889, page 561.

"Rifts in Islam," Rev. P. F. Leavens, D.D., CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD, December, 1888, page 579.

"Mohammedanism and Christianity," Rev Robert Bruce, Gospel in All Lands, June, 1894, page 260.

"The Status of Moslem Women According to the Koran," Rev. E. M. Wherry, D.D., Missionary Review of the World, December, 1892, page 910.

"Present-Day Flash Lights upon Islam," Rev. James S. Dennis, Missionary Review of the World, October, 1894, page 721.

Rev. Henry H. Jessup, D. D., so well known throughout the Church in connection with his life-long work in Syria, is now in this country with Mrs. Jessup, upon a well-earned furlough. His address at the recent Annual Meeting of the American Board was received with rapt attention, and will be published in full in The Missionary Herald for November. We are permitted to give a brief summary of its leading points, which will be found in another column. Dr. Jessup's addresses are greatly sought for upon missionary platforms and in our pulpits. His present address is 41 Lewis Street, Binghamton, New York.

Rev. George A. Ford, D. D., has returned with his mother to Syria. His visits among the churches have quickened and instructed many, and his address at the Williams College Centennial on the "Claims of Missions upon the College Graduate" was considered so timely and useful that it has been published by "a friend of the college and missions" for free distribution, permission having been granted to have it thus issued in advance of the Centennial Volume which commemorates the occasion. It may be had upon application to Rev. Benjamin Labaree, D.D., 53 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

Miss M. C. Holmes, of the Tripoli Girls' School, is at present in this country, and has been engaged by the Women's Board at 53 Fifth Avenue, as a speaker on behalf of foreign missions. Her services may be secured by the societies and bands connected with the New York Board, by addressing Miss M. G. Janeway, Secretary for Speakers of the Women's Board of Foreign Missions, 166 West Fifty-fifth Street, New York City.

Miss Emilia Thomson since the death of her honored father, the author of "The Land and the Book," has returned to engage in her loved work in Syria.

Mr. Arthur Mitchell, son of the late Dr. Arthur Mitchell, and Mr. Paul Erdman, son of Dr. Albert Erdman of Morristown, New Jersey, have recently arrived at Beirut to assume the duties of instructors in the Syrian Protestant College.

Dr. and Mrs. Ira Harris of the Tripoli field, have been for a brief period in the United States, but are expecting soon to return to Tripoli, where the Doctor will take up again his large medical service, and open once more his traveling clinic, which reaches from Tripoli to Hamath and from the Mediterranean to the desert.

A change of plan for theological instruction has brought the term of study into the summer season, and gives the students a long vacation in the winter that they may take up preaching service at various localities at the season of the year when they are especially needed. A new class was organized this last spring of promising students gathered from different fields of the mission, and arrangements were completed for carrying on the work at Suk al Ghurb, a village on the heights of Lebanon. Instruction has been given by Dr. Eddy, Rev. Mr. Hardin, and Mr. Baahareh Baroody, a former theological graduate. The class is regarded as one of unusual promise, and high hopes are entertained that they will prove earnest and faithful ministers of the Gospel among the Syrian churches.

Rev. William K. Eddy, of the Sidon station, reports a decided advance in the line of self-support and in the spontaneous enthusiasm of the native presbyterial organization in pushing evangelistic work among the churches. Native esprit de corps in church activities has been a very slow growth in Syria, but there are signs of a deeper and more consecrated spirit throughout the churches under the care of Sidon station, where so many earnest efforts have been made in this direction in past years.

The recent annual meeting of the Presbytery of Tripoli, held at Minyara, was the scene of a governmental coup d'état which would have produced a sensation more profound than the most alarming revelations of heresy had it happened at the autumn meetings in any of our American gatherings. The opponents of the Gospel in that section, especially of the Greek Church, secretly formed a plot to break up the meeting, and made a formal complaint to the Government that the Assembly was intended for seditious and disloyal purposes. The authorities sent the police to be present during the sessions. They attended the meetings, and although they were Moslems, were so much pleased with what they heard and saw, that they reported favorably, and declared the Presbytery to be a good thing. The Greeks were greatly incensed at this turn of affairs, and complained again to the Government that the police had been bribed and were secretly turning Protestant. The Government finally, in the interests of peace, insisted upon a suspension of the Presbytery. Only two addresses on the part of native brethren still remained undelivered, and, although no doubt it was a severe trial to be thus summarily silenced, the issue was accepted, and our two native friends submitted to their oratorical martyrdom with silent resignation. In a land like our own where the separate functions of Church and State are so clearly defined, and where the liberty of both is so jealously guarded, we can hardly understand the situation where the State is supposed to be the lord of the conscience, and of supreme authority in that sacred realm of religious conviction which is here regarded as one of unquestioned liberty and inviolable security.

There were some facts, however, in the history of the past year which are beyond the power of human authority to suppress. Among them is the spiritual growth and vigor of Church life and the turning of hearts to Christ throughout the bounds of the Presbytery. There were 74 additions to the Church reported, and opened doors in many villages where the gospel is eagerly welcomed.

The new station at Aleppo has been visited during the past summer by Rev. Messrs. Hoskins and March. They were much gratified by the encouraging features of the work. The native helper is doing yeoman service, and it is hoped that a door of entrance has been gained among the large Mohammedan population of that great city.

Rev. Dr. H. H. Jessup was present at the Annual Meeting of the American Board at Madison, Wisconsin, October 11, just thirty-nine years after his departure for Syria as a missionary of that society. The Syria Mission at that time was under the care of the American Board, and was only transferred in 1870 to the reunited Presbyterian Church. His reminiscences no doubt struck a tender chord in the hearts of all who heard him. His address, however, presented facts of surpassing interest as illustrating what the Turkish Empire, now struggling into the light of the modern era, owes to Christian missions. It was like a roll-call of missionary achievements, and strikingly reminds us of what Turkey would be to-day were it not for the entrance of American missionaries. We have space here to give only briefly the heads of the address, the object of which seemed to be to remind the friends of that venerable Board of what it had done for the cause of education, progress and evangelical truth in the Orient. Is there any organization upon earth which has a nobler record for the highest welfare of mankind than a Christian missionary society of which the following facts can be reported?

I. The American Board founded the first evangelical missions of modern times in Western Asia.

II. It organized the first reformed evangelical church in Syria since the days of the apostles.

III. It established the first efficient printing-press in the Turkish Empire, from which has issued 500,000,000 pages in the Arabic language, of which many millions have been pages of God's Word.

IV. It founded in Beirut the first day-school for girls ever opened in the Turkish Empire.

V. It followed this up with the first girls' boarding-school, under the care of Dr. and Mrs. De Forest, and to-day the whole Turkish Empire is dotted with boarding and day-schools for the young.

VI. It opened the first boarding-school in the Empire for boys in 1837.

VII. It established the first two colleges upon Turkish soil—the Syrian Protestant College in Beirut, under the presidency of Dr. Daniel Bliss, and the Robert College in Constantinople, under the presidency of Dr. Cyrus Hamlin, both of which were begun in 1863.

VIII. It founded the first theological seminary for training a native ministry, under the care of that sainted missionary, Rev. S. H. Calhoun.

IX. Its missionaries, Dr. Eli Smith and Dr. Cornelius Van Dyck, with the co-operation of the American Bible Society, gave to the Arabic-speaking world the first correct and classical translation of the Bible in that language.

X. Its missionary physicians introduced for the first time the practice of medicine and surgery in accordance with the principles of modern medical science.

XI. Its missionaries were largely instrumental in introducing, for the first time, to Syria, and to the Turkish Empire, many of the facilities and advantages of modern civilization. Through them entered steam printing-presses, petroleum oil, sewing-machines, photography, clocks, windmills, American agricultural implements, and the electric telegraph.

XII. The missionaries of the American Board have been prominently identified with the early progress of modern exploration of the Holy Land. Dr. Eli Smith was the co-laborer of Dr. Edward Robinson, and Dr. William M. Thomson has given to the world his classic volume on "The Land and the Book."

XIII. The Board's missionaries have ministered to the people during repeated visitations of pestilence, and have passed through six different outbreaks of domestic and foreign war, relieving the suffering and distracted population in times of famine and bloodshed.

What a roll-call of magnificent benefactions to a distant nation on the other side of the globe! Let him who scoffs thoughtlessly at the benefits of foreign missions read over this list and reflect upon the streams of untold blessings which have flowed from these "first things" that American missionaries have accomplished in the Orient. Do we wonder that two of the Board's missionaries in Syria have received imperial decorations from the Turkish Government for medical ministrations in times of pestilence, and that one has received a similar token of appreciation for his literary services in the Arabic language?

Our illustrations give us a pleasant survey of ancient and modern life in Syria, and introduce us to some suggestive pictures of missionary work.

That dignified and kindly Syrian gentleman was one of the earliest converts to evangelical Christianity in the history of the mission, and afterwards became an able and valiant champion of Protestant truth against the errors of his mother Church. He has been called the "Martin Luther of Syria." He lived to a ripe old age, and died at Damascus, July 6, 1888, in his eighty-ninth year. The name of Dr. Michail Meshaka will long live as that of a bold and heroic character in the early history of the evangelical Syrian Church. See page 482. A biographical notice will be found in THE CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD for January, 1889, page 28.

Upon pages 488-89, in vivid contrast, will be seen memorial columns that are standing to-day in Syria, bearing their silent testimony to two widely divergent facts in past and modern history. Those six stately columns, beautiful in even their ruined grandeur, are all that remains of the Temple of the Sun at Baalbec. They are the crumbling memorials of a vanished heathenism. They antedate both the regnant Mohammedanism and the corrupt Christianity of the present. The single column on the opposite page is cut out of the beautiful fossilized limestone of Mt. Lebanon and erected as the memorial of the first school for girls which modern missions established in Syria.

The columns at Baalbec, page 488, stand for a pagan cult which exalted the wonders of nature, and taught men to bow down before the creature rather than the Creator. The column at Beirut stands for Christian education and the religious training of the daughters of Syria. See page 489.

Those lovely scenes beneath the Pride of India trees in the playground of the Beirut Seminary for girls introduce us to a scene of restful child life under the protecting care of one of our mission schools. See page 491. The bright light in those happy faces reminds us of the blessings that missionary education has brought to the young girlhood of many Syrian pupils. That light will deepen into the strong and earnest soul life of Christian womanhood. Many are the memories which such quiet, sunny hours of happy companionship in that sheltered playground will store away in the heart to cheer and sustain during the years of after life. We are accustomed to look more frequently inside the doors of mission schools when the pupils are gathered together for the more serious duties of study, or the more formal ordeals of examination, but this glimpse of life in the playground is interesting, and seems to open up to us a vista of the happy ministry of Christian education in leading young lives into that cheerier and brighter realm of free and joyous Christian womanhood. The lovely view on page 493 presents the noble avenue of shade trees in the same grounds from another point of view. Happy is the Syrian girl whom Providence takes by the hand and leads into that quiet path under the Pride of India trees in the playground of the Beirut Seminary.

THE SYRIAN GIBALTAR.

REV. A. F. SCHAUFFLER, D. D., SUPERINTENDENT OF CITY MISSIONS, NEW YORK.

It was my privilege in April of this year to go to Palestine and Syria. Of course wherever we went we were glad, so far as possible, to look into the missionary work both of our own Presbyterian and of other evangelical societies. This we did not only in Palestine and Syria, but in Egypt and Turkey as well. It is difficult to convey an impression to anyone who has not been on the ground of the prodigious difficulties surrounding all work in any of these lands. I would like now, however, to speak more particularly of the difficulties existing in Syria.

First, Syria lies under the control of the Turkish Government, which as a Moslem power is naturally antagonistic to all forms of Christian work. The Mohammedan hates and despises the Christian. For his hatred he has comparatively little warrant. It is unfortunately true, however, that his contempt of Christianity is well founded, since it is based upon that form of Christianity with which he is best acquainted. The Turkish Government in Syria does its best to block all forms of Christian activity, whether evangelistic or educational. To recount the numerous obstacles placed in the way of missionary work by the authorities would be to tell a lamentable and sometimes ludicrous story. On every hand the missionaries find themselves hampered. Their schools are closed, and permission to erect necessary buildings is indefinitely delayed by the Turkish officials. Were there no other obstacles to overcome, these would be sufficiently appalling in themselves.

Second, there are equally great difficulties arising from the so-called Christian population of Syria. Rival Christian bodies have here contended long for the supremacy. Catholics, Greeks and Maronites, all claiming to represent pure Christianity, and all misrepresenting it, are full of schemes and plans for the undermining of each other's work. To gain advantage over each other these bodies scruple at no means by which they can secure their ends. They misrepresent to the Government, and oftentimes bribe its officials in order to further their ambitious schemes, and they readily combine their force, making use of the same tactics in order to oppose the entrance of Protestant Christianity. The ecclesiastical policy of these bodies has been such as to debase the moral sense of nominal Christians, so that in reality their Christianity has lost its vital force and resulted in the divorce of religion and morality. Yet, owing to the fact that the Latin and Greek Churches have centuries of history behind them, these people to whom our missionaries come feel that they have nothing to learn from Protestantism, which they claim is a thing of yesterday. Their attitude is that they have the truth, and that it shall die with them. Unquestionably these facts show that the buttresses raised against the entrance of Protestant Christianity are genuine Gibaltars, and we must not be surprised if our battering-rams have not produced greater effect than they have. Sinful human nature everywhere opposes the entrance of the Gospel, because the Gospel antagonizes things dear to the natural heart, but when to ordinary sinful nature are added ecclesiastical ambitions, national jealousies, religious antipathies, race complications and governmental tyranny, it is easily seen that the Gospel meets with gigantic difficulties.

When in the face of all this we remember how relatively small is the missionary force employed, our wonder is not that so little has been accomplished, but that so much has been brought to pass. Measure the difficulties of the field and the resources of the force, and we shall realize at once that Divine power is necessary to produce the results which we already see. Wherever in Syria missionary work has had opportunity to develop its influence the distinction is marked between Protestant Christians and those who are Catholics or Greeks. We need fear no comparison between the work done by our missionaries and that done by those who antagonize them. In fact, not in Syria alone, but in Palestine, Egypt and Turkey the only truly bright spots that we saw were those made so by evangelistic workers. The missionary schools dotted over Syria are a tremendous power, bringing light and life where hitherto there had been darkness and death. No village can have an evangelical Christian church in it without its influence being felt more or less in every house in town. Much foundation work has been done by our missionaries, and it is reasonable to hope that upon these foundations laid out of sight there will, at some future time, grow rapidly a superstructure of splendid proportions. Were the Board able to double the force of workers they would more than double the results, for they would set in operation native agencies which themselves would react upon the people.

We were delighted with what we saw in Beirut, not only along the regular missionary lines, but in the great Syrian Protestant College which is located there. The very fact that the opposition of the Government and of the old native churches is intensified rather than decreased is proof that they realize that missionary work is not in vain. Nobody opposes that which arouses in him no fears, and that the fears of both the Government and the old Oriental churches are aroused is clearly evidenced by their attitude.

I was very sorry that we had no opportunity to visit some of the stations in the Lebanon, for there the progress of the work is even more marked than in the great city of Beirut, but we saw some of the missionaries from these stations, and a more common-sense and consecrated set of men and women it would be impossible to find on any missionary field.

FORWARD MOVEMENT IN SYRIA.

REV. GEORGE A. FORD, D. D., SIDON.

In war-time too much frankness as to plans and achievements may be disastrous. And in missions where the "powers that be," are hostile, a reserve in published reports becomes a duty, however disappointing to those who want rousing detail for use at home. Indeed in such missions any "forward movements" are likely to be scarce and slow.

And yet no study of missions in Syria this month can be complete that does not take into account the several lines along which the progressive missionary impulse there has lately tended, and will run still more strongly in the immediate future.

ORGANIZATION.

This has been beset with great difficulties and has moved slowly. The people of the land are unaccustomed and averse to union. Being brought up under arbitrary authority, both civil and ecclesiastical, they are unfitted for successful organization. Indeed, the converts have been so impressed by their experience of the evils of ecclesiastical organizations and systems, in their former religious connections, that they are apt to hate both the name and the idea, indiscriminately. In their poverty and dependence they also dread the burdens of self-support that organization is supposed to fasten upon them more fully. The anomalous relation of the native helpers to their missionary superintendents complicates still further the problem of organization. Another formidable block in its way is the attitude of the civil authorities, who are on the alert to suppress everything that savors of agitation or combination, whether for literary or religious purposes. The mere word "society" is a nightmare to them, fearing as they do that under some such cloak political sedition may be fostered. The purpose of the government in this matter cannot be criticized, but a wide door is thus opened for oppressive interference by incompetent, corrupt, or spiteful officials, such as is only too frequently the case.

COLUMNS AT BAALBEC.—See page 486.

This is one of our main reasons for not trying to push the organization of Christian Endeavor as a distinct society in Syria.

And yet the last three years have yielded a very substantial and gratifying advance in the status of the two presbyteries organized so far, those of Sidon and Tripoli. The former of these has had the longest life and the most severe strain, but its meeting last summer showed remarkable progress.

EXPANSION OF FIELD.

The virtual expansion of our field by adding an unoccupied section, one-third as large as our present territory, and with an estimated population of 400,000, mainly of the non-Christian sects, has been accomplished lately, affording great joy to the mission and to all those who are interested in the evangelization of the great city of Aleppo. I do not enter into the details of this addition to our field, since I may refer the reader to my Appeal for Aleppo in THE CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD for January, 1894. The pressing question now is whether we can send American missionaries to hold the fort there, or must limit the work to the native agencies. My absence on furlough at the date of writing compels me to leave to others the reports of the progress of this new station, since its occupation eighteen months ago.

EVANGELISM.

In addition to the past facilities for the evangelistic work, the mission has just set apart one of its number to be released as far as necessary from the exacting administrative or educational mission work that he may give himself exclusively to direct evangelism. We expect large results from this step, first of all in imbuing native preachers more fully with the idea of aggressive evangelism and personal soul-winning, and in arousing the organized churches to religious fervor and activity.

INDUSTRIAL TRAINING.

A Christian and industrial training for the neglected orphan boys of Syria, particularly of the orphans of the struggling and oppressed Protestant community there, is a necessity that has not heretofore been provided for anywhere within the bounds of our Syrian mission. The claims of all orphans, and especially those of the household of faith, appeal strongly to everyone who has given attention to God's providential call in this direction.

Furthermore, the addition of industrial work to the careful Christian training, now given to hundreds of Syrian lads in mission boarding schools, is also deemed a necessity. This will foster a modest and healthy manliness in these lads. It will furnish facilities for self-support while at school and in after life. It will implant a sense of the dignity of labor, and reduce the cost of the higher education. It will also give the mission cause a Christian hold upon the artisans of the land, and impart a moral uplift to the whole community. By repeated votes of the mission and the Board the importance and feasibility of meeting this double need has been laid down. Generous donations have also been proffered by individuals interested in this scheme, so that in some form and at once this wholesome step is sure to be taken. It is our good fortune to have the endorsement and co-operation of the Board in all these plans for advancement. It will be our purpose to make such a school the "Hampton Institute" of Syria. Although, of course, coeducation is not possible in a Moslem land.

THE SONS OF ISHMAEL.

"Forward and still forward!" should be our motto, and there is one great step not yet taken that engrosses the thoughts of many. How are we to bring the Gospel to bear upon the tribes of the desert, whose camps lap over into our territory and stretch on indefinitely eastward across the "hinterland" of our mission field? This is one of the most burning questions that confront us. We cannot blame the Government under which we live and labor, for its strenuous determination to keep out all missionaries, and especially foreign missionaries, from among these tribes, for it dreads the Jesuits and their ilk, who cannot live or labor without political intrigue, and it is much easier to exclude all missionaries than to try to discriminate. Besides, the Government is very properly anxious to guard all Moslems from the dangers of apostasy.

And yet we, on the other hand, make no secret of our desire and purpose to convert all men to Christ, by the simple preaching of his Gospel and by dutiful obedience to Him.

The life of these nomads is such that it is next to impossible for even native evangelists to live among them. In all barbarous lands missionaries are accustomed to avail themselves of regular stations where they can introduce some of the safeguards of civilization in the interest of cleanliness and other sanitary and moral requirements to make life tolerable. But missionaries to the desert tribes would be cut off from even such facilities, and he would be a rare man indeed who could adapt himself to their life. Will not the Church pray for these hundreds of thousands of our inaccessible brethren, and for us, that we may have the needed zeal and wisdom to discharge toward them also the precious debt we owe them under the terms of the Great Commission?

GOD'S PROVIDENCE IN THE HISTORY OF THE SYRIA MISSION.

REV. HENRY H. JESSUP, D. D., BEIRUT.

He who observes Providences will have Providences to observe. Christian missions are a part of God's great plan in history. His hand controls them, in their inception, progress and final triumph. He raises up the right men at the right time, and gives to each his place and his work.

PRIDE OF INDIA TREES—SEMINARY PLAYGROUND, BEIRUT.—See page 486.

In the history of the Syria mission we can note several striking illustrations of this Divine and definite adaptation of places and men to a Divinely ordered object and end.

I. In the selection of Beirut and the Lebanon as the strategic base of operations, instead of Jaffa and Jerusalem.

The mission began as a mission to Palestine, and Jerusalem was first occupied, but after a few years, it was found to be ill adapted to the various objects of an aggressive mission.

The population were then as now, largely pauperized by living on the revenues of mosques, convents and ecclesiastical funds. The Mohammedans depended upon the revenues of the great Haram esh Sherif, known as the Mosque of Omar; the Latins were mere dependents of the Latin Convent; the Armenians received food, rent and support from the Armenian Convent; the Greeks from the Greek Convent, and the Jews were almost without exception men, women and children drawing their food, rent and clothing from the Rabbis' charity fund, sent from Europe, so that the Holy City had become a holy almshouse. There was little hope of raising up a self-supporting mission from such a pauperized population. And the surrounding villages in Judea, largely Mohammedan, gave little hope of spiritual results. In addition to this, Jaffa was neither a healthy city nor a good harbor.

Beirut was therefore selected, being a thriving commercial town, with a fair harbor, the seaport of Damascus, and behind it the industrious farming population of Mt. Lebanon, consisting of Maronites, Greeks and Druzes supporting themselves by honest labor.

It was hoped that Beirut would become in time a great city. This hope has been realized. Pliny Fisk, Isaac Bird, Jonas King and William Goodell found Beirut a little town of 8,000 people. It now numbers 100,000. It has a fine new harbor, built by a French company, is lighted with gas, supplied with crystal water from streams from Lebanon, has macadamized pavements, well built houses, a healthful, equable climate, increasing commerce, and the new French railway will be completed to Damascus within a year. Within ten miles one can reach the lower ridges of Lebanon at an altitude of 2,500 feet above the sea, and escape the depressing humid heat of mid-summer.

The American schools beginning in 1880 and 1885 with a handful of children, have grown, and provoked into existence other schools, until Beirut is now the educational metropolis of Western Asia, with not less than 15,000 children and youth in day-schools, boarding-schools and colleges.

Its central commercial position enables the American Press to manufacture tens of thousands of copies of Arabic Scriptures, with religious, educational, historical and scientific books annually, and to ship them by land and by sea to all parts of the Turkish Empire and to North and East Africa, Arabia and India.

The college receives students from Syria, Palestine, Egypt, Cyprus and Asia Minor, attracted by its high literary and medical reputation and its salubrious location.

Beirut has more than realized the prophetic anticipations of the early missionaries, proving not only their sagacity as far seeing men, but the Divine guidance in their plans for the future. Jerusalem and Palestine as far north as Mt. Carmel are occupied by an able corps of missionaries of the Church Missionary Society, who are laboring with exemplary ability and fidelity, and with a measure of success which in the circumstances is remarkable.

II. In those early days the Bible lands were almost an unknown region. Their sacred, historic sites needed exploration. It was necessary in the Divine Providence that this work be done before modern civilization had obliterated the old landmarks, sites, customs, salutations and habits of life, labor and intercourse in the then unchanged Orient. Two members of the Syria Mission were raised up to do this work, Dr. Eli Smith and Dr. William M. Thomson. They were scholarly, patient and conscientious observers—exact and faithful in their written reports; and the former in his labors with Dr. Edward Robinson in the "Biblical Researches," and the latter in his monumental work "The Land and the Book," have done an inestimable service to the whole Christian world for all future ages. Railroads are displacing the old patriarchal modes of travel; telegraphs are dispensing with the old foot messengers of ancient days; petroleum oil has driven out the old earthen lamps, whose "smoking wicks" formed so beautiful an illustration of a feeble and flickering spiritual life; European tiled roofs will soon make the "grass on the house tops" a forgotten feature of Syrian houses; threshing machines will put an end to the "oxen treading out the corn," and other old Scripture customs will be swept away, but these faithful, divinely called missionary explorers have recorded them in permanent form, so that no future skeptic can ever have the temerity to doubt or disprove them.

THE PLAYGROUND—BEIRUT SEMINARY FOR GIRLS.—See page 486.

III. The lives of the missionaries have been preserved in times of war and pestilence, sometimes in a remarkable manner. The Asiatic plague used to visit Syria every year. Cholera has broken out repeatedly, civil wars and massacre have destroyed thousands of lives, but the missionaries have been mercifully preserved. Dr. Thomson carried a flag of truce between the Druze and Maronite armies amid flying bullets, and was unharmed; Dr. Van Dyck was seized by Druze soldiers and about to be shot, as he wore the native dress similar to that of the Maronites. He protested that he was an American. They replied that no foreigner could speak Arabic as he did, and his life was saved by the timely interference of a native who knew him. The late Mr. Dale entered a cholera smitten village, administered medicine, stopped the plague and restored confidence and escaped harm. Others have been in the midst of raging pestilences, flying bullets and "perils of robbers," and the Lord has protected them.

IV. The good Providence of God was clearly seen in 1857 when the death of Dr. Eli Smith occurred. He was regarded as the prince of Arabic scholars, and was appointed to the work of translating the Bible into Arabic. He died January 11, 1857, after ten years of preparatory work, but he had only printed a few chapters of Genesis. His death was seemingly an irreparable calamity. Many thought the work of Bible translation must now cease. But in the city of Sidon God had been preparing a worthy successor to this great oriental scholar in Dr. Cornelius V. A. Van Dyck, whose knowledge of the Arabic was not less than that of Dr. Smith, and his familiarity with Arabic grammar, poetry, literature, proverbs and folk lore was perhaps far greater. He availed himself of the preparatory work done by Dr. Smith, and after eight years of constant labor, completed the marvelous translation now so widely known and so extensively distributed.

V. We see God's hand plainly in the rescue of Beirut from destruction in 1860.

Civil war was raging in Lebanon and Anti-Lebanon. Hundreds of villages had been burned and thousands of Christians massacred by Druzes and Mohammedans. Nearly twenty thousand refugees, Maronites, Greeks and Protestants, had fled to Beirut for refuge. The governor of the city was treacherous, and the garrison could not be trusted. Thousands of armed Druzes had entered the city and were secreted in the Moslem houses. The day had been fixed for the massacre and burning of Beirut, and all native Christians and Europeans were to be destroyed.

But God had long been preparing a man to deliver the city. One of the co-patriots of Louis Kossuth in the Hungarian Patriotic Revolution of 1848 was General Kmetty, a Hungarian Protestant, who on the failure of the Revolution fled to Constantinople and entered the Turkish Army, with the rank of General and the title of Ismail Pasha.

When news of the Syrian massacres reached Constantinople, the Sultan sent General Kmetty with 1,800 Turkish regulars to restore order in Syria.

The morning before the day fixed for the destruction of Beirut, he landed his army in the city. He at once called together the foreign consuls, ascertained the state of affairs, summoned his officers, ordered them to distribute their troops over and around the city. Drawing his revolver he said to his officers "If the hair of a Christian's head is harmed in Beirut, I will shoot the officer in whose district it occurs, without a trial."

Order was at once restored. The armed Druzes slunk away in the night to the mountains, and Beirut was saved, to be not only a refuge for the poor starving and half naked refugees from the interior, but to become the center of the new era of education, progress and civilization in Syria.

VI. In the sanction of the Imperial Ottoman Government to the American Schools, to the Scriptures and other books published by the mission, and in granting the Imperial medical diploma to worthy graduates of the Beirut Medical College.

The Turkish Government has now an elaborate system of laws for the promotion of education and book publication, and where foreigners conform to these laws they experience comparatively little difficulty in prosecuting their work.

The Turkish Government is far more tolerant than Russia, and has in the corps of officials many able-bodied and public-spirited men. The present Sultan Abdul Hamid has done more for the building of railways, harbors, telegraph lines and other public works, and for the opening of schools, civil, religious and military, for the Mohammedan population, than all his predecessors have done.

Mr. Vambéry, the eminent traveler and Oriental scholar, after an interview with the Sultan, declared him to be one of the most able, industrious, well-informed and patriotic of sovereigns.

The American missionaries scattered through the empire have always taught their pupils and congregations the duty, as Ottoman subjects, of loyal obedience to law, and reverence for their Sultan. Prayers are offered for the Sultan in all the Protestant churches and congregations.

As a general rule, the local Pashas and Kaimakams have treated the American missionaries with courtesy and kindness, and the more highly educated among them do not hesitate to express their appreciation of the educational and elevating service rendered to the empire by the Americans.

We believe that "the powers that be are ordained of God," and that we should "render unto Caesar the things which are Caesar's, and unto God the things that are God's."

A CHURCH DEDICATION UPON MT. LEBANON.

REV. W. W. EDDY, D.D., BEIRUT.

Sidon was for more than twenty years my home and the center of my labors. Sixteen years of separation have not extinguished the glow of a first love, so I was more than ready to respond to an appeal from the Sidon missionaries to join them in the dedication of a church in that field, in the village of Joon, celebrated as having been once the princely abode of Lady Hester Stanhope.

Giving the theological students a well-earned vacation of five days, I reached Sidon after a fatiguing journey. I was unexpectedly delayed, and it was midnight before the Sidon parsonage opened its doors to admit the tired guest.

Not unwelcome was the rest the following day and the meeting with former friends in the mission house, which, hired of Mohammedan owners, had been for thirty-three years a home for missionaries, while not a death has occurred within its walls, although its first missionary occupant, Rev. J. Lorenzo Lyons, has long slept in a Florida grave.

The early dawn of September 16th saw the Sidon missionaries and myself on horseback, prepared for a climb of two and a half hours up the steep mountain side and along the heights overlooking the river Auwaly. We reached our destination before the heat of the sun had become too severe. Joon has long been a mission out-station, but both the mission school and the Sabbath worship have hitherto been conducted in a private house.

The Protestants of Joon have contributed liberally for the building. Miriam Bistany, the one who has given most of all, has been a domestic all her life. She served first in a Mohammedan family and there learned to despise saint and image worship, as practiced in the church to which she belonged. No one would have thought that the Koran could be a schoolmaster to bring one to Christ, but such it proved to her, and it led her out of the Greek Church away from the Virgin Mary to Mary's Lord.

The native teacher, who has been most active in collecting funds from far and near, for the building, was not present to enjoy the fruits of his toil. Religious persecution, a false charge and condemnation to imprisonment without trial, have compelled him to flee from his family and native land. All the missionaries and most of the native churches had contributed to the building, which still remained unfinished after all the resources had been exhausted, till Dr. Pitcairn of Pittsburg generously offered the thirty dollars needed to complete the edifice. A large upper room, with a portico in front, forms the audience chamber. Below are school rooms and a residence for the teacher.

By ten o'clock in the forenoon about 80 Protestants assembled from the surrounding villages, as well as from the village itself. Most of them were seated upon mats covering the floor. The dedication services occupied the entire morning and were conducted in part by the Sidon missionaries, while the dedication sermon was assigned to me. It was a pleasure to speak in so commodious a room to so large an audience, in contrast with the low vaulted room where I used to address a dozen worshippers.

A brief intermission was followed by the assembling of the congregation to celebrate the Lord's Supper.

Then after recalling past scenes, remembering affectionately the absent church members, both living and dead, giving thanks for the past, rejoicing in the present, renewing vows and indulging hopes for the future, we separated, going to our several homes.

Lady Hester Stanhope would suffer no Christian minister to enter her dwelling, but now the ruins of her palace look down upon this Christian church and upon the many homes of evangelical Christians.

Praise be to God for another lighthouse to illumine the spiritual darkness of Syria! for another landmark to show that this land is being restored to its rightful Lord!

May the privilege of erecting Protestant churches, now possessed alone in Mt. Lebanon, be extended to all parts of the Sultan's dominions, and the firman, vainly sought eight years, for the new church in Sidon, be speedily secured. May the writer be permitted to preach in it and the readers share the common joy.

THE WANING POWER OF THE SYRIAN PRIESTHOOD.

REV. W. S. NELSON, TRIPOLI.

The valley of the Qadisha, eastward of Tripoli, up among the recesses of the Lebanon, is a stronghold of the Maronite priesthood. It is the official residence of the Patriarch, and its many villages and wealthy monasteries have been for centuries entirely under priestly control.

Every village, no matter how small, has two, three, or four black-robed priests, and the heads of the sect take great pride in the sanctity of the valley and its entire freedom from heresy.

From this region many people have gone to America and, having mingled with the world, they bring back new ideas of freedom and independence, so that there is a new restiveness under the ecclesiastical yoke. In three villages, one of them the most important in the region, with over twenty priests, there have been serious quarrels and opposition to the clergy, and in each case the rebellious faction has threatened to become Protestant. The trouble was political rather than religious, and the threat was made merely to bring the hierarchy to terms, but it had an ominous sound and has put uncomfortable thoughts into the Patriarch's mind. The climax of his trouble, however, is that the American missionaries have selected another village in this "holy" valley as a suitable place in which to spend the hot summer months, and have now enjoyed three seasons in that clear, invigorating atmosphere.

This was more than Maronite patience could endure, and hence a crusade was ordered against these corrupting influences. Three crafty emissaries from the Patriarch were dispatched to the spot to secure the removal of the enemy and restore peace. It was a more difficult undertaking than they had bargained for.

They began with special services in the church three times a day, at which most violent diatribes were uttered against us. The people were assured that the five foolish virgins were those who lie and steal and who talk to Protestants. The goats in the judgment day were likewise chiefly those who associate with Protestants. Again, they were exhorted to choose whom they would serve either God in the Maronite church or Baal with the Protestants. In every sermon the hosts of those who go down to eternal death were vividly described, and ever in the front ranks were the Protestants and all who associate with them.

The owner of the house in which we live was placed under the weightiest curse and excluded from all church privileges, but still we remained. At last he was summoned to appear before the priest and was ordered to expel the Protestants from his house. He said: "I cannot do this for I have received the rent and written a lease and they have still a month to remain." "That makes no difference," said the priest, "expel them to-day or I will assemble the women to-night and send them to stone you all in the house. Or if the women will not go, I will bring men from a neighboring town to burn down the house over your heads." The poor man was frightened and begged me to report the matter to the local authorities. I did so in an informal way, so as to let the Governor know that he would be held accountable if any riotous mob gave our landlord trouble.

It is the custom after each evening service to pass around the picture of the virgin for devout kisses. On the day in question, after the service the priest said: "Now we will not pass the picture until you go up and expel the Protestants. Up, ye people, and do your duty!" The head man of the village arose and said: "Reverend sir, we cannot do this, for our friends are in America, and if we injure these people they will write home to have all our friends cast into the sea. Your sword is longer than ours, do you go up and drive them out." Indignant at their refusal the angry priest extinguished the lights and left the church, saying he would no longer preach to such a stiff-necked people. He was persuaded, however, to return, and services were resumed as usual the next morning.

On Sunday this same priest sent us word that if we would leave peaceably the next day, well and good, but otherwise, he had means to compel us to leave and the very stones of the house should be buried into the sea. The owner of the house was again summoned and a stormy time they had. The priest demanded our immediate departure, and the landlord protested his inability to do anything. He said, however, that I had told him that my plans were made to leave in ten days. The priest then demanded a paper from the poor man pledging the payment of about $200 in case we stayed longer than ten days. He came to consult me and I told him on no account to write any pledge, but that I fully expected to leave after ten days.

The time has nearly passed and we are still undisturbed; no mob of women has stoned us; no nightly incendiary has disturbed our slumbers. The excessive violence of language, the futile threats, the daily change of base are the best means for loosening the allegiance of the people and preparing men for the reception of the Gospel. The priests are doing more to secure this end than we could do by peaceful means. One Sabbath day before the special emissaries arrived, the village priest preached with unusual violence against us, and expelled our landlord from the Church. Hereupon his daughter-in-law arose and openly cursed the priest to his face in the church. Others arose indignantly and left the building saying "We will go to this Protestant gentleman and ask him to teach us to be like himself." "Go!" said the priest, "to that devil, and go to hell with him!"

God grant us wisdom to use aright such opportunities as He affords us, and may He send the true light to this dark region!

Letters.

AFRICA.

REV. A. C. GOOD, PH.D., Efulen.—On the last of my recent journeys I was absent from Efulen just four weeks, and I estimated that in that time I tramped about 400 miles. In a country where there are roads this would not be a great matter, and even here it is quite possible to exaggerate the difficulties of travel; but while I wish to avoid exaggeration, I do not wish, on the other hand, to have you imagine that 400 miles here means the same thing it does at home. It is not simply the distance, the long stretches of hill and valley to be gone over but one must count in the obstructions which almost momentarily lie across the path, the streams to be forded every half mile or oftener, the numberless places where the path follows the bed of a stream for long distances, the mud of all sorts and conditions, slimy mud, mire, swamp, bog, of all colors, depths and degrees of consistency, and when the hard day is done, there is the bargaining for food—and such food—there are the miserable huts in which the night must be spent, and the beds of poles on which one must spread his blankets and try to rest, after he gets rid of the curious crowds that throng around him and gaze at and examine him as if he were a strange species of wild beast.

But, while there are these drawbacks, a trip like this, if not exactly enjoyable, is not without enjoyable features. There was the excitement each day of seeing new places and strange people—people too and places never before seen by a white man. Sometimes from a hilltop I would get a magnificent view of wooded hills rolling away as far as the eye could reach. The weather was fine most of the time, and sometimes when the plateaus rose to an elevation of 2,600 and 2,800 feet above sea level, the air seemed as pure and the sky as blue as they used to be among the hills of Western Pennsylvania.

I enjoyed splendid health during the whole trip, and came back feeling as strong, I think, as I ever did in my life, so I have no great reason to complain of the hardships of the way. It has been a constant surprise to me how one can expose himself here and take no harm from it. Although we are in the tropics, the climate is cool, and the streams, which often have their sources in forest-covered mountains and flow through their whole course under cover of the forests, always seem icy cold. Through this cold water we waded in and out for hours together, sometimes until our limbs are completely chilled, but no ill effects seem to follow. It has come to be almost a matter of indifference to me, when I am traveling, whether my feet and clothes are wet or dry.

But, at the risk of being laughed at, I must tell you what did try me almost beyond endurance on this journey. The mud and water to be waded through, the wretched roads, the bad food, the hard beds, the dirty, smoky huts—all this I am accustomed to, and can endure with a fair degree of equanimity; but the noisy crowds, that from early dawn till bedtime followed me everywhere, and gazed at me and chattered about me, these tried my patience sorely at times,

THE AVERAGE BULE TOWN.

A Bule town, or "Nlam," consists of anywhere from three to thirty villages strung along the path at intervals of from fifty to several hundred yards. A large town may therefore be several miles long. A village may consist of any number of houses, from five to a hundred or more, built on either side of the one street, which is from forty to one hundred feet wide. The houses, frail structures of bark roofed with bamboo thatch, are 25 to 30 feet long, 10 to 12 feet wide, and so low that one can with difficulty stand erect under the ridge-pole. The floor of a Bule house is, of course, mother earth. Two or three beds of straight poles, never under any circumstances more than four and a half or five feet long, constitute the only furniture. In one end of the room (for there are no partitions), usually between two beds, is the inevitable fireplace, where the cooking is done by day, and where a fire is kept going at night to supply the want of clothes and bed-covering. And in the middle of the front wall an opening, perhaps one and a half feet wide by two and a half long, which can be closed by a sliding piece of bark, serves as a door. These houses are built from 20 to 50 feet apart, usually in a straight line, and across the ends of the village street are built the palaver houses. These are usually low structures, about 20 by 80 feet in size, but sometimes they are quite pretentious affairs, 40 by 60 feet, or even larger. In these palaver houses the men eat, smoke, talk palavers, politics, &c., — in short, spend most of their time when at home. The women are expected to keep to their houses, where they are generally busy preparing food for the loafers in the palaver house.

Between these groups or lines of villages there is usually an interval of from one to three miles, sometimes a belt of forest, oftener gardens, or the second growth where gardens have been allowed to grow up in bush after the African fashion of rotating crops. In this country, after one or two crops have been taken from the ground, it is allowed to grow up in forest before being again planted. For this reason, even the most thickly settled parts of the country, viewed from a hilltop seemed to be covered with unbroken forest.

WAKING UP AN AFRICAN VILLAGE.

Usually some children in the street first catch sight of the strange apparition, and often take to the bush behind the houses without giving the alarm. When the grown people noticed me they often looked at me indifferently at first, only remarking, "It's an albino." But soon somebody would divine the truth, or someone who had followed from the last town would make the harmless remark, "It's a white man." The result I can compare to nothing but the bursting of a dam. Out of the palaver house come the men, as if they were being fired from some sort of repeating weapon. The women rush to the doors of their houses, take one look, disappear again for a moment while they set a pot off the fire, or catch up the baby, and then pour into the street, often with a remark to the effect that nobody is going to get anything to eat to day while this wonderful thing is to be seen. The children run screaming at first, but soon regain courage enough to come back and join the procession. Everybody begins screaming for somebody to come and see the wonderful thing that is passing. People from the near gardens, hearing the racket, rush home, and the men of the next village snatch up their ever ready weapons and come running to see if it may be an attack. As I go on from village to village, the crowd increases until they swarm behind and on both sides of me, forming a half circle of which I am the centre.

As they are all talking at the highest pitch of their voices the noise is simply distressing. Out of the babel of voices I can catch such exclamations as, "Oh my mother!" "Is it really myself?" "And am I dead?" "Isn't he a beauty?" — and others that will not bear repetition. These from the ladies. The men are more dignified, but more disagreeable. They would crowd into the places next to me, and then as we went on through the towns they would act as if they had me in charge, telling me when I must stop, and giving all sorts of directions. To the crowds of new comers we were constantly meeting they would shout all kinds of information about me and the object of my journey, usually so absurdly false that I often felt bound to stop and try to correct the impression they were giving. This it was not easy to do in a few words. If I said, "I have come to tell you about God, and not to buy rubber or ivory," then some one who had heard some rumors of what we teach would begin shouting to the crowds an outline of our teachings, but such a caricature of the truth that it made me shudder sometimes. According to these accounts the central doctrine of our system seemed to be the eternal punishment of pretty much everybody, except the individual who was giving the information, and his list of sins, of which he took it for granted all but himself were guilty, was fearfully orthodox, but will not bear repetition.

SILENCING AN AFRICAN ORATOR.

Disgusted at last beyond endurance, I would attempt to silence the worst offender, usually the man who was following close at my heels, who for the last half hour perhaps had been shouting his information into my ears. So I would turn and tell him he knew nothing about me, and I wished he would keep quiet; that I would myself stop in a little while and talk to the people. At this he would laugh, as much as to say, "I have gotten the 'thing' started to talk," and then he would shout to the crowd behind what I had said, as if it had been the performance of a parrot. By this time I was getting out of humor, and I would turn and request him in plain terms to keep quiet. At this he would laugh again, and shout to the people behind, "He says keep quiet." Then I would turn and explain, "It is not the people behind whose noise is troubling me; it is you who are walking close to me and shouting in my ears." But it was useless, he would turn to the crowd behind and begin abusing them for making such a noise, shouting, if possible, louder than ever.

Then, if I was wise, I gave it up and went on, allowing him to say what he pleased. But sometimes I was by this time too angry to be wise, and I would get after the fellow, and make him think, at least, that I was going to chastise him. Then he would at last realize that I meant him, and he would not speak above a whisper, and would try by gestures to keep others from doing so. Dead silence followed, save the noise we made in walking. Meanwhile we had arrived at another village, and you can imagine the result. The whole crowd walking in silence, and by their frantic gestures giving the people of the village through which we were passing, the impression that I was some sort of a monster that might be rendered dangerous by the least noise. This was worse than the noise, so I would explain that I had no objection to talking, if they would not yell. Then they would start again, softly at first, but little by little the volume of sound would increase, until, in a few minutes there was the same babel as before, and I would go on meditating whether I had not made a fool of myself by my useless exhibition of temper.

"MADE A SPECTACLE UNTO THE WORLD."

Meanwhile the crowd has increased, until they can no longer follow me without trampling the vegetables that are growing along the paths. They clamor for me to stop that they may have a chance to take a good look at me. As I have now reached the center of the village, I at last accede to their request and stop. Standing in the middle of the street, they at once form a circle around me, the men in front, and the women, for the most part, behind me, and trying to steal up close to examine something without being observed. I turn my head, and at once there is a scream and a stampede, but only for a moment. Soon they return, but this time more cautiously. Silence, or something approaching it, follows, while they all indulge in one long intense stare, during which only a camera could depict the various expressions in the faces around me. Then we have a dog fight. Every man's cur from all the villages we had passed had followed his master, and the dogs of the villages in which we were stopping objected to their presence. The result was a free fight, until each man took up his dog and held him under his arm, or on his shoulder, where he kept snarling and showing his teeth at his equally helpless enemies, through all the subsequent proceedings.

Meanwhile the chief is not being noticed, and must make himself known. Stepping into the middle of the circle and raising his staff as if to chastise the crowd, he begins in what seems a fearful passion, and in thunderous tones to abuse everybody for treating the white man in such outrageous fashion. How they were treating him, or how they ought to treat him, he never makes clear in his harangue. As he is only talking for the white man's benefit, and as no one pays the least attention to him, I silence him as soon as possible.

THE OLD PASSION FOR A "NEW THING."

Then comes a request to remove my hat, that they may see my hair. This reasonable request I always grant, and I am always rewarded by a chorus of complimentary exclamations. One especially amused me. No matter how careless my toilet had been, some woman would exclaim, "Why, he has hair just like that of an infant."

Next, no matter how much I had been talking, some one would ask, "Can he talk?" This question I would answer by some trivial remark, which would be received with a volley of laughter, and repeated over and over again. Then they would begin to ask me trivial questions just to get me to speak, but as this was better fun for them than for me I would refuse to talk further. Then would follow requests to take off my shoes, or other parts of my clothing, that they might see whether I was really like one of themselves; attempts to induce me to buy ivory or rubber; requests for gifts; offers of marriage; requests to show my trade-goods, compass, note book, &c.

When I thought their curiosity had been sufficiently sated, I would attempt to tell them why I had come among them, and to give them some idea of the Gospel and their need of it. Here I noted a curious fact, which I have observed before, but can never explain. Sometimes the attention and interest were truly inspiring. They would hang on my words, and by their looks and responses show that they were really taking in what I was telling them. Other crowds, apparently not different in any respect, I could hardly hold for five minutes, and it seemed to me that everything I said turned to a caricature in their minds. When I had ceased speaking, they would laugh uproariously at what I had said, and begin charging each other with unmentionable sins, and consigning each other to the abode of the lost in such a manner that I sometimes felt that what I had said had only supplied them with a new fund of abuse.

This was not because I had dwelt especially on these points. I often rather avoided these subjects, but no matter how lightly I touched on sins against morality, and on the punishment of the wicked, these were the points that fixed themselves in their minds.

A VAIN SEARCH FOR REST.

These scenes, with numberless variations, are repeated over and over again, as we pass through town after town, till at last we must stop for the night. If only one could escape the noisy crowds then, there would be something to look forward to that would nerve him to endure the babel of the day. But the worst is to come. I get a house, put my goods and carriers inside, and in order to give them a chance to unpack and prepare my supper I stay in the street talking to the people and entertaining them as long as possible. At last I am tired, and tell them I want to be quiet; that they must go home now and let me rest. It is needless to say they do not do it. As soon as I go into the house they crowd around the door. If I shut the door (the only opening in the walls of a Bule house), it is quite dark. Besides, the cooking is being done over an open fire, and with the door shut the smoke is suffocating. But the door may as well be shut as blocked by the heads and shoulders of the curious crowd.

Sometimes I try reasoning with them. I say, "I want to be quiet and rest." "But we want to see you," they reply. Then I say, "Is this a proper way to treat a visitor when he is tired and wants to be let alone?" "No," they all reply. "Then why don't you go away and leave me?" "We want to see you," is the only reply. So I shut the door, preferring the smoke to the crowd. Sometimes I go out into the street and call on the people of the town and inquire whether I am to have a house, or whether I must go on to the next town. By this means I always gain my point, and now I can go in and shut the door. At last I am in my smoky den, and the crowd shut out. But I am not hidden yet. When I light my tallow candle every crack and crevice becomes a peep hole, and I eat my supper knowing that the smoky walls have eyes that are watching every movement and noting every morsel of food I put to my mouth.

Gradually the noise subsides, and apparently they have become tired and gone away, but only apparently. A few are waiting to see the white man go to bed, and they do not attempt to conceal their disgust when he blows out his candle before undressing.

KINDLY AND RESPONSIVE HEARTS.

Now I can stand this sort of thing for three or four days quite philosophically, but after about a week of it I become nervous and irritable. Certainly, if I should ever visit a menagerie again, and see a monkey with a crowd around its cage, exclaiming as it scratches its head or takes a bite of food, "How funny! How very human!" I shall profoundly sympathize with the monkey, and be vividly reminded of this trip.

But, although this letter is already too long, I cannot stop here, or I shall give you a false impression. All this is curiosity, not hostility or dislike. Impertinent and selfish it undoubtedly was, but everywhere the intention was to treat me well. And when I have been able to walk, with only two carriers, from the coast, more than two hundred miles going and coming, through a part of Africa where a white man was never before seen, without once meeting with opposition or the first symptom of hostility, certainly I ought not to complain greatly if the people were unpleasantly curious. Indeed, this trip has convinced me that any prudent man can go as far as the Bule language extends, and can everywhere preach the Gospel without let or hindrance. This excessive curiosity will wear off after two or three visits, as I know from experience in other parts of the country. Indeed, I have been surprised to see how soon these rude people get an idea of treating the white man well, at least in some cases. And everywhere their interest in the Gospel seems to be in proportion to the number of times they have heard it.

HOME MISSIONS.

AN ANGOON DWELLING—THE HOME OF TWELVE FAMILIES.

NOTES.

Fire cyclones swept over a district of country lying in Pine County, Minn., within the range of which were the towns of Hinckley and Sandstone. Every residence, mill, store, school and church in these two towns and for ten miles in every direction was laid in ashes. Eight hundred people were burned and six thousand rendered homeless.

Rev. Peter Knudson, our minister for these two churches, was the only permanent resident Protestant minister in the fire swept districts and he is a missionary or stated supply for the Presbyterian churches of Hinckley and Sandstone. These two churches are burned and the people burned out, and besides the people connected with four of our stations where we have Sabbath-schools, namely: Union Creek, Brooke Park, Pine Lake and Finlayson. Nine of the members of the Hinckley church are dead and it is said that fifty out of one hundred members of the congregation there are also dead. Mr. Knudson as well as our elders at Hinckley and Sandstone, J. W. Stockholm and Angus Gunn, labored heroically to save lives in the midst of this storm of fire.

Large contributions are being made especially in Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth to assist in rebuilding homes and providing for the survivors as far as necessary during the approaching winter. The cash contributions in Duluth alone for this purpose now exceed $17,000. As for the churches, they will be rebuilt. There was $800 insurance on the Hinckley church and some on the Sandstone church. Brother Knudson remains on the ground holding services, comforting the mourners and encouraging the despondent. He had, at the end of the first week, assisted in the burial of 196 bodies.

On the 4th day of July, 1584, two English ships approached the coast of North Carolina, sent out under the auspices of Sir Walter Raleigh under command of Arthur Barlow and Philip Amidas. On the 18th they landed on Roanoke Island, returning thanks to Almighty God for a safe voyage and auspicious landing, and took formal possession. Captain Amidas is reported to have used these words:

"We take possession of this land in right of the Queen's Most Excellent Majesty, as rightful queen and princess of the same, to be delivered over to the use of Sir Walter Raleigh according to Her Majesty's letters patent, under Her Highness' great seal."

This was the introduction of Anglo-Saxon blood into our country.

Our missionary, Rev. M. Bercovitz, who preaches to the Indians of Laguna, New Mexico, is reaping a rich reward. He says: "The Indians of Pagnati, which is the largest village of the Pueblo, have asked me to preach to them the Gospel and have offered me for this purpose, the building that they erected for a Catholic school.

"On Sunday, October 7, we celebrated the Lord's Supper and took a collection for the Board of Church Erection. To the collection were afterwards added eggs, meat, squashes and peaches, amounting in value to $4.10. May the Lord reward them with spiritual gifts."

Appeals for hymn books, or money to buy them, frequently come to the office of the Board. Any church that has a supply in good condition, not in use, and anybody who wishes to provide the money to purchase hymn books for needy congregations, can learn where their benefactions are needed by applying to the Secretaries of the Board of Home Missions.

Texas is but poorly provided with churches and ministers, yet the supply, inadequate though it be, is bearing wonderful fruits. It may surprise many to learn that the greater part of the state is under local prohibition. It is said that there is not a saloon in the county in which Dallas is situated outside the city itself, and that from Dallas to Brenham—200 miles—there are but two towns, Waco and Fort Worth, that permit saloons.

Rev. Julian Hatch, of Grand Island, Nebraska, is an indefatigable Presbyterian missionary. But in all his zeal he does not forget the principles of comity, which means denominational politeness. He says: "The churches have been multiplying on my hands and the calls have been urgent for preaching, but they all want Sunday services and there are sixteen of them in four weeks. How to do that I have not been able quite to figure out. When there are no other church organizations I give them services the oftener. As they are blest with other denominational evangelical preaching, I go proportionately less often, then when we have a church building in the town, I make a difference in their favor. Does this meet with your approval?"

One of the most discouraging features of the Mexican work is the inability of the Mexicans in many instances to help themselves. They depend upon others like children. For example: A Mexican boy who had gone as far in the Las Vegas school as he could be taken, wished to go to Del Norte College. He had money enough for his fare, etc., but had practically given up the whole scheme because he did not see how he could get his meals. It did not occur to him until he was told that he might put a few sandwiches in a box, and carry his meals with him. This simple suggestion was like a revelation, and gave him his first hope of going. He is not a dull boy, but comes by this spirit, so easily discouraged, very naturally. If any of our churches are injured it is very rarely that the Mexicans repair the damage, but send first of all for our hard worked and most excellent Synodical Missionary. This spirit is one of the difficulties in the way of rapid work among the Mexicans.

The Mexicans are mentally weak. They have not been allowed to do their own thinking. The requirements of their religion have not called for intellectual activity. Schools for the training of the intellect have never been encouraged among them. Left to the absolute domination of the priests of Rome through the centuries they have not been able even to produce their own priests.

When vacancies occur they have imported their priests, usually from France. There is probably not a single Mexican in the priesthood of New Mexico to day.

The people in the drought-stricken regions of Nebraska are certainly in a sad condition. Many have abandoned their farms and gone East, but many stout hearts are bravely facing the coming winter, making every possible provision and trusting the Lord. Many are reduced to starvation and are in despair. The Pastor-at-Large in Kearney Presbytery writes us: "How many of my poor people are to live through the coming Nebraska winter, I cannot tell. My heart aches so for them that I find it the most difficult task of my life to appear cheerful and administer the comfort and consolation I so much desire to. I have received two barrels of good second-hand clothing which I have distributed among the most destitute, but what are they among so many? I hope to receive more in the near future to supply as far as I can the crying needs. I do not ask the people for a cent for me in the majority of my churches. I would not dare to raise my voice in prayer to my loving Heavenly Father if I should.

One poor man asked a flour merchant to trust him for fifty pounds, saying to him his family was starving. He refused him. The man walked into the store, picked up a fifty pound sack as he walked out, untied his team and started home. The merchant sent an officer of the law to arrest him, and on reaching his house found the sack of flour on his table open, with the children eating it dry, like so many famished beasts. This is only one of many facts I might mention, and this too when the townships and counties are exerting themselves to supply the needy."

The Synod of Tennessee met in the Chapel of Tusculum College. This college has been doing noble work in the cause of ministerial education. Its companion—Washington College—is a little older, having been founded in 1787 by Rev. Samuel Doak, who carried in his saddle bags the first library that ever crossed the Allegheny Mountains.

To the influence of such colleges must largely be attributed the loyalty and the sterling character of that whole region embracing east Tennessee—45 counties in western North Carolina and a large area in Virginia that resisted secession in 1861.

It is not strange that, meeting in such an atmosphere and with the remarkable local history of a century looking down upon them, the Synod should give attention largely to educational matters. The two colleges, Tusculum and Washington, though but thirteen miles apart, have had separate and distinct spheres of usefulness. They are somewhat distinct in their aims to this day—and yet Synod took some steps looking toward a plan of union by which the interests of each will be promoted.

RUSSIAN CHURCH, KILLISNOO, ALASKA.

Killisnoo, Alaska, is on the island of Kenashoo and was originally a whaling station. Here the Russian Greek Church, shown in the accompanying cut, was erected and is still maintained. The Northwest Trading Company has had a large establishment where codfish were dried, and herring and dogfish oil and fish guano manufactured. An Indian village is near-by whose inhabitants are employed as fishermen.

MAIN STREET, JUNEAU, ALASKA.

The town of Juneau (also called Harrisburg), Alaska, is an American town of recent origin. In 1879 a prospecting party left Sitka in charge of Joseph Juneau and Richard Harris in search of quartz leads which were supposed to exist on the mainland east of Bardanof Island. They camped on the present site of Juneau, and following up a large creek which flows into the channel at that point, found rich placers and several promising ledges. A camp was established for the winter and in due time a typical mining town developed. We give a cut showing the main street. Electric lights are among its modern improvements.

SIMULTANEOUS MEETINGS.—The last General Assembly recommended "to all of our Presbyteries the holding of simultaneous meetings in the interest of Home Missions." The Presbytery of Philadelphia North, has taken hold of this business in earnest and selected the first week in November, beginning Sabbath, November 4. The plan in its details is wise. Here are some of its provisions:

1. "That Sabbath, November 4, be observed by the churches of our Presbytery as Home Mission Day. That the services of this day be so arranged that the thoughts of the members of our congregations shall be turned to the work of Home Missions, and their interest in this great cause aroused. We recommend that as many of our pastors as can conveniently do so exchange pulpits upon this day, with the understanding that Home Mission sermons will be preached, and that in the evening there be union meetings of two or more congregations wherever this is possible."

2. "We recommend that special contribution envelopes be prepared by your Committee for the churches of the Presbytery, and that these envelopes be distributed on Sabbath, November 4, or at such time as may seem most fitting to the Session of each church."

A series of sketches of "The Heroes of Home Missions" will be begun in the CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD in January 1895 and be continued throughout the year. The series will be written by men of distinguished ability and be of exceptional historic interest. The field is new and wide. Much material of value, hitherto unpublished, will be furnished by these writers.

Financial statement of the Board of Home Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A., November 1, 1894:

RECEIPTS APRIL 1, 1893, TO NOVEMBER 1, 1893.

Churches.....	$ 79,676 93
Woman's Exec. Com.....	95,071 30
Legacies.....	34,571 12
Miscellaneous.....	18,060 03
	<hr/>
	$227,379 38

RECEIPTS, APRIL 1, 1894, TO NOVEMBER 1, 1894.

Churches.....	$ 71,850 14
Woman's Exec. Com.....	123,660 50
Legacies.....	95,075 48
Miscellaneous.....	21,064 30
	<hr/>
	$316,670 42

Loss in Churches this year..	$ 7,826 78
Gain in Woman's Ex. Com..	33,589 20
" " Legacies.....	60,504 36
" " Miscellaneous.....	3,024 28
	<hr/>
	$ 97,117 84

Total gain to date.....$ 89,291 06

O. D. EATON, Treasurer,
53 Fifth Avenue, New York.

We have one Swedish minister in Florida who supplies a church of 80 members of that nationality, besides preaching to his countrymen at three other points.

In a recent number of THE CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD mention was made of the need of a naphtha launch to enable a missionary in Oregon to reach his preaching points—he having to row long distances as the only means of conveyance. In response we have the following offer from a gentleman in Philadelphia: “I write to offer, if the object commends itself to the Board, and if the balance required can be raised, $50 towards a naphtha launch or any other mode of conveyance which will lighten the toils and save the time of the missionary in covering his field.” The Board approves.

OUR CHURCH IN KENTUCKY.

REV. D. McDONALD.

Although the past year has been an unusually trying one, there is cause for profound gratitude to God in the fact that our Church in this Synod has more than held its own. There were 444 additions on examination, 87 more than last year.

The net gain to the membership was 181. The Sabbath-school membership was increased by 414. The candidates for the ministry number this year 80, as against 28 last year, a gain of seven, and even in the matter of finance we have not fallen far short of last year. For the first time, I think, we have paid more to the Board of Home Missions than we have received from it. The contributions to this Board were $4,822, and the amount received was $4,724, being $98 less than was contributed. This looks decidedly like self-sustenance, a goal which we have been steadily and resolutely seeking to reach.

Our fields have been more fully occupied than usual, especially during the summer months. Through the liberality of a Christian lady, we were able to put five young men into vacant fields without any expense to the Board or Synod. During the year three new men have been settled in as many fields, and negotiations are in progress for as many more; these three are urgently needed, one for the church and school at Columbia, and one for Pikerville, and one for Harlan Court House and Hyden.

Special evangelistic services have been held at seventeen different places, viz.: Penn. Run, Bethel Union, Pikerville, Lexington, Maysville, Hopkinsville, Harmony, Lebanon, Paris, Danville, Kuttawa, Owensboro, Gaston, Hubers, Hyden, New Castle and Valley. One hundred and sixty persons have been added to the membership of the churches as a result of these meetings, and $172.22 paid toward the expenses of the missionary, a sum which met his entire traveling expenses, and $6.28 over. This is in addition to their regular contributions to the Synod's fund.

A meeting was held in Hyden, the county seat of Leslie, about sixty miles from the railroad, a county without a single Sabbath-school, a town without a professing Christian, with two exceptions. The Lord greatly blessed the preaching of His word. The town was moved; every one came to church, and every one in church was asking for prayer before the meeting closed. Over 60 persons professed conversion, 20 gave their names, wishing to be organized into a church. $600 has been subscribed on the ground for a building, and $200 by a private individual. We hope we shall have a church and a school there next year.

The new buildings in contemplation at Harlan Court House have not yet been built, although the appropriations have been made, the depleted condition of the treasury has been such that the money could not be spared. The money for the teacher's house is collected, the only hindrance now being the title to the lot, for which we are wistfully looking. $800 has been subscribed for our mission chapel at Manchester, but the stringency has been such that the subscriptions could not be collected.

Arrangements have been made by which the Academy buildings at Loudon can be enlarged and improved, the work to begin next summer.

Our Pikerville field is still waiting for a pastor for its church and a principal for its Academy; the same person would be expected to fill both offices. We have corresponded with four different men, and, strange to say, everyone has declined. We still hope to have one on the ground soon.

Our mountain work this year has been an inspiration, the urgency of its need, and the brightness of its promise making a strong argument and a resistless call for men and means, to bring them the Gospel, for want of which they have fallen so low in the scale. We cannot ignore the fact that there are about two millions of mountaineers on our very borders; they are our brethren; we are their keepers. We owe them the Gospel. If we fail or refuse to give it them, we will have to answer to the Lord Jesus, who gave us our commission. They are a menace to our civilization; they must be controlled. Bullets or Bibles must do it; the bullet argument has not been successful, the Bible one never has failed—never will fail. Any man with grace and gumption who will bring them the Gospel in a kind, simple, direct manner will be heartily welcomed and his message gladly received. I have seldom seen such hungry hearers of the Gospel, or such hearty appreciation of the truth of God. It is painful to think that while about six thousand young people are pledging and offering themselves for the foreign field, we have been so far unable to find one man who will undertake this fascinating work within a day's journey of our capital. May I not now and here appeal to our young men by the love you bear to the Lord who bought you; by your love for the country which you proudly call your own; by your love for your fellow man whom you are to love even as you love yourself; by the vows you have taken to follow your Lord, not seeking your own will, but the will of him that sent you. Listen to this call, and in the quiet of communion with God try and ascertain whether this call does not include you.

Before closing let me suggest that the present condition of the field and the treasury makes it very evident that the work cannot be carried on, even as it is now, without additional help, and although I hope we shall have enthusiastic missionary conventions this winter which will awaken interest, and replenish our treasury, still, I think we need to adopt a plan by which the gifts of the Church shall be largely and permanently increased.

AMONG THE SYNODS.

REV. WILSON PHRANER, D.D.

[Dr. Phraner visited several Synods for the Board in October. Read what he has to say in his report to the Secretaries.]

I met everywhere a most cordial welcome and found on every hand a deep and earnest interest in the work of the Board. No discordant note, no spirit of criticism, or disloyalty anywhere. This, under the circumstances, was gratifying, inasmuch as the Board under the stress of the times, has been obliged to restrict appropriations and deny many applications for aid.

But the brethren everywhere seemed to have an intelligent apprehension of the facts, and though oftentimes disappointed, yet were ready to accept the situation without murmuring or complaint. This spirit of loyalty and of confidence in the administration of the Board appeared to be universal.

Another thing which impressed me was the spirit of real and true heroism which is being illustrated by the brethren on these Home Missionary fields. Even in Kansas, where for many reasons matters are specially depressed, there was no discouragement or disposition to complain, but on the contrary a spirit of confidence and trust, of cheerful hopefulness and determined purpose to stand in their lot and with God's blessing carry forward the work of the Church. And so in the several Synods which I visited, although under the pressure of financial embarrassment, salaries are often behindhand and appropriations small from the Board, yet our dear Home Missionary brethren are manifesting a spirit of heroic courage and an earnest and determined purpose in their work, which in many cases, seemed to me sublime. Little do the rich men in our great and strong churches of the East realize what these brethren are accepting and suffering in the way of self-denial, in order to lay the foundation of Christian churches and Christian institutions throughout that great western land. Could they hear the earnest words which I heard and know the circumstances and royal service of some of these brethren as they came to my knowledge, surely there would be no lack in the treasury of the Board to meet more generously the needs of the work. Thank God patriots and heroes still live, and nowhere are they found of grander type than among our home missionaries.

Again I was impressed with the process of education which is going on with regard to the whole work of our Church. Many of the reports which I heard upon the several departments of our Church work were not only carefully prepared and able, but most admirable in spirit. Indeed, it seemed to me that some of these reports were superior to those which we heard upon the floor of the General Assembly, having been prepared more deliberately and with greater care than could be the case in the midst of the hurry and excitement of the Assembly. Listening to these reports and the addresses by which the facts were emphasized by the brethren, it seemed to me a marvel that there should be so many blanks in the reports of our several Boards since so many of our brethren throughout the Church, not only have an intelligent apprehension of the work themselves, but are so earnestly pressing its claims upon the attention of the churches. Surely under this process of iteration and enforcement by Assembly, by Synod and by Presbytery, as well as by individual pastors, the Church must eventually come up to her privilege and duty in connection with the work which she has in hand.

The homogeneous character of our people and the spirit of earnest work which prevails throughout the Church was apparent and marked in the meetings of all the synods which I attended. Very few cases of discord among brethren; no cases of discipline came before any of these synods, and as to questions of controversy which have been distracting the Church, they were not so much as named or referred to. Not even incidentally, nor in private conversation did I hear them mentioned. The minds of these brethren of the West are evidently set upon other and more practical matters, and their energies devoted to the more legitimate and practical work of building up the Master's kingdom. Altogether I have to report a very satisfactory and promising condition of things in the synods which it was my privilege to visit, a condition of things, which, if I mistake not, promises large practical results during the remaining months of our present ecclesiastical year.

THE MOHONK INDIAN CONFERENCE, now well known as an annual convocation of some of the best and wisest friends of the red men, at its late meeting adopted a platform for the current year, the contents of which are thus summarized at its close:

1. That the Five Civilized Tribes of the Indian Territory be persuaded to accept a territorial government.
2. That the laws be modified so as to render it possible for Indians to sell or lease their lands only by permission of a Judge of the United States District Court.
3. That work and markets be provided for Indians by organizations and individuals as far as possible, and that rations and annuities be stopped as fast as a proper equivalent is provided.
4. That provision be made by law for meeting from Indian funds the expenses of local improvements, and taxes which would naturally fall on Indians untaxable by law.
5. That the duties, powers and duration of office of the Superintendent of Indian Schools be defined by law and his salary be made adequate.
6. That the spirit of the Civil Service Reform should be applied in the appointment of Indian agents and all other agents as well as other officials.
7. That larger appropriations be made to enforce law in Alaska and also to provide reindeer for the natives.
8. That the work of transition be expedited by discontinuing some of the Indian Agencies and introducing the district school system among the Indians, while we look forward to the eventual abolition of the Indian Bureau and the relegation of Indian schools to the care of the individual States.
9. That all religious bodies now receiving Government aid for contract schools should follow the example of other denominations in withdrawing their requests for such aid.
10. That the religious bodies redouble their efforts in distinctively religious and moral work in behalf of Indians.

Concert of Prayer For Church Work at Home.

JANUARY,	The New West.
FEBRUARY,	The Indians.
MARCH,	The Older States.
APRIL,	The Cities.
MAY,	The Mormons.
JUNE,	Our Missionaries.
JULY,	Results of the Year.
AUGUST,	Romanists and Foreigners.
SEPTEMBER,	The Outlook.
OCTOBER,	The Treasury.
NOVEMBER,	The Mexicans.
DECEMBER,	The South.

THE SOUTH.

To many persons who have not taken the trouble, or have not had the opportunity, to inform themselves as to the facts, our work in the South is thought to be intrusive and and unnecessary because of the occupancy of that territory by our sister church. This judgment has been expressed by a few in certain restricted portions of the South, and by many in various parts of the North. But a little inquiry into the facts ought to remove such an impression.

There is, in the first place, the established fact that our country is no longer divided by sectional lines but is "one and indivisible." In the second place, under the civil and religious institutions of our country no denomination can claim exclusive occupancy of the whole or of any part thereof. Nor can any persons of any faith be lawfully restrained from removing into any section and making a permanent home, organizing churches and seeking denominational affiliations of their own choice. In the third place, it is the privilege and duty of the organized missionary agencies of the evangelical denominations to seek and supply as far as possible the neglected communities of any part of our country, east, west, north, south, in cities and rural communities. They are organized and divinely appointed for this purpose and there are no limitations except those of ability on the one hand and the law of supply and demand on the other.

The southern states call as loud for evangelization as those of the west, or those of the east, or those of any of the older states.

Indeed, conditions in the South give feeble churches and unsupplied communities a peculiar claim upon the Lord's treasury in whatever branch of his church the ability to respond might be found.

One of the best known results of the civil war was the utter destruction of the industrial system of the South and the suspension of its productive enterprises. To aid in the solution of its great problems, the restoration of prosperity and the development of its great and varied resources, the South invited capital and immigration from the other states and from Europe. Soon the currents of life began to flow through the veins and arteries of the prostrate states, and a "New South" was the result. Cities were built, railroads found new centres of business and added a new population to the old. There was a growing demand for churches and ministers of the Gospel which the denominations in the South, working ever so heroically and giving ever so liberally, were not able to supply. Christian families had their cherished objects of benevolence in connection with the Boards of their denomination. They desired their children to read the church papers and become acquainted with the religious literature with which they were themselves familiar. In consequence, there were churches organized and requests for ministers in connection with northern branches of the same denomination.

In such cities as Atlanta, New Orleans, Mobile, Nashville, Galveston, Memphis, though with large influx of northern elements and capital, no churches of our connection have ever been organized because our people could connect themselves with the churches of the southern branch and make them self-supporting. But in many communities in Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama, Florida and Texas where the churches were unable to support the means of grace unaided and where the demand upon the treasury of our southern brethren was far greater than they could possibly meet, we were invited and urged to enter. We have never been either hasty or over zealous to respond to this call, but with the same spirit with which we have tried to give the Gospel to the neglected communities in the West, in New England, in every other part of our common country, we have entered the states lying toward the South, always observing the principles of denominational comity with the strictest possible fidelity.

The best way to form friendships and alliances is to associate. This is true of churches as of anything else. If the union of the two branches of our Church is ever to be effected, it will not be by standing aloof and eyeing each other from a distance. That has been attempted frequently and failed as often. It is by working side by side, shoulder to shoulder, heart to heart and hand to hand. That is how individuals fall in love. That is the way armies interblend. It is by the communion of saints that they are to become one in Christ. The two General Assemblies are too far apart to effect a union and need not try it again. If a union is ever effected it must be on the field of action. Whatever expression we have had of desire for union has come from those regions where churches of the two branches were near enough to each other in common interests and sympathies and labors to "Share their mutual woes,

 "Their mutual burdens bear,
 "While often for each other flows
 "The sympathizing tear."

This was strikingly exemplified last year in Florida. Rev. Henry Keigwin says:

"For several years past sectional barriers have been dissolving, and a spirit of fellowship increasing. At the last meeting of the Synod of Florida (S.) a committee was appointed, of representative men, to confer with a similar committee from our body, to devise and report a plan for closer relations, and, if possible, the unification of the work in the State. In the meantime the work of co-operative grouping of churches in the two branches has gone pleasantly forward, and now four of the Southern churches are grouped with Northern fields, while two other similar groups are in contemplation, in the near future. The work thus prosecuted is in the interest of both harmony among the churches and economy in the work."

Tennessee gave last year another illustration. The Synod of Nashville (Southern) sent a committee to the Synod of Tennessee (Northern) with fraternal greetings and resolutions expressing a desire for organic union. Within the bounds of this Synod, in two instances at least, Northern and Southern churches, which are near enough to be grouped, are served by one man.

In Texas the relations are not quite so fraternal, owing to causes which need not here be discussed, but it is significant that churches organized by one branch frequently in a short time go over to the other. These interlacings will, by and by, draw them nearer together. It is always more economical and fruitful of results for that church which can command the sympathy and confidence of the greatest number in a community to enter even if afterward it finds it, for any reason, desirable to change its ecclesiastical connection. And so it is probably true that the two branches of our church working in Texas have accomplished more than twice as much as either could have accomplished working alone.

But there remains all over the South, as in every other part of our vast and growing country, much more to be done than all the denominations working together can do.

The statistics of our church work in the South are, in part as follows:

Our Synod of Texas comprises three Presbyteries, enrolling 64 churches and mission stations, with 29 ministers and 1161 communicants. In Florida we have two Presbyteries, enrolling 27 churches and mission stations, and 22 ministers, with 888 communicants.

In North Carolina we have 4 churches, 8 ministers, and 174 communicants.

In Tennessee we have 48 churches and mission stations, 28 ministers, and 2,049 communicants.

In Arkansas 3 churches, 2 ministers, and 153 communicants.

In Alabama there are 5 churches, 8 ministers, and 69 communicants. In Kentucky 23 churches and mission stations, 18 ministers and 1,532 communicants.

In all these states we have been held in check by our financial distress. During the past year no churches have been organized except in North Carolina and Texas, though grace and patience were required to resist the temptation to enlarge our work by entering the scores of open and inviting fields. Of Texas, with its 2,500,000 population, and its vast area, larger than the German Empire, the Rev. Dr. R. L. Dabney, of the Southern branch of our Church, says:

"Plainly, one of two results is as certain as death—either this vast Texas must slide into virtual paganism, or we Christians must wake up to a totally different scale of activity. This must be one which will not only seize present opportunities, with prompt and burning energies, but multiply these energies in a rapid geometrical ratio."

In this great state, with its appalling needs, the other branch of our church has fewer than 100 ministers in charge of about 150 churches.

Ft. Davis, Alpine and Marfa, in Texas, form a group under the care of Rev. W. B. Bloys. Dr. Little says of them: "They are a part of a district 500x175 miles with but one other ordained minister of any denomination,—and there are 40 railroad towns and stations in the district. Besides these three towns Mr. Bloys visits many a camp and station." Dr. Little further says of this district: "I attended a camp meeting in the vicinity of Ft. Davis last summer. One family of eleven drove 80 miles to attend it, and many families come 45 miles. The last night of the meeting every person on the ground expressed the wish to be a Christian by rising."

Suspension of "new work" means that this vast region, and every other such needy region, shall not have another missionary until the Board's debt is paid.

The Synod of Texas held a glorious meeting in October. It was not possible for a Secretary to attend, but Dr. Little, the Synodical Missionary, says:

"The brethren came with hearts full of thanksgiving. They reported a gain of 20½ per cent., while the Assembly in this year of its greatest success reported only 13½ per cent. Our brethren gathered into the churches an average of 19 per minister, excluding one superannuated man. We thank God and take courage. For these were won in the face of many difficulties unknown to other parts of our Assembly. The finest Missionary meeting that I ever attended was held Saturday night. Ministers H. A. Howard, W. B. Riggs and E. B. Wright, D.D., and Mrs. Arbuckle, the wife of our gifted Superintendent of the Glen Rose Collegiate Institute, presented different features of the great work. I have never seen the like of it though I attended the great Synodical meeting at Rochester last Summer. As each one grappled with the theme assigned, I wondered how anyone could have the temerity to follow with a word. And then I wondered after each speech whether the one that went before would have dared to speak if he had known what was coming after. Evidently God gives special grace for special needs or that meeting of Synod would never have been held."

San Antonio, Texas, is a very old city. It has existed under the flags of seven different nations, viz.: Spain, France, Germany, Mexico, the Republic of Texas, the Confederacy and the United States.

Letters.

TEXAS.

REV. D. H. DODSON, Leonard:—At the urgent request of Rev. Dr. Little I went to Canadian to be present at a co-operative protracted meeting that was to be held at that place under the direction of Evangelist Mulkey. The churches of the place were united and earnest. The Holy Spirit was evidently with us. Never before had I seen all classes of society so open to religious conversation as they were on this occasion. One of the marked features of the meeting was the large number of men under conviction. Several of the leading business men of the town, and quite a number of the leading ranch men of the country were happily converted. It was one of the great joys of my life to see so many prominent men, who in former years seemed to care nothing for spiritual things, now confess their need of a Saviour.

The meeting, however, was not without its attending sorrows. Elder Frank Willis, for ten years district judge of the Pan Handle district, while busily engaged in pointing young men to Christ, and after having the privilege of seeing a young merchant to whom he had just been talking, accept Christ, was stricken down with paralysis. It was his last conscious act. The next morning his spirit took its flight. The Canadian church being without a pastor and Judge Willis being the only elder, it became my duty to receive those who desired admission into the Presbyterian Church. Sixty-three persons presented themselves for membership and after examination were received. Fifty-two of these now came forward to receive the ordinance of baptism. If any are disposed to ask "Do Home Missions pay?" their doubts would certainly have been removed if they could have stood with me and looked upon these fifty-two young converts, many of whom were men of mature years and wide influence. More than one eastern home will be made glad when they hear the results of this meeting.

WASHINGTON.

REV. H. V. RICE, Quilcene.—The general desecration of the Sabbath has all along been a drawback to our work, but the community itself is improving very much in this regard, though desecration is now more carried on by tourists coming among us and making a holiday of Sunday. It is encouraging to notice increased disposition among irreligious families to send their children to Sunday-school. We have persistently worked to keep down intemperance. Partly as a result of this effort we have not now a saloon in the place. We have in these parts some of the old Hudson Bay Company. They came to the Sound country some 85 or 40 years ago. They own good properties in many instances. Always British subjects, they have never regarded anything American with much favor. These people always remain in a community throughout all changes and almost always have not the slightest interest in anything religious, but we find that their children become quite different under Christianizing influences.

OKLAHOMA TERRITORY.

REV. S. V. FAIT, Anadarko.—We had been assured from the very beginning that, unless we fed the whole tribe, we could never accomplish anything for them. We have not fed them, and it is true enough, have not been able to accomplish all for them that we would like to have accomplished. But the full bloods are getting a little anxious over our school. Very good reports have gone out among them of the good care we take of the children who are sent here and how rapidly they learn. One Kiowa woman who sent her children last year and whose sister was in the school, tells them that she knows that the school at Mautame is good for Indian children and to prove it she points to her sister who, after less than a year in our school, could read and write letters. The little girl referred to has written several letters to Mrs. Fait. In telling about it they said, "Anna got letter from Mrs. Fait. Anna heap good read. Anna write Mrs. Fait good. Anybody pick up in road, read." The idea is that Anna had written so plainly that if the letter should be lost along the road, anyone finding it could easily read it. Now this is a very little thing, but it is just these little speeches on the part of the Indian that we like. We have had much opposition and very little help on this reservation. In the first place, when I came here I told them we were going to build a school, but year after year passed by and no school came, and finally the Indians said plainly, "You heap lie. You all time say you build school. You no build school, you heap lie. May be so me send papoose Kiowa school." Then when the school house was completed, Joshua was taken very sick, and one little boy who had been staying here died. The Indians said that the owls in our woods killed him. Our Indians are dreadfully afraid of an owl. And just after we began school Joshua died and you know how that would effect the Indian. When we were recovering from the terror of Joshua's death and the Indians were free to come about our place again, the fire took our building. Now that we are rebuilding, to have the Indians consider the merits of our school is certainly very pleasing. The only thing that troubles me in the least is how to make provisions for the one half of those whom we could get and who ought to be in our school.

[The following are parts of letters from Home Missionaries, greatly abbreviated and condensed.]

BOX VERSUS BLIZZARD.—The leafless trees, the howling winds, the frosty nights, etc., all remind me that another North Dakota winter (with all that that means) is at my door. And oh! how all the dwellers in this manse would dread the coming of another winter such as last, did they not know that by the agency of the Home Board co operating with Mission Bands in our eastern congregations the ever welcome "Mission Box" removes much of the terrible from the wintry blast and blizzard. So writes Rev. C. D. Donald, from Grafton, N. D.

SUMMER RESORTS AND GOSPEL.—The "resort season" brings multitudes of all classes and characters, some of whom set an example and exercise an influence very injurious to the morals of the community. This evil is not confined to the ungodly. Beer, Sabbath boating and train traveling tell upon the people and make it more difficult to exercise discipline and reach the unconverted. Resort "hops" give much trouble—young people led to the dance and ball-room—not a healthful atmosphere for growth in grace.

On the other hand many faithful Christian people, the cream of the large city churches, come in "the fulness of the blessing of the Gospel of Christ" and greatly encourage and help by their example, their presence at the church services and their contributions. They take a deep interest in the people of the village. A Christian lady from Detroit and several others have purchased and furnished a very pleasant and comfortable Reading Room where the people can spend their leisure hours pleasantly and profitably. It is under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. Church work proper in a healthy condition—finances prosperous, all bills promptly paid. Spiritually, reason for gratitude to God. On a September Sabbath, drove several miles out into the woods and found a settlement of 15 families (58 persons), who had no Sabbath-school and no preaching, except three services held by a Dunker preacher. In the evening, preached in an abandoned shanty to about thirty people and had a very cordial invitation to come again. People hungering for the Gospel. So writes Rev. R. W. Rainy from Harbor Springs, Mich.

MINNESOTA.—The darkest hour for three years—the drought! Not a family in the mission but has had severe losses. Men whose farms have supported two families, with supplies for church and civic enterprises, have not enough ingathering this year to support their own families. * * * Stupor, inaction, community completely foiled in what was once considered a thoroughly safe and justifiable operation; felt in church and school and acknowledged in merchandise; severest effect on pastor's salary—not enough gathered for meat and fuel. Missionary not able to give full meals to his children! Several are kept out of school, three of them to earn something for shoes and to gather up some feed for horse and cow for winter! This from Rev. D. P. Groecup, Beaver Creek, Minn.

COLORADO.—A child in the Sabbath-school twelve years of age, baptized and admitted to the Lord's table. Before the next communion season laid low with a severe illness, which after months of suffering terminated in her death. With un murmuring patience she bore all her pain and the light of her faith shone bright to the end. Her last words a beautiful witness to the faithfulness of the Good Shepherd: "Mama, it is growing dark, I can't see you any more." Then after a moment's pause, "But I can see Jesus." So she passed out from all shadows into the sunlight of his face. This bright testimony was blessed to the conversion of several of her young friends and classmates. One of them on examination for church membership, said that since Ella died all the girls in her class have been trying to get so they might join the church. This from Rev. C. S. Barrett, Colorado Springs.

WOMAN'S WORK.—Womens' Christian Temperance Union ladies in Mapleton, N. D., succeeded in arresting one illegal liquor seller and some Sabbath-breaking ball players, whereupon the "burn" element turned out at night and tore up the ladies' vegetable gardens and took wheels off buggies. Burnt a barn with hay and agricultural implements, about $500 worth. Town Board in sympathy with saloonists. The minister's wife being a member of the W. C. T. U. his buggy lost a wheel, and threats were used that the salary promised him would not be paid. On the Sabbath after these outrages he preached pointedly against the saloon and Sabbath-breaking, yielded not one jot of testimony against evil.

CALIFORNIA.—Large and live Sabbath-school, C. E. Societies, Senior and Junior, and a Ladies Aid Society, the last two of these paying off the church debt. Good for the Juniors and the Ladies. This is at Pacific Beach, California.

SALT LAKE CITY.—Six years of labor in the western part of the city, and "not one communion season without additions to our little church." Present number, 91—"mostly laboring men—machinists, railroad men and day laborers." This from Rev. F. L. Arnold.

ALABAMA.—Church building at Pratt City destroyed by a cyclone in February—rebuilt on a new lot in a better location.

One of the most regular attendants a blind man—always on hand when in town—genuinely converted; miserable drunkard before; now no taste for intoxicants—conducts Gospel meetings in people's homes—talks to fellow-miners on his way to and from work, and tries to persuade them to become Christians; teaches a S. S. class, and out of scanty earnings pays liberally to support the church.

MORMONISM, BIBLE AND WISHARD.—Bible readings at Fairview, Utah, on Sunday evenings are having a marked effect on that community. Never before has the Bible been so prominently before the whole community. A Mormon preacher defined "damnation" (John 5:29), to mean "cessation of progress." As water rose to the level of the dam and then flowed on, so the soul of man is obstructed in his progress, but by the accumulation of his good works he will rise to the level of the obstruction and then go on. Doctor Wishard afterwards delivered his lecture on "Baptism for the Dead," and in his bland, kindly way recalled that exposition and showed from a well known book called "Webster" d-a-m-n did not mean d-a-m. The large audience present took in the difference and "smiled audibly."

HOME MISSION APPOINTMENTS.

A. P. Logan, Woonsocket, 1st,	R. I.
S. C. McElroy, West Milton,	N. Y.
J. Still, Masonville,	"
G. E. Gillespie, Brooklyn, Bedford,	"
S. D. Angel, Moore,	"
R. King, Cairo and stations,	"
S. R. Queen, Otisville, 1st,	"
O. R. W. Klose, Cochection,	"
C. Vuilleumier, Clarkstown, German,	"
J. Straus, Salt Point, Westminster,	"
L. H. Bahler, Malden,	"
E. B. Fisher, Rosie, 1st,	"
F. S. Swan, Cohocton,	"
J. A. Marshall, Boothwyn, Chichester Memorial,	Pa.
D. Aquarone, New Italy and station, (Italian),	"
G. R. Berry, Waterville and Maumee,	Ohio.
J. E. Carroll, Orwell,	"
J. A. Gallard, Streetsboro,	"
J. C. Glover, Northfield,	"
N. C. Helfrich, Columbus, West Broad St.,	"
T. J. McClelland, Ebenezer,	"
G. E. Wilson, Clyde 1st,	"
E. I. Anderson, Chicago,	"
F. P. Dalrymple, Chester, 1st,	Ill.
S. M. Campbell, Chicago, Emerald Ave.,	"
M. H. Jackson, Chicago, Grace,	"
H. H. Van Vranken, Chicago, Central Park,	"
J. N. Elliott, Chicago, 60th St.,	"
E. B. Hubbell, Chicago, Immanuel,	"
F. Grilli, Chicago, Italian,	"
G. B. Black, Earlville,	"
W. A. Bass, Oswego,	"
C. Bremicker, Peoria, 1st German,	"
A. Beamer, Marine City,	Mich.
E. Jamieson, Brighton,	"
W. Bullock, Denmark and Fairgrove,	"

J. Thompson, Grand Rapids, Immanuel,	Mich.
T. W. Montell, Martin, 1st,	"
J. C. Smith, Reading,	"
R. Bramfitt, Clayton and Dover,	"
B. Hunter, Taymouth, 1st,	"
P. E. Nicholl, Bay City, Memorial,	"
T. Hunter, Bessemer,	"
D. F. Williams, North Bend and station,	Wis.
L. G. Jongeneel, New Amsterdam and station,	"
A. V. Gulick, Kilbourn City,	"
F. F. Barrett, Prairie du Sac,	"
D. Anderson, Monroe, 1st,	"
R. A. Clark, Richland Centre, 1st,	"
J. Griffith, Oregon,	"
R. A. Ruddick, Middleton,	"
J. E. Thomas, Deerfield,	"
H. F. Obenhaus, Cottage Grove,	"
F. W. Barber, Waunakee,	"
J. Bren, Racine and Caledonia, Bohemian,	"
W. Vokolek, Caledonia, Bohemian,	"
A. B. Koukol, Melnik Mission Bohemian,	"
J. S. McCormack, Howard 1st, and Winsted, 1st,	Minn.
I. P. Withington, Minneapolis, Bethany and Elmh.	"
C. D. Darling, St. Paul, Park and South St. Paul, 1st,	N. Dak.
A. Durrie, Bismarck, 1st,	"
I. O. Sloan, Albert Barnes,	"
O. P. Rider, Sheldon, 1st, and station,	"
C. D. McDonald, Grafton 1st,	"
T. Dougan, Langdon and stations,	"
C. Slack, Arvilla and station,	"
R. Weir, Ardwick Greenwood, and station,	"
D. M. Butt, Britton, 1st and stations,	S. Dak.
A. M. Work, Pastor-at-Large,	"
C. F. Richardson, Woonsocket, 1st,	"
J. M. Adair, Volga, 1st,	"
A. Doremus, Springville,	Iowa.
W. D. Hart, Morning Star and Gravity,	"
F. Read, Des Moines, Bethany,	"
W. E. Knight, Colfax, 1st,	"
W. W. Lewis, Oelslein, 1st,	"
F. G. Moore, Farley,	"
J. W. Waite, Livermore and station,	"
J. Smith, Burkhington, Hope,	"
N. Clemenson, Davenport, Newcomb Memorial,	"
J. C. Sloan, Alliance Valley, Unity, Burbank and station,	Neb.
D. W. Montgomery, Pastor-at-Large,	"
E. P. Dunlap, Wood River,	"
G. Bailey, Broken Bow,	"
P. N. Smith, Coleridge and Hartington,	"
D. W. Rosenkrans, Scottville, Apple Creek and station,	"
T. S. Miller, Emerson 1st,	"
A. T. Young, Ponca, 1st,	"
S. R. Bellville, Wahoo, 1st,	"
O. A. Elliott, Columbus,	"
C. Memmott, New Cambria and Lingo,	Mo.
C. H. Brown, Enterprise and Grantville,	"
J. T. Boyer, Lincoln, Palo, 1st, and Dawn,	"
H. A. Sawyers, Cameron 1st,	"
J. N. McHugh, St. Louis, Covenant,	"
J. T. Mulholland, St. Louis, Grace,	"
E. P. Keach, Windsor Harbor and station,	"
T. D. Davis, Vineland and Willow Springs,	Kan.
B. F. Stone, Sipe Springs and Pecan Valley,	Tex.
T. S. Day, Pearsall, Cibola and Dilley,	"
H. A. Thompson, Peoria and stations,	Ariz.
A. Guerrero, Morenci and vicinity,	"
E. M. Fenton, James Naclimiento and Capulin,	N. Mex.
J. E. Weir, Fort Morgan, 1st,	"
J. B. Cameron, Trinidad, 2d, and station,	Colo.
R. T. Pressly, Pueblo Fountain,	"
T. L. Leverett, Cedar City and Parowan,	Utah
W. R. Campbell, Mendon and Wellsville,	"
G. M. Hardy, St. George,	"
F. W. Poole, Helena Central,	Mont.
E. A. Walker, Snohomish, Union,	Wash.
J. R. Thompson, D. D. Ocoosa, Westport and stations,	"
C. W. Stewart, D. D. Kent,	"
W. A. Major, Seattle, 2d,	"
C. R. Shields, Presbyterian Missionary,	Oreg.
R. T. Graham, Knappa, Bear Creek and Westport,	"
C. F. Waldecker, Bethany, German, and two stations,	"
I. N. Waterman, Covelo and station,	Cal.
C. H. Emerson, Pope Valley, Howell Mountain, Etna Springs, Childs Valley and Capell Valley,	"
J. F. Cherry, San Leandro, Immanuel, Portuguese,	"
D. L. Macquarrie, Redding, 1st,	"
D. M. Gillies, San Francisco, Holly Park,	"
J. D. Beard, Pleasant Valley,	"
H. H. Dobbins, Tracy and Grayson,	"
F. L. Moore, Juneau (Interpreter and Helper),	Alaska.

FREEDMEN.

IMPORTANT.

DO NOT FORGET THE FREEDMEN.

December is the month named by the General Assembly as the time for the churches to take up their annual collections for work among the Freedmen. Some churches have other plans; but very many fall in with this suggestion. As the time is near at hand we call upon the pastors to do what they can for this great department of the missionary work of the Church.

The Board of Missions for Freedmen is in great financial distress.

We have been compelled to cut down all salaries.

We have curtailed our expenses in every possible way.

We have shortened the term of many of our schools.

We have turned a deaf ear to many earnest cries for help that have stirred our hearts profoundly.

The cry from some quarters is little less than a wail.

If each church could only hear this wail, we are sure the needed help would be forthcoming.

Pastors will you not, from love to God, and to your fellow men, speak a good word for the Negro, to your people, and ask them to remember the Freedmen's Board in this its time of need?

EDWARD P. COWAN, Cor. Sec'y.

BIDDLE UNIVERSITY. — President Sanders writes: "I am glad to be able to report that we have had the best opening this year of any in the history of the institution. Our present number is about two hundred." He wrote thus in the third week of the term.

We also learn that the new dormitory is to be opened about the end of November, and to be named CARTER HALL, in memory of the late Miss Laura Carter, of Geneva, whose legacy enabled the trustees to erect this building.

OUR SCHOLARSHIPS.

REV. H. N. PAYNE, D. D.

For the sake of intelligence and efficiency in administration the work under the care of the Freedmen's Board is classified. These departments are essential portions of the one work and must always be so regarded, yet each may be studied by itself.

Thus there is the securing of ministerial missionaries from various sources, directing their attention to needy portions of the great field, and sustaining and watching over them in their work. In this the relation of the Board to the Presbyteries is very close and their co-operation is very cordial. Indeed it is difficult to see how either could get along without the other.

Then there is the selection and support of teachers for all the schools. The erection and maintenance of church and school buildings constitutes another important feature of the work. Large amounts of valuable property of this description are held by the Board, creating a responsibility of which it would gladly be relieved were it possible. Finally there is the support of needy and deserving students in the various schools by means of scholarships. It is particularly of this department of the work that we would speak at this time.

NEED OF SCHOLARSHIPS.

They are used to aid students who are obliged to leave home to get an education.

One acquainted with the South hardly needs to be told that not one Negro in a thousand would find it possible to send away to school and maintain there a son or a daughter. Most of the Negroes, especially in the country, live in rented houses. These are often one-roomed, comfortless cabins, the entire furnishing of which is not worth $20. It is only by a struggle that the children are supplied with the plainest food, while the patched clothing, that seems so absurd and ridiculous to the northern traveler, is the desperate attempt to keep off absolute nakedness and suffering. In an increasing number of instances, especially in the towns, these conditions are improving, and in some cases tasteful and comfortable homes bear witness to patient industry and careful economy. But even then it is necessary that each member of the family contribute his part toward supplying the family wants. To send one of their number away to school not only takes away one who is perhaps an important helper, but makes it necessary that the others contribute money for traveling expenses, clothing and books, none of which are covered by scholarships. In many instances this is as far as the funds of the student and the family will reach. If he is to go away at all, he must be helped, while in school, by outside parties. Does any one think that bright and promising students of good character (and it is for such only that scholarships are asked) should be deprived of the education they desire, and need to make them useful, simply because of poverty?

It is not designed nor desired that all colored children go away from home to school. The vast majority of them must be content with the exceedingly poor public schools, lasting from six weeks to four months in the year, near home. But if the race is to be properly taught and wisely led in the future, some must have better advantages than the local schools afford. Every dictate of prudence and patriotism demands that Christian schools be established at proper points, and maintained by "the wise-hearted" among God's people.

Our Church has done a noble work on this line. It is for such schools and such pupils that scholarships are asked.

HOW THEY ARE USED.

In the bestowal of scholarships the principal of the school, upon whom rests the entire responsibility for the selection, uses careful discrimination. Not all who enter the schools, nor all who ask aid, receive it. Every pupil must have the cordial endorsement of his pastor, or of some other responsible person. Generally students are not aided at all the first year, (during which time they exhaust their slender savings,) or until they have been fully tested as to character and ability.

The proceeds of a scholarship are sometimes divided between two, three, or even four persons, giving to each only what is absolutely necessary. Thus we endeavor to help as many different persons as possible; for the amount at command for this purpose is all too small to "go around," among the needy and deserving.

RESULTS.

These can only be given in a general way. Who can adequately describe a soul aroused to a consciousness of its own powers and possibilities; a life quickened, broadened and made beautiful? Yet this is what takes place with many of the young men and women who, by the aid of scholarships, attend our boarding-schools. The removal from the deadening and dwarfing, if not positively degrading, influences of the homes and communities from which they come, the bright, warm, sweet, pure, Christian atmosphere they breathe for the first time, the mental quickening which they realize under the influence and guidance of teachers and schoolmates, the dawning consciousness of selfhood with all its possibilities and responsibilities, these make the school a new world to these young people. The result is a transformation in person and character that would not be possible in those who, all their lives, had been subject to helpful influences. It is like the awakening of nature in the spring.

The lives thus quickened and ennobled do not again return to their old level. Men and women who have been subject to such influences are to-day consecrating themselves to the uplifting of others. They are directing those mighty forces that slowly and silently, but surely are dispelling the ignorance, poverty, superstition and gloom that have shrouded the race like a pall. They are making possible the coming day of hope, in the dawning of which many are already rejoicing. Here and there through this south land these heralds of truth are toiling, encountering many difficulties and sometimes active opposition, their good work unnoticed by men, but never forgotten by God. Eternity alone will show its value.

At least four of the wives of professors in Biddle University, and probably five-sixths of the wives of our ministers and teachers elsewhere, were fitted for their present eminently useful lives in our church schools while enjoying the benefit of scholarships. So with many others, both women and men. For scholarships are not confined to females, nor to those proposing to be preachers or teachers. In all our mixed and boys' schools young men have been prepared for the lives of wide usefulness they now lead while supported by scholarships furnished by persons who never saw, and probably never will see them.

So it is that some whom God has blessed with means are multiplying many fold the power and value of their own lives. Many a quiet, thoughtful business man is to-day, through the scholarships he has given, and the men he has thus educated, doing a mighty and ever-widening good to thousands of this dusky race. Many a widow, who has thought her life blighted and her work ended, has, through the same agency provided herself with earnest, consecrated representatives in the South, who are gladly toiling in a harvest field to which she could not come, and are "bringing in the sheaves."

Individuals of every class, societies and Sunday-schools may do this, and so have their representatives working for Christ in this great southern field where 5,000,000 Negroes are outside of any church, unsaved—without hope. Is it not a privilege that is thus offered? Never was there so great need as now of such help to our work. One thousand dollars will found a permanent scholarship in any of our institutions except Biddle University. Scholarships there are $100 per year. In the female seminaries (of which there are four, with 784 pupils) scholarships are $50; and in the academies and institutes, (co-educational, twelve in number and with 3,800 pupils) they are $45 each per year.

Any further information desired may be obtained from any of the officers of the Board or at the rooms in Pittsburgh, Pa.

PUBLICATION AND SABBATH-SCHOOL WORK.

REVIEW OF SYNODICAL WORK.

The Sabbath-school and missionary work of our Church was duly brought before the different synods at the recent Fall meetings. The synodical committees entrusted with the task of presenting the subject are entitled to great praise for the painstaking and effective manner in which they discharged this duty. One fact stands out very clear—the churches, as represented in synods, are showing themselves to be thoroughly in earnest in relation to this work. Pastors and people are realizing its immense importance. For the evangelization of the country, the spread of godliness, the healthy growth of Presbyterian polity, the enlargement of home missions, it is beyond question a factor of wonderful meaning. That is the verdict of the Church as represented by its synods. That it has shown itself in spite of all mistakes to be worthy of hearty confidence and of far more liberal support than has in past years been accorded to it, is the deliberate judgment of the representative men in our Church all over the land.

To report the individual action of the different synods at any length would fill too large a space in this magazine. The subject was not in any case treated as of minor importance and thrown into a corner with formal resolutions hastily prepared and carried without debate. The best thought was given to it in almost every instance. No doubt this was due in part to the fidelity and tact of the Chairmen of the Sabbath-school Committees, and their associates, but still more is it to be attributed to the growing strength of the conviction among earnest minds that the Sabbath-school question in all its features is entitled to the most serious discussion.

In some of our western synods the Sabbath-school missionary work has produced results that seem almost incredible. Take Nebraska alone: 168 Sabbath-schools organized between April and September, with 758 teachers and 5,782 scholars. And this is but one feature of the work. The visitation of existing schools, the re-organization of schools that have dropped out through adverse influences, the holding of Sabbath-school institutes, the visitation of families with the Word of God, the diffusion of good literature, the evangelizing influences that have been set to work and the healthy and marked effect upon the growth of our own Church,—these things alone would be worth the trouble and cost bestowed upon the whole movement.

More and more it is coming to be acknowledged that the Sabbath-school missionary, properly trained and directed, is a great aid in the aggressive work of the Church.

Illinois has been almost an untouched field so far as the Sabbath-school missionary work of this Board is concerned. The Synod took the whole subject under anxious consideration, and notwithstanding some opposition from the standpoint of undenominational Sunday-school work, resolved to ask this Board to appoint a Synodical Sabbath-school Missionary, thus emphasizing the importance of Church action. Missouri, which has been a fruitful field for our workers, also applies for a Synodical Sabbath-school missionary.

The great missionary presbyteries north, south and west, in which our work has a strong footing, and where it has been tried and proved at all points, one and all passed resolutions strongly and even enthusiastically in its favor.

A feature of synodical action calling for remark was the cordial endorsement given to the plan of the Home Class Department now spreading all over the land. Still another was the hearty approval of grading in Sabbath-schools, an idea which is quietly and steadily gaining ground. The spiritual aspect of the work and the bringing of the scholars to Christ has also been much dwelt upon. And with entire unanimity commendation has been warmly bestowed upon the editorial department of our Board for the marked improvement and the exceeding variety and appropriateness of the Lesson Helps.

On the whole the impression conveyed by the reports and resolutions of our Synods without a single exception is that of thorough and earnest appreciation of the Sabbath-school work of our Church. True, there are many instances in which local work shows a decline, both as to membership and as to the energy and hopefulness with which it is carried on, and such instances point to the great responsibility resting upon pastors and Presbyteries. But the work as a whole is growing in power, and there is a general disposition throughout our Church to study plans and methods approved by experience.

The Secretary of the Board of Publication and Sabbath-school Work was privileged to be present at some of the western synods, and Dr. Worden, the Superintendent of the Sabbath-school and Missionary Department was in attendance upon others, besides taking part in two important synodical Sabbath-school Institutes, one at Columbus, Ohio, and another at Brookfield, Mo.

It is in order also to mention here that the Department has been strengthened by the appointment of the Rev. Edward T. Bromfield, D. D., to assist Dr. Worden in his growing and arduous duties.

REPORT OF A SABBATH-SCHOOL MISSIONARY.

Our Sabbath-school missionaries present reports of their work from time to time to the presbyteries within whose bounds they labor, in addition to the regular monthly statistical report which is forwarded to the Department at Philadelphia.

These reports to presbytery are intended to convey information as to actual work performed, in a business-like style, without anecdote or embellishment. For this reason they make rather dry reading, but those who are in sympathy with this great cause and want to know the kind of work done by a Sabbath-school missionary and how he spends his time, will read on from paragraph to paragraph, and will see much between the lines which the merely cursory reader will fail to perceive. For the former class of readers—and many such will con these pages—we give the following semi-annual report of Sabbath-school missionary J. B. Clapp, of Iowa. The document first gives in tabular form the statistics of work done, and then proceeds as follows:

This year's work began with a series of meetings with the Duncombe Mills Sabbath-school, which resulted in three professed conversions. I then organized a Sabbath-school six miles east of Livermore; Rev. J. W. Waite has supplied them with preaching service. After this I organized three Sabbath-schools as follows: One three miles south, one nine miles east and one seven miles west of Boone. I next organized one three miles north of Boone. My next work was with Rev. S. B. McClelland where I organized two good schools, one four and one-half miles southwest and one five miles northwest of Grand Junction. The next school I organized was four miles north of Churdan, at Adaza.

June 10th I visited Lake City, Sandy and Lohrville Sabbath-schools, and on the following Tuesday went to Des Moines to attend our State Sabbath-school Institute. The rest of the month was spent in visiting families and Sabbath-schools, after which I went north into Kossuth county and visited the Newcomb school and all the families in that vicinity, also did the same in Irvington; Brother Sinclair, who was preaching in both these places accompanied me.

At the invitation of Dr. Green I attended the anniversary of the Duncombe Mills Sabbath-school, July 8th. The little "dirty girl," of whom we told you in our field notes, was present and neat and clean, having on new dress, hat and shoes—so much for the gospel influence.

I visited the families in the Frisbee district, also their Sabbath school. I next canvassed what is known as the Patterson district and Story district, and on the following Sabbath organized a school in each district; one is four and the other eight miles west of Burt. Rev. D. Williams supplies one of these schools with regular preaching service. He also preaches at the Frisbee school. Mr. Jas. Stowe superintends the other school, four miles from Burt. I went west from here and visited the Sabbath school and all the families in the Scotch settlement. I also visited the Wallingford Sabbath-school; here I found a ball game, target shooting and horse racing on Sabbath. The superintendent is an earnest Christian lady who has the grace to go out to the ball game and invite the boys to come into the Sabbath-school.

My next work was to organize a school near DePew post office. From here I went to a point in Humboldt County, ten miles south of West Bend, and organized another school. On request of Elder W. C. Kennedy, I visited Pleasant View Sabbath-school, of which he is superintendent; we held a meeting in the morning and in the evening, and there were three persons who took their stand on the Lord's side. We continued the meetings for a week which resulted in ten conversions and they all joined our church in Rolfe, Rev. Geo. Ainslie, pastor. Having been from home two months I turned my face homeward, and the week following, assisted by Rev. Scott W. Smith, we held a series of meetings with the Sabbath-school three miles south of Boone with the following result: eight conversions and four united with the Boone church on profession of faith.

Your missionary found some very destitute and illiterate homes during this summer campaign. A father of seven children said: "I would rather my boys would go fishing or hunting on the Sabbath than go to Sabbath-school." I found two homes without Bibles, and when I asked one of the ladies if she would promise to read it she said, "I don't know whether I will or not." In one locality where I was I found that nearly all the young men, and some of the old ones, played ball every Sabbath afternoon, and when talking with some of them about it, and how wrong it was, to my surprise I learned that a man with Rev. before his name would preach to his people in the morning and would umpire the ball game in the afternoon.

We are glad to note a marked increase in the gifts of children's day from most of our churches. The little church of Paton gave $14 on children's day which makes $29 25 given by them to Sabbath-school missionary work since April 1st.

Rev. C. E. Freeman has organized two schools this summer. This makes five Presbyterian Sabbath-schools around Spirit Lake where he holds regular services. I wish also to state that Rev. M. T. Rainier has organized a Sabbath-school some four miles north of Lake Park. Also that Rev. S. R. Ferguson organized one seven miles southwest of Jefferson. This makes eighteen Sabbath-schools organized in our Presbytery during the past five months.

And now to come into your own fields of work—your church, your Sabbath school, your class. Dear superintendent, are your methods improving? Teacher, is your motto, "My class for Christ?" Dear pastor, are you giving your heartiest support to our work? May you all pray for God's richest blessings upon this work.

EDUCATION.

THE ANNUNCIATION.

If we may believe ecclesiastical tradition the house in Nazareth, in which the angel Gabriel appeared to Mary, the mother of Jesus, and announced his birth, was transformed by the apostles into a church. St. Luke is said to have added to its attractions a wooden image of the Virgin with the Holy Child. Divine service in this church was interrupted by the Turks, who came into control of Palestine, and in the year 1291 the angels carried the building, or at least a portion of it, through the air into Northern Dalmatia. There lived at this time a noble and pious lady named Laureta, in the province of Ancona, in Italy. There was upon her estate a wood, and to that wood, on the tenth day of December, 1294, the angels brought the house in the air across the Adriatic Sea, and there gave to it a final resting-place. It is called by the name of the noble lady, Domus Lauretana, or very frequently Casa Santa, which means the Holy House. It is the most famous and most frequented Roman Catholic shrine in Europe. This is the story. The popes of Rome have adopted it as trustworthy. Sixtus IV. issued a bull in 1471 vouching for its truth, and Clement VII. built the church which now covers and encloses the casa santa. The house, or room, is of brick, and rudely made, with one door, and one window, through which the angel is said to have flown. The forlorn appearance of the original building, however, is gone, for the gifts of the faithful have entirely encased it with white marble, chiseled into shapes of beauty after designs furnished by the most famous artists. Most of the sculpture illustrates the story of the Virgin Mary in connection with the nativity of our blessed Lord. Princes have vied with one another in making costly gifts to this shrine. Louis XIII., on the occasion of the birth of his son, afterwards Louis XIV., presented an image of an angel made of silver, weighing three hundred and fifty-one pounds, and holding in its arms the golden image of a child of twenty-four pounds weight. James II., when the so-called Pretender was born, gave to the church a kneeling angel, made of gold, and of great cost. A great number of priests attend, and a countless succession of services are celebrated at this chief seat of Mariolatry, and pilgrims crowd to it from all quarters.

Protestant Christians look sadly upon these scenes. They have no faith whatever in the story told about the Casa Santa of Laureta.

They wonder how church authorities can lend sanction to such a tale, or encourage the paying of religious homage to a creature. They think that the gifts of princes might have been better bestowed. They turn with delight from all these human additions to the simple story of the annunciation as told in the Word of God. Our picture, taken from the beautiful painting by Jalabert, represents the Virgin, startled at her devotions by the apparition of Gabriel, listening to his gentle salutation and the amazing announcement that among all women in the wide world the privilege has been accorded to her of becoming the mother of the Son of God. We must not forget that an announcement equally startling has been made to us. We are charged with the responsibility of making all men everywhere acquainted with the glad tidings that God has been "manifest in the flesh" as the Redeemer of the world. Mary meekly said to the angel: "Behold the handmaid of the Lord: be it unto me according to thy word." When we get our Christmas message and learn what a privilege and what a responsibility is ours may we as meekly, as devoutly, and with hearts as loyal as Mary's, make our willing response.

COLLEGE AND SEMINARY NOTES.

UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN.—There were 2,660 students in attendance in all departments last session. The number in the Literary Department was 1,428. Workmen are busy putting up the great organ which attracted so much attention at the Columbian Exposition. It will be used in the Assembly Room of University Hall. There are only two larger organs in the country.

UNIVERSITY OF BERLIN.—The famous Professor Dillman has for his successor W. Graf von Bandissin of the University of Marburg. An excellent portrait of Professor Dillman appears in the magazine formerly called "The Old and New Testament Student."

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY intends to erect a medical college and a hospital for the medical department with the proceeds of the gift of $100,000, made by Dr. S. B. Bell.

COLUMBIA COLLEGE, NEW YORK.—At a recent meeting of the Alumni Association the following resolution was passed unanimously:

Resolved—That the trustees ought to provide dormitories for the undergraduate department.

YALE.—"Vanderbilt Hall" has been completed at a cost of $1,000,000. The walls of the entries are of white glazed brick, and the students' rooms are very attractive. Every room is rented, and the total income to the college will be about $20,000 per annum. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., of the senior class has apartments in this building.

BOWDOIN is rejoicing in the acquisition of its "Walker Art Building," which cost nearly $200,000. The dome of the building is divided into four segments, the interior surfaces of which are to be decorated with paintings representing allegorically Athens, Florence, Rome and Venice.

WABASH COLLEGE now possesses a physiological botanical laboratory, the gift of S. P. Williams, Esq., of Lima, Ind. The new students number nearly ninety.

LANE SEMINARY has made the following provision for instruction this season: Dr. E. D. Morris, Systematic Theology; Rev. H. W. Hulbert, Church History; Rev. Kemper Fullerton, Hebrew Exegesis and Greek; Dr. A. B. Riggs, New Testament Exegesis; special courses of lectures by Drs. Wm. E. Moore, Herrick Johnson, Talbot W. Chambers and Geo. S. Burroughs.

TRINITY COLLEGE.—It may be interesting to know that the authorities have provided that academic hoods are to be made as follows: B. A., black stuff, edged with palatinate, purple silk; M. A., black silk, lined with palatinate purple silk; LL. D., scarlet silk lined with dark-blue silk, all of these of Oxford cut. The D. D. hood must be of Cambridge cut, made of scarlet cloth, and lined with black silk.

CORNELL UNIVERSITY.—Mr. H. Morse Stephens, M. A., (Oxen) has resigned the position he held as lecturer on Indian History and staff lecturer on History to the University Extension delectacy, in order to accept the chair of Modern European History at Cornell University.

COLLEGE EXPENSES. Dr. T. S. Hamlin, of Washington, has been making a study of the catalogues of three of our leading Universities, covering a period of 40 years. He finds a very considerable increase in the rate of expense. In the 20 years from 1874 to 1894, the cost of an education at these Universities had risen so that $800 to $1,000 is necessary for the maintenance of a student at any of them under existing circumstances.

In Dr. Hamlin's calculations there must be an allowance for a degree of comfort, if not of luxury, to which the candidates for the ministry under the care of our Board, are strangers. There is certainly a way of securing an education, even at these leading Universities, at a cheaper rate than is here estimated. Our young men are getting a college education without spending more than $800 in the year. But our churches ought to make a note of the fact that in exacting, as they very properly do, a collegiate education on the part of our candidates for the ministry, they are requiring that which can be procured by young men who depend upon their own exertions for support only by the exercise of the greatest economy and self denial, and the Church ought to come generously to their assistance when so expensive an education is necessary for their full preparation for the ministry.

REV. THORNTON A. MILLS.

We have taken pains to secure a portrait of Dr. Mills, and give our readers the best that could be obtained. It was upon him that fell the care and responsibility of setting in operation the machinery of the Committee of Education in the New School branch of the Church. He entered on his work in the year 1857. He is said to have been a man of uncommon strength of character as well as of ardent piety. Dr. Poor says that he had difficulties of an extraordinary character to contend with. Six years of preparatory labors were spent in efforts to rescue the cause from the scepticism, indifference, misapprehension, prejudice and contempt which were connected with it and to awaken an interest in its favor throughout the Church. The result was a well-constructed plan, and a prospect of much usefulness. But the civil war broke out, and the cause struggled on through all the trials and difficulties of those sad years until the early summer of 1867, when its valiant and indefatigable secretary dropped dead on his way home from a meeting of the Committee. To his sagacity, courage and indomitable perseverance the success of the movement begun eleven years ago was largely due. It is a great pleasure and privilege to do something towards keeping the memory of so faithful and laborious a man in loving remembrance. The Church ought to bear in mind, in association with him, his efficient co-laborers, Rev. R. J. Owen, D. D., Rev. J. F. Stearns, D. D., Rev. G. L. Prentiss, D. D., Rev. J. P. Wilson, D. D., Rev. T. L. Cuyler, D. D., and Rev. R. R. Booth, D. D., besides such men as J. W. Benedict, Esq., Recording Secretary and Treasurer, and W. A. Booth, Esq., unflinching friends of the cause of Ministerial Education. The reunion consummated in 1870 resulted in the transferring of all the business of the Permanent Committee, its list of beneficiaries, and its effects in general, to the Board of Education located in Philadelphia, but the work of that Committee constitutes an exceedingly important part of the history of the benevolent work of the Church, and the fruit of its toil is being reaped to-day.

ATTENTION! PLEASE! All candidates are now enrolled whom we dare take without additional funds. Who will send us the means to save many candidates from disappointment?

COLLEGES AND ACADEMIES.

BUENA VISTA COLLEGE.

BUENA VISTA COLLEGE.

REV. J. MACALLISTER, ACTING PRESIDENT.

This college is at Storm Lake, Iowa, on the Illinois Central road, 81 miles east of Sioux City and 60 south of the Minnesota line.

The lake is a beautiful body of water, about 5 miles long and 2 miles wide, which affords delightful fishing, boating and bathing. The town of 2,000 population has been laid out on a generous plan. Its streets are wide, and lots deep. Double rows of trees line almost every street. There are no saloons; an effort to secure the requisite number of voters to open saloons under the Mullet law proved unsuccessful.

The Synod of Iowa in session at Boone in October 1891 adopted this college as its own, and elected the Board of Trustees, to whom is entrusted the entire control of its property and the management of its interests. The Synod recognized the existence of the other colleges in the eastern part of the State; but since their organization population has moved onward into the fertile prairies and alluvial valleys of central and western Iowa. Here were four-fifths of this great state unoccupied by any Presbyterian College, besides eastern Nebraska, south-eastern Dakota and southern Minnesota.

"Here was a field as large as the state of Pennsylvania, Illinois, or Indiana without a Presbyterian College." Do you wonder that Synod decided Buena Vista College had a clear field, and was so located that with fair facilities it must do a good work?

The college building is a well proportioned brick structure, three stories high, with ample recitation rooms, chapel and laboratory.

It cost $25,000—furnishings, etc., about $4,000 more—all of which was raised by lovers of Christian education in Buena Vista and adjoining counties.

The dormitories, worth about $10,000 including furnishings, were erected by some gentlemen of Storm Lake interested in the success of the college. These are owned by them, although under the management of the College Trustees.

The President's house was built by Rev. J. M. Linn, who held that office for two years, resigning it last June on account of the condition of Mrs. Linn's health, (she has since died). He still owns it, but has placed it also under care of the College Trustees.

These buildings are all needed for the efficient working of the college. Not to have them would cripple it, for it is difficult to rent a suitable house for the President; and to secure enough boarding accommodation at the economical rates that students from rural districts require is almost impossible, and we should own them. One thousand dollars of interest now paid to those who erected the buildings would help in paying professors' salaries. We have a small endowment started for the purpose of buying these buildings. If any generous friend of education should wish to help us raise this $14,000, we will disclose the secret of how much we now have toward it.

We had a total enrollment last year of 140 students. This year, although the whole territory from which we expect to draw students has been more or less drought stricken, we have good hope of much larger attendance. The Institution is becoming better known and growing into the affections of the churches.

The sort of instruction most young people around us call for is that which will fit them for teaching school and getting positions in business houses. For these there are normal and commercial departments.

These draw earnest and ambitious young men and women "inside college walls," where they catch glimpses of higher careers, and often step higher. The college preparatory department takes students as we find them after leaving the country or town public schools, and fits them for college.

As we have no endowments we have taken the advice of our good friends, the Board of Aid for Colleges, limiting instruction in college work to the first two years, (Freshman and Sophomore). For this work we have a competent faculty.

We have improved facilities for musical and art instruction.

Our charter covers a full college course, and we hope to give it whenever generous friends shall place means in our hands to give instruction in the Junior and Senior years also. In the meantime we can give thorough instruction at very low rates to those to whom it is an object to save their means during the preparatory and earlier college years. It should be noted also that we provide for the religious care of the students by daily chapel exercises and weekly Bible studies. Attendance at some church on Sabbath is required by the rules of the college and is carefully noted by the faculty.

Steps have been taken also to secure the organization of a Y. M. C. A. in the college, and personal work is done among the students.

Put a pin in Storm Lake, then stretch a string out 100 miles; now describe a circle and you will have some idea of our territory for immediate operations. In all this circle and more, is no Presbyterian College and no other Christian college of any great influence.

To help plant Buena Vista College on a sound basis means great things for the cause of our Master and our good Church.

CHURCH ERECTION.

SAMUEL DAVIES ALEXANDER, D. D.

The Board of Church Erection has sustained a great loss in the sudden and unexpected death (October 26) of its President, the Rev. Samuel D. Alexander, D. D.

Dr. Alexander, the son of the distinguished Dr. Archibald Alexander, one of the founders of Princeton Theological Seminary and its first professor, was born at Princeton, N. J., May 8, 1819. He was graduated at the College of New Jersey in 1838, and after a short career as a civil engineer, entered the Theological Seminary from which he was graduated in 1847. He was ordained by the Presbytery of Philadelphia, November 16, 1847, was a pastor in Philadelphia for two years and at Freehold, N. J., for five years. In 1856 he succeeded the Rev. James M. Macdonald as the pastor of the Fifteenth Street Church in New York City.

In 1869 the church was removed to the corner of Madison Avenue and Seventy-third Street and there Dr. Alexander continued in active service until 1889, when at his own request he was made pastor emeritus, which relation he sustained until his death. In 1869 he was elected stated clerk of the Presbytery of New York and since has been annually re-elected to the office—a period of of twenty-five years.

He was elected as Trustee of this Board in 1872 and in 1888 succeeded Dr. Fewsmith as its President and so continued until his death.

In his unexpected departure, not only the circle of his immediate relatives, but the church which for so many years he served, the Presbytery which knew him for a quarter of a century as a faithful and efficient officer, this Board which constantly recognized his fervent interest and practical wisdom, and the community in which he lived honored and beloved, are deeply bereaved.

Dr. Alexander was a man of singularly lovable disposition. While decided in his own views and frank in their expression, he was so gentle, courteous and conciliatory in his speech and manners, that he never gave offense even to those with whom he differed. Modest and retiring almost to a fault, he never sought office or prominence, but when duties were assigned him by his brethren he fulfilled them with conspicuous diligence and fidelity. As a pastor he was untiring in his service and won and held the affection of his people for more than the lifetime of a generation: as a preacher, he was simple, instructive, pungent and practical; as a presbyter and officer, he was punctual, methodical, clear-headed and efficient. The history of the Presbytery of New York from 1786–1888 prepared by him, is in arrangement, conciseness, fullness and accuracy a model of such records.

In the work of this Board he took the deepest interest, and after his election to the presidency he gave almost every week a portion of his time to its service, calling frequently at the office, and thus affording the other officers the opportunity to profit by his wisdom and experience in the work.

Although he had passed the limit of three-score years and ten, he was so active in his movements, so fresh and youthful in appearance that he did not rank among the old men, and death was so sudden that at first it seemed untimely. But a second thought leaves room only for thanksgiving that having completed so many years of faithful, uninterrupted service, and having passed the usual limit of life he should so quietly, so gently, without sickness, pain or suffering fall on sleep and awake in glory. The funeral services were held on Monday morning, October 29, in the Phillips Church, the pastor, the Rev. John E. Bushnell, taking part with Dr. Booth and Dr. Hall. In the afternoon the remains, accompanied by relatives and friends of the departed brother, together with representatives of the Church, the Presbytery, and the Board of which he was President, were carried to Princeton and there laid in the historic graveyard, beside those of his father and his brothers, to await the coming of the Lord.

WORK AMONG INDIANS.

The following letters are of interest as showing the progress of evangelization and Christian growth among the Indians, few in number who survive and attain to the blessings of civilization. The first is from the reservation in western New York, which has been practically a Christian community for many years. The second from Laguna, New Mexico, gives an example of faithfulness and self-denial in giving that might well be imitated by the many older churches which give nothing to our Boards and apparently take no interest in their work.

We wish to call special attention to the appeal of the church for a bell, hoping it may meet the eye of some congregation or friend who has such a gift to bestow.

SALAMANCA, N. Y., October 18, 1894.

The new house of worship for the Presby terian Church among the Tuscarora Indians was dedicated on Thursday, October 11.

The Rev. L. G. Marsh, of Lewiston, and the Revs A. S. Bacon and Geo. Nicholls, of Niagara Falls, conducted the services. Speeches were made by Elder A. L. Jenison, a Seneca Indian, and Elder Samuel Jacobs and others of the Tuscaroras.

The edifice is worth $1,200. Four hundred and fifty dollars of this came from the Board of Church Erection and other friends of the Indians. The Tuscaroras contributed in work and money sufficient to complete the building. No white mechanic has lifted hands upon the house. It is the work of our Indians.

This completes the fourth church built by the Indians aided by your Board in the thirteen years of my missionary work among the Six Nations.

Our joy over the completion of this church building is only exceeded by our gratitude to those who by their gifts enabled us to begin the work and who by their sympathy have inspired us to finish it.

Yours,

M. F. TRIPPE.

LAGUNA, October, 24, 1894.

Dear Brother:—With my quarterly report I sent last week $4.10 to our Board of Home Missions for the Board of Church Erection. This collection was taken here in our poor Indian church and more than a fourth part of it was contributed by eggs, peaches, meat and squashes that our Indians in Pagnati gave. Pagnati is the largest village of our Laguna Indians but it is only about three months since I, on their own request, began to preach them the Gospel every Sunday in a house that they had built for a Catholic school. We have, of course, no bell, but the officers being in favor of our services call the people to church in their own way; either by going from house to house, or by calling aloud in the streets.

So far the work is going on very well, but we are feeling the want of a bell very much, for we cannot depend on the officers; sometimes they are not at home, and besides they get changed every year, so that we don't know whether their successors will be willing to do us the favor of calling the people to church or not.

Therefore I made up my mind to ask the Board of Church Erection to provide us with a small bell for our church in Pagnati. It is not necessary to be new. You are surely acquainted with most of our churches, and if you want to do us this favor, you can ask any of them whether they have not an old bell to spare for us. It would be a great help for our work there and we would be very thankful. Hoping that you will succeed in helping us in this respect, I remain

Yours fraternally,

M. BERCORITZ.

OMISSION.

MARION HARLAND.

[From The Congregationalist.]

I might have said a word of cheer
Before I let him go.
His weary visage haunts me yet;
But how could I foreknow
The alighted chance would be the last
To me in mercy given?
My utmost yearnings cannot send
That word from earth to heaven.

I might have looked the love I felt;
My brother had sore need
Of that for which—too shy and proud—
He lacked the speech to plead.
But self is near, and self is strong,
And I was blind that day;
He sought within my careless eyes
And went, athirst, away.

I might have held in closer clasp
The hand he laid in mine;
The pulsing warmth of my rich life
Had been as generous wine,

Swelling a stream that, even then,
Was ebbing faint and slow.
Mine might have been (God knows!) the art
To stay the fatal flow.

O, word and look and clasp withheld!
O, brother-hearted, now stilled!
Dear life, forever out of reach,
I might have warmed and filled!
Talents misused and seasons lost,
O'er which I mourn in vain—
A waste as barren to my tears
As desert sands to rain!

Ah, friend! whose eyes to-day may look
Love into living eyes,
Whose tone and touch, perchance, may thrill
Sad hearts with sweet surprise,
Be instant, like your Lord, in love,
And lavish as his grace,
With light and dew and manna-fall,
For night comes on apace.

Thoughts on The Sabbath-school Lessons.

December 2.—Christ's Testimony to John.
—Luke vii: 24-35.

"Faithful unto death," "Resisting unto blood, striving against sin," John's name stands high in the roll of the "glorious army of martyrs" as well as in the list of prophets. Sublime courage and unselfish humility combined in his character and made it "a burning and a shining light" whose radiance has not dimmed with the centuries. And yet, "he that is least in the kingdom of heaven is greater than he;" greater in privilege, greater in opportunity. How much of blessedness and of responsibility that implies for all those for whom that kingdom is prepared and to whom it is offered.

"Blessed are the poor in spirit; for theirs is the kingdom of heaven."

"Blessed are they that are persecuted for righteousness' sake; for theirs is the kingdom of heaven."

"Suffer little children to come unto me, and forbid them not: for of such is the kingdom of heaven."

"Except ye be converted, and become as little children, ye shall not enter into the kingdom of heaven."

"Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God."

December 9.—Christ Teaching by Parables.
—Luke viii: 4-15.

The thought is a solemn one, that there is such a thing as laying waste the very soil in which the seed of eternal life should have taken root—that every act of sin, of unfaithfulness to the light within us, is, as it were, a treading of the ground into more hardness, so that the seed shall find no nutriment there, or a fitting it to nourish thorns and briers more kindly than the good seed; yet on the other hand, even for those who have brought themselves into these evil conditions, a recovery is still, through the grace of God, possible—the hard soil may again become soft—the shallow soil may become rich and deep—and the soil beset with thorns open and clear.

R. C. French.

Sower divine!
Sow the good seed in me,
Seed for eternity.
'Tis a rough, barren soil,
Yet by thy care and toll
Make it a fruitful field
An hundred fold to yield.
Sower divine,
Plough up this heart of mine!

Sower divine!
Quit not this wretched field
Till thou hast made it yield;
Sow thou by day and night,
In darkness and in light.
Stay not thy hand, but sow;
Then shall the harvest grow.
Sower divine,
Sow deep this heart of mine!

Sower divine!
Let not this barren clay
Lead thee to turn away;
Let not my fruitlessness
Provoke thee not to bless;
Let not this field be dry,
Refresh it from on high.
Sower divine,
Water this heart of mine!

H. Bonar.

December 16.—The Twelve Sent Forth.—
Matt. x: 5-16.

"As ye go, preach." Whether holding a commission from any Board of Missions, or not, the children of God have their orders direct from him, "As ye go, preach." At home, or abroad, at school, at store, in society, in business, "Ye are my witnesses," and souls are waiting for the message of life. By word and by silent example, with constant prayer, the ministry of love must be carried on, if the world is to be won for Christ. And those who have tasted for themselves the richness of redeeming love, will recognize the responsibility. "Freely ye have received, freely give."

December 23.—The Prince of Peace—Isa. ix: 2-7 (A Christmas Lesson).

Has the progress of the kingdom seemed slow in the almost nineteen centuries that have passed since the little Prince of Peace was heralded by the angels on the plains of Bethlehem? Yes, but there has been progress and as 1894 dies away there are more souls than ever before that acknowledge allegiance to him. The heathen do rage and the people even in Christian lands, imagine vain things, but more and more souls are turning from the darkness to the marvellous light, with the glad testimony, "Lo, this is our God, we have waited for him." More and more they are finding out "There is no God like our God," and more and more the power of the Prince of Peace is being felt in the affairs of this world. And the promise reaches far on into eternity, "Of the increase of his government and peace there shall be no end." "The God of heaven shall set up a kingdom, which shall never be destroyed; and the kingdom shall not be left to other people, but it shall break in pieces and consume all their kingdoms, and it shall stand forever."

Warning Against Sins—Eph. v; 11-20.
(A Temperance Lesson.)

There is one intensity of feeling produced by stimulating the senses, another by vivifying the spiritual life. Stimulants like wine inflame the senses, and through them set the imaginations on fire, and the law of our spiritual being is, that that which begins with the flesh sensualizes the spirit—whereas that which begins with the spirit spiritualizes the senses, in which it subsequently stirs emotion. Wine is but a specimen of a class of stimulants. All that begins from without belongs to the same class. The stimulus may be afforded by almost any excessive enjoyment of the senses. The prophet tells us of those who are drunken, and not with wine.

We want the vision of a calmer and simpler beauty to tranquilize us in the midst of artificial tastes—we want the draught of a purer spring, to cool the flame of our excited life—we want, in other words, the Spirit of Christ, with power to calm and soothe the feeling which it rouses; the fullness of the Spirit which can never intoxicate!

F. W. Robertson, D. D.

December 30.—Review. Golden Text: Jesus Christ the same yesterday, and to-day, and forever.

Our study of the earthly life of Christ is of little value to us unless it is making us acquainted with him as a present Savior, Counsellor, Guide and Friend. What have we learned during the past quarter of his sympathetic interest in the needs, physical and spiritual, of those with whom he came in contact! of his readiness to help! of his wisdom as a teacher! of his hatred of everything that was mean and impure and unholy! He is just the same to-day, his power and his love are unfailing, his invitation and his promises have lost none of their urgency or their tenderness.

Young People's Christian Endeavor.

"A SYRIAN READY TO PERISH."

GEORGE A. FORD, D. D.

This pathetic phrase from the beautiful ritual in the twenty sixth chapter of Deuteronomy has set me thinking about the difference between a Syrian ready to perish and an American ready to perish. Is it not an item in our Christian Endeavor to endeavor so to enter into the circumstances of every class of men that we can properly understand them? Do we ever stop to think of the handicap that the Syrian carries in his race for the crown of life, as compared with the American? Have we ever sat down to reckon the difference between the task of the evangelist in Syria and that of the evangelist in America?

They tell us that the three walls of Jerusalem, one within the other, were at some periods all standing and fortified together. Hence to conquer "Zion beautiful for situation, the joy of the whole earth," was almost like taking three cities, as each of the three walls must be stormed separately. I see in this statement a suggestive illustration of the difference between the unevangelized Syrian and the unevangelized American.

The city of Mansoul, as graphically described by Bunyan, is everywhere the same in being ruled by the usurping "prince of this world" and fortified by the wall of sinful habits, impulses and associations, against the loving siege and rightful claims of King Immanuel.

But this city, as we find it in Syria, has also two other, outer walls, which increase the difficulty of its capture. These walls are PREJUDICE AND POVERTY.

I hope every reader, especially every Syrian reader, will carefully remember that I must speak in this connection of the average Syrian as missions found him 70 years ago, or as missions now find him in those districts of Syria to which the direct or indirect influence of missions has heretofore scarcely penetrated. I recognize the noble exceptions and the great change in Syria in many respects.

But think how the average Syrian is naturally fortified against the missionary and his message by the four-sided wall of prejudice, in language, race, politics and religion.

He is proud of his language with its ancient literature, elaborate structure, poetic forms, limitless vocabulary and sacred associations. The missionary knows nothing of it when he comes and usually never knows it but quite imperfectly. His ideas as well as his idioms are unfamiliar when not grotesque, and the Syrian, in his loyalty to his native tongue, is disposed to despise him and spurn his message. The best of missionaries can scarcely hope to overcome this natural barrier so fully as to teach or preach with such force and clearness as he would be able to do in his own language.

Our Christian sentiment leads us not only to tolerate, but even to relish, in a way, the broken speech of foreigners; but no such sentiment helps the struggling missionary. He will find the natives talking to him in broken Arabic with a condescension like that which might lead a stranger to use "baby-talk" with a child. This difficulty of language is a two-edged sword that wounds both the missionary and his hearers.

Next comes prejudice of race. The Gospel has softened this among us so that we find it hard to realize how men naturally dislike aliens, and especially dislike to accept aliens as instructors. Our country has usually had a welcome for the foreigner. We have needed him to develop our natural resources; but in the overpopulated and poverty-stricken and intriguing orient, the foreigner is an intruder whose presence is resented. The Arabic word for foreigner has a harsh and disdainful tone.

More relentless still is political prejudice. The union of church and state pervades all the sects, and the civil power is used to crush religious liberty. To accept Christ involves always a change of political party allegiance, and this always complicates the question of confessing Christ. The unenlightened Syrian looks upon the missionary as representative not only of a hostile faith, but of a hostile political connection, and he does not dream of the separation of church and state that enables the missionary to put politics entirely out of sight. He has cherished and practiced all along a political as well as religious hostility toward the missionary and his cause, and it is on this account doubly hard to change front. To leave the sect in which he was born and to which all his connections belong is disloyal to their worldly interests as well as his own, both socially and politically, and here is another phase of this political prejudice that appeals to the nobler impulses and deters him from confessing Christ.

But the deepest and most tenacious of all is religious prejudice. The American ready to perish and the evangelist may come together without the least linguistic, racial or political difficulty for either to overcome. Nor does any religious prejudice separate them. If there is any prejudice to overcome it is the prejudice of irreligion in the sinner and in the professing Christians over whom he may stumble. The sinner's conscience sides with the evangelist almost every time. But in the case of the Syrian sinner, it is a religious prejudice that arrays what conscience he has against the missionary and his message. There is no irreligious class to work among. All who hear the word have a religion of their own that they guard most jealously and prize supremely. When you offer the Syrian another religion which you call better, he can only think of you as an intriguer against his sect for selfish purposes. For him even to listen respectfully to your preaching is perfidy; to adopt your faith is perdition. It will take him a long time to grasp and retain the teaching you bring to him, and so he is in no position to weigh your evidences. Hence it is his better and not his baser sentiments that rebel against the faith which the missionary brings.

But after the wall of prejudice has been broken down there remains that other dreadful wall of POVERTY further in. In the case of the American poverty is not so much a barrier as an incentive to taking a Christian stand. The Gospel comes to him in his distress as a delightful contrast "having the promise of the life that now is" as well as of "that which is to come." He can welcome it as being sure to mitigate some of his earthly ills in the course of time. Not so the Syrian. For him to accept Christ is to array against himself nearly all his countrymen, to be shut out of employment, to be ostracized and shunned and refused all the many helps that primitive people render one another in their needs. He loses thus the powerful help of the hierarchy in securing his civil rights and becomes an easy prey for any one who may choose to attack his person or his little property, and the victim of extra and unjust taxation levied by the hierarchy in revenge.

This poverty of material resources also greatly hinders self-support of churches, and native church extension. With no funds to furnish the appliances of Christian work, such as buildings, institutions, books, papers, conventions, etc., and with no rich constituency on the field to supplement the need, we can see how real a wall financial poverty usually is. Repeatedly have I heard persons fully convinced of the Christian truth excuse themselves from confessing it on the ground that if they should die they would not be allowed a burial place or have friends to bear them to their burial.

There is also intellectual poverty. The mind, though quick, is untrained and unfurnished. Even the rudiments of education are wanting, and there is no store of correct ideas to fall back upon. Hence the introduction of new conceptions of truth is very difficult.

Then, there is heart poverty as well. The heart, though kindly, is enervated, not only by the common evil impulse but much more by a false standard and the influence of debased religious leaders. Thus the strong moral sense that lingers in even the criminals in Christian lands is largely wanting in even the religious teachers and rulers in the orient. Religion is supplanted, not so much by avowed irreligion as by stolid conservatism and selfish policy. How can the heart be otherwise than impoverished when love, as a pure and generous impulse, is a comparative stranger? Marriage rests either upon animalism or cold calculation. Love in the family is essentially clanishness, and in the other relations of life it is still more self-centered and designing.

It follows therefore that the motive-power, the will, is also impoverished, lacking the necessary stimulus from mind and heart. Helpless servility for many generations, has well-nigh crushed out manly courage and stalwart independence.

Some of our readers heard Dr. Ford, during his recent visit to this country, setting forth the above sentiments with powerful effect from the pulpit. At our request, he undertook to put them in writing for our readers. Pressed beyond measure with the urgent and perplexing cares incident to preparation for a voyage, he was compelled to work long past midnight on each of the two nights preceding the day (October 6) on which he sailed, and found it impossible to complete this article which he had promised to our Christian Endeavorers, for this December number. With a most generous confidence, he mailed the MS. to the editor just before going to the ship, entrusting to him the finishing of it and preparing it for the press.

It does not seem to need much finishing. We can understand what impressive sentences the few would be which our dear brother would have added if he could have had another hour free from fatigue and from interruption. But surely every reader who peruses the graphic periods which Dr. Ford did complete will find his own mind supplying and his own heart feeling the plea for the "Syrian ready to perish" which he would have written if ship and tide could have waited for him, and which some of us heard from his persuasive lips.

When you read this number you may think of Dr. Ford as already arrived in his Syrian field of labor, and entering into the evangelistic work to which, with the approval of the mission, he has especially devoted the coming winter.

And when he reads this number, which should reach him about Christmas, we venture to assure him that thousands of American Christians will have read his plea for Syrians ready to perish, and will not forget to pray that he may be sent of God to rescue many of them, and that God will evermore be with him. H. A. N.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS OF TRULY CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

It is well for us to remember that before CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR was so happily chosen for the name of an organization which has had such wonderful growth and usefulness, there were many young people, and not a few local associations of them, that had the spirit and aims so happily indicated by that name.

One such association in the city of Detroit has lately held its twenty-fifth anniversary, and one of its members, Mr. F. J. Stevenson, has sent us an account of it which will certainly interest and encourage our readers. Mr. Stevenson writes as follows:

THE RICHARDSON MISSIONARY SOCIETY OF DETROIT held its twenty-fifth anniversary, October 5, 1894.

The Secretary's Report, giving a review of the work for one quarter of a century, showed how much might be accomplished by continuous persistent work.

Named after Miss Mary Richardson of New York, a young lady given to mission work in that city, who afterwards became the wife of a missionary to Ceylon, the society seemed to catch her spirit and entered with zeal into the work of providing funds for various mission objects.

Starting with a membership of thirty they have grown to a large circle.

Their motto is, WE WILL WORK FOR JESUS. How well this has been lived up to, in letter and in spirit, the continuous service of twenty-five years will show.

Their first charge was the support of a Persian girl in Miss Dean's school at Oroomiah, Persia, and this lady, returned from this distant mission field, was present to tell them what their loving ministrations had accomplished in her care.

At the close of the first year they assumed also the support of a pupil in India and two in China.

Later they turned their attention and gifts also toward Home Missions and contributed to that Board, and also sent barrels of clothing to the Indian school in Wisconsin.

They also assumed the support of a Chinese girl in the Home at San Francisco. This, with other work, has proven the sincerity of their earnestness in the cause for which their Society was planned.

In 1888 an auxiliary society of the younger children of the Church and Sunday-school was added, and their gifts were proffered to swell the stream of influence in mission work. They too took up the work of supporting their little brothers and sisters in heathen lands.

The Society has a lasting monument in the shape of a beautiful window in the church, with the inscription, BEHOLD, I BRING YOU GOOD TIDINGS OF GREAT JOY. This was the text which the Rev. John Monteith, the father of this church, chose for the first sermon in Detroit in 1816.

The Society during its twenty-five years of life has contributed $10,356, the largest amount given in any one year being $774.86.

Six scholarships have been maintained annually, and gifts to Home and Foreign Mission fields have abounded.

The streams of influence which this Society has set in motion are constantly widening and bearing souls into the Master's Kingdom.

SUGGESTIVE HINTS FOR STUDY.

SYRIA.

Syria includes Palestine. There is no scientific ground, says the Encyclopedia Britannica, for the practice of speaking of Syria in a narrow sense as distinguished from Palestine.

Study, first, the history of Syria in Bible times, looking up all the Scriptural references then its subsequent history. "Nature has made this land the link that binds together the three great Eastern continents, and the gateway to Asia, the most populous of these continents."—Rev. George Ford.

THE PEOPLE.

The people of Syria are not unfitted, physically, mentally and morally, Mr. Ford believes, to play an important part in the history that is to be.

Few things mark a race more distinctly than its food, and the food of the Syrians is the bridge which Europeans seldom cross. The Syrian dishes contain every irritant which dyspeptics in the West (and peptics also) shun. The national dish, consisting of crushed wheat and meat, reduced into a paste by the action of a pestle is in itself a sufficient indication of the rudimentary nature of Syrian food; and yet this dish is almost a luxury which the poor are seldom able to procure.—Frederic Carrel in Fortnightly Review.

Almost all the people smoke. They measure distances by pipes. "How far is it to the next village?" "About two pipes of tobacco distant." The Moslems came into power, it has been said, with the Koran in one hand and the sword in the other: they will go out with the Koran in one hand and the pipe in the other.

Mr. Carrel tells us that while ingenuity is not wanting among the artisans of Beirut, they are too apt to mistake it for genius. With an amiable and oriental absence of modesty they assert that they are capable of reproducing any European model, treating the original creation or invention of the object as a very small factor of its merit. "It is well," carelessly remarked one who had been shown an ironclad, "if you wish, I will make you a similar one."

In Syria a father receives the name of his first-born son. An officer in the Beirut church, Elias Tuaz, though he had no son born for sixty years of his life, was always called Aboo Nasif (the father of Nasif) that is, by the name of an imaginary son, as a title of respect. When more than sixty years of age he married, and God gave him a son who was necessarily called Nasif.

Facility and elegance of speech is common to the whole Arab race; but in Syria there is a gentleness and courtesy of language which is seldom met with elsewhere. The rich Arabic language, composed of many idioms, and overcharged with words, lends itself with ease to the wealth of expression in which the Syrians indulge. If the tongue of the East could marry the thought of the West the result would certainly be good.—Frederic Carrel.

The music of the Syrians is very different from ours. It is all minor, and there are twenty-six notes in their scale, where we have but eight, so that the shades of difference are very slight. With them music is simply melody; they have no harmony. When a singing class was first formed, one man arose to say: "One thing I want to protest against in the beginning, and that is having four tunes taught at once." The explanation that they were not four tunes but four parts of the same tune, seemed strange to him. But when, after long practice, they were able to sing the four parts in harmony, they were well pleased. One asked: "Who found out that there are so many parts in a tune?" "It is in the nature of music." "Who made it so?" "God made it so." "Oh, then, if God made it so, I have no objection."—Dr. H. H. Jessup, as reported in The Interior.

For an account of "Syrian Superstitions," see CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD, December, 1889, page 499.

RELIGIONS.

The Turkish government classifies the people as Moslem and non-Moslem. In the latter class are Jews, Orthodox Greeks and Papal Greek, Maronites, Druses, Nusairiyeh, Armenians, Jacobites and Evangelical Christians. Study the characteristics of each. Read the article "Rifts in Islam," CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD, December, 1888, page 579.

The Moslems hold extraordinary prayer-meetings called Zikr, in which their voices sound at a distance like a hoarse bark or growl. I once heard a strange noise Sunday evening, and asked my cook whether our neighbor was sawing wood. He looked out and replied: "No, it is only a Moslem prayer-meeting." The sound to a stranger is wierd and terrific. A crowd of men, sitting or standing in a ring, begin slowly in unison, each repeating the motto, "La-i-le-ha."—"No God," with each exhalation of his breath, and with each inhalation, "Il-lai-la-ho,"—"But God." These words are repeated faster and faster until the voices merge in a rapid growl or hoarse bark and finally cease from the exhaustion of the worshippers. Because exhausting it is regarded as meritorious.—H. H. Jessup, D. D.

PIONEERS OF THE MISSION.

Consult Anderson's Oriental Churches for the story of Pliny Fisk and Eli Parsons. Another pioneer was Jonas King. His farewell message to Syrian nominal Christians is still a message of power to call men away from the errors of false Christianity, says Dr. Eddy; while Isaac Bird's "Thirteen Letters" form a treasure house of sacred truth and a magazine of weapons against false doctrines. Dr. S. H. Calhoun made his influence felt as an educator of youth. Mrs. Sarah Huntington Smith opened the first girls' school in Beirut. It was Dr. Eli Smith who made the press a power in Beirut. "His share in the translation of the Scriptures entitles him to higher honor than if he had built the pyramids." No less worthy of honor is the venerable Dr. Van Dyck, who completed the Arabic Bible. Of Dr. William M. Thompson, who was born to be a pioneer missionary, it is said that his brain thought out the Syrian Protestant College. The heroic Gerald F. Dale, whom Dr. Charles Hodge characterized as "the model scholar, the model Christian and the model gentleman of Princeton Seminary," was absorbingly devoted to his work.

Mission transferred from the American Board to our own in 1870.

THE PRESS.

Located in Beirut. It issues 20,000,000 pages annually. An Arabic almanac, printed by this press, is believed to be the first almanac ever printed in Arabic, although Al Manakh (the climate) is an Arabic word. Fifteen presses and three type foundries, 650 native helpers employed. Headquarters for the work in Arabic of the Presbyterian Board, the American Tract Society, the Religious Tract Society, the American Bible Society and the British and Foreign Bible Society.

The great purpose of this agency is to make it possible to place the Bible in the hands of one-eighth of the human race. While 60,000,000 speak the Arabic, 185,000,000 read the Koran in that language. "The gift of the Bible to this people in their own tongue is the rich and golden tribute which the West has returned to the East, in acknowledgement of its obligation to the land whence the Bible came." See CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD, December, 1891, page 500, for illustration of the tablet placed by President Gilman of Johns Hopkins University in that room in the Beirut Female Seminary in which the translators labored. The literature which American missionaries are giving to Arabic-speaking races, CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD, 1890, page 520.

SYRIAN PROTESTANT COLLEGE.

"When the storm tossed mariner, feeling his way along the dangerous, harborless coast, approaches the roadstead of Beirut he looks eagerly over the sand hills that he may see a tall tower rising there. That tower is laid down upon his chart as the landmark for the entrance to the harbor of Beirut. It is the tower of the Syrian Protestant College," Bishop Hannington said the college was the chief glory of the mission, Professor George E. Post testifies that its graduates have infused into the body politic of many widely separated regions the germs of a new intellectual and political life. For illustrations of the new Assembly Hall, see CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD, December, 1892 and December, 1893.

BEIRUT FEMALE SEMINARY.

The work began with six Arab children. Last year there were one hundred girls in attendance. Of his visit to this country in 1864 to plead for gifts to build the seminary, Dr. Jessup relates this incident: I went to the house of a good lady in Philadelphia and showed her the little printed statement of our need. She said heartily: "I'm glad you've come. I'll see whether there is anything in the Lord's bag. I have the use of this house during my life, and my income is just sufficient for my own support: but I get from upholsterers the old horsehair covers taken from the furniture they repair, and the brushes I make from the hair thus obtained are sold and all that comes from this source is put into the Lord's bag." Going to it, she found about $13, and that helped to build Beirut Seminary.

THE CONVERTS.

"It requires as much of a spirit of consecration and self-denial in a Syrian now to remain at home and preach to his fellow countrymen, as it does in an American to leave his country and come to Syria as a missionary."

Asaad Shidiak, "the Martyr of Lebanon." Preparing a refutation of the doctrines in Mr. King's "Farewell Letter," he chanced to read a passage in Isaiah, which led to a careful study of that prophecy and of the New Testament. Find the account of his conversion and martyrdom.

Butrus Bistany, a young Maronite, found in his Syriac Testament the doctrine of justification by faith, fled from his monastery, and was for two years in seclusion in Dr. Eli Smith's house because a price had been set on his head. Became the greatest scholar in Syria, well known throughout Europe. For 35 years an elder in the Beirut church. His wife, Rahael Ata, was the first girl taught to read in Syria.

At a conference of missionaries and native Syrian preachers in April, 1883, an elderly native arose to speak by appointment on "the different modes of Christian giving." Approaching the desk he turned and laid upon it a French gold Napoleon, saying: "I will give this first to the Lord and then I can speak with more freedom of the duty of others to give." Succeeding speakers followed his example until fifty dollars had been contributed. The sum was sent to the Lodian mission in India.

REFERENCES.

The following references to the CHURCH AT HOME AND ABROAD will suggest material for three-minute talks at the missionary meeting: "God did not create any Christians here," August, 1893, page 94. Story of the Weeping Church, September, 1893, page 237. A Doll Missionary, September, 1893, page 334. Aggressive Christian Endeavor Work in Northern Syria, July, 1893, page 54. A Substitute for Watches, February, 1893, page 111. Girls' school in Tripoli, January, 1893, page 82. Syrians in the United States, June, 1893, page 419.

In the Concert of Prayer department reference is made to much choice material for the study of Syria.

ENCOURAGEMENTS.

With some very serious and trying faults the Syrians are a gifted race. They are keen, quick, calculating, versatile, thrifty, kind-hearted and hospitable, ready in speech, and with special aptitude for languages. Nature has done her part toward fitting them to be the missionary leaven among the scores of millions who may be reached by Arabic. Providence also has been paving the way by the remarkable revival among them of education and civilization, and now by their new passion for emigration, that has planted temporarily not less than 30,000 of them in Australia, Brazil and the United States. When grace shall have taken strong possession, is it too much to expect that some happy day, in the not very distant future, they will fill in Oriental missions some such place as their Phœnician ancestors did in commerce.—Rev. George A. Ford, D. D.

WORTH READING.

LI HUNG CHANG, by G. T. Ferris. The Cosmopolitan, October, 1894.

TUNISIAN TINTS AND TONES, by Henry Hayne. The Cosmopolitan, October, 1894.

COMMERCIAL ASPECTS OF THE JAPAN-CHINA WAR, by Ter. M. Uyeno. Engineering Magazine, September, 1894.

LI HUNG CHANG, by John Russell Young. Review of Reviews, October, 1894.

JOHN COLERIDGE PATTESON, by Rev. C. C. Creegan, D. D. The Congregationalist, October 4, 1894.

THE RAJAHS OF SARAWAK, by Hugues Le Roux. Fortnightly Review, September, 1894.

AFRICAN EXPLORATION AND TRAVEL. The Atlantic Monthly, October, 1894.

THE SCIENTIFIC STUDY OF COMPARATIVE RELIGION IN OUR THEOLOGICAL SEMINARIES, by W. E. Griffis, D. D. The Homiletic Review, October, 1894.

BIBLICAL GIVING, by Rev. C. Harley Smith. The Preacher's Magazine, October, 1894.

THE PEERLESSNESS OF CHRISTIAN MISSIONS, by Joseph Cook. Our Day, September-October, 1894.

THE FOREIGN POLICY OF JAPAN, by Ernest W. Clement. American Journal of Politics, October, 1894.

IN SYRIA, by Frederic Carrel. Fortnightly Review, October, 1894.

MADAGASCAR, by Vazaha. Fortnightly Review, October, 1894.

THE ALLEGED SOJOURN OF CHRIST IN INDIA, by Professor Max Müller. The Nineteenth Century, October, 1894.

THE CHINAMAN ABROAD, by Edmund Mitchell. The Nineteenth Century, October, 1894.

HOW SHALL THE INDIANS BE EDUCATED? by Senator James H. Kyle. North American Review, October, 1894.

THE SIOUX MYTHOLOGY, by Dr. Charles A. Eastman. Popular Science Monthly, November, 1894.

THE RELIGION OF THE SIOUX, by Lieutenant William H. Wassell, U. S. A. Harper's Magazine, November, 1894.

A PAINTER'S IMPRESSION OF RAJPOOTANA, by Edwin Lord Weeks. Harper's Magazine, November, 1894.

THE RELIGION OF CHINA AND ITS WITNESS TO REVELATION, by E. T. Williams. The New Christian Quarterly, October, 1894.

JESUS IN THE WORLD'S PARLIAMENT OF RELIGIONS, by Thomas Munnell. The New Christian Quarterly, October, 1894.

After a recent tour of Rev. Messrs. March and Nelson, through the Tripoli field, the latter wrote:

The trip has been a successful one on the whole and very pleasant, as the weather has not been trying.

Most of the problems have simplified on a nearer approach, and on the whole our work is in a promising condition. Our native helpers are coming to appreciate some of our problems, and to sympathize with us now that they share our burdens, and so are more really helpful.

We have never been so hard pressed for teachers, we have a good lot of boys in training, so that the prospect for teachers a few years hence is better.

What pleases me most of all is the general spirit of co-operation which is growing, I think, by means of our Presbytery. We received a goodly number of members at various places, and there is prospect of still more at the next visit.

The weather is very pleasant now, having become cooler, and I am feeling very well and quite ready for fall work.

GATHERING THE APPLES.

We are indebted to the courtesy of the publishers of Our Dumb Animals, Boston, Mass., for this cut, and for the verses on the next page which it so handsomely illustrates.

Children's Church at Home And Abroad.

ENTERTAINMENT.

[Translation by C. T. Brooks.]

I stopped at an inn one day to dine;
The host was a generous fellow;
A golden apple for a sign
Hung out on a branch, so mellow.

It was the good old apple tree
Himself, so nobly dined me;
Sweet fare and sparkling juices he
Was pleased and proud to find me.

To his green house came many a guest,
Light-winged and light hearted;
They sang their best, they ate his best,
Then up they sprang and departed.

I found a bed to rest my head—
A bed of soft green clover;
The host a great, cool shadow spread
For a quilt, and covered me over.

I asked him what I had to pay—
I saw his head shake slightly—
Oh, blest be he forever and aye
Who treated me so politely.—UHLAND.

WHY HETTIE WAS HAPPY.

Most girls would have thought that Hettie Bowers had not much to make her happy. She had no home of her own, and worked in Mrs. Adams' kitchen from Monday morning till Saturday night. But the truth of the whole matter was that Hettie was a Christian. There was often a song on her lips, and Mrs. Adams was wont to say, "the kitchen is the brightest room in the house."

"What a sunshiny disposition your little kitchen girl has," guests would sometimes say to Mrs. Adams.

And the mistress, who knew well the secret of Hettie's happiness, always answered:

"Yes, it is the sunshine of God's love in her heart."

"Hettie," Mrs. Adams asked one day, "Why are you always so happy?"

"Why, ma'am," she answered, "Jesus loves me, and isn't that enough to make anyone happy?"

"But how do you know he loves you," Hettie?" continued Mrs. Adams.

"He said so, ma'am," she said, and I couldn't doubt his word."

"Then you think he never forgets, Hettie?" Her face lit up with a bright smile.

"Oh! that is the beauty of such love; we forget sometimes, but he never does."

"But, Hettie, don't you ever feel lonely?"

"Not while he is with me, ma'am; but sometimes when I forget his great love I repine."

"Well," said Mrs. Adams to herself, as she stepped out of the kitchen, "what grace he has bestowed upon this little one! While Hettie may be only a poor kitchen girl, as we view things, yet hereafter a rich reward awaits her. He knoweth his own, and calleth them all by name."—Christian Observer.

THE LITTLE FLOCK.

Eighty, ninety, one hundred little Arab children in the Tripoli Sunday-school are known by the name of "The Little Flock." They have a room by themselves and here, each Sabbath-day, they learn the lesson, and at the close of the study-hour stand and recite the Golden Text before the whole school; and how proud they are when they do it well.

They have quaint ways of telling the Bible stories, and sometimes make queer mistakes. One day the lesson was about Christ stilling the tempest; and the little ones had listened eagerly, their pretty dark eyes sparkling, for don't they know all about a storm on the sea and the little boat rocking on the waves? At the close of the lesson the teacher said, "Who has listened very well, and can tell the story without a mistake?"

Up flew the little hands and Yusef was allowed to tell, and he gave the story something like this:

Once there was a big storm on the sea, and Jesus and his disciples were in a little boat and the boat went way up and then it went way down and the disciples were very much afraid. Then they went to Jesus, who was asleep, and said, "O Teacher, dear Teacher, get up, quick, the sea is very high, and we are all going to be drowned!" Then Jesus woke up and looked at his disciples and said: "Why are you afraid, oh you people without any religion, don't you know that I am with you?" Then he got up and said to the sea "Hush!" (with a stamp of the tiny foot), and the sea became just like oil.

"Without any religion" is such a common expression that no one noticed the mistake at first, but it was corrected by a little girl, who gave Jesus' words, "O ye of little faith."

There is a very tempting shop on the way to Sunday-school, and many of the pennies given for our own little tin box find their way to this shop, and some of the members of "The Little Flock" come in with traces of sweets about their mouths or with delicious green almonds or apricots in their hands or pocket.

One day the teacher talked with them about giving their money to the Lord, and not spending it all for themselves. One little chap evidently had something to say, and when permission was granted he said, "I shall not give any of my money to the Lord or anybody, and I don't spend it, either. I put it all away, and when I grow up I shall be very rich, rich as a miser!" The class looked askance at this little black sheep, and one whispered, "Satan will take him to Gehennum if he does so, won't he, teacher?"

A visitor one day being attracted by a bright little face asked the name of its owner. He replied "Your servant, Hafez"—and then came back and whispered, "And I am the little servant of Christ!"

Thus go my little flock. May the Good Shepherd call all his little sheep by name, and as they hear his voice and follow him, may he guide the little feet and carry the lambs in His bosom, and bring them all into the fold—safe at last!

EMMA H. NELSON.

GIVING OUR HEARTS.

Many years ago, when the men and women who are now grand-fathers and grand-mothers were little boys and girls, there were no better books written for children than those of Rev. Jacob Abbot. Some of these old people think that no better ones have been written since. But, perhaps, this is a question on which old grand-fathers are not so good judges as young mothers.

One of Mr. Abbot's stories was about a widow who lived in a log house alone with one boy, her only son. As they had no neighbors, he was, most of the time, her only companion; she had only him to love. There was nothing she would not be willing to do, or to give, or to suffer for her one only boy.

He had grown to be a large and strong boy, able to help his mother a great deal in the work which she or he must do, such as preparing wood for their fire, fetching water from the spring, or milking their cow.

The boy's name was Gilbert. He did such duties about as some other boys do them. He did not refuse to do whatever his mother bade him; but he did not always do it cheerfully, and it gave him a selfish pleasure when his indulgent mother would do his part of the work besides all her own. His mother was fond of making him little presents and of contriving pleasant surprises for him in giving him presents which he did not expect. She loved to please him. She wanted to make him happy.

No doubt she was happier for loving her boy so fondly. To have lived alone with a boy she did not love would have made her miserable. But there was one thing wanting to make that mother happy. Besides loving she needed to be loved. Her heart brim full of love for her boy, ached with longing for her boy's love to her. This was not because she thought that, if he loved her, he would help her more in her work; she cared little for that. The love itself was what she was hungry for. If he would sometimes have brought her a wild flower from the woods, just because he thought it would please her, she would have valued it more than any amount of work he could do only because she required it.

Gilbert did not do any such affectionate things of his own accord. He did not feel like doing them. The presents which his mother made him he was glad to get, but he did not seem to like them any better because she gave them. She felt this, and it made her unhappy. She was just like all mothers and all fathers. They cannot be happy mothers and fathers unless their children give them their hearts.

I am afraid there are many households, in which there is a great deal less happiness than there ought to be, for this same reason. I am afraid, that there is many a boy, whose mother's eyes often ache over the stitches she is taking for him, after he is asleep, while her heart carries, all the while, a heavy, dull pain, because she does not see that her boy loves her. I am afraid that many a father wears a weary and unsatisfied look, which would soon pass away, and leave his face lighted up with cheerfulness, if he could only see that his daughter cared for, and loved him—really loved him, himself, and not merely the silks, and laces, and jewelry which he gives her. He does not wish her to give him costly presents, nor to do any difficult and painful things. He only wants her to give him her heart. Whatever shows him that he has that, will make him happy. No matter how little, or how simple a thing it may be—the cool touch of her hand, on his tired or aching forehead—her affectionate kiss—any gentle and considerate action, which he feels that she would not do, unless she loved him.

Such things satisfy him. They a thousand-fold repay him for all his care and labor. The thought of them keeps him cheerful and light-hearted amid all his perplexities.

It is impossible for children to make mothers, or fathers happy, in any other way than by loving them—giving them their hearts.

OUR NATION'S FATHER.

When the good and great Washington was alive, and was President of this nation, he knew that the people of this country loved him as a father. He knew that they not only gave him the highest honors and the highest power of their government, but that they gave him their hearts. When he was going to New York, to take the oath of office, and become the chief ruler of the nation, at Trenton, near where he had fought one of his battles, the women and little girls had come together, and were arranged, in lines on each side of the way, and as he rode along, they threw flowers under his horse's feet, and sung, with all their glad, sweet voices, a song in his praise. This touched the great man's heart. He said he should never forget it. He was so glad to feel that his people loved him.

This loving to be loved is not a human weakness. It is strongest in the greatest, and best, and purest minds.

OUR HEAVENLY FATHER.

Our Heavenly Father has all good men and women in the world to love him. He has all the good who have died, and been made perfect saints in heaven. He has all the holy angels. He has his own holy and glorious Son, who was made a child and a man, to redeem us—He has all these to love him; and he knows himself to be worthy of all their love. Does it seem wonderful to you, that such a great and glorious being as God, should care whether he is loved or not, by such little, feeble beings as you—by such poor, unworthy beings as all of us are? It seems to me very wonderful, and yet, the more I think of it, the more I see that it is not strange. For I have found that the greatest and wisest, and best men are the ones who care most for the love of the least and lowest. I have found that noble and pure minded men and women are glad to win the hearts even of the vile and degraded, and by the power of that love, to draw them up or to help them climb up out of their misery and vileness, into purity and happiness.

I cannot help thinking that such people are the most like God, and this helps me understand how it is that God wants us to love him—wants us to give him our hearts.

H. A. N.

SUMMER LIFE IN SYRIA.

The Tripoli missionaries have had their summer sojourn up in Mt. Lebanon at a village named El Hadeth. They rent cheap houses, and live in a sort of camping-out style. The air in the mountain is more breathable and wholesome during the summer than down by the sea-side, and they have plenty of mission work to do in the mountain villages. The gentlemen are there only part of the time, having evangelizing tours to make over long distance. But the ladies are at El Hadeth most of the time, going out only to near villages.

A letter written at El Hadeth, September 22, by Mrs. Nelson, gives a pretty good idea of some of their experiences. Miss La Grange, the Principal of the Tripoli Female Seminary was with her. She says:

After breakfast we went over a way on the mountain side (on a day when the weather was chilly) and had a good run till we got ourselves warm. This we have done for several days, and the air has been fresh and cold and invigorating. It is some warmer the last day or two—just pleasantly cold. To-day there is a high wind and there are clouds that may mean another rain before long.

We made two little excursions to villages near by—one on Saturday and the other on Tuesday. We were well received, and the people talked with us, though in one village they were afraid of us.

They say that the Virgin Mary is able to do more for them, and being a woman is more tender-hearted than Christ. The simple village people pray to her and her alone. They were all pleasant to us, and gave us water, grapes and tomatoes.

A less pleasant picture is given in the same letter of the way the priests try to prevent the people from listening to the missionaries and showing kindness to them.

Let us be thankful that while they meet with such opposition and hindrance to their Christian work, they also find many things to enjoy and to make them love the people. More thankful still may we be that they are enabled to take all the unpleasant things with cheerful patience, and the nice things with thankful gladness.

Gleanings At Home and Abroad.

[Gathered and Condensed by REV. ALBERT B. ROBINSON.]

—"The habits of teachers are the teachers of habits."

—A moral man is self-centered; a regenerated man is Christ-centered.—Geneva Presbyterian.

—"Do it now," is the stimulating watchword adopted by a mission circle, says Helping Hand.

—One of the duties every man owes himself is to live so that he can respect himself.—Ram's Horn.

Every noble life, said Ruskin, leaves the fibre of it interwoven forever in the work of the world.

—"Sons of the Word" was the designation which the early converts in Samoa applied to themselves.

—There are enough organizations for carrying on the work; what is most needed is prayer.—Mrs. Condict.

—A promise to man is a bond upon his estate, but a promise to God is a bond upon his soul.—Bombay Guardian.

—Money is a telephone through which Christians may preach the Gospel to the ends of the earth.—The Bulletin.

—If the state does not soon control the liquor traffic, the liquor traffic will soon control the state.—Lord Rosebery.

—Of Livingstone's habit of prayer, Lord Polwarth said that while he spoke to men of God, he spoke more to God of men.

—Infidelity sends no missionaries—it works for revenue only. Robert Elsmere is found only in books.—Rev. W. L. McEwan.

—A German officer in Japan prophesies that Japan has as great a future in Asia as the English race has in America and Australia.

—He that saveth his time from prayer shall lose it. He that loseth his time for communion with God shall find it in blessing.—Robert Wilder.

—Consecrated common sense is as necessary to insure the success of the church work as in secular enterprises, says the Chicago Standard.

—The Church is in the world for three purposes, says Dr. Bradford: to alleviate its suffering, to comfort its sorrow and to save it from its sin.

—Keep your conduct abreast of your conscience, and soon your conscience will be illuminated by the radiance of God.—W. M. Taylor, D. D.

—The essence of the Christian life, said Phillips Brooks, is but the perfecting of human life by the indwelling of the Spirit of the Lord Jesus Christ.

—The Kingdom calls attention to the fact that the seventh chapter of Numbers, the longest in the Bible except the 119th Psalm, is all about giving.

—It is said to be an every day occurrence to see the Mexican girls in our mission schools earnestly studying the Bible during their hours of recreation.

—A commercial treaty between British India and the government of Thibet permits British subjects henceforth to reside in Tatung, Thibet.—Christian Alliance.

—Giving is not intended to make God richer, but to make man greater. It is as necessary for the soul's development as exercise is for the body's.—Bishop Penick.

—Presbyterianism in Belfast has grown from twelve churches in 1841 to thirty-seven in 1894, and the Extension Committee announces that ten more are in prospect.

—Over the morning dawn which ushers in a new century let us bend, like a Polar arch, this glorious motto: Union in Christ for a world without Christ.—Dr. T. L. Cuyler.

—"Think less of yourself and more of others," said the late Dr. Donald Stuart of Dunedin, New Zealand, when asked what was the best way to secure popularity.

—A striking proof of the growth of the missionary spirit is seen in the fact that Australia has recently sent missionaries to Ceylon, Africa, China and Japan.—Ram's Horn.

—The aboriginal inhabitants of Australia are still declining in numbers. Including half-castes, the number now stands at 7,253, as against 7,849 in 1892.—The Interior.

—When a missionary agent applied to John Randolph for help in behalf of the Greeks, he replied: "Madame, the Greeks are at the door," alluding to the poor upon the streets of Washington.

—Every educated man ought to be a reformer, says Professor George P. Fisher. Education sinks in worth if it does not warm the love of justice and instill a disposition to remedy social evils.

—Miss Geraldine Guinness tells us that she had not been long a missionary in the interior of China before she learned that it is the easiest thing in the world for a missionary to get so out of touch with the living Christ that he loses all his power.

—Mr. Takaki, a Japanese silk merchant in New York was a boy when Commodore Perry "came to Japan," as he expressed it, and said: "Here, wake up, wake up! you are sleeping past noon."

—An earnest missionary worker says that while she believes in systematic giving, she also believes thoroughly in systematic getting—a systematic getting of knowledge concerning missions.

—On the corner-stone of the London Temperance Hospital, laid by Sir Wilfrid Lawson, is this inscription. "In humble dependence on Almighty God for cure in the treatment of disease."

—"The greatest humbug in the world is the idea that money can make a man happy," said Charles Pratt to Dr. Cuyler. "I never had any satisfaction with mine until I began to do good with it."

—No man is called or considered good, whether he bears the Christian name or not, who does not in some form or other exhibit an active love for his kind and go out of his way to do good.—Sir J. R. Seelye.

—Says Dr. C. C. McCabe, of the Methodist Missionary Society, "Thirty-five years ago we had one convert in all our foreign fields; now we have 130,000, and they give $250,000 per annum for self-support."

—"Gold for Iron for Jesus's sake," is the inscription on the back of a good watch in an oxidized steel case, sent by the Christian Alliance to those who are willing to give their gold watches for the work of missions.

—A missionary from Burmah, who was a long time in great suffering in a hospital, when asked, "How can you bear it?" replied: "It has been beautiful; I have had so much time to become acquainted with God."

—A young lady in Mississippi sent $2 to the Nashville Christian Advocate, asking that the paper be sent for one year to the State Penitentiary, and saying that this is the way in which she can visit them that are in prison.

—The Earl and Countess of Aberdeen, during their wedding journey on the Nile in 1877 adopted five native boys to prevent their being sold into slavery. Two of the boys have since become missionaries.—The Silver Cross.

—It is not a little thing, says Mrs. D. E. Finks, to sell a leaflet or get a subscription to a missionary magazine: it may establish a connection between the great work and a new worker, and the good that may come from it—who can tell?

—If the coming of Christ to the world has enlarged the view of human brotherhood, how can any of us be content with giving less than we would have given if we had lived in Old Testament times?—Rev. D. S. Van Gundy.

—An appeal for money for the purchase and support of a Training school in the South asks that no "effort be made to raise it by fairs, suppers, entertainments, or in other questionable ways, but by self-denial for Christ's sake."

—The foreign travelers and residents in the South Sea Islands, who write with such hostility to missions there, are men who find the missionary to be an obstacle to the accomplishment of their evil purposes.—Charles Darwin in Voyage of the Beagle.

—When the people of Aniwa began to accept Christianity, one of the first signs they gave was the asking of God's blessing on every meal. Whoever did not do that was regarded as a heathen. What if that rule should be applied in America?—The Kingdom.

—"Twere well to die if there be gods, and sad to live if there be none." This great and beautiful saying of Marcus Aurelius condenses the sadness and yearning of universal humanity. Not until we get back to God have we found peace.—Frances E. Willard.

—I look abroad over the map of popular freedom in the world, and it does not seem to me accidental that Switzerland, Scotland, England and the United States, the countries which best observe Sunday, constitute almost the entire map of safe popular government.—Joseph Cook.

—Wesleyan Methodism owed much of its rapid growth, says Dr. Cuyler, to John Wesley's favorite watchword, "Justification, sanctification, and a penny a day." If Presbyterianism increases her drafts on Christ's promises, she must increase her drafts on her own cheque books.

—What is commonly called sacrifice is really the best natural use of oneself and one's resources—the best investment of one's time, strength, and means. He who makes no such sacrifices is most to be pitied; he is a heathen, because he knows nothing of God.—S. C. Armstrong.

—President Gates, of Amherst College, shows that when Christ cautions his followers as to the deceitfulness of riches, the essential meaning of the word translated "riches" is usable values embodied in material things. The word lays no stress upon great wealth. It may properly be used for very small possessions.—Mrs. Joseph Cook.

—The love of goodness is the possession of goodness. When we truly love our God on account of the exhibition of this quality, and worship him for it in spirit and in truth we begin to become good ourselves, and to possess something of the righteousness of God.—Religious Herald.

—Before knowing a person we must ask about his hands. What does he do? Not only, what are his prayers, his professions, his wishes? but, how does he transmute prayers, professions and wishes into deeds. This is a kind of palmistry that I very much believe in.—Francis E. Clark, D. D.

—An old Scotch woman was asked if she could live on a certain sum a year. "Yes," she answered, "I could live on half of it, but I could spend double." It is just this ratio between our needs and our spendings, says the Golden Rule, that produces the chronic famine in missionary treasuries.

—Probably the most discouraging mission station in the world is that of the Moravians in Thibet. They have three stations, and the work has been in operation forty years, but only sixty-three natives have been gathered in. The laborers, however, have no thought but that of sticking to their posts.—Free Church Monthly.

—Dr. A. T. Pierson says of the motto, "the evangelization of the world in this generation," that he found it in the thirteenth chapter of the Acts, verses 22 and 26, where the Holy Spirit says of David that he was a man after God's own heart, who should fulfill all His will, and that he served his own generation by the will of God.

—Says Benjamin Kidd in his Social Revolution: Neither in respect alone of color, nor of descent, nor even of the possession of high intellectual capacity, can science give us any warrant for speaking of one race as superior to another. There is but one absolute test of superiority. It is only the race possessing in the highest degree the qualities contributing to social efficiency that can be recognized as having any claim to superiority.

—To make our Christian Endeavor societies a growing power for missions we must educate all our members. There is a strong temptation to rely for the missionary meeting upon the few especially interested. It should be the aim of the Committee to have every member of the society take part in some missionary meeting during the year. In assigning parts do not make a practice of giving out nice little bits to read. Plan to get independent thought and study.—Frances B. Patterson.

—The stream is apt to imbibe, to some extent the color of the soil through which it flows. So it has been with historical Christianity, writes Henry C. Sheldon in his History of the Christian Church. If the life stream has been divine, the channels have been human. The current has reflected the civilization through which it has passed.

—We have not so much to be anxious about foreign missions; if we have the holy Spirit, and if we are in the power of the Spirit, missions will come inevitably. Bring back Pentecost, and after Pentecost there will be a mighty movement for preaching the Gospel, from Jerusalem even unto the uttermost parts of the earth.—Dr. A. T. Pierson.

—Japan, in spite of all her mistakes, stands for light and civilization; her institutions are enlightened; her laws, drawn up by European jurists, are equal to the best we know, and they are justly administered; her punishments are humane; her scientific and sociological ideals are our own.—Mr. Henry Norman in Contemporary Review.

—The King of Butaritari, Gilbert Islands, refused to allow any of his people to go to San Francisco for the purpose of giving an exhibition of the heathen manners and customs. This king, though so recently enlightened, says The Faithful Witness, shows a keener sense of propriety and less greed of gain than do a host of people in civilized lands.

—On the occasion of the recent dedication of a Jewish house of worship in Cleveland, Ohio, a fellowship meeting was held, at which fraternal addresses were made by leading ministers from seven different denominations. The motto of the program was, "Have we not all one Father, hath not one God created us?" And the congregation of Jewish and Gentile worshipers who crowded the great building joined in both song and responsive service in the Psalms of David.—The Congregationalist.

—In reference to the missionary enterprise, there are at least three kinds of Christians—those who are merely parochial in their sympathies, those who are narrowly patriotic, and those who are really ecumenical. The parochially-minded limit their regards to what they can actually see around them. For them even England has no existence religiously. Only a little less limited in view are those patriotically minded souls to whom all foreign work is "outlandish." God wants us ecumenically minded, and as English Christians belonging to a world-wide empire it is specially our duty so to be.—The Chronicle.

—The Pauline Mission established in New York City, has for its purpose, says a writer in the Christian Advocate, to reach by the written word and a pure Gospel all Roman Catholics, but more especially those who, disgusted with the intolerance and arrogance of their church, not only in religious, but also in political and scientific matters, are fast verging on infidelity and anarchy.

—We in the home churches are put to shame in the matter of giving, says Mrs. Joseph Cook, not only by the native Christians rescued from heathenism, who, when they have no money to give take a tenth part of their food. We are also put to shame by our missionaries, who from their meagre salaries will give to carry on the work which they cannot bear to see crippled in consequence of the fatal word retrenchment.

—The live missionary committee, says Frances B. Patterson, should aim for a direct, personal interest in all our missionaries. To aid in this, assign to each member some missionary to be his very own, to pray for, to write to (not always expecting answers, for missionaries are busy people; but just to let them know your interest and sympathy), to watch the missionary magazines for recent news and interesting items of their work.

—The religion of the Buddha, writes William Davies in the Atlantic Monthly, could never be brought to combine with the advancement and progressive amelioration of society. It works by abandonment, leaving the world every way as it finds it. It lacks the helpful and actively loving spirit of Christianity; that noble altruism which gains by bestowing, and counts its wealth from the benefit and welfare of others, and not from an egotistical consideration of its own advantage. There is a want of that dignity and nobility, also, in the personal traits and actions of Gotama which distinguished the author of Christianity.

—Francis Xavier was one of the most zealous missionaries the world ever saw, says Dr. A. J. Gordon, one of the greatest missionaries of any of the centuries. And yet, by the concession of his own co laborers in the same generation, the work of that ardent man was an absolute failure, leaving in a few years hardly a trace of what he had attempted so zealously to accomplish. Xavier never carried the Bible; he never sought to put the Scriptures into the tongue of the people to whom he ministered. Therefore, though he wrought most nobly and most earnestly, his work never rooted itself so as to leave a permanent result behind.

—The late Dr. Deems relates that one of God's faithful stewards once said to him: "I sat down a night or two ago, and calculated the increase of a dollar at compound interest, and found that, in less than two hundred and forty years it amounted to more than two and a half millions of dollars. And I asked myself whether God would not make a dollar laid up for him grow as rapidly as it does by the laws of trade." —The Presbyterian.

—Joseph Cook writes thus of his own conversion: "It was a discourse by Mr. Mattocks on the words (Rom. 12:1): 'I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service,'" with emphasis on mercies and reasonable, that induced me to turn my face toward the cross of Christ. It was the sight of the cross that made it no cross to bear the cross."

—A radical measure, looking to self-support, was adopted by the Japan Annual Conference at its session in July, 1894. The plan provides for the distribution by the Japan Conference of the lump sum granted by the General Committee for evangelistic work in Japan, and limits the amount of the sum which the home Church may be asked to grant, by giving it a fixed proportion to the amount raised for the same purpose on the field. This throws the native Church upon its own resources, and stimulates self-support.

—As one looks over the history of the Christian Church, he may well be surprised when he sees with what strange perversity the emphases has been placed upon unessential things. A large number of the sects are organized upon points of difference which belong to the circumference, not to the centre, of duty. It is as if one should take a sentence, and emphasize the commas, periods and colons, the things which divide it, instead of emphasizing the chief words which give it coherence and meaning. —Christian Register.

—Replying to an address of welcome, the Earl of Aberdeen spoke of his new position as Governor-general of Canada as one of high honors and grave responsibilities, and then added: Does the honor and the dignity exclude the holder from the common heritage of service? His great duties he defined as a watchful readiness to have a part in fostering every influence that will sweeten and elevate life; and he acknowledged his dependence on the one ever effectual source of strength and help. —The Silver Cross.

—Christianity conquered the ancient religions and philosophies of Greece and Rome. The religions and philosophies with which Christianity to day stands in contrast and conflict are everyone of them inferior to those of ancient Greece and Rome. If Christianity, when an infant, was not dazzled by the gods of Olympus, nor by Stoicism, nor by Platonism, nor by Eclectism, still less, now that it is a giant, will it be dazzled by any lights less brilliant than those of the ancient faiths and philosophies.—Joseph Cook.

—In Japan the neat walls of the house are kept bare, and in a special corner, above a raised platform, but one picture is displayed, changed every day, because, if a picture is beautiful, it should not be confused or paled by the company of other pictures. On the day that the cherry blossoms come out they hang up a cherry blossom picture; or if a friend is coming on a visit, who loves the works of a certain great artist, they hang up the best example of his work that they possess.—Julian Ralph in Harper's Weekly.

—The General Conference of the Methodist Church in Canada at its recent quadrennial meeting resolved to co-operate with Presbyterians, Baptists and Congregationalists in the formation of a federal court for the purpose of avoiding overlapping and waste in each of these bodies struggling to maintain a minister in fields where all are weak, by uniting to sustain one for all. The Canada Presbyterian welcomes this as an indication of a growing spirit of brotherliness and a good understanding among the bodies concerned.

—Rev. J. H. De Forest believes the new Anglo-Japanese treaty will have a wide effect on the manner in which Christian Churches think and speak and pray about the Japanese. Some will cling to the word heathen as an essential part of their creed; but a growing number will find it "out of taste" to lump a great nation with whom we have equal treaties under such a designation. They will regard the Japanese as a brother-race, sent into the world by the same heavenly Father, and will advise, as Mr. Moody does, the dropping of that offensive term.

—Let us foster the oecumenical spirit of prayer. Through this the humblest Christian may have a world-wide sphere. We may not be able to travel, we can give our thoughts no world-wide currency, but we can give our prayers a world-wide efficiency. By way of the throne we can teach the world. Realizing that we belong to the fourteen hundred millions of the human race, we may pray with more intelligence and intensity than ever before: "Thy kingdom come: Thy will be done on earth, as it is in heaven." Broadened by the Spirit, we shall add one country after another to our devotional territory, and shall not rest until we can intelligently intercede for the world.—The Chronicle.

—The study of Christian missions is the study of the greatest problems of the world's civilization, as it is the study of the most sublime moral effort ever made by man. It is the study of the work of some of the world's greatest heroes, and some of the world's greatest conflicts. The history of Christian missions is the most thrilling part of the history of the nineteenth century. It is the great moral invasion of the world to bless it with gifts from God. Its study will awaken to new life every good thing in you. It will quicken your faith in God, and your hope for man, as nothing else can.—John Paul Ebert, D. D., in St. Paul Presbyterian News.

—Christ's favorite expression descriptive of Himself was: "The Son of Man." Born a Jew, and brought up amongst a people whose narrow patriotism prevented them from realizing their relationship to humanity generally, He chose a title in habitually speaking of Himself which emphasized that relationship. To Christ no man was a foreigner; and to Christians the more they enter into the spirit of their Master, the great race distinctions will be in no sense barriers to sympathy, prayer and action, but only convenient lines of demarcation. We are defrauding ourselves, our Lord, and the heathen, if our realized environment is measured by any circle smaller than the circumference of the globe.—The Chronicle.

—Rev. John Batchelor tells us in the Journal of American Folk Lore that when a person dies, among the Ainu, his name must die also. To apply the name of a deceased parent, friend, or ancestor, would grieve the soul of the departed and call forth his displeasure. Neither must one take the name of his living neighbor: that would be looked upon as a kind of theft, and treated accordingly. The parents of an Ainu child generally wait two or three years until some trait of character has developed, or the child has performed some peculiar act before they give a name. These circumstances decide what it shall be called, for the word used generally points to something which took place early in life, and is sometimes not at all a bad index to character.

Book Notices.

ANIMALS' RIGHTS Considered in Relation to Social Progress, by Henry S. Salt, author of the Life of Henry David Thoreau, published by Macmillan & Co., 66 Fifth Avenue, New York.

We never doubted that animals have rights which all men are bound to respect. "A righteous man regardeth the life of his beast" is a moral axiom clearly enunciated in Holy Scripture. No reverent reader of the Bible needs an extended treatise to prove such an axiom.

We do not agree with Mr. Salt in regarding it as an "abstruse question, whether man is morally justified in utilizing animal labor at all," nor in denying or doubting man's rights to use the flesh of animals for food. But we do heartily agree with him in condemning all wanton or careless infliction of unnecessary pain and all needless privation of their natural pleasures in preparing animals for and subjecting them to these lawful uses. We also agree with him in condemning the cruel "sport" of killing these creatures which he names "amateur butchery," and that other cruelty which he significantly names "murderous millinery."

We think that the book would be more effective for abating these cruelties, if it were written in a more persuasive style, with less of the vehemence which approaches vituperation, and without its prevailing tone of contempt for those whom it needs to convince in order to persuade them.

THE COLLEGE WOMAN by Charles Franklin Thwing, L.L.D., President of the College for Women of Western Reserve University. New York: The Baker & Taylor Co.; price, $1.00.

This is a duodecimo volume of 169 pages, neatly printed and bound. In a preparatory note the author says, "This book has grown out of my college work," and the reading of it convinces one that he has done his college work conscientiously, and is well fitted and equipped to go on doing it usefully. In this readable book, after stating "Some Problems Respecting Her" (the college woman) he treats, in successive chapters, of The Principle Content and Proportion of Her Studies; Her Environment; Her Health; Methods in Her Education; Demands made by the Community upon Her; and After Her Graduation.

College women, girls who are considering whether it is worth while to become college women, and parents who have the same question to consider for and with their daughters, will find this book helpful as well as interesting.

REGINALD HEBER, BISHOP OF CALCUTTA, by Arthur Montefiore, author of "David Livingstone, His Labors and His Legacy," "Henry M. Stanley," etc., pages 160, FLEMING H. REVELL Co., New York. A charming little book. The multitudes who have so often sung the sterling hymn, "From Greenland's Icy Mountains" will be happy to know something of its distinguished author. While on a visit to his father-in-law, the Dean of St. Asaph, this hymn was published, and was first sung in the fine old church of that place.

THE EARLY SPREAD OF RELIGIOUS IDEAS ESPECIALLY IN THE FAR EAST, by the Rev. Joseph Edkins, B. A., D. D., author of "Chinese Buddhism," "Religion in China," etc., THE RELIGIOUS TRACT SOCIETY, 56 Paternoster Row, London, pages 140.

Among the chapters are The Pre-Mosaic Origin of the Book of Genesis, Primeval Monotheism in China and Persia, How Religious Ideas Spread in the Ancient World, Moral Ideas of the Chinese, etc. The author, Dr. Edkins, is well-known as a missionary of considerable scholarship and ability as a writer.

AMONG THE TIBETANS, by Isabella Bird Bishop, F. R. G. S., author of "Unbeaten Tracks in Japan," etc. FLEMING H. REVELL Co., New York.

Unbeaten tracks in many lands are the kind that Mrs. Bishop has loved to tread. It has been understood to be no easy matter to penetrate that inhospitable mountain country, Tibet. With all the pretensions of Madame Blavatsky and her plastic disciple, Mr. Sinnett, the simple truth is that Tibet is still a hermit land, so far as Europeans are concerned, at least the central and most important portions of it. Moravian missionaries have reached Khyang, but have not been allowed to reach Lhasa. A young woman of the China Inland Mission has made brave attempts to penetrate the country from the northeast, but with only partial success. Mrs. Bird appears to have reached Leh, the capital of Ladakh or Lesser Tibet. Her journey lay northward from Srinagar or Kashmir.

Her little book of 159 pages is exceedingly interesting as a record of travel, and gives much information in regard to the country, climate, customs, etc. The reader, however, is liable to be somewhat disappointed at the limited amount of information gained in regard to the religious beliefs and customs of the people.

If Mrs. Bishop is the English lady mentioned by Prof. Max Muller in his recent article in The Nineteenth Century, in which with her help he has utterly exposed the base fraud of the Theosophists in concocting a story of an alleged Life of Christ found in a Buddhist monastery of Tibet, she has certainly done good service to all sensible and truth-loving people of Christendom. The lady there referred to, after visiting the monastery in which this Russian claims to have found the said life of Christ, declares that no such book has ever been heard of in that monastery, and that "no Russian with a broken leg has ever been seen there."

Two or three other books have been received too late for us to examine them and prepare notices for this issue. They will be considered in the coming month.

Synods in SMALL CAPITALS; Presbyteries in italic; Churches in Roman.

[35] It is of great importance to the treasurers of all the boards that when money is sent to them, the name of the church from which it comes, and of the presbytery to which the church belongs, should be distinctly written, and that the person sending should sign his or her name distinctly, with proper title, e. g., Pastor, Treasurer, Miss or Mrs., as the case may be. Careful attention to this will save much trouble and perhaps prevent serious mistakes.

BALTIMORE.—Baltimore—Baltimore Broadway, 3. New Castle—Cool Spring, 1 75; Georgetown, 1 75; Rock, 5; St. George's, 5 08. Washington City—Clifton, 2; Hermion, 1. 19 53

CALIFORNIA.—Benicia—Santa Rosa, 7. Los Angeles—Alhambra, 8; Pasadena Calvary, 4. Oakland—Oakland Brooklyn, 40 20. 59 20

CATAWBA.—Southern Virginia—Ogden Chapel, 1. 1

COLORADO.—Boulder—Valmont, 48 cts. Denver—Brighton, 5 30. Pueblo—Del Norte, 3 50. 9 28

ILLINOIS.—Alton—East St. Louis, 18 60; Salem German, 5; Woodburn German, 4; Zion German, 2. Bloomington—Bement, 17 31. Chicago—Chicago Covenant, 2 25; —Fullerton Avenue, 16 93; Evanston 1st, 57 27. Freeport—Rockford 1st, 11 50. Peoria—Galesburgh, 6 54. Rock River—Coal Valley, 80 cts. Schuyler—Hamilton Bethel, 4; Mount Sterling, 25 51; Oquawka, 5. Springfield—Mason City, 4 91; Pisgah, 93 cts.; Springfield 2d, 29 45. 311 79

INDIANA.—Crawfordsville—Beulah, 2; Delphi, 7 44; Newtown, 6. Fort Wayne—Fort Wayne 1st, 35 34; —3d, 2 50. Indianapolis—Bainbridge, 2; Bethany, 3 40; Carpentersville, 1; Greenwood, 6 71; Roschdale, 2. Logansport—Brookston, 2 76; Chalmers, 2 33; Goodland, 8; Michigan City, 7 53. New Albany—Seymour, 8; Sharon Hill, 3. Vincennes—Evanston Grace, 18; Princeton, 11. White Water—Rising Sun, 4; Shelbyville, 39 75. 174 04

IOWA.—Cedar Rapids—Bethel, 2 25; Mechanicsville, 6; Onslow, 5; Vinton, 20. Corning—Platte Centre, 1 65; Prairie Star, 1 50. Des Moines—Albia, 8; Jacksonville, 8; Leon, 2 70; Medora, 3. Fort Dodge—Carroll, 6. Iowa City—Washington (including Y. P. S. C. E. 33 cts.) 1 76. Sioux City—Vail, 19 31. 78 17

KANSAS.—Emporia—Arkansas City, 5 67; Cedar Point, 3 15; Ottomwood Falls, 2 25; Florence, 5 15; Winfield, 9. Highland—Baileyville, 5 15; Effingham, 4; Huron, 2 80. Larned—Canton, 3; Galva, 4; Ninneceah, 5. Neosho—McCune, 3. Topeka—Baldwin, 2 67; Black Jack, 3 75. 58 60

KENTUCKY.—Louisville—Louisville 4th, 1 50; Pewee Valley, 6. 7 50

MICHIGAN.—Detroit—Mount Clemens, 6. Grand Rapids—Ewart, 5. Kalamazoo—Benton Harbor, 1 50. Lake Superior—Escanaba including sab-sch, 12. Lansing—Delhi, 7 73; Jackson, 12. Monroe—Adrian, 17; Erie, 5 45. Saginaw—Saginaw Immanuel, 8. 74 68

MINNESOTA.—Duluth—Barnum, 3; Lake Side, 8 89. Mankato—Le Seuer, 6. St. Paul—St. Paul 9th, 11 73. Winona—La Crescent, 3 11. 31 73

MISSOURI.—Kansas City—Drexel, 2. Ozark—Ash Grove, 13. Platte—Cameron, 6; Parkville, 7 36. 28 36

NEBRASKA.—Hastings—Oak Creek German, 5. Kearney—Buffalo Grove German, 4. Nebraska City—Nebraska City, 2 50; Plattsmouth, 5; Tecumseh, 14 40. Niobrara—Randolph, 3; Wakesfield, 4 30. Omaha—Columbus, 1 50; Omaha Blackbird Hill, 3 06; —Clifton Hill, 4; —Knox, 5; —Lowe Avenue, 2 61; Schuyler, 4 35. 58 72

NEW JERSEY.—Elizabeth—Woodbridge, 13 42. Jersey City—Passaic sab-sch, 5. Morris and Orange—Madison, 9 58; Rockaway, 46 50. Newark—Newark 5th Avenue, 13. 87 50

NEW YORK.—Albany—Albany 1st, 24 74. Binghamton—McGrawville, 3 27; Nichols, 6 50. Cayuga—Meridian, 4; Port Byron, 6. Champlain—Mineville, 4. Geneva—West Fayette, 3. Hudson—Good Will, 1 92; Montgomery, 12; Ridgebury, 81 cents. Lyons—East Palmyra, 3 59. Nassau—Huntingdon 2d, 15 61. Niagara—Lockport 1st, 37 90. North River—Marlborough, 34 30. Rochester—Caledonia, 10 83. Steuben—Arkport, 1 48; Corning, 6 43. Syracuse—Syracuse Park Central, 22 80. Troy—Watford, 7 99. Ulica—Sauquoit, 6 69; Turin, 3 08. Westchester—Greenburgh 2d, 101 88; New Rochelle 2d, 7 93. 235 65

OHIO.—Athens—Stockport, 1 12. Bellefontaine—Upper Sandusky, 2 86; Zanesfield, 3. Chillicothe—McArthur, 1. Cincinnati—Cincinnati 2d, 6; —Mount Auburn, 16 46; —Walnut Hills, 22 79; Madisonville, 3; Wyoming, 44 02. Cleveland—North Springfield, 1. Columbus—Greenfield, 1; Lancaster, 11; London, 3 57. Dayton—Belle Brook, 3 25; Blue Ball, 4. Lima—New Stark, 1 50. Marion—Jerome, 2 20; Ostrander, 2 80. Mauwsee—Bryan, 5 04. St. Clairsville—Martin's Ferry, 13 69; Mount Pleasant, 4 61; Scotch Ridge, 3 70. Steubenville—Bakersville, 2; Carrollton, 9; Corinth, 10; East Liverpool 2d, 2; Minerva, 4; Unionport, 1. Wooster—Homesville, 1 75; Millersburgh, 2 60. 197 09

OREGON.—Portland—Portland 1st, 22 12; —2d, 1. 23 13

PENNSYLVANIA.—Allegheny—Allegheny 1st (including Bible School, 23 75), 100 93; —Bethel, 3 50; —Central, 29 86; Avalon, 7; Bellevue, 12 53; Fairmount, 4; Glasgow, 1; Hiland, 13 75; Plains, 2. Blairsville—Livermore, 3 06; Manor, 3; Plum Creek, 7. Butler—Harlansburgh, 3; Harrisville, 1 75; New Hope, 3; Pleasant Valley, 2 71. Carlisle—Dickinson, 3 01; Lebanon 4th Street, 34 16; Robert Kennedy Memorial, 2 33; Shippensburg, 20 69; Upper Path Valley, 4. Chester—Dilworthtown, 2 06; Great Valley, 6; Kennett Square, 4. Clarion—Bethesda, 4; Edenburg, 10. Erie—Fairview, 3; Gerland, 6; Meadville—Central, 5; Mount Pleasant, 2 06; Pittsfield, 3 08. Huntington—Fruit Hill (including Berwindale Chapel, 1), 3; Huntingdon, 29 28; Mount Union (including sab-sch, 7 21), 33 36. Kittanning—Apollo, 90; Black Lick, 2; Freeport, 9 35; Leechburgh, 13. Lackawanna—Brooklyn, 5; Elmhurst, 8 31; Bayre 1st, 1; Scranton Green Ridge Avenue, 35 50. Lehigh—Portland, 3; Shawnee, 4; Upper Mount Bethel, 2. Northumberland—Berwick, 6; Bloomsburgh, 11 27; Mahoning (including sab-sch, 6 55), 34 34; Sunbury, 33; Williamsport 1st, 10; —Bethany, 1. Philadelphia—Philadelphia Westminster, 24 78. Philadelphia North—Germantown 1st, 129; Port Kennedy, 1. Pittsburgh—Craffon, 5 50; Fairview, 3; Forest Grove (including sab-sch, 3 and Ladies' Society, 5 75), 17 73; Hebron, 2 70; McKee's Rocks, 5; Middletown, 8; Miller's Run, 3 60; Mingo, 3; Montours, 3. Pittsburgh 4th (including sab-sch, 12 07), 38 40; —East Liberty, 15 93; —Mt. Washington, 2 50; Raccoon sab-sch 51 71; Sharon 5 78; West Elizabeth, 10 41. Shenango—Elwood, 4 50; Little Beaver, 2 17; Transfer, 1 50. Westminster—Cedar Grove, 5; Chestnut Level, 13 75. 981 29

SOUTH DAKOTA.—Central Dakota—Howell, 1; Miller, 5. 6 09

TEXAS.—Trinity—Waskom, 2. 2

UTAH.—Utah—Hyrum Emmanuel, 2; Pleasant Grove, 90 cts. 2 94

WASHINGTON.—Puget Sound—Ellensburg (including Y. P. S. C. E. 1 90), 7 25. 7 25

WISCONSIN.—Chippewa—Baldwin, 6; Rice Lake, 3 59. Madison—Cambridge, 6. Winnebago—Florence, 7 12; Westfield, 3 15. 26 15

Contributions from Churches and Sabbath-schools 32,434 44

Miss M. E. Brown, 100; Friends at Beloit, Wis., 3 35; C. Penna, 4; Rev. J. S. Pomeroy, Fairview, W. Va., 1; Stephen Foreman, Society of Melvin, N. Y., 13 50; H. S. Sweney, Amityville, N. Y., 80 cts.; Rev. W. L. Tarbet and wife, 80 cts.; Wm. Whitfield, 3..... 125 45

$2,570 09

MISCELLANEOUS.

Interest on Investments, 180; Partial loss recovered from Insurance Company, 39 06;
Plans sold, 10; Premiums of Insurance, 286 46; Sales of Book of Designs, No. 8, 2 53;
Sales of Church Property, 669 66..... $1,147 69

SPECIAL DONATIONS.

NEW JERSEY.—Elizabeth—Lamington sab-sch, 11.
NEW YORK.—Ulrica—Kirkland, 7..... 18 00
$3,776 58

Church collections and other contributions,
April—September, 1894..... $18,843 65
Church collections and other contributions,
April—September, 1893..... 31,033 89

LOAN FUND.

Interest..... 130 95
Payments on Mortgages..... 140 00 $370 95

MANSE FUND.

NEW JERSEY.—Morris and Orange—Orange Central..... 5 00

OTHER CONTRIBUTIONS.

Miss M. E. Brown, 100; Sarah E. McDonald, 5..... 105 00
110 00

MISCELLANEOUS.

Installments on Loans..... $19 00
Interest..... 33 36
Premiums of Insurance..... 6 50
$961 86

If acknowledgement of any remittance is not found in these reports, or if they are inaccurate in any item, prompt advice should be sent to the Secretary of the Board giving the number of the receipt held, or in the absence of a receipt, the date, amount and form of remittance.
ADAM CAMPBELL, Treasurer.
53 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

RECEIPTS FOR EDUCATION, SEPTEMBER, 1894.

BALTIMORE.—Baltimore—Deer Creek Harmony, 9.
Washington City—Darnestown, 5 10. 14 10
CALIFORNIA.—Benicia—Big Valley, 3; Petaluma, 5.
Los Angeles—Coronado Graham Memorial, 11 70. 19 70
CATALWA.—Southern Virginia—Ogden Chapel, 1. 1 00
COLORADO.—Boulder—Valmont, 30 cts. .30
ILLINOIS.—Alton—Salem German, 5; Woodburn German, 4; Zion German, 2 41. Bloomington—Danville 1st, 24 50; — 2d, 2 55. Castro—Metropolis, 4. Chicago—Evanston 1st, 47 73; Hinendale, 3 63. Mattoon—Charleston, 5; Greensup, 1 63. Peoria—Brunswick, 2; Galeburg, 14 34. Rock River—Rock Island Central, 11 42. Springfield—Jacksonville 2d Portuguese, 3; Pisgah, 70 cts. 133 00
INDIANA.—Crawfordsville—Delphi, 4 65. Fort Wayne—Fort Wayne 1st, 52 61; — 3d, 3 10. Indianapolis—Franklin, 8. Logansport—Valparaiso, 5. New Albany—Livonia, 3 08. 76 44
IOWA.—Council Bluffs—Marne, 1 55. Fort Dodge—Armstrong, 3 23. Iowa City—Washington (C. E. Society, 20 cts.), 1 10. Sioux City—Alta, 7 70. Waterloo—Waterloo, 15. 27 57
KANSAS.—Emporia—Maxon, 2 11; Quenemo, 2 69. Highland—Hiawatha, 11 50. Neosho—McCune, 2. 18 50
MICHIGAN.—Detroit—South Lyon, 9. Lake Superior—Newberry sab-sch, 1 35. 10 35
MINNESOTA.—Mankato—Winnebago City, 3 05. St. Paul—St. Paul Arlington Hills, 1. 9 05
MISSOURI.—Kansas City—Kansas City 2d, 71 67. Ozark—Ebenezer, 5; Mount Vernon, 3; Ozark Prairie, 3. 80 67
NEBRASKA.—Hastings—Hastings German, 2. Omaha—Omaha Blackbird Hills, 1. 3 00
NEW JERSEY.—Elizabeth—Elizabeth 2d, 42; — Westminster, 11; Lamington, 7; Metuchen, 10; Springfield, 10. Jersey City—Englewood, 89 14; Jersey City 2d, 15; Passaic sab-sch, 5. Morris and Orange—Madison, 5 99; Orange Hillside, 23 50; Whippany, 1. Newark—Montclair 1st, 10. New Brunswick—Alexandria, 5; Dutch Neck, 40. 273 63
NEW YORK.—Binghamton—McGrawville, 6 47. Boston—Boston 1st, 15; Boston 4th, 7 23. Geneva—Bellona, 8; Seneca, 13 53; West Fayette, 1 70. Hudson—Good Will, 1 20; Otisville, 13; Ridgebury, 50 cts. Niagara—Lewis-ton, 5; Lockport 1st, 34 86. North River—Newburgh 1st, 30 23. Otego—Cherry Valley, 31 93. Rochester—Sparta 1st, 34 73; — 2d, 12 01. Steuben—Almond, 3; Arkport, 93 cts.; Corning, 4 05. Troy—Glens Falls, 89; Hoosick Falls, 15 37; Waterford, 57 47. Ulrica—Holland Patent, 13; Lyons Falls Forest Church, 6 47; North Gate, 3; Turin, 2 51. Westchester—Darien, 15; Thompsonville, 17. 412 23

RECEIPTS FOR FREEDMEN, SEPTEMBER, 1894.

BALTIMORE.—Baltimore—Bel Air, 6 23. 6 23
CALIFORNIA.—Benicia—Petaluma, 5. San José—Templeton, 3. 7
COLORADO.—Boulder—Valmont, 30 cts. Pueblo—Monte Vista, 10 60. 10 90
ILLINOIS.—Alton—Salem German, 5; Woodburn German, 4; Zion German, 2. Bloomington—Danville 1st sab-sch, 35. Chicago—Chicago 2d sab-sch, 37 63; — Covenant,

OHIO.—Athens—Stockport, 70 cts. Bellefontaine—Forest, 2 70. Cincinnati—Delhi, 6 62; Wyoming, 50 73. Cleveland—North Springfield, 1. Dayton—Springfield 2d, 48 50. Portsmouth—Portsmouth 1st, 28; West Union, 5 50; Wheat Ridge, 4. St. Clairsville—Crab Apple, 6 37; Morristown, 3; Wheeling Valley, 2 40. Zanesville—Bladsenburgh, 3 01; Martinsburg, 4 12; Mt. Pleasant, 2 73. 179 41
OREGON.—Portland—Portland 2d, 2. 8 00
PENNSYLVANIA.—Blairsville—Blairsville, 50; Livermore, 3 13. Butler—Scrub Grass, 8. Carlisle—Carlisle 1st, 16 80; Upper Path Valley, 5. Chester—Honey Brook, 5 50. Clarion—Bethesda, 4; Edenburg, 30. Huntingdon—Pine Grove, 1 50. Kittanning—Slate Lick, 3 41. Northumberland—Buffalo, 5; Mahoning (sab-sch, 4 39), 51 64; Northumberland, 6; Williamsport 1st, 10. Philadelphia—Philadelphia North Broad Street, 100; — Trinity, 25. Philadelphia North—Falls of Schuylkill, 16; Germantown Wakefield, 30 49; Jenkintown Grace, 4 22. Pittsburgh—Pittsburgh East Liberty, 15 93. Shenango—Sharpsville, 1 14; Westfield, 14. Washington—Cove, 2. 408 78
SOUTH DAKOTA.—Southern Dakota—Parkston, 6; Union Centre, 3. 9 00
TENNESSEE.—Kingston—Bethel, 3. Union—Erin, 3. 6 00
TEXAS.—Trinity—Terrell, 4; Waskom, 1. 5 00
UTAH.—Utah—Pleasant Grove, 60 cts. .60
WASHINGTON.—Puget Sound—Ellensburg, 3; White River, 1. 4 00

Receipts from Churches in September..... $1,698 41
Receipts from Sabbath-schools and C. E. Societies 10 84

REFUNDED.

"D," 25..... 25 00

MISCELLANEOUS.

Cash, 25; A Friend, 5; "J. B. H.," 5; Special for Student, 40; C. Penna, 2; Rev. W. L. Tarbet and wife, 60 cts.; H. L. Swezey, N. Y., 50 cts. 78 10

INCOME ACCOUNT.

805 20; 106 75..... 906 95
Total receipts in September..... $3,711 30
Total receipts from April 15th..... 23,043 27

JACOB WILSON, Treasurer,

1234 Chestnut St., Phila.

1 50; Evanston 1st, 57 27; Herscher, 1; Lake Forest, 4 80. Mattoon—Ashmore, 5; Peoria—Eureka, 16 03; Oneida, 3. Rock River—Coal Valley, 80 cts. Springfield—Mason City, 4 99; Pisgah, 1 40. 164 42
INDIANA.—Crawfordsville—Dayton, 18; Delphi, 4 65. Logansport—Goodland, 6; Union, 2 80. New Albany—Charlestown, 10 20. White Water—Sparta, 1. 43 63
IOWA.—Cedar Rapids—Cedar Rapids 3d, 4. Dubuque

—Lansing 1st, 5 45; Manchester, 4 50. Iowa City—Princeton, 8; Washington 1st, 90, C. E., 20, 1 10; Williamsburgh, 7. 30 05

MICHIGAN.—Grand Rapids—Grand Rapids Westminster, 13 55. Lake Superior—Newberry, 2. Saginaw—Emerson, 5 33. 50 07

MINNESOTA.—St. Paul—St. Paul Westminster, 5 05. 5 05

MISSOURI.—St. Louis—Webster Grove, 23 55. 23 55

NEBRASKA.—Omaha—Craig 1st, 4. 4

NEW JERSEY.—Elizabeth—Plainfield 1st sab-sch, 25. Jersey City—Englewood, 89 13. Monmouth—Burlington, 25 29; Plumstead, 2 43. Morris and Orange—East Orange Arlington Avenue, 35; Madison, 5 99; Morristown 1st, 81 35. Orange Hillside, 28 10; Rockaway, 29 50; Whippany, 20. Newark—Montclair 1st, 41 10. New Brunswick—Dutch Neck, 40. Newton—Hackettstown, 25. West Jersey—Salem 1st, 18 55. 475 55

NEW YORK.—Albany—Princeton, 7. Boston—Holyoke, 6. Brooklyn—Brooklyn 1st German, 8; —Hopkins St., 2. Cayuga—Meridian, 3. Geneva—Geneva North, 70 25, sab-sch, 12 16, 89 41. Hudson—Good Will 1 20; Otisville, 7; Ridgebury, 1. Nassau—Freeport, 11 20; Islip, 33. New York—New York West Farms, 4. Otsego—Oneonta, 23. Steuben—Arkport, 92 cts.; Campbell, 10; Corning, 4 05. Troy—Waterford 1st, 7 90. Utica—Ilion, 3, (sab-sch, 2), 5; New Hartford, 14 16; Sauquoit, 12 83. West Chester—Darien, 13 55; Yonkers 1st, 54 20. 816 45

OHIO.—Athens—Stockport, 70 cts. Bellafontaine—Gallion, 4. Cincinnati—Cincinnati Calvary, 7; Lebanon 1st, 9. Cleveland—North Springfield, 1. Columbus—Westerville, 5. Mahoning—New Lisbon, 11. Marton—Chesterville, 4; Marysville 1st C. E., 12 50. Maumee—Paulding, 5. Steubenville—Harlem, 13 79. 73 99

OREGON.—Portland—Smith Memorial, 1. 1 00

PENNSYLVANIA.—Allegheny—Tarentum, 8 73. Blairsville—Poke Run, 25. Butler—Sarverville, 2; West Sunbury, 16 75. Chester—Fairview, 6 59. Clarion—Clarion, 14 46; Edenburg, 10. Erie—Kerr's Hill, 4 87, (sab-sch, 63 cts.), 4 99. Huntingdon—Duncansville, 7. Kittanning—Elder's Ridge, 17 48. Lackawanna—Ashley, 25. 73 99

Lehigh—Hazleton, 25 88; South Bethlehem sab-sch, 4. Northumberland—Williamsport 1st, 10. Philadelphia—Philadelphia Evangel, 15. Pittsburgh—Pittsburgh Bethlehem, 25; —East Liberty, 29 82; —Lawrenceville, 25 23. Redstone—Little Redstone, 7 07. Schenango—Palaski sab-sch, 5 25. Washington—Wheeling 3d, 8. 307 45

SOUTH DAKOTA.—Southern Dakota—Canton, 5; Scotland, 4 50. 9 50

TENNESSEE.—Holston—St. Marks, 4. 4 09

TEXAS.—Trinity—Terrell, 3. 3 00

UTAH.—Utah—Pleasant Grove, 60 cts. .60

WASHINGTON.—Puget Sound—Sumner, 2 80. 2 80

WISCONSIN.—Madison—Platteville German, 5 15. Milwaukee—Beaver Dam 1st, 7 40; Manitowoc 1st, 1 50. 14 05

Receipts from churches during September, 1894..... $1,523 32

MISCELLANEOUS.

Good Will W. M. Soc., Mayeville, S. C., 60 cts.; McGranville N. Y. Presbyterial Soc., 2 98; "Jersey," 45; "A believer in missions, Pittsburgh," 25; John P. Jones, Terra Alta, W. Va., 30; Estate of Mrs. Eliza A. McAlpin, Hebron, Ind., 1,000; Estate of Mrs. Sarah Jane Evans, Youngstown, O., 500; "C. Penna.," 8; Rev. W. L. Tarbet and wife, Springfield, 1 20; H. S. Swezey, Amityville, N. Y., 60 cts.; "Friends," Poughkeepsie, N. Y., 100..... 1,703 26

Woman's Executive Committee..... 1,443 53

Total receipts during September, 1894..... 4,670 13

Previously reported..... 24,224 44

$28,894 57

JOHN J. BRACOM, Treasurer.

516 Market Street, Pittsburgh, Pa.

RECEIPTS FOR FOREIGN MISSIONS, SEPTEMBER, 1894.

ATLANTIC.—Fairfield—Good Will, 2. 2 00

BALTIMORE.—Baltimore—Baltimore Brown Memorial, 245 80. Y. P. S. C. E., salary Mr. Silsby, 21; Crisp Memorial, 4; —Westminster Y. P. S. C. E., 13 10; Piney Creek, 14 40; —New Castle—Bridgeville, 6; West Nottingham, 34 17. Washington City—Washington City 1st Y. P. S. C. E., salary Mr. Woods, 5. 243 47

CALIFORNIA.—Benicia—Point Arena, 15 90. Los Angeles—Los Angeles Chinese, 1 70; —Grand View, 4 65. Y. P. S. C. E., 5 50; Santa Monica, 3 20. Oakland—Danville, 6 60. Sacramento—Gridley, 2 50. San Francisco—San Francisco Japanese for work in Japan, 20. 59 05

CATAWA.—Catawba—Poplar Tent, 2 24. 2 24

COLORADO.—Boulder—Valmont, 1 98. Gunnison—Lake City, 5. Pueblo—Canon City Y. P. S. C. E., support of girls in Siam, 30; Quinta, 4. 40 98

ILLINOIS.—Alton—Salem, 10; Woodburn, 8; Zion, 3. Bloomington—Paxton, 12 50; Wayneville Y. P. S. C. E., salary W. P. Chalfant, 1 16. Chicago—Chicago 3d, 258 82; —Railroad Chapel Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 6; Evanston 1st, 238 63. Peoria—Deer Creek, 7. Rock River—Beulah, 7; Morrison sab-sch, 4 06. Schuyler—Mount Sterling Y. P. S. C. E., support Mr. Hyde, 13 35; Oquawka, 30. Springfield—Flagan, 3 25; Springfield 2d, 149 50. 733 27

INDIANA.—Crawfordsville—Colfax, 2; Delphi, 30 69; Frankfort Mr. James Smith, de'd, 200; Rockville Memorial C. E., 1 25. Fort Wayne—Ossian for Mr. Eckels, 10. Indianapolis—Bloomington Walnut Street Y. P. S. C. E., 2 75; Edinburg, 7; Franklin, 41; Greenwood, 6 25. Y. P. S. C. E., 1 03; Hopewell Y. P. S. C. E., 3 50; Indianapolis 1st Y. P. S. C. E., 3 25. Logansport—South Bend 1st Y. P. S. C. E., 15. Muncie—Wabash Y. P. S. C. E., 1 71. Vincennes—Evansville Grace, 5. Y. P. S. C. E., 1 25; —Walnut Street Y. P. S. C. E., 15; Princeton Y. P. S. C. E., 2. White Water—Rising Sun, 4 97. 253 47

INDIAN TERRITORY.—Oklahoma—Oklahoma City Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 11 50. 11 50

IOWA.—Corning—Corning, 10; Villisca Y. P. S. C. E., support R. Irwin, 25. Dubuque—Prairieburg, 23 70. Iowa—Keokuk Westminster sab-sch, 12 54. Iowa City—Washington, 5 95. Y. P. S. C. E., 1 33. Sioux City—Le Mars, 23 07. Waterloo—Ackley Y. P. S. C. E., 10; East Friedland, 42 57. 154 18

KANSAS.—Highland—Clifton, 15 75. Neosho—Chetopa, 3; Parsons 1st sab-sch, 5 38. Solomon—Salina, 28; Union Y. P. S. C. E., salary E. P. Dunlap, 2. Topeka—Black Jack Y. P. S. C. E., 4; Mulberry, 3 85. 71 98

MICHIGAN.—Kalamazoo—Edwardsburgh Y. P. S. C. E.,

5 53. Lake Superior—Iron Mountain, 1 00. Lansing—Marshall, 6. Potosky—Boyne Falls, 2. Saginaw—Rev. and Mrs. J. G. Grabiel, 5. 19 25

MINNESOTA.—Minneapolis—Minneapolis Bethlehem, 2 16. St. Paul—Goodhue, 7 60. 9 76

MISSOURI.—Kansas City—Mr. W. F. Matthews, 5. 5. Louis—St. Louis, Clifton Heights, Band of Willing Workers, 15; St. Louis North, Y. P. S. C. E., support Mr. Drummond, 25 18. 43 18

MONTANA.—Great Falls—Armella, 4 75. 4 75

NEBRASKA.—Hastings—Beaver City, Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., for Sangli Boys School, 5; Bloomington, 3 67; Hastings German, 2. Kearney—Salem, 4 38; Shelton, 3 60. Nebraska—Fairmount Y. P. S. C. E., 61 cts. Omaha—Columbus, 5 50; for Hunter Corbett, 3 50; Omaha 1st sab-sch, salary Dr. Bannerman, 100; —Blackbird Hills, 4 25. 123 13

NEW JERSEY.—Elizabeth—Dunellen, 1 23; Elizabeth Madison Avenue sab-sch, 10; Westfield Y. P. S. C. E., support Mr. Clark, 15. Jersey City—Englewood, 122 25; Passiac sab-sch, 70. Monmouth—Atlantic Highlands, 9 18; Burlington, 56 36; Freehold, 19 59. Morris and Orange—East Orange Bethel Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Madison, 59 43; New Vernon, 37 44; Orange Central, Y. P. S. C. E., support native helper, 25; Summit Central, 60. Newark—Newark Roseville Bruce St. afternoon sab-sch, 10. New Brunswick—Lambertville, 70; New Brunswick 1st Y. P. S. C. E., 9. Newton—Andover sab-sch, 5; Belvidere 1st, 50, a member, 23. West Jersey—Atlantic City 1st Y. P. S. C. E., 25. 623 05

NEW YORK.—Albany—Albany State Street, support Mr. Hannum, 200; Schoenectady 1st Y. P. S. C. E., work of Mr. Silsby, 15. Binghamton—Cannonsville, 5. Boston—Boston Scotch Y. P. S. C. E., 10. Brooklyn—Brooklyn 2d, 22 50; —1st German, 20; —Lafayette Avenue, 31 17; —South 8d Street, 26 26; —Throop Avenue, 123. Buffalo—Buffalo West Avenue Y. P. S. C. E., salary Mr. Jessup, 15. Cayuga—Sennett, 8. Geneese—Waraw, 40. Hudson—Cochection, 13; Congress 1st, 30; Good Will, 7 28; Hopewell Y. P. S. C. E., salary Mr. Jones, 20; Monroe, 50; Ridgebury, 3. Long Island—Southampton Y. P. S. C. E., support Mr. Campbell, 3 18. Nassau—Babylon sab-sch, salary Rullia Ram, 13; St. Paul's Mrs. Zimmerman, 3; A Pastor, 4. New York—New York West End, sab-sch, for special work, 4 60. Niagara—Lawiston, 16; Lockport 1st, 48 67; Niagara Falls Pierce Avenue, 5; North Tonawanda North, 30. North River—Cornwall on Hudson, 10 23; Highland Falls Jr. Y. P. S. C. E., 5; 5 yd sab-sch, 10; Marlborough Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Newigh Calvary 8 93. Otsego—East Guilford 4 75; adilla, 30 66; Worcester 8 16. St. Lawrence. Gouverar, 39 53. Steuben.—Arkport, 6 12; Campbell Y. P. S.

 E., support Mr. Griswold, 10; Corning, 26 73. Troy.—
 urenburg, 1 73; Waterford, 31 61; Self Denial, 1. Utica
 North Gate, 5; Sauquoit, 22 94; South Trenton, 3; Turin, 18. Westchester—Bedford, 44 87; Greenwich 1st, 18 12;
 w Rochelle 1st Y. P. S. C. E., support Mr. Phraner,
 1, 123 87

NORTH DAKOTA.—Fargo—Lisbon Y. P. S. C. E., 3 80.

OHIO.—Athens—Stockport, 2 62. Cincinnati—Cincinti Walnut Hills, 3 05. Cleveland—Cleveland Wood-id Avenue Memorial Circle King's Daughters and Sons port J. J. Walsh, 12; North Springfield, 8. Maumee.—
 yan Y. P. S. C. E. for Mr. Doolittle, 6 73; Hull's sible Y. P. S. C. E., 2 65; New Rochester, 9. Porte- uth—Rome, 4. Y. P. S. C. E., 6. Steubenville—East repool 1st, 95; Madison, 10 20. Zanesville—Fair-nt, 9; Muskingum Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Norwich Mr.
 nj. Wortman, 2. 170 23

OREGON.—Portland—Portland Chinese work in China,
 3. 5 53

PENNSYLVANIA.—Allegheny—New Salem, 12. Blair- le—Greensburg, 23 29; Plum Creek sab-sch, 45.
Carlisle—Carlisle 1st Y. P. S. C. E., 40; Harrisburgh rket Square Y. P. S. C. E. for Mission Boat, China, Upper Path Valley Dry Run Y. P. S. C. E., 10. Chester
 lryn Mawr Missionary Association, 537 80. Clarion.—
 enburg, 50; Johnsbury, 5 74; Wilcox, 13 04. Erie.—
 rth Clarendon, 9. Huntingdon—Altoona 3d Y. P. S.
 E., 6 59; Milroy, 17 25. Kittanning—Jacksonville, 10.
Lawrence—Nicholson, 17; Scranton 3d Y. P. S. C. E., ary Mr. Watson, 40; Green Ridge Avenue, 80.
high—Middle Smithfield sab-sch for Ningpo, 4 07;
 outala, 15; Pottsville 1st sab-sch for Ningpo, 11 44;
 2d sab-sch for Ningpo, 20; Sandy Run sab-sch for ingpo, 10. Y. P. S. C. E. for Ningpo, 5; South Easton
 -sch for Ningpo, 10; White Haven sab-sch for Ningpo, Northumberland—Williamsport 1st, 100. Philadel- phia—Philadelphia Cohocksink sab-sch, 4 70; Mc-well Memorial Mr. Wm. White, 100. Philadelphia
 rth—Thompson Memorial, 5. Pittsburgh—Bethany
 -sch, 37 68; Concord, 13 50; Long Island, 23; Pittsgh 1st sab-sch, 114 41; 6th Y. P. S. C. E. support Mr.
 ummond, 15; East Liberty, 79 64. Washington.—
 as Creek, 50; J. J. Lyle support Mr. Ewing, 5; Mill sek, 23 25; Pigeon Creek, 8 30. Westminster—Chan-ord, 23 25. 1,677 06

SOUTH DAKOTA.—Black Hills—Lead, 2. Southern Da- ota—Parkston, 5

KANSAS.—Holston—Timber Ridge Y. P. S. C. E., 2; ion—Erin, 15. 17 00

MASS.—Trinity—Wasson, 2. 8 00

UTAH.—Utah—Pleasant Grove, 3 96; Salt Lake City
 stminster, 5 12. 9 08

WISCONSIN.—Madison—Prairie du Sac, 24, sab-sch, 1 59;
 P. S. C. E., 10. 35 69

WOMEN'S BOARDS.

men's Board of Philadelphia, 1,015 39;
 omen's Board of Northwest, 2,600 00;

Women's Occidental Board of Missions,
 $12 55 $3,827 94

LEGACIES.

Estate of John Longwell, deceased, 195 45; Estate of Mary Van Horn, deceased, 217 33;
 Estate of Sarah Jane Evans, 500; Interest on bequest of Robert Darling, 23 85..... 936 68

MISCELLANEOUS.

Mrs. Mary E. Palmer, for work in Laos, 5;
 A friend, for school work in Japan, 11 89;
 East Bloomfield 1st Cong. sab-sch, for school work in Japan, 13 11; O. A. Cramer, Monte Vista, Col., 100; Convention of German Ministers and Elders of the East, for support of two native Bible teachers in Africa, under care of Rev. G. A. Goddahn, 80; A friend, 3;
 John McCoy, 10; Miss M. C. Schwichtenberg,
 Kenvil, N. J., for sab-sch in India, 5; Mrs.
 Josie W. Bissell and Miss Gertrude A. Wells,
 2; A friend, Arlington, N. J., 3; Rev. W. M.
 Hunter, D. D., Mt. Jewett, Pa., 25; Mrs.
 Mittamore, Mitchell, S. D., 2 50; From friends at Beloit, Wis., 3; Women's Executive Committee of Home Missions, Office
 Desk Mite Box, 2 72; Alexander Freudtj, D.
 C., Newcastle, Del., 5; Edwin P. Robinson,
 Orchard Park, N. Y., 8; Cordelia, 75; For Korea, 1,000; W. F. Buel, Brooklyn, N. Y., 5;
 Samuel B. Turner, Quincy, Ill., 100; Mr. A.
 S. Hopkins, Chicago, support of W. L. Swal-len, 20; From Ruth, 100; H. L. J. 100; Bertha
 B. Johnson, Middletown, O., 2; Calvary Baptist Church, New Haven, for work under Dr.
 Underwood, 9 36; John P. Jones, Terra Alta,
 W. Va., 40; Catharine S. Rial, Summit, N.
 J., 25; Mrs. S. C. Adams, Paris, France,
 4 50; J. Kenn, 2 75; E. M. Wright, Kansas City, Mo., 1; E. Calver, Seattle, Wash., for Chinese Missions, 2; Miss Edith Van Kren,
 Clinton, Ia., for Peking Mission, 5 32; R. T.
 Richards, Guaymas, Mexico, 100; D. P. T.,
 10; C. Fenna, 25; Rev. W. L. Tarbet and wife,
 2 80; Miss H. S. Swezey, Amityville, N. Y.,
 3 30; A friend, 10; A friend, 2 50; James Leishman, 2 50; Rev. Samuel Ward, Emporia, Kan., 5; Miss J. McKillican, for work in North China, 10; Rev. W. B. Boomer,
 Chili, for Mitchell Memorial Laos Fund, 6 63;
 Rev. O. H. Bandy, 10..... 1,959 96

Total amount received during September, 1894, $12,461 22

Total amount received from May 1st to September 30, 1894..... 178,863 54

Total amount received from May 1st to September 30, 1893..... 131,113 47

WILLIAM DULLES, JR., Treasurer,
 53 Fifth Avenue, New York.

RECEIPTS FOR HOME MISSIONS, SEPTEMBER, 1894.

ALTIMORE.—Baltimore—Baltimore Brown Memorial
 E., 21; Fallston, 3; Franklinville, 5; New Windsor O.
 10. New Castle—Bridgeville, 6; Lower Brandywine,
 0. Washington City—Lewinsville (sab-sch, 7 70);
 D., Vienna (sab-sch, 1 30) (C. E., 2), 15 50; Rev. W. H.
 ards and wife, 5. 90 40

CALIFORNIA.—Benicia—Shiloh, 5. Los Angeles—Los eles Grand View (C. E., 3 50), 6 05; Pacific Beach, Point Loma, 5. Oakland—Danville, 4 50; Oakland klyn additional, 4 35. San José—Hollister C. E., 36 15

LORADO.—Boulder—Valmont, 1 80. Denver—Central,
 6 10; Denver Central Mrs. Josie W. Bissell and Miss rude A. Wells, 3; Platner German, 3. Pueblo.—
 ry Ford, 6 40. 20 30

ILLINOIS.—Alton—Edwardsville, 10 50; Salem German, keelville, 1 50; Woodburn German, 10; Zion German, Cairo—Mount Olivet, 3. Chicago—Chicago 3d, 60; manuel, 10; Evanston 1st, 238 53; Libertyville sab-4. Mattoon—Moweaqua, 16 63; Pana 1st, 3 25.
 oa—Troy Grove, 10. Peoria—Deer Creek, 7. Rock
 r—Norwood, 73; Pleasant Ridge, 1. Schuyler—Elling-Memorial, 5; Pontocuec, 3; Warsaw, 1. Springfield
 th Grove, 5; Pisgah, 10 53; Springfield 2d, 149 51; st Water, 5; Rev. W. L. Tarbet and wife, 4 40. 645 29

INDIANA.—Logansport—La Porte C. E., 13; New Albany
 —Salem C. E., 5 70. 18 70

INDIAN TERRITORY.—Ottmaron—Purcell, 6. Oklahoma
 —Newkirk, 5. 11 00

IOWA.—Cedar Rapids—Cedar Rapids 3d C. E., 5.
Council Bluffs—Adair, 1 50. Des Moines—Dallas Centre sab-sch, 5; Grimes Ridgedale C. E. Union, 3 68. Dubuque
 —Oelwein, 38 50. Fort Dodge—Germania sab-sch, 5.
Iowa—Keokuk Westminster sab-sch, 12 55. Iowa City.—
 Malcolm, 24; Washington (C. E., 1 21), 6 63. Sioux City
 —Hosper's, 5; Plymouth Co., 5. Waterloo—Clarksville,
 5; Morrison in part, 25. 140 33

KANSAS.—Highland—Holton 23 41. Larned—Garden City, 20; Horace, 1 90. Neesho—Chetopa, 3; Garnett additional 60 cts.; Parsons sab-sch, 5 29; Yates Centre, 17 10. Osborne—Colby, 12; Crystal Plains, 1 50; Oakley,
 3; Smith Centre, 3 50. Topeka—Mulberry Creek German
 Westminster Church, 2. 98 30

MICHIGAN.—Detroit—Detroit Covenant sab-sch, 11 02;
 Ypsilanti 1st, 10 05. Flint—Bridgehampton, 3 17; Elk, 6.
 Flynn, 4; Sanilac Centre, 2. Grand Rapids—Grand Haven, 19 29; Grand Rapids Westminster, 12 51. Lake
Superior—Hay Lake, 2. Monroe—Monroe, 10; Raisin, 5.
Saginaw.—Lafayette 2d, 1 50; Pinconning, 5. 92 54

MINNESOTA.—Duluth—Duluth Norwegian 5 25. Man- kato—Fulda, 4; Luverne, 13 30. St. Paul—St. Paul Westminster, 16 50. 28 95

 Missouri—Kansas City—Deepwater, 2 50. Ozark—Lockwood, 3 50. Palmira—Lingo, 1. New Cambria, 5; Platte—Bethel, 3 25. St. Louis—St. Louis Covenant, 27. 43 29

NEBRASKA.—Box Butte—Gordon, 1 07; Norden, 2; Rushville, 9. Hastings—Hastings German, 2; Oak Creek German, 4; Orleans, 2. Kearney—Buffalo Grove German sab-sch, 3. Nebraska City—Bennett, 15; Panama, 8 05; Sprague, 1 03. Niobrara—Niobrara, 15; O'Neill, 2 55. Omaha—Bancroft, 2 48; Omaha Blackbird Hills, 2 65; Omaha Agency Bethlehem, 2 31. 73 14

NEW JERSEY.—Elizabeth—Basking Ridge, C. E. 5; Elizabeth Madison Ave. sab-sch, 10. Jersey City—Tonafly, 18 50. Monmouth—Beverly, 5; Freehold, 16 06; Shrewsbury C. E. 5. Morris and Orange—Dover C. E. 10; East Orange Bethel C. E. 5; Madison, 35 29; Morristown 1st, 55 81; —South St. sab-sch for debt, 15 57; Orange Central "Special Donation," 50; Whippany, 30. Newark—Newark Central, 5; —Roseville Bruce St. Mission afternoon sab-sch, 10. New Brunswick—Amwell 2d, 10 37; Hamilton Square, 18; Lambertville, 35; Trenton Bethany, C. E. 5. Newton—Andover, 6; Belvidere 1st, (A Member, 33), 63; Oxford 1st, C. E., 3. West Jersey—Atco C. E., 3; Green Creek C. E. 1. 431 13

NEW MEXICO.—Arizona—Clifton Zion, 4 50; Morenci Spanish, 8; Springerville, 15 50; Rev. H. A. Thompson, 5; Laguna, 5. 48 53

NEW YORK.—Albany—Albany West End C. E. 5; Jefferson, 35; Sand Lake (sab-sch, 20 91), 33 91; Schenectady 1st C. E. 15; West Galway, 6. Boston—Boston Scotch, 13; Windham, 25 74. Brooklyn—Brooklyn 3d Mrs. A. L. Bulkley, 23 50; —1st German, 20; —Mount Olivet, 2; —Throop Avenue, 43. Champlain—Fort Henry, 45 63. Chemung—Big Flats sab-sch, 15; Breeseport, 5; Sullivanville, 5. Geneva—Geneva 1st, 37 45. Hudson—Good Will, 7 30; Greenbush, 15 13; Monroe, 100; Ridgebury, 8 50. Long Island—Bridgehampton, 49 14; Setauket, 11. Nassau—Huntington 1st, 110. New York—New York Faith C. E. 25 03; —Puritans, 20. Niagara—Carlton C. E. 1 25; Knowlesville, 15; North Tonawanda North, 40. North River—Highland Falls 1st Jr. C. E. 5; Lloyd sab-sch, 10; Marlborough C. E. 5. Osego—Laurens, 4. Rochester—Dansville Childrens Day, 17 09. St. Lawrence—Gouverneur, 29 50. Steuben—Arkport, 5 57; Corning, 24 30. Troy—Hebron, 5; Waterford, 15 30. Utica—North Gage, 4; Rome, 24 56; South Trenton, 3; Turin, 9 54. Westchester—Darien, 60; Mahopac Falls, 40; Rye, 140; South Salem sab-sch, 20. 1,158 83

NORTH DAKOTA.—Fargo—Buffalo, 2 75; Hudson, 1; Lucca, 3; Tower City, 3 40. 12 15

OHIO.—Athens—Beech Grove, 1 50; Stockport, 2 34. Chillicothe—McArthur, 10. Cleveland—North Springfield, 3; Willoughby, 17 70. Huron—Fostoria sab-sch, 15. Marion—Marysville 1st C. E. 12 50. Maumee—Bryan C. E. 8 66; Maumee C. E., 6; New Rochester, 10. Portsmouth—Eckmanville, 10 19. St. Clairsville—Bannock (L. A. Society, 8 50), (C. E., 3 50), 12; Bellaire 1st sab-sch, 7 46; Bridgeport, 5; Martin's Ferry sab-sch, 38 66; Nottingham, 60 81; Shrewsbury, 3. Steubenville—Island Creek, 6 60; Minerva, 7; Ridge C. E., 28; Ulrichsville, 16. Zanesville—Madison, 21 14; Muskingum C. E. 5; New Lexington, 1 96; Norwich Mr. Benjamin Wortman, 2; Roseville, 8 50; Uniontown, 1 35; Unity, 7 68. 337 86

OREGON.—Portland—Clackamas 1st, 1; Portland Westminster, 19. Willamette—Yacquina Bay, 4. 24 00

PENNSYLVANIA.—Allegheny—Bull Creek, 5; Fairmount, 5 10; New Salem, 33. Blairsville—Pine Run, 15; Plum Creek, 50. Butler—Scrub Grass sab-sch, 14 15. Carlisle—Carlisle 1st C. E., 18 50; Harrisburgh Pine Street, 407 84; Middle Spring, 50; "A friend," 20. Chester—Fagg's Manor, 35; Great Valley, 11; Wayne, 205. Clerion—Callensburg, 23 13; Concord, 20; Edenburg, 50. Erie—Greenville, 2. Huntingdon—Altoona 3d C. E., 6 50. Kittanning—West Glade Run, 17; Worthington, 13. Lackawanna—Ashley, 12; Herrick, 8; Honesdale, 300; Mehoopany, 7; Meshoppen, 10; Mount Pleasant, 3 53; Rome, 1 50. Lehigh—Audenreid (sab-sch, 13 19) (C. E. 14), 29 05. Northumberland—Berwick, 10; Chillisquaque sab-sch, 6 30; Jersey Shore, 35; Montoursville, 6 15; Williamsport 1st, 60. Philadelphia—Philadelphia Chockosink (sab-sch, 7 30) (Second Street Mission, 4 50), 11 80. Philadelphia North—Abington, 40 67; Langhorne, 4; Morrisville, 17 53; New Hope, 7 92. Pittsburgh—Bethany, 30 75; Concord, 12 50; Fairview, 9; Pittsburgh 1st sab-sch, 126 58; —East Liberty, 53 09; —McCandless Avenue, 14. Shenango—Little Beaver, 3 25. Washington—New Prospect, 81; Pigeon Creek, 9; Wellsburg, 28 50. 1,988 84

SOUTH DAKOTA.—Black Hills—Edgemont, 3 75. Central Dakota—Beulah, 6; Colman, 2 55; Pierre, 5. Southern Dakota—Parkston, 5. 21 30

TENNESSEE.—Kingston—Enaley, 55 cts. Union—Caledonia, 1 50; Erin C. E., 15. 7 5

TEXAS.—North Texas—Jackboro, 19. Trinity-Dale 2d, 4 25; —Exposition Park, 5; Waskom, 5. 24 5

UTAH.—Boise—Boise City, 5. Kendall—Franklin, 2. Utah—Nephth Huntington, 5; Pleasant Grove, 3 62. 22 2

WASHINGTON.—Olympia—Buckley, 5; Emancipat Calvary, 3 75; Ridgefield C. E., 4 90. Spokane—Davenport, 10; Rathdrum, 13; Rockford, 3. Walla Walla—Kendrick, 1 80; Lapwai, 13 00; Moscow C. E., 5. 52 6

WISCONSIN.—Chippewa—Rice Lake, 3 58. Milwaukee—Milwaukee German, 2 62. 6 2

Woman's Executive Committee $14,129 5
 Total for Churches 21,200 2

LEGACIES.

Mrs. Mary Van Horn, deceased, late of Harlem Springs, O., $17 27; W. D. Johnson deceased, late of Clifton, Ohio, additional, 1,900; Mary E. Kilburne deceased, late of Newark, N. J., 55; Sarah W. Wallace deceased, late of Binghamton, N. Y., 508; Mrs. H. A. Scott deceased, late of Lebanon, O., 200; Mrs. Sarah Jane Evans deceased, late of Youngstown, O., 560. $2,127 2

MISCELLANEOUS.

A Friend, Canadaigua, N. Y., 24 03; A Home Missionary, 3 70; Amelie H. Burnle, Taneystown, Md., 4; Rev. J. H. Edwards and wife, Mayville, N. D., for debt, 30; "Church Member," 10; "Cordelia," 75; "For Jesus Christ's Kingdom," 10; Mrs. S. C. Dickinson, Dunkirk, 10; Mrs. H. N. Byran deceased, Cal., 60 cts.; Geo. D. Rauch, Gaines, Mich., 5; "Mrs. McM., 50; "C. S. R." Summit, N. J., 10; John P. Jones, Terra Alta, W. Va., 30; Mrs. S. C. Adams, Paris, France, 4; E. Calvert, Seattle, Wash., 2; "C. Penna," 14; Miss H. R. Swzey, Amityville, N. Y., 3; A Friend, 2 50; James Lashman, 3 50; Rev. Thos. L. Sexton and family, 10; Interest on Johnson Bequest, 360; Interest on Permanent Fund, 120; Interest on Lyon Trust, 250. $1,000 2

Total received for Home Missions, Sept., 1894, 325 03
 Total received for Home Missions, from April 1, 1894 220 10
 Amount received during same period last year, 124 00 2

O. D. EATON, Treasurer

Box L, Station D. 53 Fifth Avenue, New York

RECEIPTS FOR SUSTENTATION, SEPTEMBER, 1894

COLORADO.—Boulder—Valmont, 6 cts. 6
 ILLINOIS.—Ottawa—Au Sable Grove, 4 22. Springfield—Flagah, 46 cts.; Rev. W. L. Tarbet and wife, 46 cts. 5 15

IOWA.—Iowa City—West Branch, 2 72. Scott, 4 22. Washington 1st (C. E., 4 cts.), 23 cts. 7 6

KANSAS.—Larned—Hutchinson, 3 51. 9 5

KENTUCKY.—Louisville—Pewee Valley, 4 25. 4 25

MICHIGAN.—Monroe—Balsin, 2. 2 00

NEW JERSEY.—Morris and Orange—Madison, 1 22. 1 22

NORTH DAKOTA.—Fargo—La Moure, 5. 5 00

TENNESSEE.—Kingston—Thomas 1st, 4 52. 4 52

UTAH.—Utah—Pleasant Grove, 13 cts. 13

WISCONSIN.—Madison—Belleville, 2. Verona, 2. 4 00

Total from churches $ 46 5

Less amount refunded to Baltimore Presbytery

Baltimore Park Church, 14 51, and amounts transferred to Home Missions, 10 24 5

Total received for Sustentation, September, 1894 $ 21 5

Total received for Sustentation from April 1, 1894 24 5

O. D. EATON, Treasurer,

Box L, Station D. 53 Fifth Avenue, New York

RECEIPTS FOR NEW YORK SYNODICAL AID FUND,

SEPTEMBER, 1894.

Albany—Amsterdam 2d, 100. Binghamton—Canoe

ville, 5. Brooklyn—Brooklyn Throop Avenue, 50; —

5th German, 19. Champlain—Presbyterial Popular Meeting, 4 10. Chemung—Newfield, 7. Geneva—Gorham, 6 90; Romulus, 15 10; Seneca Falls 1st, 28 03. Hudson—Hopewell, 18; Good Will, 24 cts. Long Island—Middle-town, 7 65. St. Lawrence—Hammond, 10; Rosalie 1st, 12 50; Oswegatchie 1st, 50. Steuben—Corning, 81 cts.; Andover, 4; Arkport, 19 cts. Troy—Argyle 1st, 8 10; Waterford, 39 29. Utica—Rome 1st, 11 17; North Gage, 5; South Trenton, 8. Westchester—Greensburgh, 12; Rye, 25; Mount Kisco C. E., 5; Oak Salem, 7 64.

Total from churches..... $ 473 89

MISCELLANEOUS.

Miss H. S. Swezey, Amityville, N. Y., 10 cts.... 0 10

Less amount transferred to Home Missions... $ 473 89
4 00

Total received for New York Synodical Aid Fund, September, 1894..... $ 468 92

Total received for New York Synodical Aid from April 1, 1894..... 3,569 58

O. D. Eaton, Treasurer,

Box L, Station D.
58 Fifth Avenue, New York.

RECEIPTS FOR MINISTERIAL RELIEF, SEPTEMBER, 1894.

BALTIMORE.—Baltimore—Lonaconing, 11. New Castle—New Castle, 213 22; Perryville, 89 cts. 235 11
CALIFORNIA.—Bentica—Two Rocks, 9. Los Angeles—Arlington, 24 18. 43 16

COLORADO.—Boulder—Valmont, 54 cts. Gunnison—Grand Junction, 5. Pueblo—Alamosa, (3 68 from sab-sch) 8 63; Mesa, 24; Pueblo 1st, 37 05. 75 29

ILLINOIS.—Alton—Ebenzer, 3; Edwardsville, 9 59; Jerseyville, 31; Salem German, 4 65; Woodburn German, 4; Zion German, 2. Carro—Fairfield, 3 40; Mount Vernon, 4 89; Murphysboro, 7; Tamaroa, 11. Chicago—Chicago Covenant, 68 57; Du Page, 24; Evanston 1st, 57 28; —South, 23 29; New Hope, 14 14; Oak Park 1st, 39 07; Peotone 1st, 32 77; River Forest 1st, 6. Freeport—Cedarville, 5 16; Forest Grove, 38; Galeana 1st, 20; Rockford 1st, 17 55; Willow Creek, 20 23; Woodstock, 15. Mattoon—Mattoon, 13 20; Taylorville, 7. Ottawa—Mendota, 27; Waltham, 8. Peoria—Elmira 1st, 15 20; Galesburg, 14 10; Prospect, 13 28; Washington, 4. Rock River—Edgington, 12; Morrison, 38 67; Rock Island Broadway, 18 80. Schuyler—Chili, 87 cts.; Fountain Green (sab-sch, 60 cts.), 4; Plymouth, 1 62. Springfield—Mason City, 6 03; Pisgah, 46 cts.; Springfield 4d, 23 09. 686 11

INDIANA.—Crawfordsville—Bethany, 7; Beulah, 3; Darlington, 6; Delphi, 8 37; Newtown, 14. Fort Wayne—Hopewell, 4; Salem Centre, 2. Indianapolis—Franklin, 11; Hopewell, 20 21; Indianapolis 12th, 8 80; Southport, 4 04. Vincennes—Evanville Grace, 20; Vincennes sab-sch, 4 80; Worthington, 3 80. 111 53

INDIAN TERRITORY.—Cimarron—Purcell, 11. 11
IOWA.—Cedar Rapids—Anamosa, 3; Mechanicsville, 9; Monticello, 3. Council Bluffs—Avoca, 8. Des Moines—Grimes, 4; Medora, 4; Ridgedale, 5 20. Fort Dodge—Carroll, 7 25; Glidden, 8 50; Spirit Lake, 3 50. Iowa—Martinsburg, 8 25; Mediapolis, 5 08; Mount Pleasant German, 9; Troy, 2 20. Iowa City—Brooklyn, 6 57; Davenport 1st, 41 02; Herman, 3; Le Claire, 1 50; Marengo 1st, 5; Mount Union, 2; Princeton, 8 50; Washington (C. E., 37 cts.), 53 23. Stow City—Cleghorn, 3; Meriden, 3; Vall, 11 50. Waterloo—East Friesland German, 18; Greene, 6; Janesville, 3. 224 16

KANSAS.—Emporia—Arkansas City 1st, 5 20; Cottonwood Falls, 2 75; Council Grove, 11; Mulvane, 6 20; Oxford, 1 59; Vernon, 3 07. Larned—Hutchinson, 15 84; Kingman, 4. Neosho—Osawatimie, 3; Princeton, 4; Richmond, 2. Solomon—Clyde, 4 35; Culver, 10; Lincoln, 6; Wilson 1st, 3. Topeka—Idana, 3 16; Manhattan 1st, 13 78; Wamego, 3 40. 101 84

KENTUCKY.—Ebenzer—Frankfort 1st, 43 57; Sharpesburgh, 3 70. Louisville—Pewee Valley, 12. 57 27

MICHIGAN.—Detroit—Mount Clemens, 5. Grand Rapids—Evart, 8. Kalamazoo—Richland, 6 25. Monroe—Erie, 6 20; Monroe, 8 62; Palmyra, 9 52. 46 59

MINNESOTA.—Duluth—Duluth Lakeside, 9 38; West Duluth Westminster, 6 50. Mankato—Tracy, 6 95. Minneapolis—Buffalo, 5 54; Minneapolis Bethlehem (sab-sch, 3 24), 19 59; —Highland Park, 12 47. Winona—Preston, 6 15. 60 58

MISSOURI.—Kansas City—Butler, 9; Sedalia Central, 24. Ozark—Carthage Westminster, 7 20; Mount Vernon, 2; Neosho, 10; Ozark Prairie, 3. Platte—Lathrop, 3 40; Parkville, 10 77. St. Louis—Rolla, 7 30; St. Charles, 71; St. Louis Cote Brillante, 16 87. 173 54

NEBRASKA.—Hastings—Bethel, 5 50; Hastings German, 1; Holdrege 1st, 2. Kearney—Buffalo Grove German, 3; Genoa 1st, 3; St. Paul, 3. Nebraska City—Diller, 5; Fairbury, 4 50; Hopewell, 3 68; Hubbell, 3; Lincoln 1st, 28; Nebraska City 1st, 11 70; Pawnee, 8 51; Seward, 6 53. Nebraska—Marshall, 3 15; Osmond, 1. Omaha—Omaha Blackbird Hills, 1 70; —Knox, 5 15; Schuyler, 4 35; Tekamah, 8. 120 17

NEW JERSEY.—Elizabeth—Cranford (sab-sch, 11 70), 25 03; Elizabeth Marshall Street, 25 75; —Westminster, 50 25; Lammington, 10; Metuchen, 15; Woodbridge, 15 73. Jersey City—Paterson Westminster, 4. Monmouth—Beverly, 30 41; Burlington, 26 69; Moorestown 1st, 15;

Mount Holly, 26; Plumstead, 1 86. Morris and Orange—Madison, 10 78; Rockaway, 49 50; Succasunna, 15 58. Newark—Montclair Grace, 17 16; Newark Central, 3; —Fewsmith Memorial, 8. New Brunswick—Alexandria, 5; Dutch Neck, 40; Lambertville, 30. Newton—Belvidere 1st (a member), 34; Newton, 200; Oxford 1st, 5; Phillipsburgh Westminster, 7; Yellow Frame, 4 50. West Jersey—Bridgeport 2d, 23 70; Cedarville Osborn Memorial, 2; Salem, 73 63. 787 56

NEW YORK.—Albany—Albany 1st, 25; Jefferson, 10. Binghamton—Bainbridge, 10. Boston—Roxbury, 23 18; Windham, 4 52. Brooklyn—Brooklyn Mount Olivet, 3. Cayuga—Auburn Westminster, 3; Meridian, 3 50. Chemung—Hector, 4. Columbia—Catakill, 91 27; Durham 1st, 4 50; Windham Centre, 15. Geneva—Romulus, 15 58; Hudson—Chester, 19 75; Geed Will, 2 16; Hamptonburgh, 18; Monticello, 55; Monroe, 25; Ridgebury, 90 cts. Long Island—Bridgehampton, 37. Nassau—Freeport, 144 Northport, 12; Whitestone, 4. North River—Newburgh Calvary, 42 54. Rochester—Brooklyn, 12 08; Livonia 1st, 4 70; Piffard, 1. St. Lawrence—Gouverneur 1st, 25; Heuvelton, 2; Ox Bow, 11 25; Rosalie 1st, 5 04; Watertown 1st add'l, 10. Steuben—Arkport, 1 67; Corning, 7 29; Jasper, 4. Syracuse—Mexico 1st, 20; Onondaga Valley, 5; Syracuse Park Central, 48 07. Troy—Cambridge, 21 35; Hoosick Falls, 17 08; Troy Woodside, 57 45; Waterford 1st, 113 77. Westchester—Bridgeport 1st, 54 22; South East Centre, 9; White Plains, 56 27. 297 41

NORTH DAKOTA.—Fargo—Lucca 1st, 3. 3 00

OHIO.—Athens—Amesville, 10 40; Logan, 20; Stockport, 1 26. Bellefontaine—Belle Centre (1 48 for Y. P. S. C. E.), 7 65; Bucyrus, 6; De Graff, 5 83; Spring Hills, 4 80; Zanesfield, 3. Chillicothe—Pisgah, 6. Cleveland—Ahtabula 1st, 10; North Springfield, 1. Columbus—London, 3 55. Dayton—Blue Ball, 10; Franklin, 8; New Carlisle (sab-sch, 3), 13; Oxford, 25 85; South Charleston, 10. Huron—Monroeville, 3 23. Lima—Blackhard, 15; Lima 1st, 18; McComb, 5. Mahoning—Brookfield, 1 50; Ellsworth, 11; Hanover, 3 50; Vienna, 5. Marion—Chester-ville, 3. Mauvee—Kunkle, 3; Toledo 5th, 4; West Bethesda, 10. Portsmouth—Portsmouth 1st, 24 70; Red Oak, 9; West Union, 5 50; Wheat Ridge, 4. St. Clairsville—Beulah, 2; Crab Apple, 4 76; Farmington, 3 42; Mount Pleasant, 7 73; Pleasant Valley, 1; Rock Hill, 3 35; Scotch Ridge, 4. Steubenville—Bakersville, 4 50; Bethel, 5; Island Creek (1 for sab-sch), 9; New Cumberland, 1 76; New Hagerstown, 4 02; Pleasant Hill, 1 72; Steubenville, 1st, 19 02. Wooster—Apple Creek, 8; Ashland 1st, 9; Homerville, 1 75; Loudonville, 2 60; Millersburg, 2 50; Perrysville, 1 66; Plymouth, 13; Savannah, 7 73. Zanesville—Norwich (B. Wortman), 1; West Carlisle, 5 70. 405 92

OREGON.—Portland—Smith Memorial, 1. 1 00

PENNSYLVANIA.—Allegheny—Allegheny 2d, 6 78; —McCure Avenue, 37; Aspinwall 1st, 4 48; Freedom, 6; Leetsdale, 194 19; Pine Creek 1st, 5; Vanport, 2. Blairsville—Greensburgh 1st, 58 09; Latrobe, 79; Livermore, 4 21; Manor, 2; New Alexandria (3 79 from sab-sch), 15 87. Butler—Buffalo, 4; Harlansburgh, 5; Mount Nebo, 3; Plain Grove, 9. Carlisle—Bloomfield, 13 77; Harrisburgh Olivet, 1 40; Mercersburgh, 21 22; Monaghan, 15; Silver Spring additional, 5. Chester—Avondale, 18 90; Great Valley, 6; Honey Brook, 16 15; Kennett Square, 6; Toughkenamon, 1 19. Clarion—Academia, 8 82; Edenburgh, 15; Rockland, 1 50; Scotch Hill, 1; Shiloh, 2; Tylersburg, 1. Erie—Concord, 3 20; Cool Spring, 5 33; Erie Chestnut Street, 10; Fairview, 3; Franklin, 49 89; Girard (1 61 from Miles Grove Branch), 10 84; Meadville Central, 14; North East, 26; Oil City 1st, 23; Pleasantville, 21 55; Salem, 2. Huntingdon—Alexandria, 20; Altoona 1st, 30; —3d, 10 23; Bedford, 18 50; Birmingham (Warriors Mark), 18 95; Logan's Valley, 9; Lower Spruce Creek, 5; Pine Grove, 1 50; Spruce Creek, 38 56. Kittanning—Black Lick, 3. Lackawanna—Camptown, 4; Carbondale 1st, 65 45; Great Bend, 8; Hawley, 12; Kingston, 42 41;

Sayre 1st, 1 32; Scranton Sumner Avenue, 1. Lehigh—Port Carbon, 21; Portland, 4; Reading 1st, 90; South Bethlehem 1st, 25; Upper Mount Bethel, 2. Northumberland—Bald Eagle and Nittany, 7; Buffalo, 7; New Berlin, 16; Sunbury, 42; Williamsport 1st, 10. Parkersburg—French Creek, 8 78; Sistersville, 8. Philadelphia—Philadelphia Hebrew Memorial, 7 80; — West Arch Street, 229 02. Philadelphia North—Abington, 62 50; Carversville, 2 30; Doylestown, 44 68; Port Kennedy, 1 35; Thompson Memorial additional, 1. Pittsburgh—Cannonsburg 1st, 7 60; — Central, 8 42; Charleroi, 5; Crafton, 4 55; McDonald 1st, 16 35; Pittsburgh East Liberty, 23 54; Valley, 7. Redstone—Dunbar (sab-sch, 2 50), 31; Scottsdale (2 25 from sab-sch), 14; Somerset, 3. Shenango—New Castle 1st, 15 81; Sharon, 9 50. Washington—Cameron, 6; Forks of Wheeling, 25; Upper Buffalo, 24 50; Wheeling 1st, 23 38. Westminster—Cedar Grove, 5. 1,842 06

SOUTH DAKOTA.—Southern Dakota—Scottland, 6. 6 00

TENNESSEE.—Holston—Mount Bethel, 6 62. Union—Eria, 4 37; Hebron, 5; Hopewell, 2. 17 99

TEXAS.—North Texas—Denison, 17. 17 00

UTAH.—Utah—Pleasant Grove, 1 06. 1 06

WASHINGTON.—Puget Sound—Snohomish, 7; White River, 1. 8 00

WISCONSIN.—Madison—Baraboo, 7; Cottage Grove, 3 03; Kilbourne City, 5 75. Miswaukee—Milwaukee Immanuel, 43 06; Waukesha, 15 12. Winnebago—Stevens Point, 26 60; Westfield, 3 50. 108 06

From the churches and Sabbath-schools..... $ 6,086 81

FROM INDIVIDUALS.

Rev. and Mrs. E. Thompson, Taylorville, Ill.,
5; Mrs. W. S. Opdyke, Alpine, N. J., 25; Miss

RECEIPTS FOR SABBATH-SCHOOL WORK, SEPTEMBER, 1894.

ATLANTIC.—East Florida—Crescent City, sab-sch, 11 69. Fairfield—Mt. Sinai, 2 33; Nazareth sab-sch, 1. Knox—Extra sab-sch, 17 cts.; New Hope sab-sch, 1. 16 19

BALTIMORE.—New Castle—Bridgeville sab-sch, 11; Lewes sab-sch, 3 30. 13 30

CALIFORNIA.—Los Angeles—National City, 9 45. Oakland—Concord sab-sch, 1 45; Hayward church and sab-sch, 6; Oakland 1st, 9 43; — Brooklyn, 14 50; Valona, 6 10. San Francisco—San Francisco Westminster sab-sch, (5 60), 20 80. 67 73

CATAWBA.—Cape Fear—Ebenezer, 2. Catawba—Lawrence Chapel sab-sch, 1. Southern Virginia—Mt. Zion sab-sch, 80 cts. Yadkin—Freedom East sab-sch, 2 40; 6 30

COLORADO.—Boulder—Valmont, 18 cts. Denver—Littleton sab-sch, 5. 5 18

ILLINOIS.—Alton—Salem German, 4; Zion German, 2. Cairo—Metropolis sab-sch, 8 58. Chicago—Chicago 2d sab-sch, 40; — 8th (sab-sch, 81 83), 58 81; — Covenant, 11; Evanston 1st, 19 09. Freeport—Linn and Hebron sab-sch, 16. Mattoon—Shobonier sab-sch, 2. Ottawa—Earlville sab-sch, 8 50; Morris sab-sch, 10. Paw Paw sab-sch, 9 12. Peoria—Lewistown, 5 55. Schuyler—Plymouth sab-sch, 4 10. Springfield—Decatur sab-sch, 25; Jacksonville 2d Portuguese, 37; Petersburg sab-sch, 23 04; Pisgah, 70 cts. 378 49

INDIANA.—Crawfordsville—Beulah, 1; Crawfordsville Centresab-sch, 30; Delphi, 3 79; Newtown (sab-sch, 6), 11. Fort Wayne—Decatur sab-sch, 2 43; Fort Wayne 2d, 3 85; Goshen sab-sch, 24 61. Muncie—Peru sab-sch, 18 83; Wabash sab-sch, 15. New Albany—Livonia sab-sch, 9. Vincennes—Washington sab-sch, 23. 129 40

INDIAN TERRITORY.—Oklahoma—Mulhall sab-sch, 2. 8

IOWA.—Corning—Clarinda (sab-sch, 31), 43 30. Dubuque—Pleasant Grove sab-sch, 1; Walker sab-sch, 1 15. Fort Dodge—Bancroft sab-sch, 3 35; Rolfe 2d sab-sch, 5 15; Iowa—Bloomfield, 4; Morning Sun, 25; Shunam, 3 85. Iowa City—Brooklyn sab-sch, 8 10; Washington (C. E. S., 12 cts.), 66. 89 46

KANSAS.—Emporia—Eldorado sab-sch, 20; Mayfield sab-sch, 3 31. Highland—Washington, 3 35. Solomon—Bashan sab-sch, 37 cts.; Beloit, 13 42; Herrington sab-sch, 5 42. 45 47

KENTUCKY.—Louisville—Louisville 4th (sab-sch, 12), 15 75. 15 75

MICHIGAN.—Detroit—Brighton sab-sch, 4; Detroit Covenant sab-sch, 23 01; Ypsilanti, 10 51. Grand Rapids—Grand Rapids Westminster sab-sch, 16 26. Kalamazoo—Kalamazoo North sab-sch, 6. Lake Superior—Iron River, 1. Monroe—Adrian, 18. Saginaw—Alpena sab-sch, 1 42. 89 20

MINNESOTA.—Mankato—Kasota, 1 12; Le Seuer, 4; Mankato 1st sab-sch, 25. Winona—Le Roy, 6; Rochester sab-sch, 9. 45 12

M. G. Muse, Beaver, Pa., 5; M. P. Bight, Towanda, Pa., 12; Rev. T. D. Bartholomew, Highland Station, Mich., 2; Miss Anne E. Spotswood, New Castle, Del., 25; Mrs. E. J. Burghardt, Washington, D. C., 3; Winslow Phelps, Dayton, O., 3; D. H. Gowing, Syracuse, N. Y., 100; "Cash," 20; "A friend, Philadelphia," 100; Rev. E. G. Moore, Herrman, Ill., part of appropriation returned, 30; John P. Jones, Terra Alta, W. Va., 30; "C. Penna," 6; Rev. W. L. Tarbet and wife, Pisgah, Ill., 40 cts.; H. S. Sweeney, Amityville, N. Y., 90 cts.; Rev. Samuel Ward, Emporia, Kas., 2. 12 12

Interest from the Permanent Fund, including $811 21 from the Roger Sherman Fund..... 12 12

PERMANENT FUND.

(Interest only used.)

Legacy of Mrs. Sarah Jane Evans, Youngtown, O., 500; Donation of Newtown church, Crawfordsville Presbytery, 1. 501 00

Total receipts for September, 1894..... $12 12

Total for the Current Fund since April 1, 1894..... $325 25
Total for the Current Fund for the same period last year..... 341 81

WM. W. HERBERT, Treasurer,
1324 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia.

MISSOURI.—Kansas City—Butler sab-sch, 1. Mount Vernon, 5; Ozark Prairie, 1. Platte-Tarkenton, 6, 11. 17 00

MONTANA.—Helena—Helena Central sab-sch, 10; Great Falls—Kalispell sab-sch, 10; Lewistown C. E. S., 10. 30 00

NEBRASKA.—Hastings—Nelson sab-sch, 2 25. Lincoln—Wood River sab-sch, 95 cts. Nebraska City—Bible sab-sch, 5 25; Lincoln 1st sab-sch, 43 19; Platteville, 11 30. Niobrara—Ponca, 5 55. Omaha—South Omaha, 21 12. 121 00

NEW JERSEY.—Elizabeth—Elizabeth Madison sab-sch, 9 56; — Westminister, 5; Perth Amboy, 5. Woodbridge, 13 66. Jersey City—Hoboken, 17; Passaic, 5. Monmouth—Burlington, 26 19; Cranbury, 12 12. Hightstown sab-sch, 20 75; Tom's River sab-sch, 14 44. Morris and Orange—Boonton (sab-sch, 22 57), 5 55. Madison, 3 59; Mendham 1st, 10 20; Orange Hill, 43 19; Summit Central sab-sch, 77 07; Whippany, 18 42. Wyoming sab-sch, 7 32. New Brunswick—Hopewell church and sab-sch, 12 24; New Brunswick 1st sab-sch, 35 10; — 2d sab-sch, 18; Trenton 1st, 35 74. West Jersey—Merchantville sab-sch, 15 12; Vineland sab-sch, 12 40. Woodstown, 7 40. 482 00

NEW MEXICO.—Arizona—Tombstone, 2 25. Santa Fe—Taos sab-sch, 1 40. 3 65

NEW YORK.—Albany—Ballston Spa sab-sch, 15 85. Voorheesville sab-sch, 7 50. Binghamton—Binghamton 1st C. E. S., 5. Boston—Windham sab-sch, 12 12. Brooklyn—Brooklyn 1st German sab-sch, 12 73. Genoa—Gowanda sab-sch, 2 65; Kenmore sab-sch, 11 15. — Warsaw, 15 31. Geneva—Canadawaga sab-sch, 11 15. Hudson—Good Will, 72 cts.; Monroe, 25 cts.; Washington 1st and sab-sch, 11; Ridgebury, 31 cts.; Washington 2d sab-sch, 36. Long Island—Cutchogue—Jamaica, 25 25. Lyons—Huron sab-sch, 3. Nassau—Jamaica, 25 25. Niagara—Niagara Falls Pierce Avenue, 32. Cherry Valley—Tonawanda North sab-sch, 9 64. Utica—Cherry Valley C. E. S., 10. Rochester—Sparta 1st, 35 02. Schenectady—Arkport, 55 cts.; Corning, 2 43. Syracuse—East Syracuse, 18 25. Troy—Lansingburgh 1st, 12 50; Waterloo, 3 96. Utica—Kirkland, 8. Westchester—Greenburgh, 45 86; Hartford sab-sch, 11 28; Yonkers 1st, 25 07. 411 00

NORTH DAKOTA.—Fargo—Sanborn, 4. 4 00

OHIO.—Athens—Bashan sab-sch, 2; Stockport, 4 00. Bellefontaine—Nevada sab-sch, 2 40. Cincinnati—Cincinnati 1st sab-sch, 7 49; Grove City, 7 64. Columbus—Columbus 1st sab-sch, 3 45; Lima Main Street sab-sch, 17. Lima—Ada sab-sch, 3 45; Lima Main Street sab-sch, 5. Maumee—Toledo Collingwood Avenue sab-sch, 15. St. Clairsville—Kirkwood sab-sch, 30 55; Kirtland's Ferry sab-sch, 6 51; Olive, 7 06. Wheaton—Cincinnati 1st sab-sch, 1 80; Wooster 1st sab-sch, 1 15. Zanesville—Newark 2d sab-sch, 12. 201 00

OREGON.—East Oregon—Monkland sab-sch, 4. Portland—Portland 3d, 14 50. Willamette—Spring Valley, 10. 98 50

PENNSYLVANIA.—Allegheny—Allegheny Westminster sab-sch, 50. Blairsville—Johnstown Welsh Calvinistic, 5. Butler—Buffalo, 4; North Liberty, 3 08. Carlisle—Chambersburg Falling Spring, 19 44; Steelton sab-sch, 14 63. Chester—Fagg's Manor, 16; Great Valley (sab-sch, 7), 12; New London, 57 68. Clarrion—Du Bois, 25 15; Scotch Hill, 3; Shiloh, 4; Tyersburg, 3. Erie—Cochran, 4; Cool Spring, 10 50; Fairfield C. E. S., 10. Huntington—Lewistown, 28 04; Lower Spruce Creek, 8 50; Williamsburg sab-sch, 9 40. Kittanning—Kittanning 1st, 35. Lackawanna—Warren sab-sch, 6 25; Wilkes Barre 1st, 71 63; —Westminster sab-sch, 48 83. Lehigh—Ashland sab-sch, 10; Audenreid sab-sch, 15; Mahanoy City sab-sch, 28 70; Pottsville 2d sab-sch, 29 80. Northumberland—Northumberland (sab-sch, 5 00), 8. Philadelphia—Philadelphia Gaston sab-sch, 8 67; —Mariner's, 4; —Northern Liberties 1st sab-sch, 50; —Westminster sab-sch, 89. Philadelphia North—Chestnut Hill C. E. S., 10; Jenkintown Grace, 3 68; Langhorne, 4; Port Kennedy (sab-sch, 4 73), 6 63. Pittsburgh—Forest Grove sab-sch, 57; Pittsburgh East Liberty, 7 94. Redstone—Brownsville, 9; Rehoboth, 9. Schenango—Transfer, 1. Washington—Fairview, 4. Wellboro—Knoxville sab-sch, 4. Westminster—York 1st sab-sch, 64 43, 899 92

SOUTH DAKOTA.—Aberdeen—Aberdeen, 87 cts. South-ern Dakota—Scotland, 6 25. 7 12

TENNESSEE.—Holston—Johnson City sab-sch, 1 75. 1 75

TEXAS.—Trinity—Dallas Bethany sab-sch, 4; —Exposition Park 5; Glen Rose sab-sch, 4 75; Terrell, 2. 15 75

UTAH.—Kendall—Montpelier sab-sch, 6 65. Utah—Hyrum Emmanuel, 3; Logan Brick sab-sch, 6 53; Pleasant Grove, 36 cts. 16 53

WASHINGTON.—Olympia—Tacoma Westminster, 2 65. Puget Sound—Ellensburg, 4 05; Everett sab-sch, 3 30. Spokane—Rockford sab-sch, 3; Spokane Centenary sab-sch, 4 50. 17 50

WISCONSIN.—Chippewa—Cadotte, 2. Madison—Dodgeville, 2. Milwaukee—Beaver Dam 1st (sab-sch, 18 04), (C. E. S., 10), 28 04; Cato sab-sch, 2; Mayville sab-sch, 5 19. 57 14

Total contributions from Churches..... $ 1,331 87
Total contributions from Sabbath-schools..... 1,696 01

MISCELLANEOUS.

Mrs. Caleb B. Green, Trenton, N. J., 100; West Cape May sab-sch, 5 73; Rockwood sab-sch,

Oregon, 1 73; Colton sab-sch, Oregon, 1 26; Catawba Junction sab-sch, S. C., 1; M. H. S., for Forest Fires, 10; E. L. Metzger, Philadelphia, for chapel, 900; Mrs. Dr. W. F. Wilson, Ironton, Ohio, 5; Foxville sab-sch, Illinois, 6; D. A. McHugh, New Pounce, O. T., 68 cts.; O'Kea sab-sch, Wis., 2 94; Clifton sab-sch, Oklahoma, 1; Fair View Union sab-sch, Okla., 75 cts.; Bottle Run sab-sch, Pa., 2 27; M. H. Willa, Lambertville, N. J., (Fires), 5; T. G. Sellow, N. Y., (Fires), 100; "Cash," (Fires), 1; Rev. W. A. Yancey, 7 51; Buena sab-sch, Waah., 2; Miss Eliza Hunter, Penna., 10; Millbrook sab-sch, Ontario, 4; Rock Spring sab-sch, S. C., 1 30; Leslieville sab-sch, Ontario, 10; C. W. Higgins, Neb., 1; C. W. Higgins, Neb., 78 cts.; Mrs. J. B. Woodward, Pa., (Fires), 5; E. P. Pratt, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., 50 cts.; John P. Jones, Terra Alta, W. Va., 10; Mrs. M. C. Adams, Paris, France, 4; J. B. Clapp, Boone, Iowa, 10 36; H. K. Bushnell, Neb., 1 50; Helena Olivet sab-sch, Mont., 5; Big Sandy sab-sch, Mont., 2; Rinnit sab-sch, Mont., 5 75; Castle Butte sab-sch, Mont., 2; Lewistown sab-sch, Mont., 5; E. M. Ellis, 1; Yale sab-sch, Iowa, 45 cts.; Pine Grove sab-sch, 1 10; J. G. Harris, Va., 4 03; Weldon sab-sch, Ark., 1 10; Gregory sab-sch, Ark., 1; Wm. H. Long, N. C., 3 70; Lead City, No. Dak., 2; Fribbie sab-sch, Iowa, 3 27; Cannon Lea sab-sch, Iowa, 3 67; King's Creek sab-sch, S. C., 1 15; R. Mayers, S. C., 1 88; M. E. Chapin, So. Dak., 3 78; Rosedale sab-sch, Wis., 50 cts.; Augusta sab-sch, Wis., 1; Glenwood sab-sch, Wis., 2; Dryden sab-sch, Wis., 1; Willow Glen sab-sch, Wis., 50 cts.; Ithaca sab-sch, Wis., 1; Hastings Westminster sab-sch, Neb., 12 30; Geo. Dunlap, Ills., 4; "C. Penna." 1; Rev. W. S. Tarbet and wife, 60 cts.; H. S. Swezey, N. Y., 30 cts..... $ 585 35

Amount previously acknowledged..... $ 2,613 09
62,807 43

Total receipts since April 2, 1894..... $78,420 46

C. T. McMULLIN, Treasurer,
1324 Chestnut St., Phila., Pa.

CONTRIBUTIONS FOR SYNODICAL HOME MISSIONS WITHIN THE SYNOD OF NEW JERSEY FROM JULY 1, 1894, TO OCTOBER 1, 1894.

Elizabeth—Beaking Ridge additional, 10; Bayonne City 1st additional, 5; Clinton additional, 20 50, Young Peoples' Society, 2 95; Cranford, 59 50, sab-sch, 11; Dunellen additional, 11 40; Elizabeth 1st additional, 16 07; Murray Missionary Society, 25; Elizabeth 2d sab-sch additional, 25; Elizabeth 3d additional, 48 59, Youth's Missionary Society, 10; Elizabeth 1st German additional, 10; Elizabeth Madison Avenue, 12 84; Elizabeth Marshall Street, 71 50; Elizabeth Siloam, 5; Elizabeth Westminster additional, 25; Liberty Corner, 30; Lower Valley (Calif.), 53 50; Maurer German, 2; Motchen additional, 5; Perth Amboy, 100; Plainfield 1st additional, 75 55; Plainfield Crescent Avenue additional, 50; Rahway 1st, 105 60; Rahway 2d, 135 60; Roselle, 100; Springfield additional, 23; Westfield, 168 60; Woodbridge, 45 07. 1,260 37

Jersey City—Carlstadt German, 5; Englewood additional, 163 71; Hackensack, 20; Jersey City Scotch, 5; Kingsland Mission Chapel, 5; Newfoundland (Oak Ridge), 15; Norwood, 5; Passaic 1st sab-sch additional, 30; Paterson 2d, 250; Paterson East Side, 29; Rutherford additional, 41 32; Weehawken, 3. 571 03

Monmouth—Allentown, 56; Asbury Park 1st, 10 50; Asbury Park Westminster additional, 44; Atlantic Highlands, 9 30; Barnegat additional, 5; Bordentown, 7 30, sab-sch, 16 70; Burlington additional, 2 60; Bustleton Providence, 7 60; Columbus, 8; Cranbury 1st additional, 6 50; Cranbury 2d, 50; Cream Ridge, 6 60; Delanco, 9 60; Englishtown, 3; Farmingdale, 7 80; Forked River additional, 2 60; Freehold 1st additional, 11; Hightstown, 30 90, sab-sch, 15 10; Jacksonville 8 20; Jamesburg additional, 30; Long Branch, 23; Manalapan, 21 12; Manasquan, 30; Manchester, 7; Matawan, 39 59; New Gretna, 16 20; Ocean Beach (Belmar), 10 80; Perrineville, 14; Plattsburg, 4; Point Pleasant, 11 80; Red Bank, 25 20; Riverton Calvary, 13 80; Sayreville German, 16 20;

Shrewsbury, 29; South Amboy additional, 4 25; Tennent, 27; Tom's River, 10; Tuckerton, 11 40. 680 68
Morris and Orange—Berkshire Valley, 5; Chester additional, 10; Dover 1st sab-sch, 50; East Orange 1st, 212 59; East Orange Arlington Ave., 25 10; Flanders, 28 37; Hanover 1st, 60; Madison, 150 30; Mendham 1st additional, 9 20; Mendham 2d, 11; Mine Hill additional, 2 39; Morris Plains, 20 60; Morristown South Street additional, 159 72; Mount Freedom, 9; Mount Olive, 8; New Vernon additional, 6 11; Orange German additional, 10, sab-sch, 7; Orange St. Cloud, 26; Orange Valley German, 15; Parsippany, 19; Pleasantdale German, 10; Pleasant Grove, 19 43; Rockaway, 47 75; South Orange 1st additional, 59 43; Sterling, 5; Succasunna, 15; Whippany Y. P. S. C. E. additional, 12 50; Wyoming, 11 10. 1,036 01
Newark—Bloomfield German, 15; East Newark Knox (Kearney), 12; Lyon's Farms, 7 04; Montclair Grace, 26; Newark 2d additional, 100; Newark 3d German, 25; Newark Calvary additional, 5 70; Newark Central, 3; Newark High St. additional, 63 50, sab-sch, 10; Newark Plane St., 15; Newark Roseville, 200; Roseland, 12 29, sab-sch, 11 29. 504 89

New Brunswick—Alexandria 1st at Mt. Pleasant, 7; Amwell 2d at Mt. Airy, 3; Bound Brook additional, 25; Dayton additional 13 55; Ewing, 35; Hamilton Square, 15; Holland, 10; Hopewell, 16 10; Lawrenceville, 50; Millford, 34 50; Pennington 20; Princeton 2d, 51; Ringoes, Kirkpatrick Memorial, 7; Titusville, 25 43; Trenton 1st additional, 80 71; Trenton 4th, 94 25; Trenton 5th, 25; Trenton Bethany, 50; Trenton Prospect Street additional, 64. 666 54

Newton—Andover, 9; Asbury additional, 50; Beatyctown, 2; Belvidere 2d additional, 25; Bloomsbury additional, 9; Deckertown, 30; Hackettstown additional, 50; Hardyston North at Hamburg, 28 42; Johnsonburg

Yellow Frame, 7 15; Mansfield 2d, 3; Musconetcong Valley at Junction, 10; Newton, 185; Oxford 1st, 20; Phillipsburgh 1st, sab-sch, 9 49; Stewartville additional, 1 35; Stillwater, 10; Wantage 1st, 30; Washington, 75, 494 41
West Jersey—Absecon, 3 50; Atco, 10; Atlantic City 1st additional, 17 63; Billingsport, 6; Bridgeton 1st, 68 40; Bridgeton Irving Avenue, 6 50; Bunker Hill, 5; Camden 1st, 125; Camden 1st Woodland Avenue Mission sab-sch, 1 46; Camden 2d, 40, sab-sch, 30, Y. P. S. C. E., 5; Women's Missionary Society, 5; Camden Liberty Park German, 19 80; Cedarville 1st, 23, sab-sch, 10; Cedarville Osborn Memorial, 30; Clayton, 50; Cold Spring, 21 55; Elmer, 11 12; Elwood Brainerd, 10 80, sab-sch, 1 20; Fairfield at Fairton, 12; Glassboro, 2 25; Greenwich additional, 12; Haddonfield additional, 10; Hammonton additional, 31; Holly Beech Mission Chapel, 5 25; Jericho additional, 6; Leeds Point, 1; Merchantville Missionary Society of sab-sch, 30, Y. P. S. C. E., 4 22; Swedesboro, 28 05; Vineland, 30; Woodbury additional, 23 64, sab-sch, 6 90.

Contributions as above..... $5,292 21
 The Treasurer, 25; E. J. Rathbun, 2; Rev. Ezra F. Mundy, 5; Rev. Alfred H. Dashiell, 5; Rev. Samuel Parry, 5..... 43 00

Received in three months..... $5,292 21
 Previously acknowledged..... 2,549 25

Received in eighth fiscal year..... $14,536 16

ELMER EWING GREENE, Treasurer,
 P. O. Box 133, Trenton, N. J.

—The parade of the mere letter of good ethics is one of the main characteristics of the whole Chinese race. The biggest rascal amongst them, when it suits him, can surpass Confucius himself in fine sentiments, and in your presence simulate all the virtues of the Christian code. The sage's words are bound as a "sign upon their hands" and become as "frontlets between their eyes;" they "write them upon the posts of their houses and on their gates," but rarely are they inscribed on the tablets of the heart.—T. O. F. in Missionary Herald (Irish).

—The intellectual methods of Hindu pundits are so different from our own that a complete readjustment of one's thinking apparatus is necessary in order to see things as the pundit sees them. According to his mode of reasoning two and two do not necessarily make four, and the connection between cause and effect, to us axiomatic, does not so appear to the pundit. But perfect acquaintance with the peculiar intellectual processes of Hindu reasoners would in a measure unfit men for preaching a Gospel of truth and reality, whose yea is yea, and nay, nay. It is wise for missionaries to hold themselves somewhat aloof from close sympathetic intellectual contact with the dangerous falsities of Hinduism. The system has so much essential falsehood in it that relentless intellectual antagonism is the only possible attitude Christianity can maintain towards it; and it is not wise for Christian evangelists to allow themselves to feel its seductive power.—Indian Witness.

—These volumes—Mr. Thomas Stevens's Around the World on a Bicycle—are a rare story of travel and adventure, disclosing many things about the lives and habits of the people of many nations which could hardly have been discovered in any other way than by a journey on a bicycle. We cannot escape a feeling of regret, continues The Congregationalist, that his Sundays brought him no rest, and that the religious life of Christian or pagan stirred in him no sympathy nor any but the merest passing interest. Yet he evidently found and appreciated cordial welcome in the homes of missionaries, while quite oblivious of any high idea of their work.

—Says Peter Bayne, LL. D., in his volume The Free Church of Scotland: In sending forth ever new waves of missionary zeal the Free Church may quicken in the future, as she has done in the past, the energies of her own home life, and realize with fresh vividness her sympathy with other branches of the Church. Such missionary journeys as those of Dr. Norman Macleod and Dr. A. N. Somerville have been rich in benefit both at home and in the outlying field. Why should they not be taken boldly into precedent, and a circulating system be established, the blood pulsing out warm towards the extremities, and returning in healthful currents to the heart? Why should not missionary pilgrimages visit India, making the simple native Christians by Ganges feel that they are brothers and sisters of the Christ and the Christians of Britain?

—Says Dr. H. K. Carroll, in his Religious Forces of the United States: The Church is the mightiest, most pervasive, most persistent, and most beneficent force in our civilization. It affects directly, or indirectly, all human activities and interests. It is beneficent in its aims, unselfish in its plans, and impartial in the distribution of its blessings. It is devoted to the temporal and eternal interests of mankind. Every corner-stone it lays, it lays for humanity; every temple it opens, it opens to the world; every altar it establishes, it establishes for the salvation of souls. Its spires are fingers pointing heavenward; its ministers, are messengers of good tidings, ambassadors of hope and angels of mercy. What is there among men to compare with the Church in its power to educate, elevate and civilize mankind?

Officers and Agencies of the General Assembly.

THE CLERKS.

Stated Clerk and Treasurer—Rev. William H. Roberts, D. D., No. 1334 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.
Permanent Clerk—Rev. William E. Moore, D. D., Columbus, O.

THE TRUSTEES.

President—George Junkin, Esq.
Treasurer—Frank K. Hipple, 1340 Chestnut Street.
Recording Secretary—Jacob Wilson.
OFFICE—Publication House, No. 1334 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

THE BOARDS.

1. HOME MISSIONS, SUSTENTATION.

Corresponding Secretaries—Rev. William C. Roberts, D. D., and Rev. Duncan J. McMillan, D. D.
Treasurer—Oliver D. Eaton.
Recording Secretary—Oscar E. Boyd.

OFFICE—Presbyterian House, No. 53 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y.

Letters relating to missionary appointments and other operations of the Board should be addressed to the Corresponding Secretaries.

Letters relating to the financial affairs of the Board, containing remittances of money or requests for reduced railroad rates, should be addressed to Mr. O. D. EATON, Treasurer.

Applications for aid from churches should be addressed to Mr. O. E. BOYD, Recording Secretary.

Applications of Teachers, and letters relating to the School Department, should be addressed to Rev. G. F. McAFEE, Superintendent.

Correspondence of Young People's Societies and Sabbath-schools should be addressed to Rev. Thornton B. Penfield.

2. FOREIGN MISSIONS.

Secretary Emeritus—Rev. John C. Lowrie, D. D.
Corresponding Secretaries—Rev. Frank F. Ellinwood, D. D., Rev. John Gillespie, D. D., and Mr. Robert E. Speer. Recording Secretary—Rev. Benjamin Labaree, D. D.
Treasurer—William Dulles, Jr., Esq.
Field Secretary—Rev. Thomas Marshall, D. D., 48 McCormick Block, Chicago, Ill.

OFFICE—Presbyterian House, No. 53 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y.

Letters relating to the missions or other operations of the Board should be addressed to the Secretaries. Letters relating to the pecuniary affairs of the Board, or containing remittances of money, should be sent to William Dulles, Jr., Esq., Treasurer.

Certificates of honorary membership are given on receipt of $30, and of honorary directorship on receipt of $100.

Persons sending packages for shipment to missionaries should state the contents and value. There are no specified days for shipping goods. Send packages to the Mission House as soon as they are ready. Address the Treasurer of the Board of Foreign Missions, No. 53 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y.

The postage on letters to all our mission stations, except those in Mexico, is 5 cents per each half ounce or fraction thereof. Mexico, 2 cents per half ounce.

3. EDUCATION.

Corresponding Secretary—Rev. Edward B. Hodge, D. D.
Treasurer—Jacob Wilson.

OFFICE—Publication House, No. 1334 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

4. PUBLICATION AND SABBATH-SCHOOL WORK.

Secretary—Rev. Elijah R. Craven, D. D.
Superintendent of Sabbath-school and Missionary Work—Rev. James A. Worden, D. D.
Editorial Superintendent—Rev. J. R. Miller, D. D.
Business Superintendent—John H. Scribner.
Manufacturer—Henry F. Scheetz.
Treasurer—Rev. C. T. McMullin.

PUBLICATION HOUSE—No. 1334 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Letters relative to the general interests of the Board, also all manuscripts offered for publication and communications relative thereto, excepting those for Sabbath-school Library books and the periodicals, should be addressed to the Rev. E. R. CRAVEN, D. D., Secretary.

All applications for grants whether of books, periodicals or Lesson Helps, and also all letters relating to Sabbath-school and Missionary work, the appointment of Sabbath-school missionaries, to the Rev. JAMES A. WORDEN, D. D., Superintendent of Sabbath-school and Missionary Work.

All manuscripts for Sabbath-school Library books, also all matter offered for the WESTMINSTER TEACHER and the other periodicals, and all letters concerning the same, to the Rev. J. R. MILLER, D. D., Editorial Superintendent.

Business correspondence and orders for books and periodicals, except from Sabbath-school missionaries to JOHN H. SCRIBNER, Business Superintendent.

Remittances of money and contributions to the Rev. C. T. McMULLIN, Treasurer.

5. CHURCH ERECTION.

Corresponding Secretary—Rev. Erskine N. White, D. D.
Treasurer—Adam Campbell.

OFFICE—Presbyterian House, No. 53 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y.

6. MINISTERIAL RELIEF.

Corresponding Secretary—Rev. William C. Cattell, D. D.

Recording Secretary and Treasurer—Rev. William W. Heberton.

OFFICE—Publication House, 1334 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

7. FREEDMEN.

President—Rev. Henry T. McClelland, D. D.

Vice-President—Rev. David S. Kennedy.

Recording Secretary—Rev. Samuel J. Fisher, D. D.

Corresponding Secretary—Rev. Edward P. Cowan, D. D.

Treasurer—Rev. John J. Beacom, D. D.

OFFICE—516 Market Street, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Field Secretary—Rev. Henry N. Payne, D. D., Atlanta, Ga.

8. AID FOR COLLEGES AND ACADEMIES.

Corresponding Secretary—Rev. Edward C. Ray, D. D.

Treasurer—Charles M. Charnley, P. O. Box 204, Chicago, Ill.

OFFICE—Room 23, Montauk Block, No. 115 Monroe Street, Chicago, Ill.

PERMANENT COMMITTEES.

COMMITTEE ON SYSTEMATIC BENEFICENCE.

Chairman—Rev. Rufus S. Green, D. D., Elmira College, Elmira, N. Y.

Secretary—Kiliaen Van Rensselaer, 56 Wall Street, New York, N. Y.

COMMITTEE ON TEMPERANCE.

Chairman—Rev. John J. Beacom, 516 Market Street, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Corresponding Secretary—Rev. John F. Hill, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Recording Secretary—Rev. Joseph B. Turner, Glenshaw, Pa.

Treasurer—Rev. James Allison, D. D., Pittsburgh, Pa.

PRESBYTERIAN HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

President—Rev. W. C. Cattell, D. D., Philadelphia.

Corresponding Secretary—Rev. W. L. Ledwith.

Treasurer—DeB. K. Ludwig, 3800 Locust Street, Philadelphia.

Library and Museum—1229 Race Street, Philadelphia.

TREASURERS OF SYNODICAL HOME MISSIONS AND SUSTENTATION.

New Jersey—Elmer Ewing Green, P. O. Box 133, Trenton, N. J.

New York—O. D. Eaton, 53 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y.

Pennsylvania—Frank K. Hipple, 1840 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Baltimore—D. C. Amidon, 81 South Frederick Street, Baltimore, Md.

BEQUESTS OR DEVISES.

In the preparation of Wills care should be taken to insert the Corporate Name, as known and recognized in the Courts of Law. Requests or Devises for the General Assembly should be made to "The Trustees of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America."

Board of Home Missions,—to "The Board of Home Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America, incorporated April 19, 1872, by Act of the Legislature of the State of New York."

Board of Foreign Missions,—to "The Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America."

Board of Church Erection,—to "The Board of Church Erection Fund of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America, incorporated March 27, 1871, by the Legislature of the State of New York."

Board of Publication and Sabbath-school Work,—to "The Trustees of the Presbyterian Board of Publication and Sabbath-school Work."

Board of Education,—to "The Board of Education of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America."

Board of Relief,—to "The Presbyterian Board of Relief for Disabled Ministers and the Widows and Orphans of Deceased Ministers."

Board of Freedmen,—to "The Board of Missions for Freedmen of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America."

Board of Aids for Colleges,—to "The Presbyterian Board of Aid for Colleges and Academies."

Sustentation is not incorporated. Bequests or Devises intended for this object should be made to "The Board of Home Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America, incorporated April 19, 1872, by Act of the Legislature of the State of New York, for Sustentation."

N. B.—Real Estate devised by will should be carefully described.

A Tonic

For Brain-Workers, the Weak and Debilitated.

Horsford's Acid Phosphate is without exception, the Best Remedy for relieving Mental and Nervous Exhaustion; and where the system has become debilitated by disease, it acts as a general tonic and vitalizer, affording sustenance to both brain and body.

Dr. E. Cornell Esten, Philadelphia, Pa., says: "I have met with the greatest and most satisfactory results in dyspepsia and general derangement of the cerebral and nervous systems, causing debility and exhaustion."

Descriptive pamphlet free.

Rumford Chemical Works, Providence, R.I.

Beware of Substitutes and Imitations.

Restful Reading

Big books or little books held in just the right place, at just the right angle—lying down or sitting up. Dictionary handy—touch of a finger brings it before you, saves you the trouble of laying aside your book and getting up to look up meaning or pronunciation of a word. Racks for several other books—place for the lamp—writing table too, if you like.

A silent but delightful companion and educator for the home or office. Thousands in use and in almost every country. More testimonials than we can print. Illustrated catalogue free. We also make holders for Webster's, The Standard and Century dictionaries.

HOLLOWAY READING STAND,
CUYAHOGA FALLS, OHIO.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY,
CINCINNATI, O., U. S. A.
Best Grade Pure Copper and Tin
CHURCH BELLS, PEALS and CHIMES.
Best Wheel and Rotary Yoke Hangers.
Price & Terms free. Name this Journal

Unlike the Dutch Process

No Alkalies

—OR—

Other Chemicals

are used in the preparation of

W. BAKER & CO.'S

Breakfast Cocoa

which is absolutely pure and soluble.

It has more than three times the strength of Cocoa mixed with Starch, Arrowroot or Sugar, and is far more economical, costing less than one cent a cup. It is delicious, nourishing, and EASILY DIGESTED.

Sold by Grocers everywhere.

W. BAKER & CO., Dorchester, Mass.

THOMPSON'S POPULAR ANTHEMS

A new book containing 200 pages of Beautiful Church Anthems. Selected by the popular vote of 2000 Choir Leaders in all parts of America

EVERY SELECTION A CHOICE GEM

Beautiful and artistic, but not too difficult for the average choir. Every choir should have this new popular book by the author of "Come Where the Lilies Bloom."

Price, $1.00 Each, but will be sent postpaid for 75 cents, if ordered within 30 days. Sample pages free. Address,

WILL L. THOMPSON & CO.
EAST LIVERPOOL, OHIO

Menzies & Co.,

West Troy, N. Y.

Church, Chapel and other BELLS; also Chimes and Peals. Thousands of references. Price of bells and fixtures with freight prepaid or delivered to steamer in New York, on application. Catalogues free.

Houghton, Mifflin & Company's

NEW AND HOLIDAY BOOKS

HOLIDAY BOOKS.

Their Wedding Journey.

By W. D. HOWELLS. Holiday Edition. Fully illustrated, and bound in very attractive style from a design by Mrs. Whitman. Crown 8vo, $3.00.

The Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam.

Rendered into English verse by EDWARD FITZGERALD. With a biography of Omar Khayyam, a biographical sketch of Mr. Fitzgerald, and 56 superb illustrations by Elihu Vedder. Popular Edition. Crown, 8vo, $5.00.

The Last Leaf.

By OLIVER WENDELL HOLMES. Popular Holiday Edition. With a touching prefatory letter by Dr. Holmes, and many illustrations by Hopkinson Smith and Geo. Wharton Edwards. Crown 8vo, $1.50.

The Story of a Bad Boy.

By THOMAS BAILEY ALDRICH. Holiday Edition. With numerous illustrations by A. B. Frost. Crown octavo, finely printed and bound in unique style, forming an exceedingly attractive book. $2.00.

Timothy's Quest.

A fine Holiday Edition of one of Mrs. WIGGIN's most popular stories. Very fully and artistically illustrated by Oliver Herford, and attractively bound. Crown 8vo, $1.50.

In Sunshine Land.

Poems for Young Folks. By EDITH M. THOMAS. Illustrated by Katharine Pyle. Crown 8vo, handsomely bound, $1.50.

Little Mr. Thimblefinger, and His Queer Country.

A delightful book for young folks (and older ones). By JOEL CHANDLER HARRIS, author of the "Uncle Remus" Books. Fully and charmingly illustrated by Oliver Herford. Square 8vo, $2.00.

When Molly was Six.

A delightful story, simple, natural, engaging, and of charming literary quality. By ELIZA ORNE WHITE, author of "Winterborough." Illustrated by Katharine Pyle. An exquisite Holiday book. Square 16mo, $1.00.

Childhood in Literature and Art

With some Observations on Literature for Children. A book of high critical character. By HORACE E. SCUDDER, author of "Men and Letters," etc. Crown 8vo, $1.25.

Riverby.

A volume of eighteen out-door papers on flowers, eggs, birds, mountains, prairies, and other appetizing subjects, treated with great freshness and insight. By JOHN BURROUGHS, author of "Wake-Robin," etc. 16mo, $1.25.

BIOGRAPHY.

Life and Letters of John Greenleaf Whittier.

By SAMUEL T. PICKARD. With 7 portraits and views. 2 vols., crown 8vo, gilt top, $4.00. A work which all lovers of Whittier will welcome with peculiar gratitude.

The Life of Frances Power Cobbe

Written by herself. With a portrait. 2 vols., 8vo, $4.00. Miss Cobbe is one of the most famous of living English women, and the story of her life is a book of extraordinary interest.

Lucy Larcom; Life, Letters and Diary.

A book of great interest about one of the noblest of American women, by REV. DANIEL D. ADDISON. With a portrait. 16mo, $1.25.

George William Curtis.

An appreciative and admirable account of this knightly man and great citizen, by EDWARD CART, in American Men of Letters series. With a portrait. 16mo, $1.50.

Life and Letters of Maria Edgeworth

By AUGUSTUS J. C. HARE, 2 vols., crown 8vo, $4.00. A charming account of Miss Edgeworth, with many letters by her.

POETRY.

Ungarded Gates, and Other Poems.

By T. B. ALDRICH. Crown 8vo, gilt top, $1.25. A beautiful book containing the poems written by Mr. Aldrich in the last six years.

Whittier's Poetical Works.

Complete in a new Cambridge Edition. With a biographical sketch, notes, index to titles and first lines, a portrait, and an engraving of Whittier's Amesbury home. Uniform with the Cambridge Longfellow. Crown 8vo, gilt top, $2.00; half calf, gilt top, $3.50; true calf, or full levant, $5.50.

Whittier's Poetical Works.

New Handy-volume Edition. In four beautiful volumes, large type, opaque paper, tasteful binding. With four portraits and a view of Whittier's Oak Knoll home. Uniform with the Handy-volume Longfellow. 4 vols., 16mo, $5.00; half calf, extra, gilt top, $9.75; full morocco, flexible, in fine leather box, $9.75; full calf, flexible, $12.75.

Master and Men.

The Sermon on the Mountain, practiced on the Place. A thoughtful book, contrasting current Christianity with that of Christ, and illustrating the Beatitudes by the lives of Moses, Paul, George Fox, General Gordon and George Macdonald. By Rev. Dr. W. B. WRIGHT, author of "Ancient Cities" and "The World to Come." 16mo, $1.25.

The Beatitudes will mean more than ever before to every one who reads this book. We commend it especially to Sunday-school workers and Bible teachers. Appearing as it does, just as we are studying this very sermon makes it exceedingly timely, though it is a book that will never get out of date. —Editor of Ohio Sunday School Worker.

Sold by all Booksellers. Sent, postpaid, by

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & CO., Boston. 11 E. 17th Street, N. Y.

LITTELL'S LIVING AGE

1844-1895

A Weekly Magazine of FOREIGN PERIODICAL LITERATURE

Giving 3300 double-column octavo pages of matter unequalled in quality and quantity.

The Ablest Minds of the Age

Contribute to make this periodical

Encyclopedic in Scope, Character, Completeness, Comprehensiveness

Indispensable to every reader of intelligence and literary taste

To each NEW subscriber remitting $3.00 for 1895 will be sent,

ABSOLUTELY FREE

The Thirteen Weekly Issues of The Living Age, forming the last quarterly volume of 1894,

(October, November, December) and

A Year's Subscription to any one of the following publications:

The Cosmopolitan,
Domestic Monthly,
Electric Power,
McClure's Magazine,
Midland Monthly,
Godey's Magazine,
National Popular Review,
or a 6 months' subscription to Scribner's Magazine.

American Teacher,
Biblia,
Our Day,
Christian Nation,
S. S. Times,
Golden Rule,
The Pulpit,

The Living Age is published Weekly at $3.00 a year, free of postage. Rates for clubbing The Living Age with more than one other periodical will be sent on application. Sample copies of The Living Age, 15c. each. Address, LITTELL & CO., 31 Bedford Street, Boston.

The New Acts of the Apostles

Or, The Marvels of Modern Missions

With a chromo-lithographic map of the world, showing the prevailing religions of the world and the progress of evangelization.

By Rev. ARTHUR T. PIERSON, D. D.

Crown 8vo, cloth. - - - - - $1.50

"It may be doubted whether a more available book on Missions has been published in our time. Nowhere else in four hundred and thirty pages—unless it be in the New Testament—can a pastor or a leader of monthly concerts and other missionary meetings find more valuable material in terse and compact form than in this volume."—Rev. F. F. Ellinwood, D. D.

Christianity in the Home

By Rev. THEODORE L. CUYLER, D. D.

16mo, cloth, - - - - - $1.00

In thirty-six brief, pointed and trenchant chapters Dr. Cuyler makes himself at home with the thousands of families to whom his spoken and written words have endeared him. The Doctor's style has all its wonted vigor; his cheering and uplifting courage is as strong as ever to give heart to drooping spirits, and the touch with which he lifts and blesses was never tenderer.

The above books will be mailed by the publishers on receipt of the price. Send for catalogue and descriptive circulars of books by STRONG, PIERSON, CUYLER, DIXON, CRAFTS, LOOMIS, and other writers on current, social, religious and national questions.

THE BAKER & TAYLOR COMPANY, Publishers

5 and 7 East Sixteenth Street, New York

IN THE SELECTION OF A CHOICE GIFT or of an addition to one's library, elegance and usefulness will be found combined in WEBSTER'S INTERNATIONAL DICTIONARY

Successor of the "Unabridged."

Standard of the
U. S. Gov't Printing Office, the U. S. Supreme Court and of nearly all the Schoolbooks.

Warmly commended by every State Superintendent of Schools, and other Educators almost without number.

A College President writes: "For ease with which the eye finds the word sought, for accuracy of definition, for effective methods in indicating pronunciation, for terse yet comprehensive statements of facts, and for practical use as a working 'dictionary,' Webster's International excels any other single volume."

The One Great Standard Authority,
So writes Hon. D. J. Brewer, Justice U. S. Supreme Court.

G. & C. MERRIAM CO., Publishers,
Springfield, Mass., U. S. A.

Send to the publishers for free pamphlet.
Do not buy cheap reprints of ancient editions.

23 PIECES OF ROGERS' 1847 SILVER PLATED TABLE WARE WITH A COMBINATION BOX OF "SWEET HOME" SOAP 1/2 DOZEN EACH REGULAR SIZE KNIVES, FORKS AND TEASPOONS; 3 TABLE SPOONS; 1 BUTTER KNIFE; 1 GOLD-LINED SUGAR SPOON, BEAUTIFUL PATTERN A RARE AND COMPLETE ASSORTMENT. THERE IS BUT ONE QUALITY OF SILVERWARE BEARING THE TRADE-MARK OF "ROGERS BROS., 1847. A 1."

The whole world knows that it stands for the best that can be made. Every piece is warranted for ten years, and with ordinary fair usage lasts forever.

THE COMBINATION BOX CONTAINS

100 BARS "SWEET HOME" SOAP, ENOUGH TO LAST AN AVERAGE FAMILY ONE FULL YEAR, FOR ALL LAUNDRY AND HOUSEHOLD PURPOSES IT HAS NO SUPERIOR.	$5.00
7 BARS WHITE WOOLEN SOAP, A PERFECT SOAP FOR FLANNELS.	.70
9 PRES. BORAXINE SOAP POWDER, CANNOT POSSIBLY INJURE THE FABRIC, SIMPLE, EASY, EFFICIENT.	.90
1 DOZ. MODJESKA COMPLEXION SOAP, EXQUISITE FOR LADIES AND CHILDREN, A MATCHLESS BEAUTIFIER.	.60
1 BOTTLE 1 OZ. MODJESKA PERFUME, DELICATE, REFINED, POPULAR, LASTING.	.25
1 DOZ. OLD ENGLISH CASTLE SOAP.	.30
1 DOZ. CREME OATMEAL TOILET SOAP.	.25
1 DOZ. ELITE TOILET SOAP.	.25
1/2 DOZ. LARKIN'S TAR SOAP, INFALLIBLE PREVENTATIVE OF DANDRUFF, UNEQUALLED FOR WASHING LADIES' HAIR.	.45
1 DOZ. SULPHUR SOAP.	.45
1 JAR MODJESKA COLD CREAM, SOOTHING, CURES CHAPPED SKIN.	.25
1 BOTTLE MODJESKA TOOTH POWDER, PRESERVES THE TEETH, HARDENS THE GUMS, SWEETENS THE BREATH.	.25
1 PKT SPANISH ROSE SACHET POWDER.	.25
1 STICK NAPOLEON SHAVING SOAP.	.10

200,000 FAMILIES USE IN A YEAR.
THE ASSORTMENT OUR BOX PROVIDES.
THE CONTENTS IF BOUGHT AT RETAIL, COST $10.00.
SILVER WORTH AT RETAIL, $10.00.
ALL FOR $10.00. SILVER YOU GET THE GRATIS. $20.00.

YOU USE THE GOODS THIRTY DAYS BEFORE BILL IS DUE

After trial you pay the retail value of the Soaps alone. All middlemen's profits are returned to you in valuable premiums, so well bought as to save you half the regular retail prices. The Larkin plan saves you half the cost. The manufacturer alone adds VALUE; every middleman adds COST. The publishers of this paper know every claim is sustained by the facts.

Many people prefer to send cash with order—it is not asked—but if you remit in advance, you will receive, in addition to all extras named, a nice present for the lady of the house, and shipment same day order is received. The publishers also know that your money will be refunded without argument or comment if the box or silver does not prove all expected. Booklet illustrating ten other premiums, including the famous Chautauqua Desk, free upon application.

Write your order like this, TODAY—while you think of it, or cut this out and sign it:

"You may ship me, subject to thirty days' trial, ONE COMBINATION BOX OF "SWEET HOME" SOAP, with extras, etc., and the ROGERS BROS.' SILVERWARE.

If after thirty days' trial I find the Soaps and the Silver entirely satisfactory and as represented, I will remit you $10.00; if not, I will notify you goods are subject to your order and you must remove them, making no charge for what I have used."

Name, _____
Occupation, _____ Street No. _____
P. O. _____ State, _____

ESTAB. 1873. INCOR. 1892 THE LARKIN SOAP MFG CO. BUFFALO, NY.

Special Sanatorium

For the treatment of BRIGHT'S DISEASE.

This disease is due to malnutrition, and a correct diagnosis of its stages of development can only be made with the aid of the microscope. If improvement is expected, the patient must be under the constant care of a physician where blood, excretions, etc., can be watched under the microscope, and analyzed, from day to day and progress noted. Under such conditions advanced cases may recover completely. Slight cases are successfully treated outside the Sanatorium. Number limited. Send for leaflet on other diseases.

In charge of Dr. R. L. Watkins,

320 West 145th Street, New York City.

(Please mention this magazine.)

JAMES G. WILSON

Patentee and Manufacturer

Send three two-cent stamps for Illustrated Catalogue.
Mention this Magazine.

74 West 23d Street, N.Y.

ROLLING PARTITIONS

For dividing Church and School Buildings. Sound-proof and air-tight. In various kinds of wood. Made also with blackboard surface. They are a marvelous convenience, easily operated, very durable, and do not get out of order. Also made to roll vertically. Over 1,500 churches and many public school buildings are using them.

Venetian Blinds in all Woods

NOW UNDER CONSTRUCTION IN BRICK AND STONE, AT A COST OF $15,000. REV. W. L. DEMOREST, PASTOR

WARREN H. HAYES, ARCHITECT, SYKES BLOCK, MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.
CHURCH ARCHITECTURE A SPECIALTY

CRITERION—MAGIC LANTERNS—PARABOLON and Stereopticons, Oil, Lime, or Electric Light. Views illustrating World's Fair, Roman and Medieval Art, Scripture, Temperance and hundreds of other subjects for profitable public lectures or private talks.

J. B. COLT & COMPANY

16 BECKMAN ST., NEW YORK

CATALOGUES FREE

189 LABALLE ST., CHICAGO, ILL.

Two New Record Books

THE PASTOR'S CONGREGATIONAL RECORD

Non-Denominational

BY REV. G. S. CARSON, B.A.

The PASTOR'S CONGREGATIONAL RECORD differs radically in its plan from other records of the kind, and it is designed to supply a long felt want which has not hitherto been met. Its chief feature is the prominence which it gives to the family, which constitutes the basis of its arrangement. In the section devoted to families, which occupies the larger part of the book, provision is made for recording on each page all the information regarding a single family, which might be of advantage to a pastor in his relations to his people, or of permanent value for future reference, as well as every visit made to the family during the period over which the record extends. Another feature whose convenience will at once be apparent is that which obviates the necessity of re-writing in a new book each year the names of all the members of the congregation. The record is designed to extend over a period of five years, if desired, so that not only is the labor of keeping it greatly diminished, but each succeeding year after a pastor has adopted it in his work, adds to its value and usefulness. When the pastorate exceeds this period it will generally be found that removals and accessions have made it necessary to re-write the record of families. Other points of convenience, it is believed, have only to be noted in order to be appreciated. Special care has been given to the arrangement of the book, so that all the matter which it contains may be readily accessible, and the record of each year's pastoral work in connection with any family, or in the whole congregation, may be seen at a glance. The main features of the work are the result of several year's pastoral experience, modified to some extent by suggestions from systematic and experienced pastors.

Flexible leather cover. 350 pp., with Index. In Press.

The Westminster Ideal S. S. Secretary's Record

Embodies the suggestions of many eminent Sunday-school workers. So arranged as to greatly simplify the work of the Secretary. When complete, the record will show at a glance just the items of greatest interest and value. The Economical Feature is in the fact that the book lasts Four Years. Arranged for thirty classes or more.

Size, 9½ x 11¼ inches. Cloth. Gilt side-stamp. Post-paid, $1.00, net.

Orders and remittances should be addressed to

JOHN H. SCRIBNER, Business Supt.

Presbyterian Board of Publication and Sabbath-School Work

Or to any of the Depositories or Book-sellers representing the Board.

1334 Chestnut Street

Philadelphia, Pa.

Northern Trust Company

Offers for sale at par and accrued interest

62 William  Street, New York

Consolidated Mortgage 6 per cent. Bonds OF THE South Yuba..... Water Company (Central California)

WARNER VAN NORDEN
PRESIDENT

Principal and interest payable in gold coin at Farmer's Loan and Trust Company, New York City

Recommended as an unusually safe investment

The total amount of these bonds, which represents the entire indebtedness of the Company, is one million dollars, secured by property worth four millions of dollars ($4,000,000.00).

This is a New York Company managed conservatively by some of our best citizens.

During the forty years of its existence the Company has not defaulted on a single obligation.

Particulars upon application to

Northern Trust Company

 62 William Street

ROBERT LENOX BELKNAP
President

New York City

CHRISTIAN HERALD

FULL OF BRIGHT PICTURES. AND SIGNS OF OUR TIMES 16 PAGES EVERY WEEK

Published Every Wednesday, 52 Times a Year, at the Bible House, in New York City. Louis Klipsch, Publisher

Dr. Talmage's Christmas Offers.

IN all this Wide, Wide World there is no Paper for the Home Circle like THE CHRISTIAN HERALD. Charminglly Edited in Dr. Talmage's happiest vein, Beautifully Illustrated with a Profusion of Lovely Pictures, handsomely Printed on Excellent Paper from Large, Clear Type, and published 52 times a year, it is pre-eminently the Brightest and Best Family Paper of our day and generation. With every issue it grows in Beauty and Interest, and they who once Subscribe feel they never again can be happy without it. It makes Home Brighter, Cheerier, Sweeter, and Better, and the Family that does not yet enjoy the Charm of its Weekly Visits, lacks something that only THE CHRISTIAN HERALD can supply. As an EXTRAORDINARY INDUCEMENT to give it a fair trial, if you send $2.00 to-day, Dr. Talmage will send any one of the following three unequalled Premiums (ALL CHARGES FULLY PREPAID), and THE CHRISTIAN HERALD for ONE YEAR.

GOSPEL HYMNS—SIX VOLUMES IN ONE—FREE

NEVER BEFORE has it been possible to secure these 739 HYMNS, constituting the books usually known as GOSPEL HYMNS 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, and 6 all in ONE VOLUME, but THE CHRISTIAN HERALD has secured a large edition of these marvellously soul-stirring Hymns in COMBINED FORM, WITHOUT A DUPLICATE, printed from LARGE TYPE and SET TO MUSIC, and Beautifully Bound in Maroon Cloth, with Red Edges and Gold Stamp! Very rich and choice. Remember all the Hymns contained in Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6 of the GOSPEL HYMNS, used by D. L. MOODY and Dr. C. SANKEY in their famous Evangelistic meetings in this and other countries, are found in this volume, which measures WHEN OPEN, 8 1-2 x 12 inches, and contains about 700 LARGE PAGES. Every Song-loving home should have one.

RED UNDER GOLD EDGE TEACHERS' BIBLE—FREE with over 400 pages of ILLUSTRATED beautiful Bible is Bound in LEATHER, Diamond-creased Corners, and with RED UNDER appearance. It contains a CONCORDANCE, COLORED MAPS prepared by Major Conder. MARK, and is packed in a NEAT BOX and You cannot find anywhere a more suitable Holiday gift to gladden the heart of Pastor, Superintendent, League, or Christian Worker generally, here in your HELPS, making altogether 1581 pages. THE VINITY CIRCUIT, OVERLAPPING EDGES, GOLD edges, which give it a VERY RICH Subject-Index, BIBLICAL GAZETTEER, and Each Bible has SILK HEAD-BANDS, a Warrant, ALL EXPRESS CHARGES PREPAID. Gift them one of these beautiful Teachers' Bibles! Give, Teacher, Scholar, Christian Educator, such opportunity, as long as our supply may last.

DR. TALMAGE'S "PATHWAY OF LIFE"—FREE

544 LARGE Pages. Over 200 ENGRAVINGS. Half-tone Portrait of Dr. Talmage. Bound in Rich Cloth and Gift. Measures, when open, from tip to tip, 9x15 INCHES. WEIGHS 3 POUNDS. Among those who cordially endorse this Great Book, are HER MAJESTY, QUEEN VICTORIA, Ex-Pres. HARRISON, J. G. CARLISLE, Gen. O. O. HOWARD, Miss Frances WILLARD, Bishops VINCENT, HURST, and GRANNERY, Joseph COOK, Governor Fitzhugh LEE, Senator John SHERMAN, Harriet Beecher STOWE, and Neal DOW. "THE PATHWAY OF LIFE" contains DR. TALMAGE'S Grandest, Best, and most Beautiful Thoughts. It goes out into the world to do good and to help men and women in their efforts to attain to higher and better and more successful lives. "THE PATHWAY OF LIFE" has never been Sold at Less than $3.75. You will find it Worth its Weight in Gold.

Remember THE CHRISTIAN HERALD, the Brightest Paper in the World and ANY ONE of these Wonderful Premiums may EACH BE SENT TO A SEPARATE ADDRESS; and as WE PREPAY CHARGES, we are offering

TWO VERY APPROPRIATE PRESENTS FOR $2.00.

As soon as our stock is exhausted, we immediately Refund the Money. Do you long to make your Home more attractive? Let THE CHRISTIAN HERALD enter it. Like a ray of sunshine, it will brighten and cheer, encourage and comfort. You cannot afford to be without it. Address to-day 176 to 182 Bible House, New York City.

COMBINATION PREMIUM OFFER. If you desire all THREE PREMIUMS mentioned above with THE CHRISTIAN HERALD for One Year, send us $4. If you desire any TWO of the above Premiums send us $3. Each Premium and the Paper may be sent to a SEPARATE ADDRESS WITHOUT extra EXPENSE.